RE: Response to Your 9/22/08 Letter; My Communication is an Administrative Challenge to LG&E's Proposals

Dear Ms. Stumbo,

I am in receipt of your Sept. 22, '06 correspondence. Thank you. I am forwarding a copy of this letter to LG&E's CEO, Vic Staffieri.

However, your letter incorrectly states that my Aug. 28, '08 letter is a protest. To the contrary, Ms. Stumbo, my 8/28/08 letter is a formal administrative challenge to LG&E's two July 29, '08 proposals for the rate-hikes of natural gas and electricity. Please recall that I requested LG&E to withdraw its proposals based on my defined legal issues, and I have requested a response. Therefore, it is not a protest, but a legal challenge. As a ratepayer, I have the right to a response.

It appears that these proposals are attempting to compensate for the loss of revenue from the warmer climates of global warming. If so, then that would not be legally proper. If ratepayers are using less energy, than LG&E is not privy to earn the same level of profits, but must be respective to levels of consumption. Here, I request that LG&E not take this approach to its business model, for it is not proper.

In another related matter, I wish to inform you and LG&E that I have filed a Petition in U.S. Federal Court (Case #3:08-cv-519) against Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke, Secretary of Treasury Henry Paulson and others, regarding their irresponsible actions in the current financial crisis. As identified in my 8/28/08 letter to Mr. Staffieri, the Petition addresses the problem of hyper-inflation, the wrongful extraction of property by high-level investors. Thereby, you may want to monitor this case, as it relates to the same issue of hyper-inflated natural gas. I have enclosed a copy of the first page of the Petition for your ready-reference. You may print-out the entire text at:

www.pro-se-litigants.org.

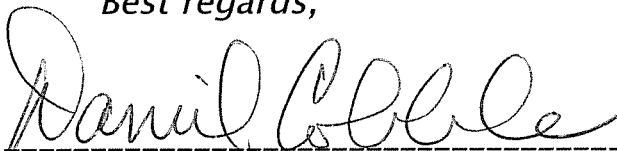

In an unrelated matter, news reports have broadcasted that LG&E will likely propose rate-hikes to pay for the most recent repairs from the wind-storm. As a ratepayer, I feel that of course [we] should pay for those repairs, however any rate-hikes should not be permanent.

As a matter equity, we should not have to forever pay for the repairs, but instead, an itemized report / invoice of the costs of repairs be published and a temporary surcharge be added to our bills until LG&E's costs are recouped. Therefore, such a proposal should include the time-period for paying the surcharges.

I hope that this letter clears things up for everyone. Please feel free to contact me, as I hope to hear from LG&E and PSC, soon, regarding my 8/28/08 letter that requests withdrawal of LG&E's proposals.

Ms. Stumbo, again, thank you.

Best regards,

Daniel Cobble, Ratepayer
