then last, the wrong meter number was put in the computer, in the office I needed 302, the lady who rented it, moved out, instead of her electric meter was shut off, she lived there a short time, moved before her lease was up and left no forwarding address for the mailman, her mail was going to a neighbor next door.

I do not wish to pay her bill, it has been a nightmare since she moved, I've had two appliances go bad, soon as the electric shut off, the air conditioner capacitor had to be replaced, the guy said it could be from a surge of electricity when I asked "what caused it?" the garbage disposal burned up and had to be replaced.

I've had to go to the doctor for severe chest pain from all the stress, I work 10 or 11 hours a day 4 days a week, so time is not plentiful.

It is ridiculous for any one to have to go through this hell, I received a disconnect notice August 26, if the bill wasn't paid by Sept. 4, or payments made,

Charlene Wyatt vs. Duke Energy

I paid $100.00 on August 27, by phone, just to keep my electric on. I did not want to (because I do not believe it is mine to pay). I am sending contradictions made by the Duke, to the B.B. Bureau, and 2 bills with the same heading date, but different due dates (for two different meters). I paid one. Now the other is being added to my account.

If the wrong meter was read, it should not have happened for a year, because all the meters have a condo number by them.

Sincerely

Charlene Wyatt

P.S. All my regular monthly bills are paid. It is just the big bill, out of the blue, plus late charges. The $910.80 with $49.24 late charges added on July and Aug bills, make it $960.04. I paid $100.00 on this.
Thanks.

MESSAGE FROM BUSINESS:

As previously discussed with this customer, Duke Energy investigated switched meters at this location in April 2015. Indeed, the meters were switched between unit 101 and unit 302. When Duke Energy disconnects service at a meter and it causes a different residence to be disconnected, that indicates meters are switched. The serial numbers on a meter will coincide with a residence.

In this situation, Ms. Wyatt was billed for electric meter number [REDACTED] which belonged to unit 302. The neighbor at unit 302 was billed for electric meter number [REDACTED] which actually belongs to that unit 101, or Ms. Wyatt's residence.

Duke Energy does not know how long or how the meters were switched. It could be possible that they were switched for several years, but the answer to that will probably never be known. Once the investigation was completed, the usage for both units (accounts) had to be corrected. Ms. Wyatt received the bill showing corrections back to April 2014. For the state of Kentucky, Duke Energy can correct bill charges up to one year (12 months). When Ms. Wyatt received the bill with the corrected charges, it does not mean that the meters were switched in April 2014, but this was the timeframe for billing that Duke Energy was allowed to correct.

Attached are copies of the bills Ms. Wyatt requested from February 2014 through May 2015. These bills have been mailed to her in the past, it's unclear why she would not have received those. Payment arrangements had been offered to the customer in May 2015, which she declined. That offer still applies if the customer wants to take advantage of it. Duke Energy would not be removing the corrected charges from the account.

I was told the wrong meter was used from April 14 thru April 15. That was one of 4 stories
