Re: Natural Gas of Kentucky, Inc. - Case No. 2014-00257

Dear Mr. Derouen:

Natural Gas of Kentucky (NGK) in response to the Staff's request at the conference held on September 10th provides the list of all necessary easements for the construction of the proposed pipeline. An easement map is numbered to coincide with the list of affected properties. All of the easements are signed except three, which have been agreed to and are being formalized.

There are four road bores that will be necessary as indicated on the attached list: State Highway 84, Horseshoe Bend Rd., County Rd. 720, and County Rd. 224. In discussions with county and state officials, NGK was told that there will not be any delay in granting road bore easements, however, each will require a precise survey of the location. NGK cannot provide a survey showing exact to the "foot" location for road bores prior to construction as the proposed pipeline location is not "foot" precise enough to do so. Multiple factors on the ground affect the final placement location of the pipeline and a 7 or 8 foot deviation around rock early in the construction process might move a proposed placement by 15 feet or more. As soon as the encroachment permits have been obtained, copies will be provided.

At this time only a few property owners have indicated a desire for natural gas service from the pipeline. None have written applications for the service. NGK expects that over the next few years some connections will be made, but within the limit required of the agreement with LG&E.

NGK requests approval of the project as quickly as possible to assure that construction can begin during favorable weather and completed by the March deadline.

If there are any questions about this matter, please contact me.

Very truly yours,

John N. Hughes
