ORDER TO SATISFY OR ANSWER

Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative Corp. ("Mountain Telephone") is hereby notified that it has been named as defendant in a formal complaint filed on November 7, 2013, a copy of which is attached hereto as Appendix A.

In addition to the Complaint, Complainant also filed a motion for an expedited telephonic informal conference or hearing. A copy of the email is attached as Appendix B.

Based on the foregoing, it is HEREBY ORDERED that:

1. Pursuant to 807 KAR 5:001, Section 19, Mountain Telephone is to satisfy the matters complained of or file a written answer to the complaint within ten days of the date of service of this Order;

RE: AT&T Corp. v. Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative Corp., et al.

Dear Mr. Derouen:

Enclosed please find and accept for filing the original and ten copies of the following filings by AT&T Corp.: (1) Complaint and Motion for Emergency Relief; and (2) Motion For Expedited Telephonic Informal Conference Or Hearing To Be Conducted November 7, 2013.

Because of the imminence of the threatened November 11, 2013 termination of access service by the Defendants to AT&T Corp., the fact the Commission will be closed on November 11, 2013, and because of the unavailability of local counsel for AT&T Corp. on November 8, 2013 because of previously scheduled surgery, AT&T is requesting that Staff or the Commission conduct all proceedings, or otherwise act today, November 7, 2013, to block the threatened termination of access service by the Defendants.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Very truly yours,

Case No. 2013-00_____

Complaint And Motion For Emergency Relief

AT&T Corp. for its complaint and motion for emergency relief pursuant to KRS 278.260 and 807 KAR 5:001, Section 20 states:

Parties

1. The name of the Complainant is AT&T Corp (“AT&T”). Its Kentucky post office address is 601 West Chestnut Street, 4th Floor East, Louisville, Kentucky 40203.
2. The name of the first defendant is Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative Corp. Its post office address is 405 West Main Street, P.O. Box 399, West Liberty, Kentucky 41472-0399.
3. The name of the second defendant is Thacker-Grigsby Telephone Co., Inc. Its post office address is P.O. Box 789, Hindman, Kentucky 41822.

Introduction

4. AT&T seeks expedited emergency relief to prevent the significant disruption of service to customers in the Commonwealth that will result if the Defendants (collectively the “Carriers”) act on their stated intent to terminate intrastate access traffic exchanged between the Carriers and AT&T Kentucky because of an unresolved, good-faith billing dispute between the companies.

Factual Background

5. Both of the Carriers are “issuing carriers” under the Duo County Telephone Cooperative Corp. Access Tariff (“Tariff”) on file with the Commission. The Carriers have submitted certain bills for access services they provide to AT&T pursuant to the Tariff, AT&T has notified each Carrier in writing that it disputes these bills, and AT&T has explained in writing its good-faith reasons for its disputes.

6. As permitted by the Tariff, AT&T has withheld payment of the amounts it disputes. Each Carrier, however, claims that these disputed amounts became due when it unilaterally “denied” the disputes, and each Carrier has threatened to terminate the access services it provides to AT&T under the Tariff unless AT&T pays the disputed amounts it is entitled to withhold on or before November 11, 2013 (which is a holiday).

7. The threatened termination of service would indisputably and irreparably harm AT&T, its customers, and the Carriers’ customers. If these access services are terminated: AT&T’s long distance customers could no longer place AT&T long-distance calls to, or receive long distance calls from, the Carriers’ customers; and the Carriers customers who have chosen AT&T as their long-distance provider could no longer make or receive long distance calls over AT&T’s network. The Carriers’ threatened termination of service in response to AT&T’s good faith billing dispute is at odds with the practices of this Commission, and would also violate the FCC’s long-standing prohibition on call blocking.¹

A. The Dispute.

8. The Tariff provides that AT&T (and all other access customers) “will be subject to a Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue (NTSR) charge”² which is developed by “dividing [each Carrier’s] annual NTS Revenue Requirement³ by the total terminating rated access minutes for all [access] customers.”⁴ AT&T is assessed a monthly NTSR charge computed by the Carriers. This billing is subject to a “true-up calculation for [AT&T and every other access customer] on an annual basis” once the actual “total terminating rates access minutes for all [access] customers” is determined.⁵ AT&T has paid all monthly NTSR charges that have been billed – its dispute relates to the annual true-up charges the Carriers billed for 2011 and 2012.⁶

9. The true-up amounts the Carriers billed AT&T for 2011 and 2012 reflect an unprecedented increase in AT&T’s share of the NTSR.⁷ AT&T is concerned that this unprecedented increase may be the result of an attempt to recover billings to other access customers that the Carriers perceive to be uncollectible, or to assign AT&T responsibility to pay

Carriers, WC Docket No. 07-135, 22 FCC Rcd 11629, 11631 paras. 1, 6 (WCB 2007) (2007 Call Blocking Declaratory Ruling).

⁴ Id., Page 3-23, §3.9.3(B)(emphasis added).

⁵ Id., §3.9.3(B).

⁶ AT&T is paying Mountain Rural a good-faith estimate of the true-up payments that may be due for 2011 and 2012. This payment is being made under protest, and is subject to AT&T’s right to seek a refund of any overpayment based on a final resolution of AT&T’s billing disputes. AT&T disputes and is withholding all other true-up amounts Mountain Rural has billed AT&T for 2011 and 2012. AT&T owes no true-up payments to Thacker-Grigsby – to the contrary, a significant true-up amount is due AT&T. Accordingly, AT&T disputes and withholding all true-up amounts Thacker-Grigsby has billed AT&T for 2011 and 2012.

⁷ See Attachment B (October 16, 2013 Letter from AT&T to Thacker-Grigsby) at 1; Attachment C (October 16, 2013 letter from AT&T to Mountain Rural) at 1. The true-up amounts the Carriers billed AT&T for 2011 and 2012 are approximately 400% and 1,200% (respectively) higher than the true-up amounts they billed AT&T for 2010.

NTSR charges that should be the responsibility of other carriers.⁸ AT&T has been, and remains, willing to discuss and attempt to amicably resolve this concern with the Carriers. To date, however, the limited information the Carriers have provided AT&T does not address its concerns.

B. The Tariff Dispute Provision.

10. Section 2.4.1(D) of the applicable tariff clearly contemplates that parties to a billing dispute may withhold payment of disputed amounts pending resolution of the dispute:

(D) Billing Disputes Resolved In Favor Of The Telephone Company

Late payment charges will apply to amounts withheld pending settlement of the dispute.

The Tariff contemplates billing disputes, and it allows AT&T to: (1) pay the total billed amount subject to dispute (in which case the Carrier will refund any overpayment);⁹ or (2) withhold payment of disputed amounts “pending settlement of the dispute” (in which case AT&T must pay late payment charges and/or penalty interest if the dispute is resolved in favor of the Carrier).¹⁰

11. AT&T has chosen the second option of disputing amounts the Carriers have billed pursuant to the Tariff and is withholding only those disputed amounts pending settlement of the dispute.¹¹ The Carriers, however, claim that because they have purportedly “responded to

⁸ See Id. As the Commission is aware, Halo originated a great deal of access traffic that was terminated by carriers across the Commonwealth during 2011 and 2012, and it subsequently filed for bankruptcy. If the Carriers did not include Halo’s terminating rates access minutes in the “total terminating rates access minutes for all [access] customers” calculation for 2011 and 2012, or if the Carriers are somehow attempting to assign responsibility for the Halo traffic to AT&T, this would result in improperly assigning all or part of Halo’s share of the fixed Non Traffic Sensitive Revenue Requirement to AT&T.

¹¹ See Attachment B (October 16, 2013 Letter from AT&T to Thacker-Grigsby) at 1 (stating that “AT&T has disputed the Thacker-Grigsby’s true up billing of the Intrastate Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue for both 2011 and 2012,” explaining the reasons for the dispute, noting that the Tariff allows for withholding disputed amounts, and noting that the threatened termination of service violates the FCC’s long-standing prohibition on call blocking); Attachment C (October 16, 2013 letter from AT&T to Mountain Rural) at 1 (same); Attachment E (October 25, 2013 from counsel for Thacker-Grigsby to AT&T) at 1 (“It is our understanding that AT&T disputed Thacker-

AT&T's concerns to the fullest extent that [they] could," they can somehow deny that a billing dispute exists and that they can terminate service unless AT&T pays the amounts it disputes.¹² As recently as November 6, 2013, the Carriers confirmed their intent to terminate service unless AT&T pays the disputed amounts on or before November 11, 2013.¹³

12. The merits of this good-faith billing dispute must be determined by the Commission after a hearing – not by the whim of the Carriers.

13. Nothing supports the Carriers' contention that they can appoint themselves judge, jury, and executioner in this manner. To the contrary, as explained above, the terms of the Tariff clearly allow AT&T to withhold payment of disputed amounts "pending settlement of the dispute,"¹⁴ and these provisions are consistent with long-standing Kentucky practice. As explained in Paragraphs 8-9 above, AT&T has a good-faith basis for disputing these bills. Accordingly, AT&T is allowed to withhold amounts associated with those disputes until either the parties amicably resolve the disputes or the Commission determines the merits of the disputes.

Grigsby's true-up billing of intrastate non-traffic sensitive revenue ("NTSR") for both 2011 and 2012."); Attachment F (October 25, 2013 letter from counsel for Mountain Rural to AT&T) at 1 (same).

¹² See Attachments E and F.

¹³ See Attachment G (November 6, 2013 termination notices).

14. The Carriers' threat to terminate service in response to AT&T's good-faith billing dispute violates the tariff and is inconsistent with Kentucky practice. The Carriers' threatened self-help measures are also antithetical to, if not proscribed by, the Commission's Orders and regulations. For example, 807 KAR 5:006, Section 12 provides that "[w]ith respect to a billing dispute to which Section 11 of this administrative regulation [meter errors] does not apply, a customer account shall be considered to be current while the dispute is pending if the customer continues to make undisputed payments and stays current on subsequent bills." This is just such a dispute. In addition, the Commission in its May 20, 2003 Order in In the Matter of: Customer Billing and Notice Requirements, Case No. 2002-00310 at 7-8 (Ky. P.S.C.) made clear the Commission's strong preference for carriers to bring matters to the Commission's attention well before taking any action that could interfere with service to end users.

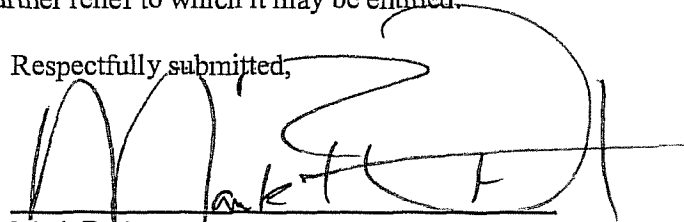

15. The Commission need not decide the merits of the underlying billing dispute in order to grant the relief AT&T requests in this Petition, and AT&T is not asking it to do so in addressing its Motion for Emergency Relief. It is clear, however, that AT&T has a valid basis for concern and has disputed and withheld amounts associated with that concern in good faith, as permitted by the Tariff. Accordingly, the Commission should order the Carriers not to carry through with their threats to terminate service to AT&T in response to its good-faith billing dispute.

Wherefore, for the reasons set forth above, AT&T respectfully requests the Commission to enter an Order:

1. Prohibiting the Carriers from terminating, interfering with, or otherwise discontinuing access services to AT&T for nonpayment of the disputed amounts pending further order of the Commission; and

2. Granting AT&T all further relief to which it may be entitled.

Respectfully submitted,

In order for the rate regulations to apply as set forth in (D), (E) or (F) following, the access groups and the resold MTS and/or MTS-type services must be provided in the same state (except when the same extended area service arrangement is provided in two different states by the same telephone company) in the same exchange, provided by the same Telephone Company and connected directly or indirectly. For those exchanges that encompass more than one state, the customer shall report the information by state within the exchange.

(c) Direct and Indirect Connections

Each of the access group arrangements used by the customer in association with the resold MTS and/or MTS-type services must be connected either directly or indirectly to the customer designated premises at which the resold MTS and/or MTS-type services are terminated. Direct connections are those arrangements where the access groups and resold MTS and/or MTS-type services are terminated at the same customer designated premises.

Indirect originating connections are those arrangements where the access groups and the resold originating MTS and/or MTS-type services are physically located at different customer designated premises in the same exchange. Such different customer designated premises are connected by facilities that permit a call to flow from access groups to resold MTS and/or MTS-type services.

Indirect terminating connections are those arrangements where the access groups and resold terminating MTS and/or MTS-type services are physically located at different customer designated premises in the same exchange. Such different customer designated premises are connected by facilities that permit a call to flow from resold terminating MTS and/or MTS-type services to access groups.

3.9 Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue Charge

All customers of the Telephone Company's Switched Access Services provided in Section 6, excluding Feature Group A Access Service provided to end users for intraLATA Foreign Exchange (FX) service, will be subject to a Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue (NTSR) charge.

3.9.1 General Description

The NTSR charge is developed from the Telephone Company's Non-Traffic Sensitive (NTS) Revenue Requirement per access line per month rate, as set forth in Section 17.1.2 following.

The NTSR charge will apply to all intrastate interLATA and intrastate intraLATA terminating minutes of use for all customers. For the purpose of determining the NTSR charge, terminating minutes are defined to be those minutes to which the terminating carrier common line rate would be applied as indicated in Sections 3.2.3 and 3.8.5(E) preceding. These minutes will be referred to as terminating rated access minutes in this section.

The NTSR charge will not be reduced by the MTS and MTS-type resale credits described in Section 3.6.

3.9.2 Determination of Monthly NTS Revenue Requirement

During 1991, the Telephone Company will determine its monthly NTS Revenue Requirement by multiplying the NTS Revenue Requirement per access line per month rate, as set forth in Section 17.1.2 following, by the number of Telephone Company access lines in service on June 30, 1990.

For each subsequent calendar year, the Telephone Company will determine its monthly NTS Revenue Requirement by multiplying the NTS Revenue Requirement per access line per month rate, as set forth in Section 17.1.2 following, by the number of Telephone Company access lines in service on December 31st of the previous year.

If the number of access lines decreases during subsequent years, the monthly NTS Revenue Requirement shall not decrease below from the prior period revenue requirement.

3.9.3 Billing of the NTSR Charge

The Telephone Company may select one of the billing methods, as set forth in (A) and (B) following, to calculate the monthly NTSR charge applicable to each customer. The Telephone Company will notify the customer which of the billing methods will be used.

(A) Percent Distribution Method

The Telephone Company will determine each customer's monthly intrastate terminating rated access minutes, as set forth in Section 3.9.1 preceding. The sum of all customers' monthly intrastate terminating rated access minutes will be used by the Telephone Company to determine the percent distribution for each customer.

The monthly NTSR charge for each customer will be determined by multiplying the Telephone Company's monthly NTS Revenue Requirement by the customer's percent distribution, as calculated above.

(B) Per Minute Rate Method

The Telephone Company will develop an NTSR rate per terminating rated access minute by dividing its annual NTS Revenue Requirement by the total terminating rated access minutes for all customers. The total terminating rated access minutes for all customers shall be either the previous year's historical total or a Telephone Company forecasted total.

The monthly NTSR charge for each customer will be determined by multiplying the NTSR rate per terminating rated access minute, developed above, by each customer's monthly terminating rated access minutes as set forth in Section 3.9.1 preceding.

To facilitate the billing of the monthly NTSR charge, the Telephone Company may, at its option, combine with the NTSR rate per terminating rated access minute the terminating Carrier Common Line rate set forth in Section 17.1.1, in its billing system. The Telephone Company may exercise this option only when using the Per Minute Rate Method.

This billing method will require the Telephone Company to perform a true-up calculation for each customer on an annual basis. The sum of all customers' actual annual intrastate terminating rated access minutes will be used by the Telephone Company to determine the annual percent distribution for each customer.

RE: Disconnect Notice to AT&T

Dear Meses. Watts and Jones:

This letter is in response to your letter of September 30, 2013, on behalf of Thacker-Grigsby Telephone Co., Inc., threatening to disconnect services if AT&T does not render payment by November 10, 2013.

As you are aware, AT&T has disputed the Thacker-Grigsby's true up billing of the Intrastate Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue ("NTSR") for both 2011 and 2012. Although AT&T has made numerous attempts to obtain information from your firm in order to assess the validity of these charges, Thacker-Grigsby has repeatedly failed to provide that information. This is particularly troublesome since AT&T believes that the unprecedented increase in its share of the NTSR may be the result of an attempt to recover billings to other carriers that Thacker-Grigsby perceives as uncollectable. Although AT&T is committed to pay all appropriate charges and has paid all other access charges, we cannot, as you have suggested, accept your assessment with out verification.

The applicable tariff clearly contemplates a customer withholding payment pending the resolution of a dispute. Section 2.4.1 (D) of the Duo County Telephone Cooperative Corp. tariff (for which Thacker-Grigsby is an issuing carrier), sets forth the treatment of late payment charges for withheld disputed amounts upon the resolution of such disputes.

Further, any action by Thacker-Grigsby to attempt to disconnect or block service between AT&T and its end users in response to AT&T's good faith billing dispute would violate the FCC's long-standing prohibition on call blocking. Fundamental to that prohibition is the importance of maintaining the ubiquity and reliability of the public switched telephone network. There can be no doubt that an intentional disconnection of service under these circumstances would unjustifiably harm both AT&T's and Thacker-Grigsby's customers.

AT&T remains willing to work with Thacker-Grigsby to review the underlying records and reach an appropriate resolution of this dispute. However, AT&T reserves all rights to pursue appropriate legal action at the Kentucky Public Service Commission or other forums in the event Thacker-Grigsby unlawfully terminates service to AT&T and its customers. Please feel free to contact either me or Hal Thompson, of AT&T's Access Management organization, if you would like to proceed with discussions on this matter.

RE: Disconnect Notice to AT&T

Dear Ms. Bodamer:

This letter is in response to your letter of September 30, 2013, on behalf of Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative ("MRT"), threatening to disconnect services if AT&T does not render payment by October 31, 2013.

As you are aware, AT&T has disputed the MRT's true up billing of the Intrastate Non-Traffic Sensitive Revenue ("NTSR") for both 2011 and 2012. Although AT&T has made numerous attempts to obtain information from MRT in order to assess the validity of these charges, MRT has repeatedly failed to provide that information. This is particularly troublesome since AT&T believes that the unprecedented increase in its share of the NTSR may be the result of an attempt to recover billings to other carriers that MRT perceives as uncollectable. Although AT&T is committed to pay all appropriate charges and has paid all other access charges, we cannot, as you and your client have suggested, accept your assessment with out verification.

The applicable tariff clearly contemplates a customer withholding payment pending the resolution of a dispute. Section 2.4.1 (D) of the Duo County Telephone Cooperative Corp. tariff (for which MRT is an issuing carrier), sets forth the treatment of late payment charges for withheld disputed amounts upon the resolution of such disputes.

Further, any action by MRT to attempt to disconnect or block service between AT&T and MRT's end users in response to AT&T's good faith billing dispute would violate the FCC's long-standing prohibition on call blocking. Fundamental to that prohibition is the importance of maintaining the ubiquity and reliability of the public switched telephone network. There can be no doubt that an intentional disconnection of service under these circumstances would unjustifiably harm both AT&T's and MRT's customers.

AT&T remains willing to work with MRT to review the underlying records and reach an appropriate resolution of this dispute. However, AT&T reserves all rights to pursue appropriate

2, General Regulations (Cont'd)

2.4 Payment Arrangements and Credit Allowances

2.4.1 Payment of Rates, Charges and Deposits

(A) Deposits

The Telephone Company will only require a customer which has a proven history of late payments to the Telephone Company or does not have established credit, to make a deposit prior to or at any time after the provision of a service to the customer. No such deposit will be required of a customer which is a successor of a company which has established credit and has no history of late payments to the Telephone Company. Such deposit will not exceed the actual or estimated rates and charges for the service for a two month period. The fact that a deposit has been made in no way relieves the customer from complying with the Telephone Company's regulations as to the prompt payment of bills. At such time as the provision of the service to the customer is terminated, the amount of the deposit will be credited to the customer's account and any credit balance which may remain will be refunded.

Such a deposit will be refunded or credited to the account when the customer has established credit or, in any event, after the customer has established a one-year prompt payment record at any time prior to the termination of the provision of the service to the customer. In case of a cash deposit, for the period the deposit is held by the Telephone Company, the customer will receive interest at the same percentage rate as that set forth in (C) (2) (a) or in (C) (2) (b) following, whichever is lower.

The rate will be compounded daily for the number of days from the date the customer deposit is received by the Telephone Company to and including the date such deposit is credited to the customer's account or the date the deposit is refunded by the Telephone Company. Should a deposit be credited to the customer's account, as indicated above, no interest will accrue on the deposit from the date such deposit is credited to the customer's account.

Re: Disconnect notices to AT&T

Dear Ms. Waldbaum:

We are counsel to Thacker-Grigsby Telephone Company, Inc. (“Thacker-Grigsby”) of Hindman, Kentucky. This letter is in response to your letter dated October 16, 2013 regarding the disconnect notice Thacker-Grigsby provided to AT&T on September 30, 2013. In the future, please direct all correspondence related to this matter to our office.

It is our understanding that AT&T disputed Thacker-Grigsby’s true-up billing of intrastate non-traffic sensitive revenue (“NTSR”) for both 2011 and 2012. Thacker-Grigsby reviewed and denied those disputes. As justification for continuing to withhold payment from Thacker-Grigsby, you indicate that “AT&T has made numerous attempts to obtain information” in order to assess the validity of the true-up calculation, and that Thacker-Grigsby has repeatedly failed to provide that information. This is incorrect.

Thacker-Grigsby has provided invoices pertaining to switched access charges, and AT&T is itself in possession of the access records for the same traffic that AT&T delivered to Thacker-Grigsby’s access tandem over its AT&T-dedicated trunk group. AT&T evaluated the invoices prior to initiating its disputes. Upon initiation of AT&T’s disputes, Thacker-Grigsby responded to AT&T’s concerns to the fullest extent that it could do so. Where AT&T questioned specific items regarding the accuracy of Thacker-Grigsby’s billing, Thacker-Grigsby investigated and confirmed its billing to be correct. Upon denial of AT&T’s disputes, the disputed amounts became due.

You point to Section 2.4.1 (D) of Duo County Telephone Cooperative Corporation, Inc.’s tariff (for which Thacker-Grigsby is an issuing carrier) as justification for continuing to withhold payment despite denial of the dispute. This section provides that late payment charges will apply to amounts withheld pending resolution of a dispute; it is not a ratification of or acquiescence in AT&T’s improper withholding of the amounts due under the access tariff following denial of the dispute. More importantly, the applicable tariff expressly provides for discontinuance of service when a customer refuses to comply with tariff provisions regarding payment and billing. (See infra.)

You also contend that disconnection would violate the FCC's prohibition on call-blocking, citing "the importance of maintaining the ubiquity and reliability of the public switched telephone network." A review of recent FCC jurisprudence on the matter (including a number of pronouncements employing that quoted language) reveals no indication that disconnection of a customer for failure to render payment violates the prohibition on call blocking.¹ Rather, the FCC's concern in these rulings is the selective blocking, choking, and restriction of traffic by interexchange carriers for the purpose of avoiding rural access charges. AT&T is simply a customer who has refused to pay its bills following denial of a dispute. Disconnection of such customers does not constitute call-blocking; it constitutes compliance with Thacker-Grigsby's tariff, which it (like AT&T) is obligated at law to follow.

AT&T, like any other customer of Thacker-Grigsby, is subject to the tariffed rates, policies, and procedures approved by the Kentucky Public Service Commission. Unless AT&T pays the tariffed access charges it has incurred, AT&T will be subject to disconnection pursuant to Section 2.1.8 (A) of the tariff for failure to comply with Section 2.4.1 of the tariff ("Payment of Rates, Charges, and Deposits"). As stated in its letter of September 30, 2013, Thacker-Grigsby will proceed with disconnection if AT&T does not render payment by November 10, 2013.

Please contact us if you have any further questions.

Richard and JEB,

Thanks for taking the time this afternoon to hear the parties' views on the disconnect notices sent by Mountain Rural and Thacker-Grigsby. I have relayed the substance of our conference call to Mountain Rural and Thacker-Grigsby. While they respectfully do not endorse the notion that a pending complaint precludes a utility's right to disconnect a nonpaying customer, I am authorized to indicate that they will voluntarily suspend their termination notices in order to avoid putting Staff and the Commissioners through the trouble of issuing an order forbidding the disconnection.

Thank you, and have a good evening.
