RE: Notice of Proposed Construction of Electric Transmission Line from Mill Creek to Hardin County

Dear Executive Director,

In regards to the construction of this power line I'd like to begin with my main point and that is – that existing easements should be used! Plain and simple! Commonsense tells you that! We as landowners can't afford to hire a lawyer to represent us and fight against big companies. During this process, none of our questions have been answered. Such as – How will the power lines affect the GPS that farmers use? What financial compensation are we talking about? Will you lease easement out to other companies? Are they really necessary? Why was this route chosen? Do landowners receive royalties since it is a private company that profits financially at others expense?

Mr. Director, I would like to end with one request for you and it is fairly simple:

Take you lawn chair and drive out to Joe Hobbs farm (St. Martin's Road in Flaherty) and sit on his front porch for 15 minutes. Then ask yourself these few questions:

- How will this impact this farm?
- How will it impact Joe's view and enjoyment of his farm?
- How will it impact it financially?
- How will it impact him and his family emotionally?
- How will it impact his farming business (GPS, landlock, inconvenience, financially)?

Then, if it impacts Joe this way how many other farmers and property owners will it affect this way too?

Sincerely,

Sheri Sheeran
