

subsequent to a review of the policy complained of, it has changed its application procedures so that applicants for residential service are asked if a spouse, former spouse, or any responsible member of their former household had ever applied for or received service from LG&E instead of being questioned about marital status.

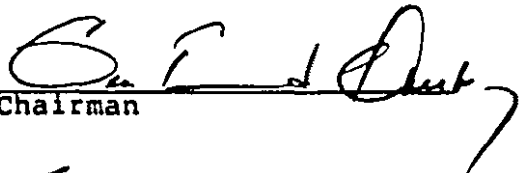

In its answer, LG&E further represents that LG&E personnel discussed its change in application procedures with Ms. Riley and that she indicated her agreement with the change.

Based upon the foregoing, the Commission finds that LG&E has satisfied the subject matter of the complaint.

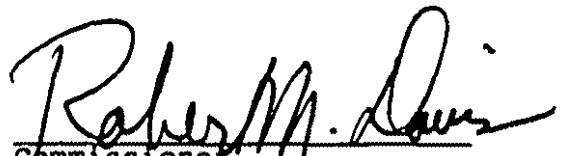

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that the complaint is dismissed with prejudice.
