To whom it may concern's

I am standing with everyone else who believes the 35% increase is absolutely incomprehensible in today's current economic status. My budget is already overstretched. Many times in our family we've had to decide between heat, food or medicine.

There are entirely too many individuals in similar situations in our very neighborhood. Those on fixed income, unemployment, and/or disability. We struggle seriously from day to day wondering where our families next meal is going to come from and you want an ungodly amount of an increase. Come on - get real.

Once you raise your rates, everyone else will do the same. The cost will trickle down to the grocery suppliers and will be paying $6.00 for a gallon milk,

I pray this does not go through.
The 4 adults in our family vote NO!
