RE: Public Notice Docket 2006-00106
Shared Sites, LLC and
American Cellular Corporation

Dear Executive Director and Commission members:

This correspondence is to serve as formal objection on behalf of my clients and parents, Dr. George E. and Bonnie Estill, to the construction of the site above at 1602 Connector Road, Ewing, Fleming County, Kentucky, and the erection of a three hundred foot cell tower thereon. Dr. and Mrs. Estill own a farm on U.S. 68, apparently within 500 feet of the proposed project.

The area in question, along Johnson and Absolum Creeks in Western Fleming County, near the Mason County line, is an undeveloped treasure, and one of the few places remaining in the state where development has been kept to a minimum. The State recognizes the fact, and nearby Blue Licks State Park has grown as a tourist destination for those seeking to experience what is left of rural Kentucky in this region.

We recognize that for some, cell towers represent progress. We simply suggest that existing water towers or other natural or manmade aeriels be considered, before marring Kentucky's last few undeveloped areas.

Best regards,

John F. Estill
