Re: Little Mount 161 kV Transmission Line and Substation
P.S.C. Docket No. 2004-00320

Dear Ms. O'Donnell:

I am soul owner of a working farm raising tobacco and cattle and hay to feed them.

I have been informed, by letter dated September 30, 2004, that you are the person I need to contact.

Besides a pension I received working for the Railroad for twenty-nine Years, I need the income from the farm to supplement my income and my nephew's income.

I am contemplating subdividing this farm in the future, and from what I see on the aerial photo sent to me by Nick Constantini, there would be seven (7) poles with crossbars extending 3951 feet taking up 9.14 acres. The poles and lines attached to them would destroy my prime farmland and cause considerable damage to the best of my fields and pastures in the construction of this project.

I doubt very seriously if you or anyone else in your organization can guarantee me that at no time in the future would any harm be done to my property either by maintenance crews or an act of God (lightning, storms, etc.)

I strongly object to any person, utility poles or wires be put on my property and have instructed my nephew to allow no one to conduct a survey or proceed in any manner with the project. The property is posted "No Trespassing" and it will be strictly enforced.

I have contacted a long time friend of mine, Honorable Judge Jenkins, of Spencer County, as to my concerns. I am confident that you could contact David Jenkins as to my willingness to go to any extent to prevent this outrageous invasion of my property that has been in the family for generations.

In conclusion, I will intervene in this project in local, state and federal courts if it becomes necessary. Is there really a price one can put on destroying property that a lifetime of work went into.

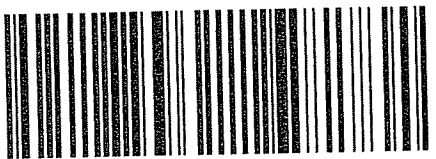

Sincerely,
