In support of the RLECs' Motion for Reconsideration or Rehearing (the "Motion for Reconsideration"), filed in the above-captioned case on June 1,2012 before the Public Service Commissionof the Commonweal thof Kentucky (the "Commission") in response to the May 30, 2012 Order (the "May 30 Order"), the RLECs state as follows.

Although AT&T ² denies that it misrepresented the April 19 FCC Order ³ to this Commission, it provides no authority what so ever to support its denial. (

See AT&T's Response to the RLECs' Motion for Reconsideration or Rehearing, p. 2 (the "O pposition").) As a result, AT&T cannot plausibly denythat it misled this Commission, nor can it rebut the unambiguous meaning of the April 19 FCC Order which provided worksheets for use with "interstate" filings and expressly stated that NECA carriers like the RLECs are not required to use the worksheets. (April 19 FCC Order, ¶1,28.)

The simple truth is that the RLECs have already submitted all required information to the Commission. Tellingly, AT&T does not denyth is.

Moreover, implicit in the Commission's May 30 Order was the pra ctical concern that standardized worksheets would ensure that the Commission would not be forc ed to review a multitude of different formats of cost support information. However, this concern is already resolved because the RLECs, a significant majority of Kentucky 's ILECs, 'presented their data inastandardized format that complies with the FCC's express substantive requirements.

In short, there is no legal requirement or practical reason for the Commission to require the RLECs to perform the unnecessary clerical task of moving their cost support data to non-required worksheets. For these reasons, and the reasons set forth more fully in the RLECs' Motion for Reconsideration or Rehearing, the RLECs respectfully request that the Commission grantthis motion and retractor dering paragraphs 2 and 3 of the May 30 Order.
