ORDER

On November 6, 2013, Kentucky Power Company ("Kentucky Power") filed a motion to strike Exhibit A to the Attorney General's ("AG") petition for rehearing. Kentucky Power points out that Exhibit A contains the Direct Testimony and Exhibits of Scott Norwood ("Norwood Testimony") filed on behalf of the Virginia Attorney General's Division of Consumer Counsel on April 23, 2013, in Case No. PUE-2012-00141, before the Virginia State Corporation Commission. Kentucky Power contends that 807 KAR 5:001, Section 11(4), precludes the AG from submitting the Norwood Testimony into the evidentiary record because the taking of testimony in this matter has already closed. Kentucky Power also contends that the Norwood Testimony could have been discovered by the AG with the exercise of reasonable diligence prior to the formal evidentiary hearing of this matter on July 10, 2013. As such, Kentucky Power argues that no particular circumstances exist to justify the admission of the Norwood Testimony into evidence on rehearing because KRS 278.400 limits rehearing to additional evidence that could not, with reasonable diligence, have been offered at the formal evidentiary hearing. The AG filed no response to Kentucky Power's motion to strike.

Having reviewed the motion and being otherwise sufficiently advised, the Commission finds that the Norwood Testimony had been submitted after the evidentiary record had closed in this proceeding and that such evidence could have been, with reasonable diligence, filed prior to the hearing in this matter. 807 KAR 5:001, Section 11(4), prohibits the introduction of evidence after the close of testimony except in particular circumstances as permitted by the Commission. We note that the formal evidentiary hearing concluded on July 12, 2013, and that the AG's petition for rehearing did not set forth any specific grounds as to why the Norwood Testimony could not have been filed by July 12, 2013, or why it should be accepted by the Commission after the taking of testimony has concluded. Accordingly, the Commission will strike the Norwood Testimony from the official record of this matter.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Kentucky Power's Motion to Strike Exhibit A to the Attorney General's Petition for Rehearing is granted.
