April 27, 2015

I went to EQT for gas service. I was given an application for service. They came out and said that a hook up was OK. I filled out the application then returned it to 100 EQT Way , KY on 6/4/2014 where I had picked up the application. I was asked where did I get an application by the same lady that given it to me. She continued to question me about the application like something under handed was going on. Then She told me that they no longer service the public, That i would have to file an application with People's Gas in , KY.

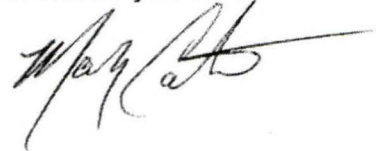

I did as I was told and filed an application with People's Gas. After a few months I was notified by People's Gas that EQT had denied me a hookup at the same location that they had approved when they were going to provide service. I tried to contact EQT to find out why i was denied hook up. The only thing that I could find out that there was an inter office war between EQT and People's Gas.

I again filed another application for gas service at the same location. And again a few months later People's Gas notified me on April 24, 2015 that I had been denied by EQT. That they wanted to service me with gas but EQT had to approve the hook up.

What I am upset about is that EQT had approved the hook up when they were going to service me gas , but when People's Gas had to service me it was not approved. If the hook up was a approved before it should be now. They have approved other hook ups below me since I filed my application and they already have gas service in use for a month or more. There three wells on this line. But yet I am denied a hook up.

I am heating my home with coal as of now. With the new EPA rules it is almost impossible to get coal, and the law is soon to change to outlaw burning coal. I am disabled and need gas to heat my home, and see no reason I should be denied a hook up after being approved before People's Gas took over, since EQT would not take my application and told me to go to People's Gas.

Thank You for you time
