Case: Wood Duck /Geenex Solar 2024-00337

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

To Whom It May Concern:

The community of Barren County continues to stand against the Wood Duck Solar project and while we are pleased that no additional known work has been completed, we want to continue to alert the commission that this project is not wanted in our area. I am pleased to submit the names, addresses, signatures and concerns of 38 additional individuals who are opposed to this project.

We continue to consult with the Army Corp of Engineers and to date, Wood Duck has not applied for any additional permits. We are requesting a hearing and a review of the sinkholes, Karst topography, flood plains and protected waterways of the United States.

At what point can the PSC request new studies? Many of the studies are over 6 years old and we believe they should be updated and community input solicited. We continue to request a final map as required by law. We continue to request that the adjoining landowners be provided with maps and project specifications for each address as specified in the Order by the PSC.

We continue to seek relief from this project and the unreasonable setbacks which were approved by our local planning and zoning of the 50-20-10 foot distinctions. We believe this decision was made in error and hope the courts will uphold this belief at the appropriate time.

As has been proven in our community, we do not have planning and zoning and therefore, lacked jurisdictional authority to waive state law. We ask for your legal counsel to consider a remedy to correct this situation.

Thank you for your continued attention.

Sincerely,

Paula L. Pedigo

Health concerns include cancer, respiratory illness, headaches from noise and glare, heat related illness, etc.

Environment concerns include Mammoth Cave, wildlife, habitat, trees removed, ground and run-off water contaminants, damaged panels and leaks.

Zoning concerns include the way this was approved without public input, the scattered site design variances and inserting solar utility plants in residential and farming communities.

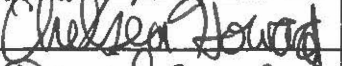

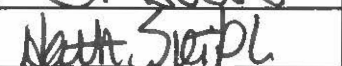

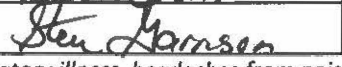

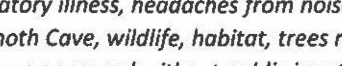

Safety concerns include fires, lightning, hail damage, insufficient water, increased heat, wildlife who may jump the fence and can't escape.

Property value concerns include the decrease in property values due to commercial solar utilities in residential neighborhoods and the destruction of agricultural lands and woodlands.

Funding concerns include the origin of the funds and investors, lack of KY assets for the LLC, lack of government's financial analysis, prefer no government financing such as IRB/PILOT.

When completed, please call 270-646-59221. Copies will be submitted locally and to Frankfort.
