Comments: I was excited and hopeful to hear about the Pine Grove Solar project coming to Madison County, KY last Summer during an informational presentation at the Madison County Public Library. The planners and representatives for the project were clearly well organized, professional, and committed to providing information and answering questions about the proposed project. This area of Kentucky would benefit greatly from such a forward thinking project in alternative energy. We certainly have the space for such a project and the need for clean energy in one of Kentucky's fastest growing counties cannot be overstated. Most important, it demonstrates a commitment to utilizing cleaner, more modern alternatives as opposed to the burnables we have been relying on for far too long. Our children will be proud and our neighbors will see and experience a more responsible means of power generation. The only downside I've heard from a fellow Madison countian had to do with aesthetics. Quite frankly, that's an utter ridiculous complaint and a clear indication that this projects' advantages far, far outweigh any drawbacks. PLEASE let us move forward with such a project. Kentucky needs this in more ways than I can list! Thank you.

Comments: I am one of the owners of property next to purposed solar company. If they purchase the property we will be sharing the private road to our property. I believe if you own property it is yours to do as you want as long as no harm to my family, property or environment. I have been assured that the solar panels are safe and that the company will work with us to maintain the shared driveway and shield our property from the panels. We look forward to a great relationship with the company.
