Dear Sir:

I am a resident of the Old Bridge Subdivision in Danville, KY. I am also the Secretary/Treasurer of our Neighborhood Association. I have had numerous complaints about AmeriGas discontinuing our existing gas line service and replacing it with above ground or underground tanks on each individual lot.

When we built our house in 1996, we paid approximately $600 to tap onto the gas line that had been run throughout the Neighborhood. It was from the large propane tank provided to the Neighborhood from Bright's Propane Company. They provided propane gas to each household that had tapped onto their line. We receive a bill each month from Bright's based on our usage of the gas that is provided. Having an individual tank would actually be less expensive for our household, since we pay a minimum payment each month whether gas is used or not. However, according to our Neighborhood restrictions, we cannot have tanks above the ground; and in some sections of the Neighborhood, it is against the restrictions to have tanks underground. So how does Amerigas plan on getting around the Neighborhood restrictions? The restrictions were set years ago for the benefit of the Neighborhood.

I, like many others in the Old Bridge Neighborhood, am opposed to the change which has been proposed by AmeriGas. It appears this change is for their benefit only—to raise prices.

I think a public hearing should be held on this issue and the residents of Old Bridge Neighborhood be allowed to express their opinions and wishes. If a hearing is not held, I would hope that you take into consideration the Neighborhood's wishes and not allow the change to occur.

Sincerely,

Wanda A. Renner
OBNA Secretary/Treasurer
