Re Case No. 2019-00256

To Whom it May Concern:

As an individual homeowner I need encouragement to take the step to solar. It is clear even with dramatic actions climate warming is a reality and everything needs to be done to protect our children's future.

Zero net metering makes sense to me as I will be generating maximum electricity when my own demand is high, during peak demand for air conditioning in the highest demand time for the utility. This benefits KG&E by lowering cost for the most expensive electricity.

I believe in Public Service Commissions. I think the mission to act in the public's interest does not always coincide with acting in the utility's interest.

Please consider maximizing the return to the little guy who is doing his part in minimizing global warming.

Thanks,

Edward M. Stone
