Re: Case No. 2005-00305
2005-2007 Construction Work Plan

Dear Ms. O'Donnell:

In its 2005-2007 Construction Work Plan, Jackson Energy Cooperative proposes building a warehouse shed at its McKee warehouse. The purpose of this letter is to give more details concerning the proposed shed.

Currently Jackson Energy Cooperative has equipment that is not used on a daily basis. This equipment includes items such as right-of-way mowing machines and a line tensioner trailer which is used to pull in new overhead conductor. These machines are stored at the McKee warehouse but are sitting out in the weather. The proposed shed will allow Jackson Energy Cooperative to store these machines out of the weather.

Jackson Energy Cooperative has material that is kept in stock specifically for outages. This is particularly true for larger consumers who are served with larger, less frequently used conductors and transformers. This material may be stored for long periods of time before it is needed. Due to space availability, some of this material, such as large reels of underground cable, is stored outside in the weather. The proposed shed will make it possible for Jackson Energy Cooperative to store this material out of the weather.

The estimated cost for the proposed shed is $250,000. This estimate was obtained from a local contractor for budgeting purposes. Before any work is performed bids will be solicited to determine the best price for the project.
