LATE CHARGE REMINDER

A $15.00 Late Payment Charge and a 1.5% interest charge may apply to an unpaid current charges balance as of your next bill date.

REQUEST NO. 2: State whether the bills provided by Associates in Dermatology as Appendix 4, or "AID — 4," to its response to the requests for information attached as Appendix B to the December 3, 2019 Order (Requests to Associates in Dermatology) are for service provided in Kentucky or in Indiana, and explain whether and, if so, how you are able to determine the location at which the service is provided based on the bills.

RESPONSE: The bills provided by AID as Appendix 4, or "AID-4" to its response to the request for information attached as Appendix B to the December 3, 2019 Order are for service provided in Indiana. The location of the service is identifiable by AT&T Kentucky based on the first three digits of account numbers that appear on those bills. For services provided in Indiana the first three digits of the account numbers are 812.

Witness: Eric A. Herbert

REQUEST NO. 3:

(a) State whether AT&T Kentucky contends that Associates in Dermatology currently owes any amount for or related to services provided by AT&T Kentucky or any affiliate of AT&T Kentucky to Associates in Dermatology, and if so, identify the service for which those amounts are owed and the month and year in which they were incurred.

(b) Provide any bills or other written communications indicating amounts owed sent by AT&T Kentucky or any affiliate of AT&T Kentucky to Associates in Dermatology for amounts AT&T Kentucky contends are still owed (redact the telephone numbers from which Associates in Dermatology received any calls or to which it made).

RESPONSE:

(a) Associates in Dermatology is not indebted to AT&T Kentucky for any amounts.

(b) Not applicable.

REQUEST NO. 4: Refer to AT&T Kentucky's response to Requests to AT&T

Kentucky, Items 12 and 15.

(a) Identify and describe the function of the "Customer Premise Equipment (CPE) provided by AT&T Kentucky as its Flexible Reach service," and state whether Associates in Dermatology was charged a specific rate or amount to rent, lease, or otherwise use the equipment distinct from the amounts it was charged for the Flexible Reach service.

(b) Explain whether Associates in Dermatology was required by AT&T Kentucky to obtain the "Customer Premise Equipment" from AT&T Kentucky.

(c) Explain whether the "Customer Premise Equipment" is located between the telephones from which Associates in Dermatology would make voice calls and Associates in Dermatology's PBX or between the PBX and AT&T Kentucky's network.

(d) Identify the format of any voice calls when they entered the "Customer Premise Equipment" from Associates in Dermatology's telephones and the format of any voice calls when they left the "Customer Premise Equipment" toward AT&T Kentucky's network for the service provided between August 2016 and February 2018.

RESPONSE:

(a) Customer Premise Equipment provided by AT&T Kentucky under its Flexible Reach service consist primarily of a router, which allowed the customer to place and receive calls using that service. AT&T Kentucky does not charge for CPE, other than in instances in which the equipment is not returned after disconnection of service, which is not at issue in this matter, and AID was not charged any other distinct amount for CPE for Flexible Reach service.

Witness: Hany Fahmy

(b) Yes, regarding the AT&T virtual private network services provided under contract to AID, AID was required by AT&T Kentucky to obtain Customer Premise Equipment from AT&T Kentucky.

(c) The customer premises equipment was located between Associates in Dermatology's PBX and AT&T Kentucky's network.

(d) Calls originated in an Internet Protocol ("IP") format (referred to in the industry as Session Initial Protocol ("SIP")), then via the PRI translation for IP call it was translated via the ISDN through PRI switches from IP to what the customer then experienced in the same manner as an analog call. This process happened exactly in reverse translation for calls exiting AID's CPE. For regular TDM or Plain Old Telephone Service ("POTs") calls entered and exited AID's CPE in analog format.

Witness: Hany Fahmy

REQUEST NO. 5: Refer to AT&T Kentucky's response to Requests to AT&T

Kentucky, Item 15(a) in which AT&T Kentucky indicated that "[t]he point of demarcation lies at Associates in Dermatology's premises at its PBX" when AT&T Kentucky was providing analog service. State whether AT&T Kentucky contends that the point of demarcation was at Associates in Dermatology's PBX between its PBX and AT&T Kentucky's network or at Associates in Dermatology's PBX between its PBX and the telephones from which Associates in Dermatology would make voice calls. Provide a diagram depicting the network connections.

RESPONSE: The point of demarcation was at AID's PBX between its PBX and AT&T Kentucky's network.

Witness: Eric A Herbert and Hany Fahmy

Integrate your voice & data

Build a new outlook on how your voice service benefits your bottom line and overall productivity.

AT&T IP Flexible Reach is a Session Initiation Protocol (SIP) trunking service that delivers integrated access for IP PBX, TDM PBX or Key System environments, providing potential total cost benefits through the consolidation of voice and data – one provider, single transport, and management options.

Voice and data traffic riding over the same transport drives greater bandwidth utilization and potential access to cost savings. This managed Voice over IP (VoIP) communication solution includes calling plans that support inbound and outbound calling on your data network, giving you local, U.S. long distance and international reach for your U.S. sites.

How it works

To help ensure business-class voice quality, AT&T employs Class of Service (CoS), which prioritizes the voice packets over other types of data packets for immediate transport. AT&T engineers perform advanced bandwidth management and implement traffic queuing priorities in the gateway router as part of the deployment process.

Potential Benefits

- Optimize network capacity: Combine voice and data over integrated access
- Utilize your current equipment: Avoid investing in new equipment for voice lines
- Control costs: Simplify network management
- Be scalable and flexible: Increase and decrease the number of concurrent call channels as needed
- Maintain call quality: Calls carried on AT&T MPLS network, not public internet
- Avoid toll charges: On-net (VoIP-to-VoIP) calls route within the IP network and avoid additional charges

Features

- Flexible Calling Plans: Supports unlimited local and on-net calling with option for bundle of free off-net long distance minutes
- Branch Office Extensions: Share trunks across multiple locations
- Virtual Telephone Numbers: Establish local visibility by assigning a telephone number to a phone not physically located within your location's local calling area.
- Web-based portal: Get web-based performance reporting, call detail reporting, e-ordering, e-bill, and e-maintenance reports

AT&T IP Flexible Reach helps maximize the efficiency of your communications infrastructure. To help ensure your migration is smooth, we provide design, implementation, and lifecycle management that helps assure your migration is smooth.

Calling plans

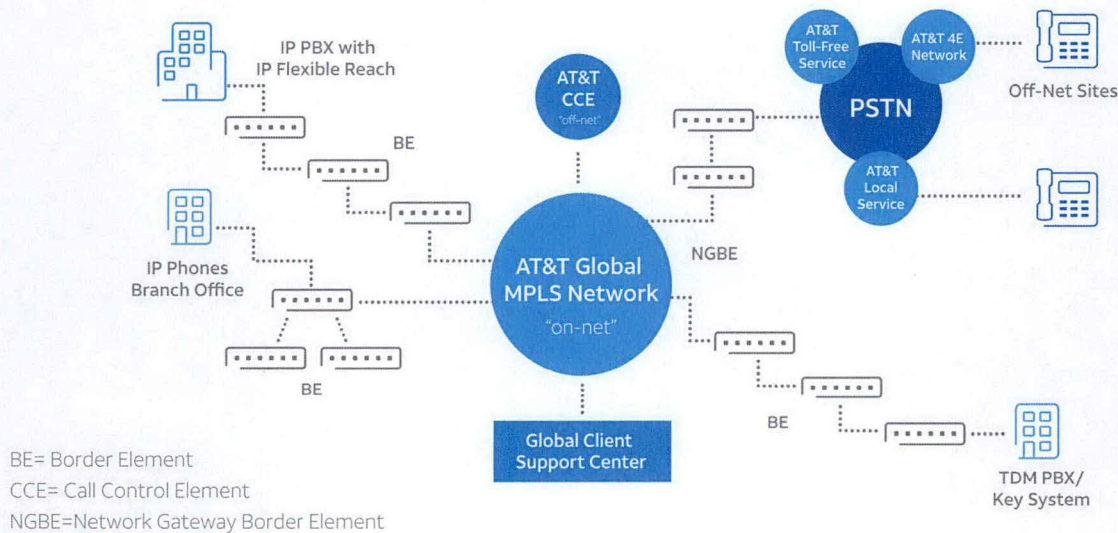

AT&T has a variety of calling plans to fit your business needs:

- The long distance plan (Calling Plan A) provides unlimited on-net calling between your VoIP-enabled sites with competitive per minute long distance and international rates.
- The local and long distance plan (Calling Plan B) (U.S. only) provides unlimited on-net and local calling with competitive per minute long distance and international rates. Supports E911/911 calling.

- The local and long distance plan (MOW Calling Plan B) provides unlimited on-net calling with competitive per minute local, long distance, and international rates. Supports Emergency calling.
- The local and long distance package (Calling Plan C, U.S. only) provides unlimited on-net and local calling with a long distance package that includes competitive per minute international rates, plus 300 minutes of outbound U.S. off-net calling per concurrent call, aggregated across your enterprise. Per-minute charges apply for usage over the bundled minutes. Supports E911/911 calling.

IP Flexible Reach for TDM and IP PBXs

The IP VPN foundation

AT&T IP Flexible Reach is supported on AT&T Dedicated Internet Service and AT&T VPN services, giving you options that support your connectivity and bandwidth needs. AT&T supports a wide variety of access speeds. These services take advantage of our Global MPLS Network, giving you the foundation for virtually seamless voice and data communications across your business.

Virtual telephone numbers

AT&T IP Flexible Reach supports both local and Virtual Telephone Numbers (VTNs). VTNs enable you to assign a telephone number from virtually anywhere, to a phone that is not physically located within your location's local calling area. You can establish local visibility within that calling area.*

Enhanced features

Enhanced Features are optional for AT&T IP Flexible Reach users and provides both line and trunk features as well as a customer portal to manage features and users and create reports.

Line Features are telephone number-based capabilities that provide end users with a variety of management (e.g. sequential and simultaneous ringing), call forwarding, and call transfer options.

The Trunk Call Routing feature provides the ability to aggregate multiple IP Flexible Reach IP trunks and allow these trunk groups to work together to support load balancing, redundancy, and overflow routing capabilities for inbound calling.

IP Flexible Reach mobile client

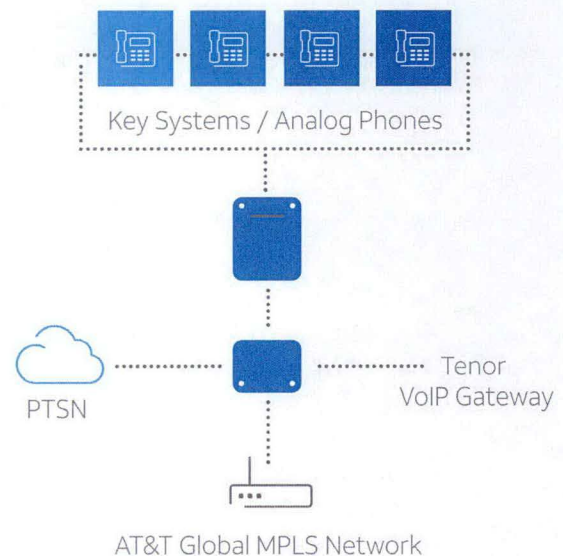

The IP Flexible Reach mobile client is a mobile application for iOS and Android. When enabled, this app allows users to make and receive calls over their existing cellular service using their IP Flexible Reach business identity. The IP Flexible Reach mobile client also allows the user to change call forwarding features, simultaneous ring, and sequential ring from their mobile device.

Centralized call delivery and branch office IP PBX extensions

Centralized call delivery authorizes routing of calls originating from various locations across the country and answering them at your preferred central location.

The Branch Office Extensions (BOE) capability delivers telephone numbers for all your branch office sites and is supported by a single centralized IP PBX located at your IP Flexible Reach site. You can use your existing IP data network to distribute the calls to your branch office sites, which allows you to utilize your IP PBX to support IP phones without additional hardware.

IP Flexible Reach for key systems

Hardware & software

AT&T provides the elements required to support connectivity with IP PBXs, traditional TDM PBXs, or key systems. An AT&T managed router deployed with the data service is equipped with the appropriate software and hardware for your service. For your VPN solution, you manage your routers and AT&T can monitor call quality and help with troubleshooting through an AT&T managed smart device on your premises.

Consistent performance

Network performance – AT&T provides reliable voice quality. In addition, utilizing CoS with 25 different profiles, you can optimize your voice and data application performance.

Service Level Agreements – Service Level Agreements (SLAs) for VoIP service and underlying transport reinforce our commitment to delivering business class voice service.

Web-based reporting – You can utilize the AT&T Business Direct® portal for web-based performance reporting, call detail reporting, e-ordering, e-bill, and e-maintenance features.

*Limitations do apply to Virtual Telephone Numbers. Please see the BVoIP Service Guide for details on limitations and conditions of use.

By combining the visibility and control of our network with threat intelligence and response expertise, we are able to help customers quickly detect threats and minimize the effect of attacks by providing highly secure services that help to protect what is most important to them.
