Dear Public Service Commission,

LG&E-KU wants to build new gas plants, without considering distributed energy resources like rooftop solar. The amount of energy they're anticipating is a huge increase due to AI data centers, and they are asking for approval for new gas plants that we, rate-payers, will be responsible for funding.

Instead of new gas plants that will lock us in to dirty fossil fuels for decades to come, we need them to consider cheaper and cleaner options that include energy efficiency programs, and community solar programs. Data center investors should be responsible for paying for their own projects instead of ratepayers. LGE-KU must help customers afford their energy bills.
