Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 32

Responding Witness: Valerie L. Scott

- Q-32. Provide a detailed analysis of contributions for charitable and political purposes (in cash or services), if any, recorded in accounts other than Account No. 426. Show the amount of the expenditure, the recipient of the contribution, and the specific account charged. If amounts are allocated, show a calculation of the factor used to allocate each amount. Detailed analysis is not required for amounts of less than $100, provided the items are grouped by classes.
- A-32. There were no contributions for charitable or political purposes recorded in accounts other than Account No. 426.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 33

Responding Witness: Lonnie E. Bellar / Valerie L. Scott

- Q-33. Describe KU's lobbying activities and provide a schedule showing the name, salary, affiliation, all company-paid or reimbursed expenses or allowances, and the account charged for each individual whose principal function is lobbying on the local, state, or national level. If any amounts are allocated, show a calculation of the factor used to allocate each amount.
- A-33. Kentucky Utilities charges expenses for lobbying activities to account 426.4, Expenditures for Certain Civic, Political and Related Activities, a "below-the-line" account not deducted in arriving at net operating income. The expenses recorded in this account, which include all expenses of External Affairs, are not included in rates and are not proposed to be included in rates.

Some expenses are directly charged to 426.4 while others are indirect charges which are allocated. All expenses and charges, whether directly or indirectly assigned, are not included in rates. G.R. Siemens' indirect charges were allocated to Louisville Gas & Electric at 38%, Kentucky Utilities at 42% and LKE Capital Corp. at 20%. D.J. Freibert's indirect charges were allocated to Louisville Gas & Electric at 10% and Kentucky Utilities at 90%. M.S. Beer's indirect charges were allocated to Louisville Gas & Electric at 47% and Kentucky Utilities at 53%.

During the test year, these charges amounted to $1,118,144, of this amount $347,261 represented approximately 58.76% of the salary and associated benefits (e.g., health care and retirement) of G.R. Siemens, D.J. Freibert, and M.S. Beer whose duties include, but are not limited to, representation before governmental agencies and legislative bodies at local, state and federal levels on matters directly related to the Company and the conduct of its business. These employees also provide functional representation of the Company at and participation in civic, charitable and community events, monitor the legislative and regulatory processes, respond to inquiries by federal, state and local governmental agencies and legislative bodies and participate in industry meetings and conferences.

Thus, the $347,261 does not reflect time associated only with lobbying activities as defined by Account 426.4. The remaining $770,883 charged to this account is associated with salary and benefits for three other employees who provide analytical or administrative support and business expenses (e.g., travel and office expenses) for G.R. Siemens, D.J. Freibert, and M.S. Beer.

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 34

Responding Witness: Valerie L. Scott

- Q-34. Provide a schedule showing for the test year and the year preceding the test year, with each year shown separately, of the following information regarding KU's investments in subsidiaries and joint ventures:
- a. Name of subsidiary or joint venture;
 - b. Date of initial investment;
 - c. Amount and type of investment made for each of the 2 years included in this response;
 - d. Balance sheet and income statement. Where only internal statements are prepared, furnish copies of these;
 - e. A separate schedule of all dividends or income of any type received by KU from its subsidiaries or joint ventures showing how this income is reflected in the reports filed with the Commission and stockholder reports; and
 - f. Name of each officer of each of the subsidiaries or joint ventures, each officer's annual compensation, the portion of that compensation that is charged to the subsidiary or joint venture, the position each officer holds with KU, and the compensation received from KU.
- A-34. (1 of 2)
- a. Electric Energy, Inc. (EEI)
 - b. KU invested in the formation of EEI when it received its charter from the State of Illinois in December 1950.
 - c. No investments were made in EEI by KU during the 2 years included in this response.

- d. See attached (1 of 2) containing financial statements for EEI including Statements of Income for the twelve months ended March 31, 2011 and 2012 and Balance Sheets as of March 31, 2011 and 2012.
- e. KU records its earnings on its investments in EEI on the equity method of accounting. KU records a share of EEI's net income each period in proportion to KU's ownership percentage (20%). KU has recorded a loss of $1,243,444 and income of $1,861,381 for the 12-months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. These amounts have been reported as "Other Income Less Deductions" in KU's reports filed with the Commission and as "Equity Earnings in EEI" in stockholders reports.
- f. Officers: Steven R. Sullivan Chairman of the Board
 William H. Sheppard President
 David R. Rambo Secretary-Treasurer

None of the officers of EEI are officers or employees of KU.

None of EEI's officers receive compensation from KU nor is any portion of their salaries charged to KU. EEI's officer salaries are charged internally by EEI as expenses against EEI's revenues to arrive at net income. The compensation paid to these officers by EEI is not available to KU.

(2 of 2)

- a. Ohio Valley Electric Corporation (OVEC)
- b. KU's original investment in OVEC was made in 1952.
- c. No investments were made in OVEC by KU during the 2 years included in this response.
- d. See attached (2 of 2) containing financial statements for OVEC including Statements of Income for the twelve months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011 and Balance Sheets as of March 31, 2012 and 2011.
- e. KU records its dividend income from OVEC on the cost method of accounting. KU has recorded $25,000 and $42,500 in dividends for the 12-months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively. These amounts have been reported as "Other Income Less Deductions" in KU's reports filed with the Commission and as "Other Income (Expense) – Net" in stockholders reports.

f.	Officers:	Nicholas K. Akins	President
		Mark A. Peifer	Vice President & Asst. to President
		David E. Jones	Vice President - Operations
		John D. Brodt	Secretary and Treasurer
		Ronald D. Cook	Asst. Secretary and Asst. Treasurer
		Charles E. Zebula	Asst. Secretary and Asst. Treasurer

None of the officers of OVEC are officers or employees of KU.

None of OVEC's officers receive compensation from KU nor is any portion of their salaries charged to KU. OVEC's officer salaries are charged internally by OVEC as expenses against OVEC's revenues to arrive at net income. The compensation paid to these officers by OVEC is not available to KU.

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 45

Responding Witness: Lonnie E. Bellar

- Q-45. List all present or proposed research efforts dealing with the pricing of electricity and the current status of such efforts.
- A-45. The Company does not ordinarily conduct original research on electricity prices (i.e. retail rates). However, the Company does subscribe to a number of industry publications which report on retail electric prices (primarily in the form of survey data). The Company expects to continue to subscribe to the same or similar publications in the future. The Company makes every effort to control costs and keep rates low.

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 46

Responding Witness: Paula H. Pottinger, Ph.D.

- Q-46. Provide a schedule reflecting the salaries and other compensation of each executive officer for the test year and 2 preceding calendar years. Include the percentage annual increase and the effective date of each increase, the job title, duty and responsibility of each officer, the number of employees who report to each executive officer, and to whom each executive officer reports. Also, for employees elected to executive officer status during the test year, provide the salaries, for the test year, for those persons whom they replaced.
- A-46. A schedule of salaries and other compensation for all executive officers as of the end of the test year and the two preceding calendar years is attached. This information is provided in a manner that is consistent with W2s and year to date information in the case of the portion of the test year in 2012. Certain information is being filed under seal pursuant to a petition for confidential treatment.

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information

Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 47

Responding Witness: Paul W. Thompson

Q-47. Provide an analysis of KU's expenses for research and development activities for the test year and the 3 preceding calendar years. For the test year, include the following:

- a. Basis of fees paid to research organizations and KU's portion of the total revenue of each organization. Where the contribution is monthly, provide the current rate and the effective date.
- b. Details of the research activities conducted by each organization.
- c. Details of services and other benefits provided to the company by each organization during the test year and the preceding calendar year.
- d. Total expenditures of each organization, including the basic nature of costs incurred by the organization.
- e. Details of the expected benefits to the company.

A-47. Research, Development and Demonstration expenses are primarily with the Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI). The EPRI expenses are for collaborative research studies, technology development and demonstration projects. Other expenses associated with specific projects include the University of Kentucky Center for Applied Energy Research (UK CAER) and two projects at the University of Texas at Austin. One of the projects with the University of Texas at Austin was funded through EPRI. The following KU amounts for all R&D projects are provided for 2009, 2010, 2011, and the test year.

Year 2010	$1,874,262
Year 2011	$2,351,233
Test Year	$2,167,191

- a. Payments to EPRI vary depending on the project sets in which each company wishes to participate. Other payments for research are specific to the work being conducted. For the calendar year 2011 (the most recent data available from EPRI), KUs payments represented 0.54% of EPRI's revenues. For the UK CAER, KU's payments represented 0.68% of UK CAER's revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2011. For the University of Texas at Austin, KU's payments represented 0.54% of the revenue for the two projects.
- b. Research projects are related to the operational needs of the different lines of business, such as generation, environmental and transmission. The details of each project set are listed on pages 3-30 of this response.
- c. EPRI's portfolio of research and development projects is extensive and covers the complete spectrum of activities of interest to most energy suppliers. The purpose of their research program is to find answers and solutions to short and long term problems or questions. A description of the projects KU has elected to fund for the test year are provided on pages 3-30 of this response, both for EPRI and the other organizations.
- d. EPRI's total expenditures in calendar year 2011 (the most current information available) were approximately $358 million for research and development activities. The University of Kentucky, Center for Applied Energy Research total expenditures for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2011 were approximately $16.7 million for research and development activities. The University of Texas at Austin's expenditures was effectively the funding from consortium members ($2M).
- e. The expected benefits are included in the program descriptions on pages 3-30 of this response.

EPRI Generation Programs

Program 63 – Boiler Life and Availability Improvement	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 128,774
	2012 Project Budget: $ 4,521,388

Program Description:

The majority of fossil plants worldwide are more than 30 years old and are experiencing increased demand for operational flexibility while addressing age-related issues for major components. High-energy steam and water piping systems also are among the most important safety issues at fossil plants and must be managed reliably through the aging process. Safety and availability loss due to pressure part failures are two key issues driving R&D on major fossil power plant components, especially in older plants. Boiler tube failures (BTFs) continue to be the leading cause of lost availability (with equipment availability losses due to BTFs averaging approximately 3%) in fossil-fired steam plants worldwide.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Boiler Life and Availability Improvement Program (Program 63) uses international collaboration to develop technology and guidance on safe management of boiler component life to ensure high reliability and reduce O&M costs. Efforts focus on advanced inspection techniques for early and accurate identification of component damage; analytical tools to predict remaining life and risk of in-service failure; and decision-support tools to help balance risk and benefit under a variety of operating scenarios.

Research Value:

Power generators need to balance the risks and costs of the largest, most costly equipment in the power plant, and focus on using proven technologies to create solutions. By using the results of the R&D in this program, plant owners and operators can:

- Reduce the costs of lost availability due to boiler tube failures from greater than $10,000/MW/yr to less than $1,000/MW/yr when program results are applied comprehensively;
- Increase the safety of high-energy and high-temperature piping systems; and
- Increase safety through control of flow-accelerated corrosion (FAC) in fossil plants.

Program 64 – Boiler and Turbine Steam and Cycle Chemistry	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 72,108
	2012 Project Budget: $ 2,431,924

Program Description:

Safety and availability loss due to failures are two key issues driving R&D on major fossil power plant components, especially in older plants. Operators need to minimize major causes of lost availability and associated maintenance costs related to corrosion and inadequate cycle chemistry, and prevent boiler tube and turbine blade/disc failures and flow-accelerated corrosion (FAC).

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Boiler and Turbine Steam and Cycle Chemistry Program (Program 64) offers guidelines, technology, and training materials to help plant operators manage water-steam chemistry, reduce unplanned outages and operations and maintenance (O&M) costs, and improve unit economics.

Research Value:

The industry needs to balance the risks and costs of the largest, most costly equipment, and focus on using proven technologies to create solutions. By using the results of the R&D in this program, members can:

- Improve overall unit availability — losses due to improper chemistry have a 1% or more effect on unit availability
- Reduce steam turbine efficiency losses — chemical and metallic oxide deposits reduce turbine efficiencies by up to 2%
- Reduce chemistry-related boiler tube failures
- Reduce incidence of FAC damage and failures — FAC is both a personnel safety and component availability concern
- Reduce chemistry-related O&M costs
- Improve world-class or excellent cycle chemistry

Program 65 – Steam Turbines-Generators & Auxiliary Systems	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 103,019
	2012 Project Budget: $ 5,103,233

Program Description:

Up to 70% of outages planned for steam power plants involve work on the turbines. Power producers continually seek ways to optimize operation and maintenance activities on aging turbine-generator fleets. These activities can reduce maintenance costs, improve component reliability, and increase generator output. However, maintaining a detailed awareness of effective maintenance techniques is challenged by evolving operating experience, advanced materials and upgrade options, reduced staffing levels, and the retirement of experienced personnel.

The Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) Steam Turbines-Generators and Auxiliary Systems program (Program 65) develops technologies and guidelines that help fossil and nuclear plant operators optimize steam turbine and generator equipment life cycles to increase availability, shorten scheduled maintenance outages, and improve steam turbine performance. Research and technical support activities enable power plant operators to reduce operation and maintenance costs, maximize plant performance, and more effectively implement plant upgrades and asset management strategies.

Research Value:

Using an integrated approach that incorporates work from related EPRI programs, this program focuses on reducing operations and maintenance (O&M) costs, managing risk, maximizing plant performance, providing technical support for plant staff, and producing information to support upgrade studies and asset management strategies. Research results inform decisions regarding run/repair/replace and provide detailed guidance for planning and performing critical overhaul and maintenance activities.

By participating in this program, plant operators can obtain information that they can use to:

- Reduce maintenance costs
- Maintain high availability
- Lower operating and regulatory risks

- Implement cost-effective thermal performance improvements
- Extend component life
- Increase staff technical expertise and awareness of industry issues

Involvement in the program will help:

- Educate participants about worldwide turbine-generator (T-G) issues and solutions
- Provide opportunities to share information with industry experts, engineers, major T-G original equipment manufacturers (OEMs), and vendor/service providers worldwide

Program 66A – Engineering and Economic Evaluations and Market Assessments of Advanced Coal Generation Options	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 96,017
	2012 Project Budget: $ 1,250,942

Program Description:

Around the world, electricity is produced largely from fossil fuels, and coal often is the predominant fuel choice. In North America, Australia, and parts of Europe, Asia, and Africa, coal-fired power plants supply more than half of the electricity consumed. However, as public concern over the environmental impacts of coal-based generation increases, new technologies and practices to improve plant efficiency and reduce emissions of air pollutants and greenhouse gases are of interest. If cost-effective, reliable, and highly efficient new coal plant designs with near-zero emissions and CO2 capture are available to the industry, coal could be kept in the generation mix to constrain expected increases in electricity and natural gas prices.

The Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) CoalFleet for Tomorrow® program (Program 66) targets the technical, economic, and institutional challenges to making highly efficient, near-zero-emission coal plants with CO2 capture a prudent and practical investment option.

This project set helps power generators screen technology options and conduct feasibility studies that assess the economics, operating performance, life-cycle greenhouse gas emissions, and technological risks of both gasification- and combustion-based advanced coal generation technologies, and compares them to natural-gas-fired alternatives. In addition, the project set monitors the status of advanced coal power generation technologies and provides information on numbers and types of commercial-scale coal power plants being built in markets of interest to our members.

Research Value:

The program focuses on deploying a portfolio of advanced coal technologies, including integrated gasification combined-cycle (IGCC), ultra-supercritical pulverized coal (USC PC), and oxygen (rather than air) combustion for PC and circulating-fluidized-bed combustion (CFBC) units. The program's R&D:

- Ensures that cost-effective, reliable, and highly efficient new coal plant designs with near-zero emissions and CO2 capture are available to industry
- Provides timely and accurate engineering and economic information about advanced coal technologies to support generators’ decision-making processes
- Serves as a source of accurate, unbiased information on the cost and status of advanced coal power generation technology for policymakers and regulators

- Facilitates implementation of the EPRI-Coal Utilization Research Council (CURC) roadmap for the development of the next generation of coal power, including USC PC that will achieve 47% higher heating value (HHV) thermal efficiency (without CO2 capture), and IGCCs based on H-class combustion turbines and advanced membranes for O2 production and CO2 capture
- Identifies optimal design strategies for integrating CO2 capture and compression systems with coal power plants—either for greenfield projects or retrofits
- Shortens the development time for promising CO2 capture technologies (post-, pre-, and oxy-combustion) through the cosponsoring support of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE's) National Carbon Capture Center—a "plug-and-play" pilot- and sub-pilot-plant-scale testing facility.

Program 66C – Combustion-Based Power Plant Development and Deployment Support (PC and CFBC)	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 96,017
	2012 Project Budget: $ 1,250,942

Program Description:

This project set concentrates on a wide range of projects for combustion-based coal power generation, including fundamental work such as qualification of stronger, more corrosion-resistant materials to allow boilers and steam turbines to operate at higher temperatures and raise generating efficiency, innovative technologies for oxy-combustion power plants, and design strategies to facilitate greater load-following and cycling capabilities in new coal power plants. A central element of the project set includes identifying optimal designs for integrating CO2 capture and compression systems with the power plant either for green field or retrofit applications.

Research Value:

- Ensures that cost-effective, reliable, and highly efficient new coal plant designs with near-zero emissions and CO2 capture are available to industry
- Provides timely and accurate engineering and economic information about advanced coal technologies to support generators' decision-making processes
- Serves as a source of accurate, unbiased information on the cost and status of advanced coal power generation technology for policymakers and regulators
- Facilitates implementation of the EPRI-Coal Utilization Research Council (CURC) roadmap for the development of the next generation of coal power, including USC PC that will achieve 47% higher heating value (HHV) thermal efficiency (without CO2 capture), and IGCCs based on H-class combustion turbines and advanced membranes for O2 production and CO2 capture
- Identifies optimal design strategies for integrating CO2 capture and compression systems with coal power plants—either for greenfield projects or retrofits
- Shortens the development time for promising CO2 capture technologies (post-, pre-, and oxy-combustion) through the cosponsoring support of the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE's) National Carbon Capture Center—a "plug-and-play" pilot- and sub-pilot-plant-scale testing facility.

Program 71.001 – Combustion and Fuel Impacts on Boiler Tube Longevity	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 76,817
	2012 Project Budget: $ 1,235,085

Program Description:

Boiler system owners and operators need cost-effective solutions to reduce the number of costly forced outages stemming from fireside corrosion, circumferential cracking, slagging and fouling, and other boiler tube impacts consequential to low-NO_x operation and fuel quality considerations. Low-NO_x operation often results in fireside corrosion and waterwall wastage-related boiler tube failures, and although weld overlays may alleviate this situation in many instances, associated problems with circumferential cracking may be exacerbated. Addressing the impacts of low-NO_x combustion and fuel quality on boiler tube longevity is critical to maintaining and improving unit reliability and performance.

Research Value:

EPRI's multifaceted approach to understanding and resolving the costly consequences of accelerated fireside corrosion, circumferential cracking, slagging, fouling, and other impacts of low-NO_x combustion and fuel quality on boiler tube longevity will include:

- Role of fuel properties such as chlorine, sulfur, ash compounds, and fuel blend ratios
- Effects of boiler design and various modes of low NO_x operation; and
- Operational- and materials-based solutions and issues

The advanced Corrosion Predictor Model, the Advanced Slagging Predictor, and other state-of-the-art modeling tools will be used to develop guidelines to assess circumferential cracking, waterwall wastage, slagging and fouling, and other operational and reliability issues based on coal quality, furnace design, and operability. Cost-effective solutions will be developed and demonstrated. The issue of circumferential cracking, exacerbated both by low-NO_x operation and utilization of weld overlays, will be addressed, and alternative material solutions such as thermal spray and ceramic coatings will be assessed.

Program Description:

Improving heat rate can reduce the cost of operation through fuel savings and increased availability. In addition, improving heat rate is by far the most cost-effective method and the only “ready now” method of reducing CO₂ levels.

Research Value:

This project group will develop and demonstrate a variety of deliverables and services that promote optimal heat rate and minimal cost of operations. Specific efforts will include heat rate program guidelines; economic evaluation of fuel quality impacts on heat rate; the effects of increased cycling and load-following operation; best practices for plant performance monitoring and improvement; and technology transfer vehicles such as conferences, workshops, and webcasts. In addition, participation will include membership in the Heat Rate Interest Group, where best practices, information, and prioritizing of available resources are shared. Finally, this project will house the Production Cost Optimization Interest Group, dedicated to seeking significant heat rate improvements for existing power generating facilities through cost-effective operational modifications, and significantly more improvements through more capital-intensive improvements.

- Reduce fuel costs
- Improve availability and emissions goals with existing hardware
- Realize future benefits, including reduced CO2 emissions at costs far lower than those of post-combustion options

Program 73 – Post-Combustion NO_x Control	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 135,289
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 2,982,923

Program Description:

Selective catalytic reduction (SCR) technology has become the technology of choice for meeting stringent nitrogen oxides (NO_x) emission limits for coal-fired electricity generating plants. More than 120 gigawatts (GW) of SCR capacity has been installed in the United States alone, and significantly more is planned for compliance with anticipated NO_x mandates in the coming years, such as the EPA's Clean Air Transport Rule (CATR).

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Post-Combustion NO_x Control program (Program 73) focuses on minimizing total costs and maximizing reliability and performance of SCR and other post-combustion NO_x control systems.

Research Value:

EPRI's Environmental Controls programs develop technologies that minimize the impacts of environmental controls on power plant operations and performance. EPRI helps members evaluate and implement technology options to achieve their environmental performance goals at least cost. Post-Combustion NO_x Control R&D provides:

- Development and implementation of best practices and operational improvements for SCR systems
- Lowered O&M expenditures, optimized operation, and reduced downtime for units equipped with SCRs
- Enhancements to existing SCR systems, which will allow members to profit from the NO_x credit market

Program 75.001 – Integrated Environmental Control Evaluations	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 31,908
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 427,432

Program Description:

Power generators need information on performance, applicability, and costs of controls for achieving the hazardous air pollutant (HAPS) emission limits in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) March 16, 2011, proposed Maximum Achievable Control Technology (MACT) rule for Electric Generation Units (EGUs). Reasonable cost solutions remain a challenge in some cases, such as mercury capture in units that burn medium- or high-sulfur coal, as well as acid gases, selenium, and other condensables across a wider choice of fuels. This situation is especially true for power plants that cannot justify investment in selective catalytic reduction (SCR) for NO_x and flue gas desulfurization (FGD) SO₂ control, or, for those with wet FGDs, to avoid excessive costs and complexity in treating FGD waste water discharges.

In the face of continued pressure on electricity prices, power plants also need lower-cost and better-performing sorbents and technologies than those available today, especially for fuel/air pollution control configurations that otherwise would require the installation of multiple control devices. Other industry multipollutant control needs include systems to provide low- to medium-cost, moderate SO₂ removals for older, smaller, "shoulder" units, with HAPS reductions as a co-benefit. Power plants with wet FGDs have additional needs: materials of construction that resist corrosion, updated guidance on selecting limestone reagents, and options for reducing water consumption. The drive for lower-cost air pollution control solutions through integrated environmental controls (IECs) leads to an industry need for independent, current information on costs and performance of any new IECs.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Integrated Environmental Controls (IEC) program (Program 75) develops technologies and provides independent engineering evaluations and performance and cost assessments for systems that control HAPS, SO₂, and other criteria pollutants, working in an integrated fashion with programs that address the impacts of these controls on particulate control, effluent discharge, compliance monitoring, and coal combustion product (such as fly ash and gypsum) use.

Research Value:

The R&D focus in 2012 and beyond will develop and demonstrate cost-effective, robust controls for all power plant configurations/fuels that meet the final MACT limits for mercury (Hg), non-Hg trace metals, and acid gases. The specific activities will be dictated by the final rule, to be signed by November 16, 2011. Attention will be paid to minimizing the overall costs, including those for the controls; their impacts on criteria air pollutants, liquid discharges, and coal combustion products; and system reliability. Program members can benefit through:

- Data to support compliance decisions, especially whether to adopt the controls that formed the bases for EPA's proposed regulations; e.g., the ability of dry sorbent injection to reduce acid gas to the levels required by the final rule;
- Test data on the impact of startup/shutdown, cycling, and malfunctions on HAPs control effectiveness, as input into compliance strategy analyses;
- Solutions for pollutants for which controls have not yet been developed, such as selenium and mercury at plants burning medium- or high-sulfur coals;
- Strategies to reduce SO₃ and, potentially, other condensables (e.g., ammonia, selenium) in the event condensable particulate matter limits, as proposed, remain in the final rule (in conjunction with EPRI Programs 71, 73, and 76);
- Lower-cost technology options (e.g., on-site activated carbon production; fixed structure adsorbents to avoid sorbents with their consequent impact on fly ash collection and usability, as well as FGD water discharge and gypsum usability);
- Flue gas desulfurization (FGD) operational practices, additives, or limestone properties that enhance capture of soluble HAPS; and
- Information about emerging IECs, which can save $10,000 to $20,000 compared to the cost to acquire the data in-house.

Program 76.003 – Robust, Least-cost Acid Emission Reductions	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 67,463
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 658,727

Program Description:

Coal- and oil-fired power plants face increasing challenges in meeting emission limits for particulate matter as a result of the March 16, 2011, proposal by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) of Maximum Achievable Control Technology (MACT) standards for hazardous air pollutant (HAPS) emissions from electric generating units (EGUs). These limits, when finalized, will challenge power plants' ability to meet the requirements for both filterable and condensable particulate matter (FPM and CPM); they are proposed to be very stringent, because they are intended to serve as surrogates for nonmercury hazardous trace metals — FPM for the solid species and CPM for any condensable hazardous trace metals, such as selenium. Further, the proposed rules encourage the use of activated carbon injection for mercury and dry alkaline injection (calcium- or sodium-based) for acid gases and SO₃ (to avoid a blue plume or sulfuric acid fallout), increasing loading into the particulate controls. For electrostatic precipitators (ESPs), the added solids loading, coupled with reduced SO₃ concentrations, make it difficult for them to capture particulates; in baghouses, these conditions may lead to corrosion, blinding, and premature bag failures. The increasing drive for fuel flexibility (including increased deployment of higher-sulfur coal following installations of FGD systems) and biomass co-firing further challenge particulate controls, especially for aging or marginal units.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Particulate and Opacity Control program (Program 76) seeks or develops and evaluates emerging technologies that economically satisfy increasingly stringent particulate emission and opacity limits under a variety of operating conditions, including changes in ash properties and loadings, fuel sulfur content, and SO₃ sorbent use.

Research Value:

EPRI searches for, develops, and demonstrates particulate (FPM and CPM) control technologies that can achieve members' performance goals for complying with the final MACT standards. High priority is given to cost considerations; for existing plants with ESPs, to reduce their risks of early retirement; for new or existing plants with baghouses, to minimize operations and maintenance (O&M) costs. Members of this program can use the results of this R&D to achieve:

- Savings of as much as $50–$150/kW by avoiding ESP replacement with a baghouse or supplemented by a TOXECON™ or wet ESP retrofit to meet the eventual MACT standards;
- Savings in avoided replacement power costs due to opacity-driven derates;
- Extended bag life and lower pressure drop through better fabrics for baghouses;
- Continued ash sales and reduced reagent costs if operational modifications, together with optimized alkali injection systems, can reduce the quantity of alkali injected for SO₃ control;
- Improved effectiveness of activated carbon mercury control through alternatives to SO₃ flue gas conditioning for high particulate matter (PM) capture in ESPs; and
- Improved baghouse performance through better O&M practices.

Program 77 – Continuous Emissions Monitoring	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	84,875
	2012 Project Budget: $	1,378,465

Program Description:

In the United States, consent decrees, state laws, and the proposed federal Maximum Achievable Control Technologies (MACT) standards for coal-fired power plants drive the need for robust, accurate, and certifiable continuous emissions monitors (CEMs) for mercury, particulate matter (PM), acid gases, and potentially selenium. Experience with continuous mercury monitors (CMMs) remains limited, and their operation and maintenance (O&M) are labor-intensive. PM monitors are not yet used routinely, and their calibration currently is cumbersome, while hydrochloric acid (HCl) is not measured continuously. Under the United Nations' Environmental Program, a growing number of countries or regions such as Europe are considering similar regulations and face similar compliance monitoring needs. Of particular interest to a number of power companies are instruments that continuously measure solid (filterable) and aerosol (condensable) PM, acid gases (e.g., HCl, hydrofluoric acid [HF], and hydrogen cyanide [HCN]), and ammonia in post-flue gas desulfurization (FGD) stack conditions. Enabling technology needs for these species include:

- Operation and maintenance practices for mercury CEMs that enable operators to approach the O&M now achieved with criteria pollutant CEMS through harvesting the lessons learned by early CMMs users;
- Sampling techniques that lend themselves to the very low pollutant concentrations that may be required by MACT limits, especially for mercury;
- Acceptable ways to calibrate PM monitors at plants with wet stacks without having to disrupt the operation of the wet SO₂ control;
- Droplet monitors to measure condensables; and
- Direct measurement of mass emissions to overcome the uncertainty of indirect measurements as PM characteristics change.

Longer term, to remain competitive, the industry needs advanced, microchip- or laser-based CEMs, which hold the promise of 10–25% of the cost of current technology.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Continuous Emissions Monitoring program (Program 77) develops, enhances, and evaluates CEM systems that measure solids and chemical species of regulatory and operational interest.

Research Value:

This R&D helps utilities objectively evaluate and implement monitoring options to achieve their measurement needs using robust, accurate, and easy-to-operate instruments. Benefits include:

- Save months of plant instrument technician and environmental engineer time needed to make newly procured CMMs work;
- Prepare for proposed regulations that, if promulgated as proposed, will require mercury measurements below today's proven quantitation levels, as well as PM measurements (filterable and condensable) as surrogates for nonmercury metal hazardous air pollutants (HAPs);
- Obtain credible, non-ash-property-dependent particulate mass emission measurements made in the stack to benefit from particulate capture by the SO₂ control;

- Ensure that ASME receives the data needed to adopt a digital opacity method for power plant stacks as an objective alternative to human observations;
- Optimize NOx and sulfur trioxide (SO3) control operations, or flue gas conditioning for electrostatic precipitator (ESP) performance, via in situ continuous measurement systems for ammonia (NH3), SO3, and sulfuric acid; and
- Potentially save hundreds of thousands of dollars per stack if advanced “sensors-on-a-chip” are developed and accepted for power plant applications.

Program 78 – Coal Combustion Product Use	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	37,772
	2012 Project Budget: $	367,141

Program Description:

Disposal of coal combustion products (CCPs) is an expense, a potential long-term liability, and, in many locations, difficult due to limited site availability or environmental opposition. Other challenges include increasingly stringent regulations on ash disposal, possible prohibition against the use of CCPs in "unencapsulated" civil engineering applications (e.g., road base); questions about the usability of ash from power plants adding certain gaseous pollutant controls (especially sorbent or chemical injection), cofiring biomass with coal, or deploying integrated gasification combined cycle (IGCC) power systems; and new public concerns over the health and environmental safety of products that contain ash. At the same time, the doubling of installed SO2 scrubber capacity is increasing the production of flue gas desulfurization (FGD) gypsum beyond the needs of the wallboard manufacturers, giving rise to searches for effective and environmentally acceptable new uses. In parallel, the growing installation of spray dryer SO2 controls and fluidized-bed boilers will produce volumes of solid products that will require large-scale, accepted uses.

The Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) Coal Combustion Product Use program (Program 78) builds on years of investigation into sustaining the use and value of CCPs, despite property changes due to the application of gaseous air pollutant controls. It also seeks new uses for current CCPs and markets for the new CCPs from biomass cofiring, IGCCs, and plants equipped with spray dryers. In light of regulatory uncertainty and in response to increased scrutiny of CCP management, the focus in 2012 will be on the testing of products made with CCPs to ensure acceptable environmental performance in typical applications; life-cycle assessment to quantify benefits and costs of CCP use; and increased communication of CCP use information to funders, end-users, regulators, and the public. Additional projects may be proposed during the year if regulatory direction becomes clearer.

Research Value:

The CCP Use Program demonstrates that these products can be used beneficially and in greater quantities, even in the face of property changes due to upstream air pollution controls or different fuels or generation technologies. The program’s R&D enables members to:

- Avoid disposal costs for CCPs, which range from $5 to $60/ton and require extensive staff and management time to find and permit a landfill;
- Retain or earn new revenue by selling products to ready-mix concrete plants, wallboard manufacturers, agricultural soil amendment distributors, roadway builders, and others, typically for $10–$20/ton, although prices can be as high as $60/ton. This includes:

- Products sold today, such as flyash and FGD gypsum
- Products not currently sold in quantity, such as spray dryer or fluidized-bed combustion (FBC) solid products, and ash containing activated carbon, elevated sodium levels, or biomass products of combustion;
- Anticipate and resolve issues that may be barriers to the use of CCPs from biomass cofiring and IGCCs; and
- Communicate the engineering and environmental aspects of CCP uses, both existing and new.

Program 80 – New Combustion Turbine/Combined-Cycle Plant Design and Technology Selection	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 148,531
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 1,096,519

Program Description:

Gas turbines and combined-cycle plants increasingly are being selected for new generation additions and replacements for retired plants. Electrical capacity and generation from natural gas fuel are forecasted to increase in the coming years due to favorable gas supply availability. Recently, gas supply reserves have been revised upward, based on significant additions from shale formations and new liquefied natural gas (LNG) sources. Competitive fuel prices have resulted in increased dispatch of combined-cycle plants. Favorable gas pricing also has renewed interest in distributed generation and cogeneration opportunities with gas turbines. Combustion turbine-based plants often are selected due to their lower capital costs compared to coal and nuclear energy, and their capacity typically is used to complement intermittent wind and solar generation. Gas turbine and combined-cycle technologies continue to evolve, providing significant efficiency gains and relative improvements in installed cost. These factors, combined with a general trend towards less-carbon-intensive generation, portend an expanding role for gas turbines and combined-cycle plants in the coming decades.

Informed decisions about gas turbine technologies and plant designs are especially important because design choices can have a profound impact on operability and performance. Technology selection affects efficiency, emissions, availability, maintainability, and durability. Air and water environmental control technologies are needed to meet regulatory requirements. The ability to fire fuels of variable composition while meeting emission constraints is important in locations that may receive natural gas or LNG from multiple sources. Flexible operational capabilities are needed for optimal plant dispatch, and planners need to understand coming trends and potential improvements for future growth. Plant engineering designers are confronted by a growing number of combustion turbine/combined-cycle (CTCC) plant offerings with unique heat recovery steam generator (HRSG) and steam turbine configurations, aimed at particular market missions (peaking, intermediate/cycling, and baseload). Information about and analyses of factors affecting these performance parameters are key to achieving a design optimized on specific generation needs.

The Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) New Combustion Turbine/Combined-Cycle (CTCC) Plant Design and Technology Selection program (Program 80) provides the information and analysis needed to select combustion turbine technologies and specify combined-cycle plant designs for today’s new generation requirements while planning for future technological advances.

Research Value:

The research in this program helps engineers and project developers select and specify appropriate equipment for new plants that have the flexibility to start quickly, operate efficiently at varying loads, and fire fuels of varying composition while meeting regulatory emission limits. Improved gas turbine plant operation is achieved through an overall life-cycle approach, which includes a balanced understanding of capital and O&M costs, performance improvements, and technical risks associated with new high-efficiency turbine designs and the market contexts in which they operate. The program focuses on identifying risk issues and addressing the most significant plant design improvements that differ from the previous combined-cycle build-out. Benefits include:

- Optimal plant technology selections for generation market niche: distributed generation, peaking, cycling, intermediate, or baseload;
- Managing technology risk helps control operation and maintenance expenditures; and
- Objective, expert assessment of technology trends and worldwide experience can improve procurement decisions.

Program 84A – Renewable Energy Economics and Technology	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 62,248
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 949,836

Program Description:

This project set provides basic information on the cost, performance, and status of all renewable technologies. Electricity sector analyses help better define the role of renewable generation and enable members to better understand policy implications on future generation options. This project set will deliver the Renewable Energy Technology Guide, detailed engineering and economic analyses of selected renewable technologies, perspectives on current topics, industry tours, presentations from industry experts, and forums for participants to exchange information. Periodic newsletters on the status of P84 activities and topical white papers also will be developed.

Program 84B – Biomass	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 59,933
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 914,506

Program Description:

The Biomass Project Set conducts research and development in:

- Security of fuel supply and sustainable fuel delivery for electric power stations, including life-cycle analyses of biomass-based power and the carbon life-cycle of biomass
- Technologies for biomass power generation (including research on co-firing systems, direct-firing systems, gasification systems), the potential impact on combustion, emissions and environmental controls, and technologies for upgrading the properties of biomass fuels.

Project Set participants help identify the scope and priorities of collaborative research activities to be conducted. Technology transfer of information between members is an important element of active participation. Through this project set, EPRI provides a forum for information exchange among members on key biomass-related issues. In addition to receiving results of research, participants are kept informed of current regulatory issues surrounding biomass power generation through topical briefs as warranted.

Research Value:

Renewable energy resources and their application in generating electricity most often are considered collectively when addressing key drivers in renewable energy deployment, including renewable portfolio standards, energy security, greenhouse gas emission reductions, and other issues. However, wind, solar photovoltaic, solar thermal, biomass, and geothermal energy options largely are unrelated technologically; each has its own developmental status, readiness timeline, and economic and technology challenges. EPRI's Renewable Generation program conducts targeted research to improve the performance, availability, and cost-effectiveness of existing renewables technologies and to develop new renewable technologies and applications. EPRI's Renewable Generation program also provides objective cost and performance information for renewable technologies, helping participants to:

- Capitalize on market opportunities for renewable compliance and power purchases, resulting in improved decision-making;
- Identify the appropriate role of diverse renewable resources in expanding new and sustainable generation capacity; and
- Apply results from modeling, simulation, and future energy scenario analyses that will help guide investments in renewable energy.

Through collaboration with key industry stakeholders, EPRI members guide development and demonstration of technologies that will optimize operating efficiency, reduce overall costs, and facilitate deployment of large-scale renewable generation.

Program 87.002 – Fossil Repair Applications	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 64,166

Program Description:

Today's fossil power plants increasingly are adopting market-driven operating strategies such as cycling, pushing for maximum output during peak price periods, and frequent fuel switching to take advantage of spot market opportunities. These practices can accelerate material damage in major power block components. New materials are being introduced for replacement of components in aging plants and in the building of higher efficiency power plants. Improved knowledge of materials behavior in such environments allows for accurate prediction of remaining life, proper selection of repair strategies, and optimized material selection, fabrication, and repair.

To address these needs, the Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Fossil Materials and Repair program (Program 87) provides the integrated materials selection guidance, corrosion mitigation methods, and repair and welding technologies needed to improve equipment performance, reliability, and profitability.

Research Value:

Safety and availability loss due to failures are two key issues driving R&D on major fossil power plant components, especially in older plants. Improved efficiency and reliability are two reasons for the selection of new materials for retrofit and new-build projects. EPRI's Materials and Chemistry programs provide data on critical material degradation mechanisms, conduct materials and chemistry-related R&D for advanced generation technologies, and quantify the benefits of chemistry improvements. The programs help utilities balance the risks and costs of the largest, most costly equipment, and focus on using new technologies to create solutions. Members of the Fossil Materials and Repair program can use the R&D to:

- Increase availability through better understanding of plant materials;
- Eliminate repeat failures, minimize equipment damage, and reduce outage frequency and duration by using improved knowledge of damage mechanisms and life assessment methods;

- Reduce failures from high- and low-temperature corrosion;
- Obtain in-depth knowledge of advanced ferritic and austenitic alloys and processes used to fabricate and join these alloys;
- Use new and advanced repair technologies; and
- Maximize component life through improved materials selection guidance and procurement specifications.

Program 104 – Generation Maintenance Applications Center (GenMAC)	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	27,843
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 1,045,675

Program Description:

Power generators globally face chronic equipment problems in the more than 1,500 non-nuclear/non-hydroelectric generating units that are up to 30 years old or older, and new maintenance challenges are created by the addition of equipment to upgrade the performance and improve the emissions of these existing plants. In addition, new generation in the form of combined-cycle combustion turbines, biofuel boilers, and wind farms is adding to the need to develop guidance for new types of balance-of-plant (BOP) components.

Generators need to reduce maintenance-related O&M costs for aging equipment while improving equipment reliability, but are challenged by diminishing collective experience and knowledge and an urgent need to develop new maintenance and engineering staff as the current workforce retires. The training and knowledge that are needed to educate and inform new staff are not always readily available from vendors or equipment suppliers.

The Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) Generation Maintenance Applications Center (GenMAC, formally FMAC) program (Program 104) provides practical information for improving plant maintenance-related operations and maintenance (O&M) processes, reliability, and cost through collaboration with participating organizations.

Research Value:

EPRI's Generation Operations and Maintenance programs develop advanced processes and related technologies that support improved plant reliability and reduced maintenance costs. The programs address the key tactical challenges facing plant owners relating to predictive maintenance, work management, conduct of operations, instrumentation, workforce, condition monitoring, and risk. These programs are highly collaborative in nature, providing forums for EPRI members to jointly resolve issues, improve processes, and identify research gaps. Members of the GenMAC program can use the R&D to:

- Improve reliability through guidelines that present the most current technology-based preventive and condition-based maintenance solutions
- Find faster solutions to day-to-day maintenance issues, following proven techniques and access to hotline support
- Develop strategies to resolve urgent problems, using guidelines developed according to member priorities
- Improve staff knowledge and competence through training that addresses industry-wide needs
- Develop better maintenance practices and reduce human error through the use of clear, easy-to-read guidelines, complete with precautions and tips for error avoidance
- Make improved maintenance guidance available for the next generation of electrical production equipment, added environmental systems, and balance-of-plant (BOP) components in newly designed power generating units.

Program 165 – CO ₂ Capture and Storage	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	151,245
	2012 Project Budget: $	2,489,593

Program Description:

Policy watchers and power system planners continue to expect that post-combustion capture will be needed in the 2020 decade for both existing and new coal-fired plants, and somewhat later for gas-fired systems, in order to meet carbon dioxide (CO₂) reduction targets being discussed in the United States, by many other governments, and within the United Nations. An associated need for all fossil-fueled electricity generation sources is permanent and environmentally safe storage of the captured CO₂. For pulverized coal (PC) plants to provide competitively priced electricity while addressing these CO₂ reduction concerns, they need capture processes with much lower parasitic plant loads and costs than systems available today. All power generation sources of CO₂ also will need the ability to store large quantities of CO₂ safely and permanently in underground formations. While establishing the necessary legal and regulatory framework is not within the purview of EPRI, providing sound technical evidence that storage can be done in a safe and permanent fashion can support the development by others of workable regulations and enabling laws.

EPRI's CO₂ Capture and Storage program (Program 165) provides information about the expected cost, availability, performance, and technical challenges of a range of flue gas CO₂ capture processes. The program seeks and encourages the development of breakthrough post-combustion CO₂ capture technologies with substantially lower energy and cost penalties. In addition, the program determines purity requirements for the CO₂ stream discharged by the capture process to ensure compatibility with the compression, transport, and injection processes, and conducts the R&D needed to demonstrate the permanence, safety, and environmental acceptability of long-term CO₂ storage from any power plant source.

Research Value:

Substantial barriers must be overcome, and technical and societal uncertainties must be resolved before carbon capture and storage (CCS) can be widely deployed, but time is growing short if a 2020-2025 date for federal CO₂ limits materializes. Proposed PC plants already have been denied permits in the absence of firm plans to capture and store their CO₂ emissions. This program meets the industry's most urgent near-term needs—information for:

- Credible asset planning through early understanding of the options, development timelines, costs, technical uncertainties, and regulatory, environmental, and related issues
- Increased confidence that acceptable capture technologies and storage options will be available when needed
- Use in public dialogue on the practical extent and timing of CO₂ reduction from U.S. power plants, using neutral third-party data and assessments from EPRI.

Longer-term, the technology development aspects of this program will enable the power sector to continue to provide affordable electricity to industry, businesses, and residences using fossil-fuel-fired generating assets in a low-carbon world.

EPRI Environment Programs

Program 42 – Air Toxics Health and Risk Assessment	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 151,388
	2012 Project Budget: $ 2,717,397

Program Description:

The Clean Air Act requires the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to determine whether and to what degree to regulate hazardous air pollutants (HAPs, or air toxics) emitted by power plants. Following numerous studies, regulatory proposals, and court challenges, EPA issued a draft maximum achievable control technology (MACT) standard in early 2011, scheduled for final form by the end of 2011. The ruling by EPA, based solely on achievable control standards, nonetheless sets the stage for future, risk-based regulation of utility HAPs after its MACT standards have been achieved. These “residual risk” requirements are presaged by EPA statements that the MACT rule itself is necessary but not sufficient to reduce HAPs risks to acceptable levels. This evolution of HAPs regulations, along with more-stringent EPA health standards, sets the background for applying emerging research results as well as innovative analysis methods to these issues. The goal is to ensure that the latest and best science is considered in all future decision making, domestically and internationally. The issuance and implementation of a utility MACT rule is the start of a host of new health risk issues. In particular, the concerns over urban air toxics, residual risk, international toxics agreements, and new health research will require scientific diligence to continue.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Air and Multimedia Toxics Health and Risk Assessment program provides a comprehensive, stakeholder-oriented approach to technical and policy-related issues. The program is regarded by industry and public agencies as a critical and highly regarded source of scientific information on air and multimedia toxics. The research examines all aspects of trace substances, including HAPs, across multiple environmental media (air, land, and water). The program conducts basic health science research to address cutting-edge questions on health effects and public health risk assessment of numerous potentially toxic substances, including mercury, arsenic, lead, acid gases, selenium, nickel, chromium, cadmium, and dioxins and other organics.

Research Value:

The program's basic studies of air toxics health effects via all environmental and exposure routes inform other research programs within and beyond EPRI. In addition, the program carries out integrative studies of toxics from all global sources via air and other pathways through environmental cycling to human exposure and human health risk assessment. An important and growing effort is examining the health impacts of complex exposures to ranges of chemical mixtures, such as both mercury and lead, with common health effect endpoints. The program objectives allow it to provide forward-looking insight into developing federal, state, and international regulatory considerations. Such anticipatory wide-ranging exploratory research allows:

- Representation of a broader stakeholder research perspective as issues emerge;
- Independent scientific analyses that inform regulators and the public and broaden the perspective on the technical consequences of future actions, including regulation; and
- Provision of a framework for balanced, informed planning and decision making based on more-complete data and analyses.

Program 49 – Coal Combustion Products – Environmental Issues	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	129,269
	2012 Project Budget: $	1,902,101

Program Description:

Significant uncertainty exists regarding management of coal combustion products (CCPs), due largely to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency’s (EPA's) newly proposed options governing CCP disposal. The new proposal includes options ranging from hazardous waste designation and complete phaseout of wet management, to nonhazardous waste regulations similar to those for municipal solid waste. The outcome will significantly affect disposal options and costs, as well as CCP use in products and land applications. This regulatory process, and subsequent implementation and compliance activities, will likely be a key driver for CCP research for the next 5 to 10 years. In addition, increased air emissions controls and new fuel blends change CCP characteristics, which can affect both disposal and use, and increase CCP volumes, while environmental standards for trace constituents such as arsenic and chromium continue to trend downward. This changing landscape highlights the need for new and updated information on CCP composition and leaching characteristics, environmentally protective management methods, groundwater protection and remediation requirements, and risk assessment data for CCP storage, disposal, and use. As older power plants reach the end of their useful lives and their sites are considered for repowering or other uses, systematic assessment of their decommissioning will be required.

The CCP Environmental Issues program provides scientific data, engineering knowledge, restoration methods, and other tools for cost-effective soil and groundwater protection associated with fossil fuel–fired power plants and CCP storage, disposal, and use. Research currently focuses on the effects on CCP management options of new control technologies for mercury and other hazardous air pollutants (HAPs), sulfur oxides, and nitrogen oxides; disposal regulations being developed by EPA; ash pond management and closure; new leach test methodologies; groundwater remediation; environmental performance of CCP land applications; and health and ecologic risk assessment.

Research Value:

Program research provides fundamental data on environmental management of CCPs. Collaborative efforts with other organizations, including EPA and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), specifically address pressing needs with respect to CCP disposal and new large-volume uses for increased quantities of flue gas desulfurization (FGD) gypsum. The program provides pivotal studies on leachability, groundwater transport, and mitigation of CCP constituent releases, as well as cost-effective and environmentally protective landfill/pond designs and closures. In addition, the program provides clear communications on the environmental risks associated with CCP management and a strong scientific voice on technical issues. Annual disposal costs for the industry are likely to increase significantly under the new EPA regulations; EPRI research indicates that hazardous waste regulation could increase disposal costs industrywide by $55 billion to $77 billion over a 20-year period.

EPRI research was instrumental in EPA's finding of CCPs as nonhazardous in 1993 and again in 2000 under the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). When the Kingston dike failure in 2008 led EPA to reconsider national regulations for CCPs under RCRA, research in this program focused on technical issues and data gaps related to the regulatory drivers. Working closely with utility members, EPRI identified key technical issues with respect to costs, engineering, and environmental risk, and developed an extensive package of reports and information that was conveyed to EPA during the interagency review of the draft proposal and in comments on the rule proposed in June 2010.

Program 51 – T&D and ROW Environmental Issues	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 79,128
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 1,780,644

Program Description:

As the nation’s power grid is upgraded and expanded, safe and reliable operation takes on heightened importance. As the electric transmission and distribution (T&D) infrastructure expands and ages and new rights-of-way (ROW) standards are developed, power companies need to manage human health risks and minimize environmental impacts from and species interaction with power delivery systems. System components, such as service centers, substations, and cables, face issues related to spills, runoff, and cleanups, and life-cycle decision making is a critical route to improved environmental performance. Environmentally acceptable options are needed for selecting and managing utility poles and dielectric fluids, designing facilities, and remediating contamination. Efficient, cost-effective ROW vegetation management and transmission line siting are increasingly important as the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) and the North American Electric Reliability Corporation (NERC) develop new reliability standards. In addition, power companies need to reduce avian interactions with generation and T&D facilities and protect sensitive species and habitats during ROW construction and maintenance while recognizing opportunities to optimize ecological assets on new and existing ROWs.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) T&D and ROW Environmental Issues program delivers information, tools, and methods for preventing, characterizing, and remediating soil and water contamination at T&D facilities, as well as for designing and retrofitting T&D facilities. Data and products from the program support development of scientifically sound regulations and cleanup standards for chemicals associated with T&D and ROW facilities and operations, as well as providing engineering, science, and business tools to aid in their management. The program also provides balanced, cost-effective solutions for addressing economic and environmental challenges with siting, developing, managing, and upgrading T&D ROWs. Innovative tools, practical guidance, and state-of-the-art information help companies control ROW costs and improve service reliability while protecting natural resources and addressing public, regulatory, and other stakeholder concerns.

Research Value:

Program research has documented savings of $10 million per year industrywide for used oil management, $1.5 billion per year for management of creosote and pentachlorophenol utility poles as nonhazardous waste, and $500,000 at a single site by demonstration of the true risk of a mineral oil spill. The program also helped save one company $1 million in spill prevention, control, and countermeasure (SPCC) regulatory compliance costs. Program research also expedites transmission line siting and ensures system reliability by addressing ecological issues associated with NERC vegetation management standards, reducing ROW maintenance costs, and enhancing ecological value through Integrated Vegetation Management (IVM). The program also improves a utility’s ability to prevent and assess bird strike impacts, enhances ecosystems along T&D ROWs, and provides materials to help companies communicate with regulators and address public concerns. This program provides:

- Scientific information and data to help power companies make optimal decisions on T&D ROW equipment choices and remedial approaches;

- Characterization information on substances related to environmental and human health risk, and strategies to reduce financial risk and operations and management costs;
- Constructive engagement on federal oversight of transmission vegetation management, and information for regulatory development; and
- Opportunities for proactive environmental management to decrease potential for outages and fines, and shorter time frames for siting new transmission lines.

Program 54 – Fish Protection at Steam Electric Power Plants	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 93,004
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 3,829,515

Program Description:

A primary challenge for power plant owners is to ensure adequate water supplies for operations while protecting aquatic life living in the lakes, streams, rivers, estuaries, and oceans those operations impact. In the United States, the Clean Water Act §316(b) requires plant owners to install fish protection technologies on cooling water intake structures, while §316(a) requires management of thermal discharges. The information and learnings of this program may have direct benefits to international programs and as such, can be implemented through additional efforts.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) fish protection program assesses the effects of thermal power plant cooling system operation on fish and other aquatic life. Results support the development of effective intake and discharge protection approaches for workable operating permits at individual facilities. By improving the technical basis for regulatory, permitting, and operating decisions, this program serves the public interest in effective resource management while meeting industry-wide imperatives to control costs, ensure or even exceed environmental compliance, and manage business risks.

Research Value:

Technical information and research results inform the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA's) §316(a) and (b) policy and regulatory analyses and can inform similar regulations in other countries. Program results defray or avoid research costs that could range from hundreds of thousands to millions of dollars if funded independently. Program information may reduce compliance costs, enhance permitting processes, and identify cost-effective management strategies. The program also provides access to new and enhanced fish protection technologies, information on fish protection-related issues, and information on costs, economic, environmental, and electric system impacts of a potential national requirement for a retrofit of closed-cycle cooling systems. The key motivations for this research are:

- Evaluating challenging impingement mortality reduction standards for those plants withdrawing more than 125 million gallons of water per day (MGD) to meet entrainment protection standards developed on a site-specific basis;
- Evaluating the latest information on technologies for reducing impingement and conducting benefit analyses to support development of site-specific entrainment standards;
- Examining closed-cycle cooling retrofit options, which, for once-through-cooled facilities, could cost between $50 million and $1 billion, have a suite of their own negative environmental impacts, and have short-term impacts on grid reliability;

- Avoiding duplicative costs of doing multiple pilot demonstrations of technologies; and
- Assessing the economic benefits associated with reducing impingement and entrainment; EPRI research is critical to support this assessment process.

Program 56 – Effluent Guidelines and Water Quality Management	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 87,220
	2012 Project Budget: $ 1,772,357

Program Description:

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is currently revising effluent guidelines for the steam electric power generating industry. EPA also issued an Information Collection Request (ICR) to obtain additional data concerning power plant water management as well as general facility information to support its rulemaking. As EPA moves forward with this process, the available data will be used to broadly characterize the applicability and costs for characterization of trace elements in power plant wastewater streams and to evaluate the overall performance and costs for wastewater treatment options for trace metals and nutrients. Science-based analyses and extrapolation of the data will be necessary to help inform the various stakeholders, including EPA, industry and the public. In parallel, some states and regions (such as the Great Lakes) are considering low parts-per-trillion limits for mercury, while some power plants are unable to achieve selenium permit limits based on traditional removal processes.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Effluent Guidelines and Water Quality Management program delivers credible data to characterize power plant wastewaters and conducts scientifically sound data interpretation to inform potential revisions to the effluent guidelines for the steam electric industry. The program also develops sound guidelines for effective management of low-volume, non-ash wastewater streams as well as ash pond chemistry and discharges, provides cost-effective and reliable options for wastewater treatment to remove chemicals such as trace metals, and develops practical tools for biofouling control using nontoxic alternatives to oxidizing biocides such as chlorine.

Research Value:

Program research helps facility owners develop effective effluent guideline compliance strategies. As water discharge permit limits for trace metals and nutrients tighten, power companies require accurate analytical methods, reliable data, and independent, unbiased treatment performance and cost data. In addition, new flue gas desulfurization (FGD) systems may require wastewater treatment for mercury and selenium. Key motivations for this research include the following:

- The best scientific data available are needed for developing effluent guideline standards.
- Inaccurate analytical methods may lead to false permit violations, increased capital and operating/maintenance costs for wastewater treatment, and higher likelihood of permit violations.
- Additional water treatment may be required for plants to achieve ash ponds permit limits.
- Limited options exist for nonoxidizing alternatives to chlorine.

Program 59 – PISCES – Plant Multimedia Toxics Characterization	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	173,578

Program 91 – Air Quality Assessment of Ozone, PM, and Visibility	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	166,635
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 3,632,394

Program Description:

Implementation of regulatory programs under the Clean Air Act requires the development and application of rigorous air quality models, accurate ambient measurements, and the use of assessment tools based on credible science. Improved techniques are needed for estimating emissions from various sources and for determining the impact of interstate pollution. Previously these tools and techniques have been used to enable informed rulemaking processes for attainment of National Ambient Air Quality Standards (NAAQS), to develop state implementation plans (SIPs), and to make determinations of Prevention of Significant Deterioration during permitting of power plants. However, over the past few years the use of these models has been extended to essentially every part of the air quality regulatory process. In addition to their use in the implementation of standards, air quality models will be applied in the following ways:

- Three-dimensional air quality models, as well as other environmental models, are being used to determine levels of the ambient concentrations of nitrogen oxides (NO_x) and sulfur oxides (SO_x) to meet a given aquatic acidification standard as part of the Secondary NAAQS for NO_x and SO_x. This application of these air quality models is unprecedented within the NAAQS process, and thus requires a greater degree of scrutiny on the adequacy of the models.
- With the promulgation of the Primary NAAQS for NO₂ and SO₂, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has introduced a new “hybrid” methodology for determining attainment designations of these NAAQS. In addition to deploying monitors to assess whether specific areas exceed the level of the standards, EPA is also requiring major point sources to demonstrate attainment via the use of air dispersion models as part of the designation process. These models have been developed for permitting applications, and as such are quite conservative. The use of models to demonstrate future attainment of standards as part of the SIP process is routine. However, the application of models to define current attainment designations is unprecedented.
- Finally, EPA is continuing to use models to determine the levels of significant contributions to interstate transport of air pollution. As primary and secondary standards for ozone and particulate matter (PM) become more stringent and secondary standards for NO_x and SO_x are introduced, EPA is expected to continue to develop “Transport Rules” with increasingly smaller thresholds of significance for these pollutants. EPA is likely to continue to use three-dimensional air quality models to establish the upwind/downwind state relations for significant contributions.

Given the already significant use of models and their proposed expansion in the air quality regulatory and management process, it is becoming more important to improve the overall process and thus increase the confidence in their use. This can be accomplished through a three-pronged approach of improving models, emissions inventories, and measurements. It is clear that improving different air quality models (through better representation of chemistry and transport) is essential to informing decisions at different steps of the regulatory process. For the models to provide accurate results, the emissions used as the input to the models should be developed with the best-available science and methods. Finally, only accurate air quality measurements can provide the “ground truthing” to determine if the models are adequate for these proposed uses.

In summary, the electric power industry needs an enhanced understanding of how atmospheric chemical reactions—especially those involving power plant emissions—influence the formation, composition, and health effects of air pollutants. Developing and improving air quality models, improving emissions inventories, and ensuring accurate measurements of air quality, visibility, and deposition are the focus of the Electric Power Research Institute’s (EPRI’s) air quality assessment program.

Research Value:

Air quality rulemaking continues to be a key issue for power plant owners and operators. Through this program, EPRI advances the science supporting air quality models used for policy development, regulatory decision making, and implementation planning. Timely communication materials facilitate industry’s ability to respond to questions raised by policymakers, regulators, and other stakeholders. Program research also informs environmental compliance activities, asset management, and long-term strategic planning by power companies. With this research:

- Policymakers, regulators and the public will benefit from EPRI's scientific data, modeling tools, and analytical resources to fully evaluate air quality impacts from all emissions and sources, thereby enabling informed, science-based decision making;
- Analysis of additional regulatory options and evaluations of the effectiveness of proposed policies will be performed;
- Detailed scientific perspectives on environmental policy and regulatory deliberations of power plant emissions will be provided; and
- Collaborations on multimedia environmental issues (such as water quality and ecosystem impacts from atmospheric deposition) and assessment of new technologies (such as electric transportation and distributed energy resources) will increase.

EPRI Transmission Programs

Program 36 – Underground Transmission	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 234,820
	2012 Project Budget: $ 2,755,321

Program Description:

Underground transmission (UT) faces a number of challenges. Utilities need better understanding of the condition of an aging UT infrastructure, which in many cases has exceeded its 40-year life expectancy, to strengthen existing cable systems and help asset managers make difficult upgrade and replacement decisions. Increased system robustness, higher capacity, and longer life will require development and use of newer polymer insulations at extra-high-voltage (EHV) levels with integrated sensors. An ability to exploit the dynamic overload capacity of buried power cables promises better asset utilization at marginal extra cost.

Transmission systems must deliver high power quality for the digital society, ideally immune from weather extremes and in many cases serving urban centers with limited space for infrastructure expansion. To meet these needs, the industry must accommodate increased use of buried power cables with greater power throughput, which places great importance on orderly replacement of mature cables with care that new advanced systems are at least as reliable. Transmission owners need guidance on the safe and more efficient use of new materials, equipment, and construction methods for UT systems to boost economic productivity and prosperity. Also needed are advanced design tools to increase the effectiveness of engineering resources, as well as to aid technology transfer to new knowledge workers. Efficient use of component materials with lower losses, less construction impact, easier replacement, and high recycle value would benefit the environment and increase sustainability for generations.

EPRI’s Underground Transmission program is made up of five research projects: Design, Construction and Operation of UT Systems, Extruded Dielectric Cable Systems, Laminar Dielectric Cable Systems, Cable Dynamic Rating and Increased Power Flow Guidebook and Develop and Deploy Superconducting Technologies. This research leads the industry in exploring and deploying promising new technologies and tools to help UT owners design and operate cost-effective cable systems with increased power capacity and longer lives, diagnose problems before outages occur, and repair them at minimum cost and within acceptable time periods.

Research Value:

With the knowledge acquired through this research program, members will have access to information and products that can help them:

- Increase engineering staff efficiency and expertise
- Improve efficiency and quality in UT system design
- Lower installation and operating costs
- Improve transmission system reliability and safety
- Gain more accurate and timely knowledge about asset condition and life expectancy
- Develop tools and methods to design and operate the system with increased power flow
- Acquire strategic intelligence on emerging technologies
- Participate in new technology designs, testing standards, and equipment demonstrations

Program 37.103 – Substation Protection and Control	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $	21,956
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 503,591

Program Description:

This program helps substation owners enhance safety, reliability, equipment life, and performance, as well as maximize the return on asset investments despite limited resources. It offers a complete portfolio of tools and technologies such as decision support analytics and transformer monitoring. The program also includes resources such as failure databases and aging models to improve transformer and circuit breaker life management and training materials for systems operators. Program results help operations and maintenance (O&M) engineers extend equipment life, optimize maintenance costs, reduce outages, and reduce switching errors.

Research Value:

This research and development (R&D) program has been grouped into two broad classes: equipment reliability and industry issues. Collectively, the goal is to develop tools, techniques, and methodologies that help improve the maintenance, specification and procurement practices, inspection, assessment, and risk-based asset management at a utility. The information provided through the collection of projects in this program will provide members with information that can help with the following:

- Extend equipment life with maintenance guidelines
- Reduce maintenance costs via condition-based maintenance
- Reduce losses via improved sulfur hexafluoride (SF6) management

- Increase awareness of high-impact low-frequency (HILF) events and be better prepared for these events
- Implement predictive maintenance practices for reduced outages
- Reduce failures of critical assets
- Reduce switching errors, increase worker safety, and prevent outages

Program 183A – Cyber Security and Privacy Technology Transfer and Industry Collaboration	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 21,681
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 365,632
Program 183B – Cyber Security Technology for T&D Systems	2012 LG&E and KU Funding:	$ 54,203
	2012 Project Budget:	$ 914,081

Program Description:

Cyber/physical security and data privacy have become critical priorities for electric utilities. The evolving electric sector is increasingly dependent on information technology and telecommunications infrastructures to ensure the reliability and security of the electric grid. Cyber security measures must be designed and implemented to protect the electrical grid from attacks by terrorists and hackers, as well as to strengthen its resilience against natural disasters and inadvertent threats such as equipment failures and user errors.

The Electric Power Research Institute's (EPRI's) Cyber Security and Privacy Program addresses the emerging threats to an interconnected electric system through cross-sector collaborative research on cyber security standards, business processes, and technology to protect the electric grid. The initiative also will undertake collaborative research in the industry to develop technologies, best practices, and controls on data privacy for the electric grid.

Research Value:

The Cyber Security and Privacy program intends to provide security tools, requirements, and guidelines to its members. The rapid pace of change in the electric sector creates a challenging environment for members to monitor the activities of industry groups, develop an understanding of the security impact of new technologies, and maintain the right internal resources for assessing technologies.

Participation in EPRI's Cyber Security and Privacy Program could produce the following:

- Better understanding of industry and government collaborative efforts and where members should 'plug in'
- Guidance on developing cyber security strategies and selecting requirements
- Practical approaches to mitigating legacy system risk
- Security tools that members can use to perform security testing
- Early identification of security gaps through lab assessments of security technology

University of Kentucky Center for Applied Energy Research (CAER)	2012 Project Budget:*	$ 2,500,000

*Does not include money from Department of Energy

Program Description:

This multi-year project investigates carbon management through a consortium composed of E.ON U.S., Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI-Palo Alto, CA), East Kentucky Power, Kentucky Power (AEP), Duke Energy, the University of Kentucky and the Kentucky Cabinet for Energy & Environment. This research will investigate post-combustion CO₂ capture process for the existing coal-fired fleet and involves the development and heat optimization of an amine-based CO₂ Scrubber Process, including the evaluation and development of an integrated CO₂ Capture/Fertilizer Byproduct Process. In-situ Oxy-fuel Combustion CO₂ purification process for the future power plant will be investigated using Pressurized Chemical Looping Combustion Combined Cycle (PCLC-CC) approach. The end result of this work will provide Process Simulation and Optimization of CO₂ Capture Technologies for Existing Power Plants.

University of Kentucky's Center for Applied Energy Research was awarded $14,500,000 from DOE using cost share funding from the companies for a slipstream pilot plant at the E. W. Brown Generating Station. This is about 10 times larger than the "bench-scale" project currently undertaken and moves the process closer to scale-up and proof of concept.

Project Benefit:

Insight into the application of CO2 Capture Process will provide planning and verification of potential technologies to remove carbon from flue gas streams. This information will provide a basis for decision making and economic feasibility evaluations. The energy requirements and affect to plant efficiency are evaluated.

Luminant Carbon Research Group	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 25,000
University of Texas at Austin	2012 Project Budget: $ 2,000,000

Program Description and Benefit:

CO2 capture by absorption/stripping with aqueous monoethanolamine (MEA) is the benchmark technology for addressing CO2 emissions from existing coal-fired power plants. Conventional coal-fired power plants represent a large fraction of the existing capacity and capacity to be built before advanced power systems can be deployed. These conventional plants cannot be abandoned in any comprehensive strategy to reduce CO2 emissions for global climate change. With the availability of cheap natural gas, new combined cycle, gas-fired power plants will also be an important source of CO2 emissions that must be addressed. The MEA process is a derivative of extensively used technology for treating natural gas and hydrogen. It is used commercially in combustion plants with gas rates equivalent to 20 MW.

The economics of the first generation MEA technology are not attractive. The energy requirement can reduce the power output of a coal-fired plant by as much as 30%. However, the alternatives for existing coal-fired power plants can be equally unattractive. Like limestone slurry scrubbing for flue gas desulfurization, aqueous absorption/stripping for CO2 capture is the first technology to receive serious consideration and it will probably survive as the primary technology to be used for this application.

The deployment of this technology will require a demonstration of CO2 capture and sequestration on an absorber module at a commercial scale (100–300 MW). The purpose of this integrated research effort is to provide the technical basis for such a demonstration on an existing coal-fired power plant and on a new gas-fired combined cycle in Texas.

This program includes 17 Ph.D. students, 2 M.S. student, 4 faculty, and 2 professionals working on CO2 rate and solubility measurements, amine degradation, systems modeling, pilot plant testing, sequestration modeling, and systems analysis. The effort is currently funded by $500,000/yr from Luminant, and by more than $750,000/yr from 33 sponsors in the Luminant Carbon Management Program and other affiliated activities including 10 process suppliers (Alstom Power, Babcock & Wilcox, Doosan-Babcock, GTC Technology, IFP, Shell /Cansolv, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, URS, Powerspan, HTCPureEnergy), 8 power companies (NRG Energy, Southern Company, SaskPower, RWEnpower, E.ON, EPRI, Arch Coal, LG&E-KU), 6 oil companies (Aramco, Chevron, Phillips 66, ExxonMobil, Total, Statoil), 8 others (AspenTech, Codexis, GE, Huntsman Chemical, CSIRO, DOE, DNV, TNO) and one equipment donor (Emerson).

Carbon Capture Pilot Plant Project (C2P3)	2012 LG&E and KU Funding: $ 200,000

Program Description and Benefit:

The CO₂ Capture Pilot Plant Project (C2P3) is testing at 0.1 to 0.5 MW the innovative solvent and process concepts developed by the Luminant Carbon Management Program at the University of Texas. The existing pilot plant in the Separations Research Program (SRP) at the Pickle Research Campus will demonstrate energy and mass transfer performance with air/CO₂ in campaigns that last for 3 to 6 weeks. Two or more additional pilot plants will be used to provide real coal-fired flue gas at 0.1 and 0.5 MW to test solvent robustness for 3 to 6 months. Australia is funding a 0.1 MW pilot plant at Tarong that will be managed by CSIRO. The U.S. DOE is funding a 0.5 MW pilot plant at the National Carbon Test Center managed by Southern Company at Wilsonville, Alabama. Both of these programs have agreed to consider concentrated piperazine in their testing.

The Luminant Program has established that concentrated piperazine is a superior solvent with twice the capacity and CO₂ absorption rate of 30 wt % monoethanolamine and excellent thermal and oxidative stability. Concentrated (8 m) piperazine with high temperature/pressure regeneration has proven to be an effective alternative in three pilot campaigns at SRP in Fall 2008, Fall 2010, and Fall 2011.

A fourth campaign at SRP in 2012 will address issues with amine aerosol and piperazine oxidation and test additional system modifications to enhance energy performance and operability with the 2-stage heated flash regeneration. Concentrated piperazine is ready for long term testing with real flue gas in a facility such as those at Tarong and Wilsonville. The testing at Tarong started in summer 2011. Initially it has been testing concentrated piperazine with a simple stripper. In 2012 it will use a pressurized simple stripper. The testing at Wilsonville is scheduled for 2013. Solvent reclaiming will be used at Wilsonville but not at Tarong.

The CO₂ Capture Pilot Plant Project (C2P3) project invites participation in a long-term, multiple-participant research program. From each sponsor, we are seeking funding of $65,000/yr. The participation period is defined as the calendar year, January 1 to December 31. We currently have $325,000/yr from Southern Co., LG&E-KU, Luminant Energy, Babcock & Wilcox, and Chevron. Sponsors who are members of the Process Science and Technology Center may participate for $50,000/yr. Several members of EPRI have found it convenient to fund C2P3 as an EPRI-tailored collaboration project.

DOE is providing $3 million as comprehensive funding for these pilot plant activities. URS is the lead contractor on this DOE effort. Trimeric and the University are subcontractors. This proposal includes 20% cost-sharing from the C2P3. Long term operation at Tarong will be supported by the Australian government and at Wilsonville by DOE.

SCHEDULE A31

THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into as of the 1st day of August, 2009, by and between KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY, a Virginia and Kentucky Corporation, with its principal offices and place of business in Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky (doing business in Virginia as Old Dominion Power Company), hereinafter referred to as the "Company," party of the first part, and LOCAL UNION NO. 2100, INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS, AFL-CIO, hereinafter referred to as the "Union," party of the second part.

WITNESSETH:

THAT WHEREAS, the parties hereto desire to cooperate in the maintenance of just and equitable terms and conditions of employment and to provide methods for fair and peaceable adjustment of differences that may arise between them and to promote harmony and efficiency to the end that the Company and the Union and the general public may mutually benefit; and

WHEREAS, the continuous operation of the business of the Company is essential to the public welfare and it is, therefore, a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to maintain continuous and dependable service, irrespective of any differences which may occur at any time, it is mutually agreed by said parties as follows:

ARTICLE I

Section 1 Union Recognition

The Company hereby recognizes the Union as the exclusive bargaining agency for all its employees in its Pineville and Norton Operations and will continue to recognize the Union for all matters pertaining to rates of pay, hours of work and any and all conditions of employment during the life of this contract, but excluding without limitation all clerical employees, line supervisors and substation supervisors and supervisors who have the authority to hire and fire or recommend such action. This Agreement is restricted entirely to said Pineville and Norton Operations of the Company's system and is applicable only to the employees located within said Pineville and Norton Operations and within the classifications referred to in Article XIV.

Section 2 Authorization for Dues, Agency Fees, Deductions etc.

All Kentucky employees of the Company covered by this Agreement who on the date of execution of this Agreement are members or agency fee payers of the Union shall, as a condition of continued employment, remain members or agency fee payers for the term of the Agreement to the extent of paying the periodic dues or agency fees uniformly required. All Kentucky employees covered by this Agreement who are hired after the date of execution of this Agreement shall, as a condition of continued employment, become members or agency fee payers of the Union at the completion of their probationary period and remain members or agency fee payers for the term of this Agreement, to the extent of paying the initiation fee (or reinstatement fee) and periodic dues or agency fees uniformly required.

Section 3

The Company, where so authorized and directed by an employee in writing upon an authorization form, meeting all requirements of law and approved by the Company, will deduct from the wages of any and all employees in its Pineville and Norton Operations for whom the Union is bargaining agent, Union dues, agency fees, initiation fees and lawful unit wide assessments in the amounts authorized by each employee on one of the above mentioned forms. This deduction shall be made as designated by the employee on the approved form on the first pay day of each month and remitted promptly to Local Union No. 2100, 10400 Dixie Highway, Louisville, Kentucky 40272. All checks shall be made payable to International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 2100. Each remittance shall be accompanied by a list setting forth the amount deducted and the names of those from whom the deductions were made.

Section 4

In the event there is an overcharge made in making payroll deduction for dues, agency fees, initiation fees and assessments, the Union shall be responsible for adjustment of such claim, with the individual members.

Section 5

Section 2 of this Article shall not apply to Virginia employees. This Article is intended to comply with all requirements and the provisions of applicable state and federal law, and nothing herein contained shall require the taking of any action in violation thereof; the Union agrees to indemnify and save the Company harmless from any claim or liability arising out of any action taken by the Company in compliance herewith. However, in the event changes in the state and/or federal law should make the application of Section 2 above lawful for Virginia employees, then the provisions of said Section 2 shall apply to said Virginia employees.

Section 6 Management Rights

By reason of the nature of the business of the Company it is essential, and is therefore agreed, that the management of the Company and the supervision and control of all operations and the direction of the working forces, including the right to relieve employees from duty because of lack of work, or for just cause, the right to hire, suspend, discharge for cause, promote, demote or transfer employees and the right to operate the Company should be, and is, vested in, and reserved to, the Company, except as herein limited.

It is further agreed that in the interest of obtaining improved service, better operations or lower costs, the Company has the right to make changes in equipment, operations, and the organization of work, including the determination of job content, minimum requirements and qualifications; and combine jobs, eliminate jobs, and create new jobs, and it is understood that this is a proper function of management.

The Company shall have the right to formulate and enforce rules and regulations dealing with employee conduct and work and safety, which are not in conflict with this Agreement. The Company will notify the Union office in writing at least fourteen (14) calendar days prior to implementation of any new or revised rules or regulations and shall meet to discuss such changes during the fourteen (14) calendar day period if requested.

ARTICLE II

Section 1 No Strike – No Lockout

Union pledges to Company the loyal, honest, safe and dependable service of all its members who perform work under this Agreement.

The Company agrees not to lock out its employees and the Union agrees that there shall be no slowdown, sitdown, strike or other interference with or stoppage of the work of the Company on the part of the Union or any of its members, during the existence of this agreement.

Although it is a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to cooperate in maintaining a continuous and dependable public service, it shall not be a violation of this Agreement, nor cause for discharge or disciplinary action, for an employee as an individual matter to decline to cross a picket line at premises other than premises of the Company where loss of Company property or injury to the employee is threatened.

A duly identified and authorized representative of the Union shall, upon due advance arrangement, be granted access to Company premises for the purpose of investigating problems with which he is properly concerned in the administration of this Agreement. Union activity as permitted herein does not include Union business of an internal nature which does not involve the Company.

Section 2 Subcontracting

(1) The Company currently and historically utilizes outside contractors and subcontractors to supplement its own work force. These outside contractors and subcontractors are utilized primarily for the following reasons: to meet emergency situations; to obtain specialized services not readily available within the Company's work force; for purposes of business expediency (time); and to enable the Company to render service to its customers in the most efficient and economical manner practicable. While the Company expects that a continuation of such outside contracting policies will be necessary for prudent and efficient business operations during the life of this Agreement, the Company agrees that it will not subcontract work normally and usually performed by employees presently covered by this Agreement for the purpose of eroding the bargaining unit.

Additionally, the Company agrees that except in an emergency it will not subcontract the work involved in the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity of a type normally and usually performed by employees in journeyman classifications or above when such subcontracting would cause the layoff of, such employees or affect their recall. It shall not be a violation of this Agreement for the Company to continue subcontracting in areas where there has been no reduction in force.

(2) If it becomes necessary for the Company to contract out work of the type regularly and customarily performed by employees covered hereby, it shall notify the Union of such subcontracting and identify the type of contractual agreement, probable duration of the contract and the approximate number of employees involved in the performance of the contract. However, nothing in this article shall require the Company to assume unreasonable or excessive costs in its operations.

(3) It is agreed that outside contractors will not perform overtime work, normally performed by employees covered by this Agreement, except in the following circumstances and situations: where the employees in the work area affected have been offered the work; if an emergency exists and employees in the work area affected by the emergency have been fully utilized; or if it is necessary to have an equipment outage for the contractor to complete the work he is performing. It is not a violation of this Section for a contractor to continue or complete work on an overtime basis, provided the contractor is responsible for that work during the normal workweek. However, contractors will not be called out to perform overtime work unless one of the above three (3) exceptions has been met.

(4) The Company agrees that, others factors being substantially equal (i.e. price, availability, qualifications etc.), contractors who employ union members will be given preferred consideration. It is understood that this provision in no way creates third party beneficiary status for any individual or contractor.

Section 3 Successorship

The Company agrees that the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the parties will remain in full force and effect for the specified duration regardless of any change in the ownership of the Company. The Company will include a provision, in any sales or merger agreement, with any successor or assign, that will affirm and make the continuation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement a condition of the sale or merger of the Company.

ARTICLE III

Section 1 Notification in Event of Discharge of Employee

In the event of a discharge or suspension of any employee, the Company shall within forty-eight (48) hours give the employee and Local No. 2100 at Louisville, Kentucky, written notice thereof. If a written reprimand is given to an employee a copy will also be given to the Union.

Section 2 Grievance After Discharge or Suspension

In the event the Union or any discharged or suspended employee shall fail to file a written grievance within five (5) working days concerning the above mentioned discharge or suspension, such discharge or suspension shall be final.

Section 3 Union Representation – Stewards

For adequate representation of the employee groups, there shall be a steward at the following locations: Somerset, Kentucky, London, Kentucky, Pineville, Kentucky, Harlan, Kentucky, Pennington Gap, Virginia, and Norton, Virginia, and as many assistant stewards as may be needed, the names of all of whom shall be furnished to the Company. It is understood an assistant steward will function only in the absence of the steward. It is agreed that the Company will recognize the stewards as the official representatives of the employee group covered by the terms of this Agreement. (The right is reserved by the Union to change the stewards at will, provided that notice of any change is immediately given to the Company.) No steward shall be discriminated against by the Company because of his faithful performance of his duties as steward.

Section 4 Grievance Procedure

Should differences arise between the Company and Union as to the meaning and/or application or the observation and performance of any of the provisions of this Agreement, the following shall be the procedure for adjustment thereof, and any settlement reached in any step of this procedure will be final:

- (1) The employee and/or his steward shall first bring the grievance to the attention of his immediate supervisor.
- (2) If the grievance is not settled, it shall be reduced to writing so as to describe the complaint, designate the article and section of the contract which the aggrieved party contends has been violated and state briefly the events or actions which are alleged to be in violation of the contract and which justify the complaint and shall be presented by the aggrieved employee and/or his steward to the employee's immediate supervisor and the next level of management who did not participate at Step 1.
- (3) If the matter is not satisfactorily disposed of within three (3) working days, a Business Representative of the Union shall be called in. The Business Representative, the Steward, and such person or persons as the Union may designate, shall meet with the appropriate manager and such person or persons the Company may designate to make a thorough investigation. It is agreed that a fair and sincere effort shall be made to reach a satisfactory adjustment or settlement of all matters so presented within ten (10) working days after this meeting.

- (4) If the matter cannot be settled in the foregoing manner, it is agreed that the Union may refer the grievance to arbitration by giving notice to the Company in the manner hereafter specified, provided that such notice is given within forty-five (45) days after the occurrence of the event or action upon which the grievance is based or within such time as the period for giving notice may be extended by agreement of the parties in writing. If notice is not given within such period, the grievance shall be considered settled.
- (5) The Union may refer a grievance which the parties are unable to settle under the grievance procedure to arbitration by delivering to the human resources representative within the time specified in paragraph (4) written notification that it desires to arbitrate the grievance. The Company and the Union shall each appoint a representative and such representatives shall seek agreement as to the identity of a mutually acceptable arbitrator. If they are unable to agree, the Company and Union shall jointly request the American Arbitration Association to provide a list of seven (7) qualified (National Academy of Arbitrators member) arbitrators who have training or experience in the subject of the dispute in question. The representatives of the parties shall either agree to an arbitrator on the list or select one by each party alternating striking a name from the list until one name remains, either party may reject one list per case. More than one grievance may be submitted to the same arbitrator if a multiple submission is acceptable to both parties. The compensation and expenses of the arbitrator shall be borne equally by the parties. The compensation and expenses, if any, of witnesses and other participants in the arbitration shall be borne by the party desiring or requesting their presence.
- (6) Employee disciplinary records shall not be utilized in arbitration involving discipline administered to that employee if such records are more than five (5) years old, provided that employee has not received discipline within the five (5) year period.

Section 5 Arbitration

The jurisdiction of the arbitrator shall be strictly limited to the determination of disputes having to do with the application of the provisions of the Agreement which have been submitted to arbitration as provided herein. But said arbitrator shall have no power to change any of the provisions of the Agreement.

Section 6 Grievance Meetings

Grievances to be handled through the grievance procedure shall be taken up at such time of day as will least interfere with the regular working hours of the employees involved. If the Company finds it more convenient and practical to conduct such proceedings during regular working hours, then Union grievance representatives who are called from their regular duty will be paid their regular wages as though they were on regular duty.

ARTICLE IV

Leaves of Absence – Union Business

The Company, upon written request from the union, shall grant to the officers and committees of the Union all necessary and reasonable leaves of absence to transact Union business, provided reasonable notice shall be given and their seniority and all other rights with the Company shall not be affected due to their absence. It is understood and agreed, however, that the Company shall not be required to grant such leave of absence to any employee whose absence, in the opinion of the Company, would interfere with the proper operation of its business. The Company shall also have the right to recall any employee who has been granted a leave of absence, in the event an emergency or for operational effectiveness shall, in the opinion of the Company, make such recall necessary.

Union members who are excused from work for the conduct of Union business, and who are not eligible for compensation by the Company for the time so spent, shall, upon request by the Union, be compensated by the Company for straight-time work hours missed. The Union will reimburse the Company for these hours upon proper notice. The Company's obligation under this section shall be suspended if, after thirty (30) calendar days from demand for proper reimbursement, such reimbursement is not received by the Company. Any contested amount of reimbursement is all that may be withheld by the Union to avoid the suspension of such obligation.

Union members' absences from work for the conduct of Union business will be limited to twenty (20) work days in a calendar year. However, the Company will give additional consideration in this area on a case by case basis to requests which are submitted in writing.

ARTICLE V

Exclusive Contract

During the life of this Agreement the Company will not enter into any contract with any employee or group of employees, or with any other organization in the Company which would supersede or modify the provisions of this Agreement, unless required to do so under the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act or any of the amendments thereto.

ARTICLE VI

No Discrimination, Interference or Intimidation of Employee by Company or Union

The Company further agrees that it will not interfere with, restrain or coerce employees because of membership or lawful activity in the Union, nor will it by discrimination with respect to hire, tenure or employment or any other term or condition of employment or in any manner attempt to discourage membership in the Union.

The Union agrees that neither the Union nor any of its members will interfere with, intimidate, restrain or coerce any employee in any manner whatsoever with respect to his right to work or the free exercise of his own choice as to Union membership or non-union membership, and further that there shall be no solicitation of employees for Union membership or dues on Company's time or property, provided, however, that if any employee shall lease or rent his residence from Company, then such residence shall not be considered as Company property for the purpose of this paragraph.

Any claim of violation of any of the provisions of this Article, either by Company or Union, shall constitute a complaint which shall be adjusted through the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof.

ARTICLE VII

Section 1 Probationary Period

The Company and the Union agree that it is necessary for the Company to hire additional employees, in excess of the number needed from time to time for normal operation, for the purpose of new construction work, unusual, seasonal or emergency maintenance or operating conditions, and to train such employees for replacement of, or additional to, its regular personnel. All such employees shall be classed as probationary employees until completion of ninety (90) days of continuous employment, during which the employee works for the Company, and during said time such employee shall acquire no seniority. Any employee, if still employed at the end of said ninety (90) days period, shall either be released from employment by the Company or placed upon the regular employee list, and if and when so placed upon the said regular employee list, his seniority shall begin from the date of his original employment. There shall be no responsibility for reemployment of probationary employees if they are laid off or released during said period of ninety (90) days. However, any claim of personal prejudice or any claim of discrimination for Union activity in connection with the layoff or release of probationary employees shall be considered and decided through the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof. Such claims must be supported by written evidence at the time the complaint is filed.

Section 2 Temporary Employees

When students and others are hired for vacation replacements or other temporary needs, it is agreed that their employment is temporary and will not exceed one hundred ten (110) working days. These employees shall not accrue seniority.

ARTICLE VIII

Section 1 Determination of Seniority

Region-wide seniority shall mean the aggregate years, months and days of work performed in the bargaining unit by an employee on the job for this Company. However, for the purpose of this Article VIII, region-wide seniority shall consist of (a) length of continuous service; (b) knowledge, skill and ability; and (c) physical fitness. When knowledge, skill and ability and physical fitness are relatively equal, length of continuous service shall govern. If any claim shall be made that any promotion, demotion, transfer or increase or decrease in force, including layoff or reemployment made by the Company, is due to discrimination, the dispute shall be settled under the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof.

Section 2 Seniority List

The Company will post a list of its employees' seniority records, including those now in the military service, and give the Union a copy for checking for its correctness.

An up-to-date seniority list shall be made available by the Company to the Union semi-annually in May and November.

Section 3 Decrease or Increase of Working Force

Whenever the Company reduces its working force, employees shall be laid off in accordance with and in inverse order of their seniority, via; length of continuous service, knowledge, skill and ability and physical fitness as provided in Section 1 hereof.

Whenever the Company increases its working force after a layoff, the employees shall be returned to work in the inverse order in which they were laid off. No new employee shall be hired for jobs covered by this Agreement before all laid off employees qualifying under Section 1 of this Article shall have been offered the opportunity to return to work.

Each laid off employee shall keep the Company advised in writing of his correct mailing address twice yearly and the mailing or telegraphing by the Company of notice that a job is available, to the said address, shall be deemed sufficient compliance with any provision hereof with respect to giving preference to said laid off employees.

Section 4 Loss of Seniority

Seniority shall be lost for the following reasons:

- (a) By the employee voluntarily leaving the employ of the Company.
- (b) By the discharge of an employee, if such discharge is not reversed through the grievance procedure.
- (c) By the failure of an employee, after a layoff, to report back to work within six (6) days after being offered reemployment or to give a satisfactory reason to the Company for further delay.

Section 5 Job Vacancies

In the event a vacancy occurs which, in the opinion of the Company, must be filled or a new job is created; that is to say, when an employee quits or is discharged or is transferred from one department or from one location to another, or is changed from one shift to another, or is retired, or dies, the Company shall post a notice of such vacancy within five (5) working days after the vacancy occurs, stating the maximum rate of pay, classification, immediate supervisor, shift and residence requirements, if any, on all bulletin boards for a minimum of five (5) working days before permanently selecting the employee. If such notice is subsequently modified it shall remain posted for a minimum of five (5) working days after such modification before the Company permanently selects the employee. The Company will select the employee to fill the vacancy within twenty (20) working days following its posting of said notice. Within five (5) working days after the Company's Region Office receives a fully approved payroll authorization, authorizing such action, the employee selected shall be placed on the job, and all other applicants for the job will be advised in writing of the name of the selected applicant. When new jobs are created or vacancies occur, said jobs or vacancies will be posted by the Company, as hereinabove provided, and application must be made for the job during said period of five (5) working days. The advice and recommendation of a board consisting of the employee's steward, a Business Representative of the Union and not to exceed two employees having knowledge of the job and/or qualifications of the bidders, selected by the steward and the Business Representative will be considered in filling such vacancies, which board will meet with not more than four (4) Company representatives, but such jobs may be filled by the Company temporarily until a suitable person has been selected by the Company. In the event an employee makes an application for a job vacancy posted in accordance with the provisions of this Article and is selected to fill the vacancy, then refuses to accept that job, the Company shall not be obligated to consider applications for other job vacancies, with the exception of a vacancy created by death, from that employee for a period of six (6) months following the date of posting of the job vacancy which was refused by the employee.

Any employee who successfully changes Line of Business through the bidding procedure can not subsequently bid to another Line of Business for one (1) year.

Any employee hired during the term of this contract shall be barred from bidding to another Line of Business for one (1) year from date of hire.

Section 6 Moving Expenses

A. When the permanent reporting location of an employee is changed (a) because of his bidding into a permanent job vacancy under Article VIII, Section 5 of this Agreement, or, (b) when the Company requests and the employee consents to transfer to another location, or, (c) when the Company requires the employee to transfer to another location, and the employee is required to move his residence because of this change, the Company will pay a lump sum payment, net of taxes, equal to:

- One (1) month's base pay for renters
- Two (2) month's base pay for home owners

B. As much advance notice as possible will be given the employee of the proposed change in headquarters to give him sufficient time to arrange for new quarters in the new locality. If it is not possible to give the employee reasonable notice of the proposed change in permanent headquarters, and it is necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay his reasonable board and lodging expenses not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon. If it is not possible to give such reasonable notice of the change, but it is not necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay mileage at its standard rate for the mileage by which the distance from his present residence to his new headquarters exceeds the distance to his old headquarters, not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon.

C. The Company shall not be obligated to pay the moving expenses of (a) any employee who has less than twelve (12) months of continuous service since last date of hire, or, (b) in the case of any other employee, more than once in any period of twelve (12) consecutive months in connection with that employee's transfer to a new regular place of employment, unless (in either case) the move is at the Company's request.

Section 7 Leave of Absence

Employees may, for proper cause, be granted leave of absence up to thirty (30) days without jeopardizing their seniority and by mutual agreement between the employees involved, the Union and the Company, such period may be further extended.

Section 8 Absence from Duties

Upon prior arrangement with Company, employees shall be entitled to be absent from their duties without pay not to exceed three (3) days per calendar year.

Section 9 Return to Work After Accident or Illness

After a regular employee has recovered from accident or sickness and reports for work, he shall be returned to his regular job, provided he is physically able and qualified to perform his job.

Section 10 Handicapped Employees

Nothing in this Article shall be construed to diminish any rights an employee would otherwise have under this Agreement, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Workers' Compensation Laws of Kentucky and Virginia or other applicable laws.

Section 11 Unexcused Absence from Job Grounds for Discharge

The absence of any employee from his regular shift of duty for a total of three times within any three months' period without properly notifying the Company and without a reasonable and satisfactory excuse may, at the Company's option, be grounds for discharge.

Section 12 Residence Requirements

- (a) Line Technicians shall reside either (1) within the service territory of the technician's reporting location or (2) within thirty (30) road miles of that same reporting location. Line Technicians, whose reporting location is changed by the Company, will not be required to relocate.
- (b) Service Technicians shall reside either (1) within the service territory of the office to which the technician regularly reports or (2) within twenty (20) road miles of that same reporting office.

- (c) Employees in Service or Line Technician positions as of the effective date of this policy (August 1, 1992) who do not meet these residency requirements will not be required to move. However, those Service or Line Technicians can not move any further from their current reporting location than they now live.
- (d) Line Technicians may transfer or bid to other positions within that line crew or to another line crew at the same reporting location without having to move.
- (e) Line Technicians described in paragraph (a) who transfer to Service Technician positions described in paragraph (b), must meet the residency requirements set forth in paragraph (b) even if the transfer does not involve a change in reporting location.
- (f) Service or Line Technicians that transfer to a position at a different reporting location than they now have must meet the residency requirements for that location.

Section 13 Maternity Leave

An employee on maternity leave (or otherwise absent by reason of pregnancy) may utilize any accumulated paid sick leave in accordance with the Company's paid sick leave plan, and even if the employee does not plan to return to work, accumulated paid sick leave may be utilized to the same extent it could be if the employee applied for maternity leave.

An employee on maternity leave may remain on leave for a period equal to the time allowed for non-work related illness or injury.

Upon return to work the employee will either be returned to the former job or placed in another position in accordance with the practice in effect for employees returning from leave because of sickness or injury. If the employee fails to return to work at or prior to the expiration of maternity leave or refuses to take the position made available as above provided, her employment will terminate.

Section 14 Health & Safety

The Company and the Union recognize the need for a strong Health and Safety Program for the benefit of all employees and the Company. The Union will cooperate in assisting and maintaining the Company's rules regarding health and safety. The Company recognizes the interest of the Union in the health and safety of its members, and will give careful consideration to any recommendations made by it.

The Company and the Union agree to a Joint Health and Safety Advisory Committee for the purpose of reviewing, discussing and recommending new or revised safety and health rules and procedures. The Committee shall be chaired by the Manager, Health and Safety, and shall meet quarterly. This Committee shall consist of not more than two (2) members of the Company and two (2) members of the Union. The Union representatives who shall attend a particular meeting shall be made known to the Manager, Health and Safety not less than two (2) weeks prior to the date established for the meeting. At the same time, the Union shall notify the Company of the subjects it desires to address at the meeting.

ARTICLE IX

Employees in the Armed Forces

Except as otherwise provided by law, if it should become necessary for an employee to leave the service of the Company to serve in the Armed Forces of the United States, or should an employee volunteer for service in any of the Armed Forces of the United States, the Company's policy states that it will provide support for employee's military service obligations consistent with its obligations under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) and any applicable state and/or local laws. The Military Leave Policy applies to all E.ON U.S. LLC and subsidiaries. Except as otherwise provided by law, this Article shall not apply to any employee who re-enlists or otherwise extends his period of full-time military service beyond the period of time of his military obligation to the United States.

ARTICLE X

Section 1 Holidays

The Company will permit as many of its employees as practicable to be absent from their duties with regular pay on the following holidays: New Year's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, the day after Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. An employee's birthday shall be recognized as a holiday on the employee's actual birthday or on a day during each calendar year mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company. A Personal Leave Day shall be recognized as a holiday in each calendar year on a day mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company.

An employee scheduled to work on any of the above holidays shall be entitled, at his option, either (a) upon the exercise of this option by notice to the Company before the end of the pay period involved, to be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times his regular rate of pay for the hours worked, or (b) to be absent from his duties with regular pay on a day to be mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company. An employee shall be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) on a holiday.

Except in cases of emergency, unscheduled absences of other employees, or with respect to an employee regularly scheduled to work on a holiday, employees shall be notified three (3) working days in advance of being required to work on a holiday.

Section 3 Work on Scheduled Off Days

Any employee who is required to work on his scheduled off day shall be paid time and a half and shall not be denied continuing his regular shift of duties during the week.

Any employee who is required to work on his last consecutive off day shall be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate, provided he worked at least three (3) hours on his previous off day.

ARTICLE XI

Vacations

Effective January 1, 2000, eligible employees will earn vacation from date of hire based on years of service in accordance with the following schedule:

Vacation Earned	Completed Years of Service Attained During Calendar Year
5 days	Maximum in year of hire
10 days	Years 1-4
15 days	Years 5-14
20 days	Years 15-24
25 days	Years 25 and above

Such employees on a forty (40) hour workweek shall be paid the equivalent of forty (40) hours at their straight time hourly base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments, for each week of vacation. Such employees who normally work more than twenty (20) but less than forty (40) hours per week (a part-time employee, should such be included in the bargaining unit during the life of this Agreement) shall be eligible for one-half the normal vacation entitlement (earned/accrued).

Eligibility

A. To qualify for vacation in the following year, an employee must be active on the payroll as of December 31. An exception to this requirement applies to those employees who are on approved Family and Medical Leave.

B. An employee reinstated from inactive status shall become eligible for vacation based on his or her anniversary date:

- An employee returning to work from January 1 through June 30 is eligible for earned vacation during the calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay.
- An employee returning to work on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the calendar year.

C. Employees hired directly by the Company to fill temporary positions (not hired as temporaries through contractors) who later become regular employees of the Company are eligible for vacation accrual retroactive to the beginning of their temporary employment with the Company.

D. An employee hired between January 1 and June 30 is eligible for 5 days of vacation during that calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay. An employee hired on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the initial calendar year of employment. After the initial calendar year of employment, an employee can take vacation effective January 1 or upon three (3) continuous months of active service, whichever is later, based upon the above schedule.

E. Employees who are rehired as regular full time employees accrue vacation at the same rate as when they left employment if they were employed for one year of continuous service prior to separation and if the separation was for one year or less.

Scheduling of Vacations

A. Vacations, except in case of emergency (in which case special arrangements must be made by the employee with his department head), shall be taken at least one work week at a time.

B. In the event that an employee doesn't sign his weeks consecutively, the Company will go to the next employee in seniority who will be entitled to sign for his vacation.

C. Heads of departments shall schedule vacations annually as soon as practicable after the beginning of the year. Subject to the need to maintain the necessary complement of employees at all times, departmental employees shall have their choice of time for vacations in order of their seniority.

D. At an employee's request, an excused absence may be charged to vacation time to which an employee is then entitled.

Accumulating Vacations

Vacation time may not be accumulated from one year to the next, and vacations earned as of any January 1 must be liquidated by time off by December 31 of that same year, except that with the responsible manager's prior written approval, an employee may defer up to five days of vacation to the following calendar year.

Vacation Pay at Separation

An employee who quits, dies, retires or is discharged on or after any January 1 and without having received the vacation for which he became eligible upon such date, will be entitled to his vacation pay upon termination of employment. Any such payment due an employee who has died shall be made to the person designated as beneficiary on his group life coverage, if living, otherwise to the employee's estate. No employee leaving the employment of the Company during any calendar year shall be entitled to any vacation pay in the following year.

Pay in Lieu of Vacation

An employee with four weeks of vacation eligibility (including carry-over) may "sell back" one week of vacation after they have taken two weeks of vacation and carried over one week. Payout for such a week of worked vacation will occur in January of the following year.

Vacation During Illness, Disability, or Personal Leave of Absence

A. If an employee goes on paid sick leave or becomes unable to work because of compensable occupational injury prior to the time his vacation is scheduled to commence, his vacation will be rescheduled later in the year, except that an employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, at his option, cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay and take his vacation as previously scheduled. The vacation of an employee who becomes ill or is injured after working his last shift prior to vacation will not be rescheduled, and he will not be eligible for any sick pay until such scheduled vacation has expired.

B. An employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, upon advance written request, elect at the end of the calendar year to cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay for any unused vacation period in order to avoid loss of vacation pay. An employee disabled as the result of a compensable occupational injury or who is receiving long term disability insurance payments at the end of a vacation year and is unable to work during any unused vacation period or take pay in lieu of vacation within the parameters specified within this article, will not receive pay for the vacation not taken, except as provided in Paragraph C below.

C. In the year in which an employee incurs an occupational injury or illness, after the application of up to one week vacation carry-over as specified within this article, the employee shall receive payment for any remaining unused vacation in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between what the employee received from workers' compensation insurance or Short Term Disability pay and the employee's regular straight time wages assuming a 40-hour work week.

D. An employee will earn vacation during approved personal leaves of absence on a prorated basis as follows:

- an employee on a PLOA of one full month to three full months will earn 75 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule; and
- an employee on a PLOA of four to six months will earn 50 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule.

Vacation at Retirement

Any employee who retires may elect to work during all weeks of any vacation to which he may be entitled in the year of retirement, and for each such week of vacation worked, shall receive with his final payroll check additional compensation in an amount computed on the same basis as is then employed in computing the compensation paid to other employees who work during one week of their vacation and take pay in lieu as specified within this article.

ARTICLE XII

Section 1 Work Away from Headquarters, Travel on Company Time, Meals

(a) Whenever an employee is assigned duties distant from his regular place of employment, he will be provided transportation or transportation expense between the assigned job and his regular place of employment or headquarters. If, in the opinion of his supervisor, it is impractical for the employee to return daily to his regular place of employment, the Company will provide suitable lodging and board near the place of such temporary employment. Except in cases of emergencies, employees required to stay away from home overnight will be given notice as soon as possible but not later than the day before. Under normal circumstances where employees are performing work which is not of an emergency nature, a light-duty Company vehicle, which is adequate to provide transportation, is assigned to the job and available, and the location of the work is within 50 road miles distance from the place at which the employees regularly report to work, the employees will not be required to stay out of town overnight, such travel to be on Company time. Customer Order Technicians will be provided by the Company $7.00 for the purchase of the noon meal which will be added to the employee's payroll check for performing work that is outside of the employee's assigned service territory. Employees who are scheduled for a lunch period of no more than 30 minutes are not eligible to receive a noon meal allowance. Line Technicians and Service Technicians who are required to work through their established lunch period will be provided by the Company a $7.00 meal ticket to be added to the employee's payroll check. Employees will be provided by the Company a $7.00 meal ticket to be added to the employee's payroll check for meals outside normal working hours as provided under sections 1(b), 1(c) and 1(d) of this Article XII.

(b) Whenever planned work or emergency work begins more than two (2) hours prior to the employee's normal start time and continues into the employee's normal shift, or planned work or emergency work continues beyond the employee's normal shift end time more than two (2) hours.

(c) Whenever any employee or employees, after completing their normal working hours, are called out for extra work because of emergency or service interruption and required to work three (3) hours.

(d) For every five (5) hours of continuous work after the first meal ticket is provided until the employee is released from work.

Section 2 Work Away from Regular Place of Employment

No employee shall be required, except during emergencies, to stay away from his regular place of employment or headquarters for a continuous period of more than two weeks.

Section 3 Travel Time

For each trip authorized by the Company, between the places of work assigned and the regular place of work or headquarters, time required for travel shall be considered as time worked.

Section 4 Double Shift or Part Shift

Any employee who, after the completion of a regular shift of duty, is ordered to double shift, or part shift, shall not be denied the privilege of continuing his regular shift during any work week.

Section 5 Temporary Transfer

No employee who is performing a regular job attained by virtue of seniority shall be transferred by the Company to another location without the consent of the employee, except in case of temporary transfers not exceeding three months in duration or in case of emergency.

Section 6 Acting Supervisor

On a crew with three or more persons, whenever a regular supervisor in the classification of Line Supervisor, Service Supervisor, Substation Supervisor, Shift Engineer, Chief Electrician or Chief Meter Technician is on vacation or off the job for any cause, and another employee is ordered by the person to whom such supervisor reports (or, in his absence, such person's supervisor) to perform the work of a supervisor, the employee shall receive his regular rate of pay or the rate of pay of the supervisor, whichever is higher, during the period that the employee performs said work.

Section 7 Temporary Supervisor

When the Company combines two or more crews (to form a combined crew of four or more) for a project, unless a Supervisor A is assigned to the resulting work group, a Supervisor B will be temporarily promoted to Supervisor A for the period during which the crews are combined. If a crew normally consisting of four or more men, including the Supervisor, is reduced to a crew consisting of three men, including the Supervisor, the Supervisor A of that crew shall continue to receive the wage of a Supervisor A as long as he continues in the position of Supervisor of that crew.

Section 8 Two-Person Crew Premium

When two non-supervisory employees are assigned work to be performed without the direction of a supervisor and the work involves the installation, maintenance or operation of electric lines or equipment, the company may designate one of the employees to be in charge of the work to be performed. The employee designated to be in charge shall be paid a $1.00 per hour premium over their regular rate of pay.

Section 9 Temporary or Emergency Work in Lower Classification

An employee ordered to perform work for the convenience of the Company, temporarily or in an emergency, in a lower classification, shall receive the rate of pay for the classification in which he is regularly employed.

Section 10 Furnishing of Tools

The Company will furnish all tools required by the employee for use in the performance of his normal work.

Section 11 Uniform Laundering

The Company will arrange uniform laundering for employees working out of their service territory for extended periods.

ARTICLE XIII

Section 1 Normal Work Week

The normal work week of employees covered by this Agreement shall consist of five days of eight hours each, Monday through Friday. Except during emergencies or during extraordinary circumstances, lunch hour shall not begin earlier than eleven (11:00) A.M. nor later than one (1:00) P.M., local standard time.

The Substation Department crews, Meter Department personnel, and Meter Reading personnel shall begin their workday at 7:30 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. These employees will be permitted to take a short break not to exceed 20 minutes to eat and not to begin earlier than ten (10:00) a.m. nor later than twelve (12:00) noon, local standard time.

The Line crews and Service Technicians shall begin their workday at 7:30 a.m. and end at 4:00 p.m. with a thirty (30) minute lunch period. Customer Order Technicians will continue to work the schedule of 8:00 a.m to 5:00 p.m. with a one (1) hour lunch period. The lunch period shall not begin earlier than (11:00) a.m. nor later than one (1:00) p.m., local standard time,

The Company may consider reasonable requests received from a majority of the members of a service crew to change the normal starting and quitting times, such decision to remain solely within the Company's discretion to exercise.

Section 2 Overtime, Rates of Pay

The wages of the aforesaid employees shall be computed on an hourly basis, equal to the employees' hourly rate as provided in Article XIV hereof. The basic wage shall consist of forty hours worked each week at the employee's hourly rate, and in addition to such basic wage, time and one-half shall be paid for all hours worked in excess of eight hours within any twenty-four hour period, or forty hours within a work week, whichever is greater, but in no case both; provided, however, said additional payment for work in excess of eight hours in any twenty-four hour period shall not be paid to any employee in a relief classification for work he performs while working his regular relief schedule.

Section 3 Division of Overtime

The Company will endeavor to divide overtime work, other than in an emergency, equally among the employees regularly assigned to that kind of work. An employee who cannot be contacted will not be charged with overtime which he would otherwise have worked. For overtime groups at various locations who so desire, an overtime record will be posted on the appropriate bulletin board.

Section 4 Overtime – Idle Holiday Counted as Time Worked

An idle holiday shall be counted as a day worked for determining weekly overtime.

Section 5 Pay Provisions for Change in Schedule and Partially Used Time

An employee who is scheduled or notified to report for work on a regular shift and does report for work at the time specified without having been given actual notice of change of schedule, shall receive full pay at his regular rate for his scheduled (non-overtime) hours on that day, even though idle or sent home early because of delay or shortage of materials or for other reasons beyond his control. This provision shall not apply in the event that:

- (a) Strikes or work stoppages by employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement in connection with labor disputes interfere with the conduct of normal operations; or
- (b) An employee is not put to work or is released from work after having been put to work either at his own request or due to his own fault.

Section 6 Call Out Time

Employees called out for emergency work shall receive a minimum of two (2) hours' pay at one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for such work, except that if the employee begins such emergency work after midnight, but prior to the regular starting time of the first day shift, he shall be entitled to receive a minimum of three (3) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay for such work.

Employees called back within two (2) hours of being released from their regular shift, shall have their additional hours actually worked added to the hours worked before being released for the purposes of calculating overtime pay and total hours worked.

Employees called out for emergency work on a normal day off or on an observed Company holiday will receive a minimum of three (3) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay for such work.

Section 7 Planned Overtime on Off Day

An employee scheduled for planned overtime work on a day which would be a scheduled off day on his normal work schedule will receive a minimum of four (4) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay. Employees shall not, in order to be entitled to the four hours' minimum, be required to remain on the job for any longer than it takes to complete the planned work, including any work related to or arising from the planned work. On three-day weekends, the Company will not schedule planned overtime work on customer-owned facilities, except in the case of hospitals.

An employee making timely request may decline planned overtime; provided sufficient employees regularly assigned to and qualified to perform the work are available and willing to work.

Section 8 Minimum Rest Period

When in the opinion of the Company, an employee has worked such any extended period of time as to impair his effectiveness or present a hazard to his health or safety, or to the health and safety of fellow employees, he may be required by the Company to leave work for a rest period of up to eight (8) hours. After sixteen (16) continuous hours worked an employee may request and will be granted a minimum rest period of eight (8) hours.

Such rest period shall be taken in its entirety unless the employee is requested and agrees to return to work before the expiration of such eight (8) hour rest period. If such rest period overlaps the employee's regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day, the employee shall be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours which overlap unless the rest period was initiated by the employee in accordance with this policy. If the rest period ends within two (2) hours or less of the end of the employee's regularly scheduled shift, the employee may either return to work at his regular hourly rate of pay or not return to work and forfeit the remaining hours in his shift.

An employee who is called out for emergency work and works at least sixteen (16) hours, and such emergency work continues beyond one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of the employee's regular shift, and the emergency is declared over as determined by the Company, that employee may request an eight (8) hour rest period and be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours remaining in his shift up to four (4) hours. If in this situation the employee chooses to continue to work the remainder of his shift and the Company agrees for him to work, he will continue to be paid double-time for the rest of his shift.

Section 9 Continuous Hours Worked (Time and one-half)

All continuous hours worked after the end of the employee's last previous regular shift by an employee during periods which commence more than eight (8) hours prior to the employee's next regularly scheduled starting time and continue into his regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day shall be paid at one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's regular hourly rate of pay if the employee completes his regular shift on such work day; provided, however, if the emergency situation (or other cause for his presence outside his normal working hours) should end during the employee's regularly scheduled shift of duty, and he is offered the opportunity to leave work, he may either leave work at that time (without loss of the time and one-half treatment for such continuous hours worked) or complete the remainder of his regular shift at his regular hourly rate of pay. During the continuation of an emergency situation as determined by the Company, for pay purposes, the continuity of the employee's work shall not be considered to be broken by short breaks for meals, refreshments, or rest periods authorized by his supervisor.

An employee who is called out for emergency work more than four (4) hours before his regular starting time and who completes such work within two (2) hours of his regular starting time and is thereafter released from duty, shall continue to be paid at the appropriate overtime rate until his normal starting time. He will be paid his normal straight-time rate of pay for working his normal shift.

Section 10 Daylight Savings Time

An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made to Daylight Saving Time (normally in the spring) and who only actually works seven (7) hours instead of his normal eight (8) because of the change shall receive pay for his normal eight (8) hours. An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made from Daylight Saving Time (normally in the fall) and who actually works nine (9) hours because of the change, shall receive pay at the established premium rate for the ninth (9th) hour.

Section 11 Continuous Hours Worked – (Double-time)

An employee who works more than sixteen (16) continuous hours shall be paid two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all such hours worked.

Section 12 On-Call

Each employee who serves in a weekly On-Call status will be paid eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per week. If an employee works on service calls outside his normal scheduled workday during his On-Call week, he will be paid for such time worked in accordance with Article XIII-Overtime. The eighty-five dollars ($85.00) weekly On-Call pay is provided to compensate the employee for the interruption of lifestyle being on-call contains. The on-call employee, in exchange for the eighty-five dollars ($85.00), agrees to remain available and fit to respond to call outs during the week they serve as the On-Call person.

Eligibility:

All employees in the area who are classified as:

- Service Technician A
- Line Technician A
- Line Supervisor B
- Service Technician B with at least two years in classification as a Technician B
- Line Technician B with at least two years in classification as a Technician B

Areas to be staffed with an On-Call person:

- Harlan
- Pineville
- London
- Somerset
- Norton
- Pennington Gap

On-Call Staffing:

Each area will implement their own system of determining their On-Call person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload. At least on a weekly basis, the Union will provide to management the name of the employee designated to be on-call for each area.

Dispatcher's Priority

Dispatcher's will make the first call to the Service Technician who is assigned to the area where the service is needed. Service Technicians must give advance notice to their supervisor prior to the end of their shift if they will be unavailable or unable to respond. In those situations, the first call will go to the "On-Call" person for that area. Otherwise, the second call will go to the "On-Call" person for that area. If the Union and management in an area agree, the first call will go to the "On-Call" person.

If an employee serves in an On-Call status for service calls for less than one (1) week, he will be paid one (1) hour's pay at his appropriate overtime rate in addition to time spent on any service calls for each day he serves in an On-Call status for service calls.

Customer Order Technicians

The Company reserves the right to determine if and when Customer Order Technicians will be assigned to on-call.

Section 13 Emergency Electric Restoration for Another Utility

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid one and one half (1-1/2) times his hourly rate for the first eight (8) hours worked in any one day.

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) in any one day. This two (2) times his hourly wage rate provision does not apply when such work is performed for Kentucky Utilities or Old Dominion Power.

ARTICLE XIV

Classification of Schedule "A"

It is agreed that wage rates for the several classifications of work shall be established in accordance with the work classifications and progression schedule attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked Schedule "A" for identification, and that the application thereof shall be in the following manner: Whenever an employee is promoted to a classification having a higher starting rate, he shall receive the starting rate of the new classification, or if such starting rate represents an increase in pay of less than five cents (5¢) per hour, he shall receive the rate of the new classification applicable (After One Year). In the event such employee is promoted to a new classification at a higher rate than the starting rate, he shall progress as though he had already worked the period required by the preceding steps of the classification.

An employee who successfully bids between the Line Technician C, Service Technician C, or Meter Technician C classifications will retain the employee's rate and time in progression steps.

Payroll periods will be on a bi-weekly basis with employees being paid every other Friday.

ARTICLE XV

Section 1 Sick Leave, Group Insurance, Survivors Insurance, Service Annuity, Medical Care Plan, Employee Savings Plan, Employee Assistance Program, Dependent Care Assistance Plan, Dependent Life Insurance Plan

During the term of this Agreement the Company will provide the existing or no less favorable sick leave, group life insurance, long-term disability insurance, retirement annuity and medical, including post-retirement medical insurance benefits, dental assistance program, employee savings plan, employee assistance program, dependent care assistance plan, and dependent life insurance plan for members of the bargaining unit as are provided for other full time employees of the Company. The details of such benefits shall be as specifically provided in master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. The Company will furnish identification cards for medical purposes. The Company will furnish each employee annually the amount of accumulated sick leave.

The Company will assume an increase of 4% in each year of the Contract in medical and hospitalization expense per employee. To the extent this expense increases over 4% the employees will absorb increases up to the next 4%. Should the total increase exceed 8%, the Company and the employees will equally share in the balance of that expense.

Section 2 Funeral Leave

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of five days for Immediate Family Members who include: spouse, child, step-child, or parent or step-parent.

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of three days for Other Family Members who include: brother, sister, grandparents, grandchildren, parents-in-law, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, spouses of the employee's brothers or sisters, employee's spouse's brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents, step relations of the preceding, or any relative living with the employee.

Such days shall be consecutive work days and shall not extend beyond the day following the funeral, except in the case of the death of an Immediate Family Member in which case such days may extend to the second day following the funeral, and shall be conditioned on the employee's attendance at the funeral. Payment will not be made for any day during such three-day period on which the employee would not otherwise work.

Employees will not be paid for unused funeral leave.

Should the employee need to be absent on a normal scheduled day or days, other than those for which payment is provided above, the employee may elect to take such day or days as vacation time, provided he is then entitled to sufficient vacation time which he has not utilized by time off or for which he has not been paid.

Payment shall be made on the next pay day after receiving notice in writing from the employee and (a) the name of the deceased person and relationship to the employee, and (b) the date and location of the funeral.

ARTICLE XVI

Bulletin Boards for Union Use

At all places where the Company now has bulletin boards, the Company will in the exercise of its discretion either furnish space on said bulletin boards or furnish nearby space upon which the Union may erect its own bulletin boards, of a size not larger than the Company's bulletin boards.

The Union agrees that it shall confine such posted notices to information concerning Company-Union relations and matters of concern to Union members. The Union further agrees it shall not post any notices that are derogatory or inflammatory in nature. All such notices shall be submitted to the Manager Human Resources for review prior to posting.

ARTICLE XVII

No Discrimination

There shall be no discrimination in the administration of this Agreement with regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, disability or veteran status.

ARTICLE XVIII

Notice of: Changes, Modifications, or Terminations Effective Date, Termination Date

Within the period of one hundred twenty (120) days prior to expiration date of Agreement; either party hereto may request the other to meet for the purpose of negotiating modifications to this Agreement or negotiating a new agreement, to become effective on the expiration of this Agreement. The parties agree to meet within twenty (20) days of such request and to bargain in good faith thereafter, as required by Section 8(a)(5), (b)(3) and (d), of the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947, as Amended.

This Agreement shall become effective as of the date set forth at the commencement hereof and shall continue in full force and effect from that date until August 1, 2012, unless changed or modified by mutual consent, and shall automatically be extended from year to year thereafter unless either party at least sixty (60) days prior to the expiration of this Agreement or any extension thereof shall serve upon the other party written notice that the same shall not be renewed at the applicable expiration date.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Article, the Company and the Union may reopen the Wage Scale, of this agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2010, and again reopen the wage scale of this agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2011 provided that neither the Company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates to be effective August 1, 2009, August 1, 2010 or August 1, 2011. This Agreement will be reopened for such purposes only if the Company or the Union actually delivers to the other, not later than July 1, 2010 or July 1, 2011, written notice of intent to reopen. Failing receipt by the Company or the Union, on the date specified, of such written notice to reopen, this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect through August 1, 2012, and the wage rates in effect as of midnight July 31, 2010, shall continue in full force and effect for the duration of the Agreement. If this Agreement is reopened in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph, and the parties have not reached an agreement by midnight July 31, 2010 or 2011 as appropriate, this Agreement shall be suspended and the Company and the Union shall have the same rights and obligations as they would have possessed had the Agreement expired, provided that neither the Company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates to be effective August 1, 2010 or August 1, 2011 as appropriate.

Service of the above notices on the Union shall be deemed sufficient by depositing the notice, signed by the Corporate Manager Labor Relations of the Company, in the United States Mail, registered or certified, and addressed to Local No. 2100, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, 10400 Dixie Highway, Louisville, Kentucky 40272.

Service of the above notices on the Company shall be deemed sufficient by depositing the notice, signed by a Business Manager of the Union, in the United States Mail, registered or certified, and addressed to the Corporate labor relations manager, E.ON U.S., LLC, 220 West Main, P.O. Box 32020, Louisville, Kentucky 40232.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, Union and Company have caused their respective names to be hereunto subscribed by their duly authorized officers and seven copies of this Agreement to be executed, each to have the force and effect of an original, this _____ day of _____, 2009.

SCHEDULE "A"

WAGE RATES, HOURLY RATED CLASSIFICATIONS EFFECTIVE JULY 19, 2009 APPLICABLE TO LOCAL UNION 2100, INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS, AFL-CIO, OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY AND OLD DOMINION POWER COMPANY.

It is agreed that wage rates and applications thereof for the several classifications of work shall be established in accordance with the following schedule.

Any new employee, upon producing evidence satisfactory to the Company of previous experience in the classification in which he is being employed shall be given credit for such experience, except that he shall not start higher than the "After One Year" step, and in such event shall receive the "After Two Years" step after one year's continuous employment. However, if after employment, he demonstrates that he has the knowledge, skill and ability equivalent to that of an employee who has had two (2) years' experience in the classification, he shall receive the "After Two Years" step beginning with the first payroll period commencing after sixty (60) days of employment.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or record of material used by the crews, shall, in addition to his regular wage, receive $15.00 per month during the first year he is so designated, $20.00 per month during the second year, and $30.00 per month thereafter as compensation for the satisfactory performance of these duties.

The following rates are applicable to all employees working normally on the day shift from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

To employees normally working on the second shift (generally 4:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight), add fifty cents (50¢) per hour to the following rates.

To employees normally working on the third shift (generally 12:00 midnight to 8:00 a.m.), and to swing and relief shift employees, add sixty-seven cents (67¢) per hour to the following rates.

Employees who have been assigned a regular schedule of work which includes work on Sunday pursuant to an approved payroll authorization specifying such schedule shall receive a Sunday work premium of ninety-five cents (95¢) per hour in addition to their straight time and shift premium rates.

A trainee in this category will be assigned to the classification for which he is training at the end of six (6) months, if he is then qualified, or, if not, as soon thereafter as he becomes qualified.
- Note 3 - Applicable to employees who have been selected for and are in training for Line or Service Technician C, only. A trainee in this category will be assigned to the classification for which he is in training at the end of six (6) months, if he is then qualified, or, if not, as he becomes qualified.
- Note 4 - New hires entering the Meter Reader classification on or after August 1, 2003 will be paid the Service Specialist wage scale.

AGREEMENT

The Kentucky Utilities Company/Old Dominion Power Company and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 2100, agree as follows:

1. On the jobs where Management and the IBEW employees in Substation Construction & Maintenance (SC&M) both agree that it would be beneficial, a four (4) days, ten (10) hours per workday schedule (four/tens) will be allowed. On such jobs, the IBEW employees' agreement will be based on a majority of the SC&M employees voting in favor of working four/tens.
2. When working four/tens, overtime will be paid for work beyond ten (10) hours in one day or forty (40) hours in one week notwithstanding the provisions of Article XII, Section 2.
3. Vacation entitlement as described in Article XI shall be converted to straight-time hours for employees working a four/tens schedule. Therefore, employees on such a schedule taking one (1) week's vacation shall receive payment for four (4) days, ten (10) hours per day.
4. Vacations shall normally be scheduled in periods of one (1) full week or more. Shorter periods of vacation will be allowed in accordance with the provisions of Article XI, Scheduling of Vacations. The wages the Company shall pay during a period of vacation of less than one (1) full work week shall be computed on the basis of a ten (10) hour day. Thus, employees on a four/tens work schedule taking periods of vacation of less than one (1) full week shall receive ten (10) hours of pay per day providing they have at least ten (10) hours of vacation entitlement remaining.
5. A four/tens schedule will not be allowed for weeks during which a Company-wide holiday is recognized.
6. Employees utilizing a floating holiday or Personal Leave Day while working a four/tens schedule shall receive eight (8) hours of straight-time pay at the applicable rate. Additionally, the employee may elect to utilize two (2) hours of vacation entitlement.
7. Employees utilizing a sick leave day while working a four/tens schedule shall receive ten (10) hours of straight-time pay at the applicable rate.
8. Employees on a four/tens schedule will be entitled to ten (10) hours of straight-time pay for each day of funeral leave entitlement.
9. It is also agreed that the Union will not process or pursue any grievance or claim that may arise from this agreement unless it involves enforcement of the terms and conditions herein.
10. This agreement is strictly non-precedential and shall not be used in any arbitration case unless the subject of the case involves enforcement of the terms and conditions herein.

MEMORANDUMS OF AGREEMENT88

LETTER OF UNDERSTANDING GREEN RIVER GENERATING STATION.....

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT entered into this 1st day of February, 2012, by and between EARLINGTON OPERATIONS, AREAS 1 (PARKWAY) AND 2 (GREEN RIVER) OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY (hereinafter called "Company") and the UNITED STEEL, PAPER AND FORESTRY, RUBBER, MANUFACTURING, ENERGY, ALLIED INDUSTRIAL AND SERVICE WORKERS INTERNATIONAL UNION (hereinafter called "Union"). Except as otherwise expressly provided herein the provisions of this Agreement shall be effective as of February 1, 2012.

ARTICLE I

PURPOSE AND INTENT

1.1 Purpose and Intent

It is the purpose and intent of the parties to set forth herein the agreement between the parties covering rates of pay, hours of work and conditions of employment for employees in the unit for which the Union has been certified by the National Labor Relations Board as exclusive bargaining representative; to promote harmonious industrial and economic relationships between the Company and its employees in an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding to the end that there shall be no interruption of, interference with, or impeding of work during the life of this Agreement, and to provide procedures for the equitable adjustment of grievances.

1.2 Periodic Meetings

Upon mutual agreement, the parties agree to meet on the reasonable request of either party at times which should be least disruptive to the Company's operations. Such meeting shall not be for the purpose of conducting collective bargaining negotiations but shall be for the sole purpose of appraising any problem which may have arisen in the application, administration or interpretation of this Agreement or of the problems of general concern to either party. Therefore, such meeting shall not modify, add to, or detract from the provisions of this Agreement. If such meeting is requested by the Company, it will pay employees for time lost.

SCOPE OF AGREEMENT

2.1 Recognition

The Company hereby recognizes the Union as exclusive representative for the purpose of collective bargaining with respect to rates of pay, wages, hours of employment and other conditions of employment for employees in its Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River), included in the unit for which the Union has been certified by the National Labor Relations Board on September 17, 1976, in Case No. 9-RC-11595, namely:

All production and maintenance employees of the Employer employed in the Employer's Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River), including servicemen, linemen, metermen, patrolmen, chief electricians, groundmen and truck drivers, but, excluding business development and home demonstration employees, right-of-way solicitors, shift engineers, line foremen A, service foremen A, line foremen B, service foremen B, the chief electricians employed at the Green River Generating Station, the chief mechanic, the coal yard foreman, the chemist, and assistant chemist, all engineering and professional employees, office clerical employees, guards and supervisors. The Term "supervisor" means any individual having authority, in the interest of the employer, to hire, transfer, suspend, lay off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward, or discipline other employees, or responsibly to direct them, or to adjust their grievances, or effectively to recommend such action, if in connection with the foregoing the exercise of such authority is not of a merely routine or clerical nature, but requires the use of independent judgment.

The Company also recognizes the Union as the collective bargaining agent for the employees of new plants built or new service areas established, whose operations are consolidated with the operations of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) and who perform the same classifications or nature of work as those employees covered by this Agreement.

The employees in such bargaining unit and represented by the Union and covered by this Agreement are hereinafter referred to as "employees" or individually as "employee."

The Union makes this Agreement in its capacity as exclusive bargaining representative of the employees. As the representative of the employees, the Union may process grievances through grievance procedure, including arbitration, in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, or adjust or settle the same.

2.2 No Discrimination

There shall be no discrimination in the administration of this Agreement with regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, disability, veteran status, or because of the exercise by an employee of his rights as a member or representative of the Union. The terms "he" or "his" as used in this Agreement shall apply to both male and female employees.

2.3 Contracting Out

It is agreed that the Company has historically from time to time contracted out work, examples of which are set forth below, which practice may continue. The Company agrees, however, that except for work historically contracted out, and work of a similar nature, it will not subcontract any work historically and principally performed by employees covered by this Agreement as a part of their normal duties if such subcontracting shall cause the reduction of schedule of employees qualified to perform the work. Such work which the Company has historically contracted out includes but is not necessarily limited to:

- Blacktopping
- Sandblasting and metal spraying
- Acid clean boilers
- Non-destructive testing (turbine equipment and boiler tubing, generators)
- Painting
- Insulating
- Tree trimming
- Conveyor belt vulcanizing
- Unloading frozen coal
- Railroad track maintenance and repair
- Large vacuum equipment, removal of fly ash, etc.
- Construction work:
 - Foundation work
 - Piping installation
 - Earth moving equipment and river dredging

Unloading and/or erecting heavy equipment
Electrical contracts (new construction)

Service Engineers:

Turbine overhaul supervision
Safety valve maintenance/repair supervision
Soot blower maintenance/repair supervision
Mobile equipment maintenance/repair

Maintenance work:

Major boiler repairs

Major condenser repairs
General maintenance at Green River
Power Station when peak work load exceeds capacity of bargaining unit personnel
Surveying
Fabrication of replacement parts at outside service shops
Motor rewinding work completed at outside service shops
Contract hauling

Service Contracts:

Elevators
Portable restroom facilities
Street lighting maintenance
Building transmission, distribution lines, substations
Pole setting
Pole inspections
Substation foundation, site preparation
Crane service, hauling heavy equipment
Substation fencing
Bus insulator cleaning
Janitorial and Custodial Work

The Company agrees that, other factors being basically equal i.e. price, availability, qualifications, etc, contractors who employ Union members will be given consideration. It is understood that this provision in no way creates 3rd party beneficiary status for any individual contractor.

2.4 No-Strike Clause

During the term of this Agreement, employees, the Union, its officers, representatives, and members shall not take part in, cause, authorize, instigate, aid, sanction, encourage, condone or ratify any strike, slow-down, sit-down, stoppage of work, boycott, picketing, or other interference with, or interruption of Company operations or the work and business of the Company. The Union and its representatives will exert every effort to cause employees covered by this Agreement who participate in any such activities to desist therefrom. Failure or refusal on the part of any employee to comply with the provisions of this Article shall be cause for appropriate disciplinary action, including suspension or discharge.

2.5 No Lock-Out Clause

During the term of this Agreement the Company will not cause or engage in any lock-out of its employees.

2.6 Restraining Orders and Injunctions

Nothing in this Article or elsewhere in this Agreement shall be deemed or construed to preclude the Company from enforcing the provisions of Section 2.4 in any court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall not be precluded by any provision of this Agreement from entertaining any such suit for violation of said Section and granting all appropriate injunctive relief. An equal right to seek judicial relief is retained by the Union should the Company, in its opinion, violate the provisions of Section 2.5.

2.7 Picket Line

Although it is a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to cooperate in maintaining a continuous and dependable public service, it shall not be a violation of this Agreement, nor cause for discharge or disciplinary action, for an employee as an individual matter to decline to cross a picket line at premises other than premises of the Company where loss of Company property or injury to the employee is threatened.

2.8 Visitation

A duly identified and authorized representative of the Union shall, upon due advance arrangement, be granted access to Company premises for the purpose of investigating problems with which he is properly concerned in the administration of this Agreement. Union activity as permitted herein does not include Union business of an internal nature which does not involve the Company.

2.9 Supervisors Working

Supervisors will not displace qualified available employees in the bargaining unit by performing work regularly performed by them. Nothing, however, shall limit the performance of bargaining unit work by personnel outside the bargaining unit of work which such personnel have previously performed and similar work, or under any of the following circumstances:

In the instruction and training of employees.

In relief, or to replace an absent employee, or to accomplish work which bargaining unit employees have been permitted to decline.

To perform work requiring skills or abilities not available among employees.

In the event of breakdowns or emergencies, or to help straighten out problems.

At locations or in crews where there are three (3) or less bargaining unit employees.

In developmental work on, or testing of, equipment, products, services, or methods.

In non-overtime situations.

By service supervisors, service managers, chief electricians, and coal yard supervisors.

2.10 Copies of Agreement

The Company shall arrange to have copies of this Agreement printed in booklet form, and the Company and the Union shall share the printing cost in proportion to the number of copies that each orders for its own use.

ARTICLE III

UNION SECURITY

3.1 Union Security

All present employees of the Company covered by this Agreement who on the date of execution of this Agreement are members of the Union and those who become members during the life of this Agreement, shall, as a condition of continued employment, remain members in good standing for the term of the Agreement to the extent of paying the periodic dues uniformly required of all Union members as a condition of retaining membership. All employees covered by this Agreement who are hired by the Company after the date of execution of this Agreement shall, as a condition of continued employment, become members of the Union at the completion of their probationary period and remain members in good standing for the term of this Agreement to the extent of paying the initiation fee and the periodic dues uniformly required of all Union members as a condition of retaining membership.

3.2 Check-Off

The Company, where so authorized and directed by the employee in writing upon an authorization form meeting all requirements of law, will deduct from the wages of such employee Union dues in the amount(s) authorized by such employee, and as specified by the International Secretary-Treasurer, on one of such forms. Such deductions of regular monthly dues for a particular month shall be made from the first pay period of the succeeding month and shall be forwarded monthly to the International Secretary-Treasurer. In the event an employee has insufficient earnings due during the first pay period of any month, then such deduction shall be made from the first pay period thereafter in which the employee has sufficient earnings from which the deduction can be made. The Company will permit a Union designated representative to be introduced to a new employee after completion of his probationary period for a brief orientation at a time when it does not interfere with the duties of either.

The Company, where so authorized and directed by the employee in writing upon an authorization form meeting all requirements of law, will deduct from the wages of such employee political action committee contributions in the amount(s) authorized by such employee on one of such forms.

3.3 Law

This Article is intended to comply with the provisions of State and Federal law, and nothing herein contained shall require the Company to take any action in violation thereof. The Union agrees to indemnify and save the Company harmless from any claims, demands, suits or other forms of liability arising out of any action taken by the Company in compliance with this Article.

ARTICLE IV MANAGEMENT

Except to the extent expressly abridged or limited by a specific provision of this Agreement, the Company reserves and retains, solely and exclusively, all of its inherent rights, functions and prerogatives of management as such rights, functions and prerogatives existed prior to the certification of the Union or the execution of this Agreement. Such rights, functions and prerogatives include, but are not limited to, the Company's right to establish, continue and change, from time to time, policies, practices and procedures for the conduct of the business; to determine products to be manufactured or sold and services to be rendered; to determine the number, location and types of its operations and the methods, processes, services and materials to be employed; to institute, change, curtail or discontinue facilities, processes, service methods, equipment, machinery, methods of production or operations; to subcontract; to assign work to employees in accordance with requirements determined by the Company; to make and enforce reasonable rules for the maintenance of discipline; to suspend, discharge or otherwise discipline employees for just cause; and otherwise to take such measures as the Company may determine to be necessary for the orderly, safe and efficient conduct of the business. Recognizing the desirability of avoiding any impediment to the exercise by the Company of its management rights, functions and prerogatives in a manner beneficial to the employees, it is agreed that no such right, function or prerogative shall be limited by any practice or course of conduct or otherwise than by the express provisions of this Agreement.

5.1 Normal Work Schedule

A. Except for employees at the Green River Power Station, the normal work schedule for full time employees will consist of five (5) consecutive days of eight (8) consecutive hours of work (interrupted only by an unpaid lunch break) Monday through Friday. The normal work schedule for full time employees at Green River Power Station will be as agreed to in negotiations and as in effect on the date of execution of this Agreement. Although the Company reserves the right to change such schedules, it agrees that if the changed schedule is permanent and will thereafter become the employee's regular schedule, the Company will notify the Union of its intention and afford the Union an opportunity to present its views before finally making its decision.

B. The anticipated schedule of working hours for the coming week for employees such as relief personnel who are not on a fixed schedule shall be posted no later than the end of day shift on Wednesday of each week.

C. "Workweek", as used in this Agreement, means seven consecutive days starting at 12:00 midnight on Saturday night and ending at 12:00 midnight on the following Saturday night. For employees at the Green River Power Station, workweek means seven consecutive days, starting at 6:00 am Monday and ending at 6:00 am on the following Monday.

D. This section provides for the normal scheduling pattern and shall not be construed as a guarantee of hours of work per day or per week or of days of work per week, nor a limitation on the scheduling of work per day or per week (including overtime).

E. In the event of a temporary change (not to exceed two (2) consecutive days) in an employee's schedule due to training or line switching, employees will be permitted to work until the end of the employee's normal shift if the employee reports to his regular work station for work in appropriate dress, however, this provision shall not apply when an employee is required to be away from his normal work station overnight.

5.2 Sufficient Rest Time/Balance of Shift

When in the opinion of the Company, an employee has worked such an extended period of time as to impair his effectiveness or present a hazard to his health or safety, or to the health and safety of fellow employees, he may be required by the Company to leave work for a rest period of up to eight (8) hours. After sixteen (16) continuous hours worked an employee may request and will be granted a minimum rest period of eight (8) hours. Such rest period shall be taken in its entirety unless the employee is requested and agrees to return to work before the expiration of such eight (8) hour rest period. If such rest period overlaps the employee's regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day, the employee shall be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours which overlap unless the rest period was initiated by the employee in accordance with this Section. If the rest period ends within two (2) hours or less of the end of the employee's regularly scheduled shift, the employee may either return to work at his regular hourly rate of pay or not return to work and forfeit the remaining hours in his shift.

5.3 Lunch Period

Employees at Green River Power Station on continuous shift operations will be allowed a paid lunch break during their shift. Other employees at Green River Power Station will receive an unpaid thirty (30) minute lunch break near the midpoint of their shift. Other employees will receive an unpaid lunch break near the midpoint of their shift.

5.4 Wash Up Time

Nonoperating employees at the Green River Power Station will be allowed a five (5) minute wash up period just prior to their lunch break and a fifteen (15) minute clean-up period (tools and locker room) just prior to the end of their shift. However, this provision shall not be interpreted to permit employees to leave Company premises until the designated shift time is terminated.

5.5 Daylight Saving Time

An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made to Daylight Saving Time (normally in the spring) and who only actually works seven (7) hours instead of his normal eight (8) because of the change shall receive pay for his normal eight (8) hours. An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made from Daylight Saving Time (normally in the fall) and who actually works nine (9) hours because of the change, shall receive pay at the established premium rate for the ninth (9th) hour.

5.6 Continuation of Regular Shift Duties

Should an employee complete his regular shift of duty and be assigned to double shift or part shift, he will still be allowed to continue his regular shift of duties during any work week.

5.7 Reporting Time

An employee who is scheduled or notified to report for work on a regular shift and does report for work at the time specified without having been given actual notice of change of schedule, shall receive full pay at his regular rate for his scheduled (non-overtime) hours on that day, even though idle or sent home early because of delay or shortage of materials or for other reasons beyond his control. This provision shall not apply in the event that:

- (a) Strikes or work stoppages by employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement in connection with labor disputes, interfere with the conduct of normal operations; or

(b) An employee is not put to work or is released from work after having been put to work either at his own request or due to his own fault.

5.8 Emergency Call-Out

A. When an employee is called out to work, or voluntarily reports for and is allowed to work an emergency outside of his regularly established work schedule, he shall be paid a minimum of four (4) hours at the applicable overtime rate, even if the employee actually works less than four (4) hours. However, if an employee completes his work and is called out to work again before the four (4) hour minimum time has expired, he will not be entitled to another minimum four (4) hours pay for the second call out, but will be paid for the additional time actually worked beyond the four (4) hours minimum from the first call out.

B. This provision shall not apply to an employee who is notified prior to leaving the work area to report early, or if the work is a continuation of his regular shift.

C. Maintenance employees at the Green River Power Station who are called into work less than four (4) hours prior to their normally scheduled start time will be paid only for the hours actually worked outside their normal schedule at one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate. Employees at the work site prior to their start time who are requested to begin work early will only be paid one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate for those actual hours worked outside their normal schedule.

5.9 Planned Overtime

For planned overtime work by an employee on his scheduled day off, he will receive a minimum of four (4) hours' pay at one and one-half (1-1/2) times his straight time base hourly rate of pay, or his applicable rate including shift or other premium, if any.

5.10 Standby Pay

The Company agrees that, due to the current satisfactory responsiveness of employees in this union to call-outs, there will be no initial implementation of this provision, unless the employees in one or more of the areas described below voluntarily request to implement weekly Standby in their Area. If implemented, each Area may determine their own system of determining their Standby person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload.

Should the responsiveness of employees in any area become unsatisfactory, the Company reserves the right to implement this provision in the affected area. If the Company implements this weekly Standby, each Area will determine their own system of determining their Standby person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload.

Any standby system developed will be done through the union.

Within the workgroups where the Company is implementing standby in accordance with the second paragraph, the Company reserves the right to assign the standby person, if the union fails to develop an acceptable system within a reasonable time.

The potential Areas in Distribution Operations to be staffed with a weekly Standby person are as follows:

- Barlow
- Eddyville
- Morganfield/Sebree
- Earlington/Dawson Springs
- Greenville

Each employee who serves in a weekly Standby status, in exchange for agreeing to remain available and fit to respond to call outs during the week, will be paid eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per week. If an employee works on service calls outside his normal scheduled workday during his Standby week, he will be paid for such time worked in accordance with Article VI-Overtime.

If an employee is assigned in a Standby status for less than one (1) week, he will be paid one (1) hour's pay at his appropriate overtime rate in addition to time spent on any service calls for each day he serves in a Standby status for service calls.

5.11 Emergency electric restoration for another utility

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid one and one half (1 ½) times his hourly rate for the first eight (8) hours worked in any one day and two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) in any one day. However, if that company's overtime pay practice would provide more wages, then the employee will receive the greater of the two.

ARTICLE VI

OVERTIME

6.1 Purpose

This Article provides the basis for the calculation of, and payment for, daily or weekly overtime hours and shall not be construed as a guarantee of hours of work per day or per week or of days of work per week, nor a limitation on the scheduling of hours of work per day or per week (including overtime). Overtime pay shall be computed including shift differential, if any, and/or any other regular hourly payments, unless otherwise noted.

6.2 Overtime Pay

A. An employee shall be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's regular base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments:

- 1) For work performed in excess of forty (40) hours in any one workweek.
- 2) For employees scheduled eight (8) hours per day, for work performed in excess of eight (8) hours in any normal twenty-four (24) hour workday except (a) if it is a change made through the exercise of Seniority rights (such as bidding, bumping, shift preference, etc.), or (b) in the case of the change of employees on continuous shifts from one schedule or shift to another.
- 3) For all continuous hours worked after the end of the employee's last previous regular shift by an employee during periods which commence more than eight (8) hours prior to the employee's next regularly scheduled starting time and continue into his regular hours on a regularly scheduled workday if the employee completes his regular shift on such workday. During the continuation of an emergency situation as determined by the Company, for pay purposes the continuity of the employee's work shall not be considered to be broken by short breaks for meals, refreshments, or rest periods authorized by his supervisor.
- 4) For work performed on the sixth day worked in the workweek and on the seventh day worked in the workweek, provided the employee works each of his scheduled workdays (excluding days on layoff) in the workweek or his absence (a) resulted from inability to work because of his illness or the illness of his spouse or child, when such case is substantiated by a doctor's certificate if requested by the Company, or (b) was time paid for but not worked under the provisions of this Agreement, or (c) was excused in advance for Union business.
- 5) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 6.2(2)(a), an employee in the operating groups at the Green River Power Station who is required by the Company to work sixteen (16) consecutive hours to facilitate shift preference change, the last eight (8) consecutive hours shall be compensated at applicable overtime rates. This provision shall not apply when an employee elects to change shifts resulting in the employee working sixteen (16) consecutive hours.

- 6) For employees in Maintenance at the Green River Power Station who are required to work preventative maintenance during non-outage situations will be paid one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate for all hours worked outside their normal shift.

B. An employee shall be paid at the rate of two (2) times the employee's regular base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments:

- (1) For work performed in excess of sixteen (16) continuous hours.
- (2) For work performed by an employee who is required to work on his last consecutive off day, provided he worked at least four (4) hours on his previous off day.

6.3 Non-Duplication

No overtime or premium pay will be pyramided or duplicated. In the event that overtime or premium pay is applicable to the same hours worked under any two or more provisions of this Agreement, only the single highest premium payment required under any provision shall be paid, and hours that are paid for at overtime or premium rates under one provision of this Agreement shall not be considered as hours worked for the purpose of computing overtime work under another provision (unless specifically provided in any case).

6.4 Cooperation

Recognizing that the nature of the Company's operations requires overtime from time to time, it is agreed that performing overtime work, daily or weekly when needed, constitutes a part of the duties and responsibilities of an employee's job.

6.5 Overtime Distribution

For employees at Green River Power Station other than those in Operations Groups (covered by §6.6 of this contract) and at locations other than Green River, the following will apply:

1. Subject to the requirement that an employee assigned overtime must be qualified to perform the work, when the Company assigns overtime to bargaining unit employees, it will be distributed equitably, averaged over a reasonable period of time, among employees permanently assigned to the classification at the location at which the overtime is assigned, provided such employees are available. (In the event qualified employees are not available or are permitted to decline such overtime, it may be assigned to such person and in such manner as the Company shall determine.)
2. At the end of each two (2) week period, an overtime list for each overtime group will be posted at that group's location.
3. An employee will be charged with any overtime he is permitted to decline and with any overtime that he would have been offered or assigned during periods when the Company honors his request that he not be offered or assigned overtime unless necessary.
4. Except for absent members of crews who are called to work overtime an employee will not be charged with overtime when he cannot be contacted. An employee who is absent for more than five (5) weeks will return with an amount of overtime equal to the average amount of other employees in his classification at the location.
5. An employee will be charged with overtime as set forth above among employees permanently assigned to his regular classification whether then working in or out of his regular classification.

6. It shall be the responsibility of an employee to bring any substantially adverse distribution of overtime to him (under normal circumstances, more than twenty-four (24) hours less than the amount charged to any employee in his classification at the location) to the attention of his supervisor, and after it is brought to his supervisor's attention, the Company shall correct any such inequality by the future assignment of overtime not later than the next reasonable opportunity for which the employee is available should he have accrued the least amount of overtime credit and otherwise to the available qualified employee who then has accrued the least amount.

7. Notwithstanding the provisions of Paragraphs 1 and 5 above, with respect to maintenance work at Green River only when the Company assigns overtime mandatorily, the Company will assign the work to the qualified available employee (including any relief operators then working maintenance) with the least amount of overtime actually worked. For the purposes of assignment of maintenance overtime, in determining the amount of overtime worked by a relief operator, overtime worked both in maintenance and as an operator shall be considered.

8. Whenever an employee performs work in excess of 2 hours beyond his normal quitting time of his normal scheduled shift, the Company will furnish or pay for the employee's meal, or meals, required during such hours of work.

9. When an employee successfully bids into a classification he or she will be charged the same overtime hours as that of the employee in the new classification with the most overtime hours. Overtime hours will not change when employees are reclassified to a higher rated position, as referenced in Section 15.2(G).

10. Overtime paid for safety meetings, meals, and other events sponsored by the Company will not be counted as part of the total overtime, i.e., hours paid but not actually worked.

11. The overtime lists for all overtime groups will start with each employee at zero at the start of the pay period nearest the first of January.

6.6 Green River Power Station Operating Groups Overtime Work

I. General Information

1. Each time an operator is offered an overtime shift, it will be the responsibility of the Shift Supervisor on duty to see that all designated information is entered in the Overtime Log Book.
2. At the end of each one (1) week period, an overtime list will be posted on the Operator's Bulletin Board, grouped according to classification. In each classification, operators will be listed according to total overtime hours, with operator at the top having the least amount of total overtime hours. Total overtime hours will include hours worked plus hours rejected (with exceptions as noted later). Where a tie exists, the listing will be according to seniority. Operators may volunteer to be excluded from being offered overtime assignments. However, they remain obligated to work forced overtime assignments.
3. Any operator on vacation, holiday, union business, off sick or on STD will not be offered overtime and his or her total overtime will remain unchanged. However, an employee who is absent for more than five (5) weeks will return with an amount of overtime equal to the average amount of other employees in his or her classification.
4. In no case should an operator work more than sixteen (16) consecutive hours, unless an emergency exists.
5. The Shift Supervisor on duty has the responsibility of seeing that the layover operator is furnished necessary meal or meals. The layover operator has the option of furnishing his or her own meals and receiving one hour extra pay if the layover shift is 8-4, or one-half hour extra pay for the 4-12 or 12-8 shift. Overtime operators will furnish their own meals unless the overtime results in double shift, in which case the same rules apply as for a layover. If a layover operator chooses a meal instead of an extra one-half hour overtime pay then the Shift Supervisor should call a local restaurant for a pick-up meal. If operating conditions permit, the Shift Supervisor will allow the layover operator to pick up his or her meal when ready. If, in the opinion of the Shift Supervisor, the layover operator should not leave, then the Shift Supervisor will designate someone else to pickup the meal for him or her. A Company truck will normally be available. If the layover operator is on a special diet that cannot be obtained at a local restaurant, then the Shift Supervisor should, if at all possible, allow him or her to pick up a meal at home (in this case, he or she will not be allowed extra pay for his or her meal).

6. When an operator is promoted, he or she will be charged the same overtime hours as that of the operator in the new classification with the most total overtime hours.
7. Any operator working with Maintenance personnel may be requested from time to time to work overtime. This will be charged to the operator as overtime worked or rejected.
8. The overtime list will start with each operator at zero at the start of the pay period near the first of January as referenced in Article XXV, Section A.
9. Overtime paid for safety meetings, meals, and other events sponsored by the Company will not be counted as part of the total overtime, i.e., hours paid but not actually worked.
10. Should an operator be offered an overtime shift which would give him or her a double shift and he or she had worked a double shift the day before, the operator may reject the second double shift without it adding to his or her total overtime hours.

II. Overtime Assignments

The following steps will be taken when an operator is needed on an overtime basis.

A. Scheduled Procedure, Full or Partial Shifts

When the Company has at least eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin the overtime will be treated as scheduled.

Operators will be offered the overtime beginning with the senior operator in the job classification required who has the least amount of total overtime. From this point until eight (8) hours before the overtime shift starts, one (1) call will be made before calling the next operator.

In the event that an operator is to be offered an additional overtime shift(s) in the same classification and on the same shift as one that the shift supervisor was unable to reach him or her for, then one call to that operator will be made for each additional shift(s) before calling the next operator.

If no operator is obtained in the job classification required then the Company will go to the next higher Bargaining Unit classification(s) and proceed as per this section.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure and at least one call has been made to each available Bargaining Unit operator, the operator on duty in the job classification required, with the least amount of overtime actually worked will layover and he or she will not be charged with the previous rejection.

It is recognized that there may be times when the operator on duty with the least amount of worked overtime is physically unable to perform his or her duties for an additional shift. In this case the next operator on duty in the job classification required with the second least amount of worked overtime will layover. If all operators in the job classification required are physically unable to perform, the Company will go to the next higher classification(s) and proceed as per this section beginning with the operator on duty in that classification with the least amount of worked overtime.

When the Company finds it necessary to call-in an operator for less than eight (8) hours it will be considered as a call-in, partial shift. The operators in the job classification required working the next shift will be called beginning with the senior operator who has the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained using this procedure, the overtime selection will follow the Call-in Procedure.

B. Layover Procedure

When the Company has less than eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin the overtime will be treated as a layover.

The operators on duty in the job classification required will be offered the overtime beginning with the senior operator who has the least amount of total overtime.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure the overtime selection will follow the Call-In Procedure.

C. Call-In Procedure

When the Company has less than eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin and the Layover Procedure (for that particular job classification) is exhausted the overtime will be treated as a call-in.

The operators in the job classification required will be offered the overtime shift beginning with the operator who is on top of the list established in 6.6.2. One (1) call will be made before calling the next operator.

If no operator is obtained by the Call-In Procedure (for that particular job classification), the Company will go to the next higher Bargaining Unit Classification(s) and proceed as per the Layover Procedure. Operators who volunteer to be excluded from being offered overtime assignments will not be called, but will be charged with a reject.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure and at least one call has been made to each available Bargaining Unit Operator, the operator on duty in the job classification required, with the least amount of overtime actually worked per the list established in 6.6.2, will layover and he or she will not be charged with the previous rejection.

It is recognized that there may be times when the operator on duty with the least amount of worked overtime is physically unable to perform his or her duties for an additional shift. In this case the next operator on duty in the job classification required with the second least amount of worked overtime will layover. If all operators in the job classification required are physically unable to perform, the Company will go to the next higher classification(s) and proceed as per this section beginning with the operator on duty in that classification with the least amount of worked overtime.

ARTICLE VII

HOLIDAYS

7.1 Holidays

A. The following will be considered holidays for the purposes of this Agreement:

New Years Day
Good Friday
Memorial Day
Fourth of July
Labor Day
Thanksgiving Day
Friday after Thanksgiving
Christmas Eve
Christmas Day

2 Floating Holidays are available during the calendar year for current employees. During the first year of employment floating holidays will be pro-rated according to the following schedule:

- Hired before July 1, employees will receive 16 hours Floating Holiday
- Hired between July 1 and October 31, employees will receive 8 hours Floating Holiday
- For those hired on or after November 1, employees will not be eligible for their floating holidays until January 1 of the following year.

B. Floating holidays will be taken in each calendar year on a day mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company.

C. For employees scheduled Monday through Friday, if one of the above designated holidays falls on a Saturday, it shall be recognized on the preceding Friday (except that when Christmas Day falls on a Saturday, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day shall be recognized on the preceding Thursday and Friday), and if one of the above designated holidays falls on a Sunday, it shall be recognized on the following Monday (except that when Christmas Eve falls on a Sunday, it shall be recognized on the preceding Friday).

For employees scheduled other than Monday through Friday, (including employees who alternately work Monday through Friday and Tuesday through Saturday schedules), when a holiday falls on an off day, it shall be recognized on the next regularly scheduled day of work except in the case of two consecutive holidays such as Thanksgiving Day and Friday after

Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, in which the following procedure shall apply:

If both holidays fall on an employee's off days, the first holiday shall be recognized on his last regularly scheduled day of work preceding the holidays, and the second holiday shall be recognized on the first regularly scheduled day of work immediately following the holidays. If the employee is scheduled off on only one of the holidays, then (a) if he is scheduled to work the first holiday, the second holiday shall be recognized on his first regularly scheduled day of work following the holidays, and (b) if the employee is scheduled to work the second holiday, then the first holiday shall be recognized on his last regularly scheduled day of work immediately preceding the holidays.

In all cases, if an employee is regularly scheduled to work on one of the above designated holidays, the holiday shall be recognized on that day.

7.2 Holiday Work

A. An employee who is required by the Company to work on a holiday will be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's normal straight time hourly rate (including regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments), for the first eight (8) hours worked, in addition to holiday pay, if the employee is entitled to holiday pay as such, or in lieu thereof, such employee may work at his normal straight time hourly rate (including regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments) on the holiday and be absent with holiday pay on another mutually agreed upon day. No additional holiday may be accumulated until such holiday is utilized except with prior consent of the Company. An employee will be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) on a holiday.

B. Notwithstanding the foregoing Paragraph A, employees who are regularly scheduled to work in six (6) or seven (7) consecutive day periods and who are required to work on a holiday may accumulate and "bank" up to two (2) holidays to be used in conjunction with regularly scheduled vacations or at other times mutually agreed upon in advance, which "banked" holidays, (1) may be carried forward into the next succeeding calendar year and (2) will not affect such an employee's option as set forth in Paragraph A with respect to a subsequent holiday while he has such two holidays "banked". If, however, while such an employee has two holidays "banked", he elects to be absent without pay on another holiday in lieu of receiving pay for working on such day, then such third accumulated holiday must be utilized prior to the next holiday.

7.3 Eligibility

A. To be eligible to receive holiday pay an employee must have worked in the workweek in which the celebrated holiday falls, or be on paid sick leave for such week unless (a) his absence resulted from inability to work by reason of illness or injury, for which he is not compensated, verified by a doctor's certificate if requested by the Company, or (b) he was on paid vacation during such week, or (c) he was on leave for union business during such week, in any of which cases, he must have worked either in the week immediately preceding or the four (4) weeks immediately following the workweek in which the celebrated holiday falls.

B. If an employee is scheduled to work on any holiday recognized herein and fails to report or perform his scheduled work, he shall become ineligible for pay for the unworked holiday unless he has failed to report or perform such work because of sickness or because of death in the immediate family or for comparable good cause.

7.4 Holiday During Vacation

When such a holiday for which an employee is eligible for holiday pay occurs during an employee's vacation, the employee will be granted an extra day vacation time.

7.5 Holiday During Sick Leave

When a holiday for which an employee is eligible for holiday pay occurs on a day for which an employee would otherwise receive sick pay under the Company's program, he will receive the holiday pay and no charge will be made against his paid sick leave days.

ARTICLE VIII

VACATIONS

8.1 Amount of Vacation

Effective January 1, 2000, eligible employees will earn vacation from date of hire based on years of service in accordance with the following schedule:

Vacation Earned	Completed Years of Service Attained During Calendar Year
5 days	Maximum in year of hire
10 days	Years 1-4
15 days	Years 5-14
20 days	Years 15-24
25 days	Years 25 and above

Such employees on a forty (40) hour workweek shall be paid the equivalent of forty (40) hours at their straight time hourly base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments, for each week of vacation. Such employees who normally work more than twenty (20) but less than forty (40) hours per week (a part-time employee, should such be included in the bargaining unit during the life of this Agreement) shall be eligible for one-half the normal vacation entitlement (earned/accrued).

8.2 Eligibility

A. To qualify for vacation in the following year, an employee must be active on the payroll as of December 31. An exception to this requirement applies to those employees who are on approved Family and Medical Leave. A full-time employee to be eligible for a vacation must have worked not less than twelve hundred forty-eight (1248) hours during the twelve (12) months next proceeding the date he first becomes eligible to take such vacation. A part-time employee to be eligible for a vacation must have worked at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the number of hours an employee on his weekly schedule would work in a year. For purposes of this Section 8.2, in calculating the number of hours worked, there shall be included his normal workday for days for which he is absent but for which he is paid vacation pay, holiday pay, paid sick leave, short term disability, funeral leave, jury duty, military leave or workers' compensation supplement.

B. An employee reinstated from inactive status shall become eligible for vacation based on his or her anniversary date:

- An employee returning to work from January 1 through June 30 is eligible for earned vacation during the calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay.

- An employee returning to work on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the calendar year.

C. Employees hired directly by the Company to fill temporary positions (not hired as temporaries through contractors) who later become regular employees of the Company are eligible for vacation accrual retroactive to the beginning of their temporary employment with the Company.

D. An employee hired between January 1 and June 30 is eligible for 5 days of vacation during that calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay. An employee hired on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the initial calendar year of employment. After the initial calendar year of employment, an employee can take vacation effective January 1 or upon three (3) continuous months of active service, whichever is later, based upon the above schedule.

E. Employees who are rehired accrue vacation at the same rate as when they left employment if they were employed for one year of continuous service prior to separation and if the separation was for one year or less.

8.3 Scheduling of Vacations

A. An employee's vacation will, to the extent reasonably practicable, be granted at the time most desired by the employee in order of Seniority among those employees with whom his vacation must be coordinated, but the final right to schedule vacation is reserved to the Company in order to assure efficient operations.

B. Vacations will be taken at least one workweek at a time except (1) with the consent of the Company, or (2) an excused absence for legitimate reasons may, at the request of the employee, be charged against any vacation to which he is then entitled.

C. Relief operators at the Green River Generating Station not on a fixed schedule who schedule five (5) consecutive days off on Monday through Friday shall be guaranteed the Saturday and Sunday before and after such days off as off days, for a total of nine (9) days.

8.4 Accumulating Vacations

Vacation time may not be accumulated from one year to the next, and vacations earned as of any January 1 must be liquidated by time off by December 31 of that same year, except that with prior notification to the responsible manager, an employee may defer up to five days of vacation to the following calendar year.

8.5 Vacation Pay at Separation

An employee who quits, dies, retires or is discharged on or after any January 1 and without having received the vacation for which he became eligible upon such date, will be entitled to his vacation pay upon termination of employment. Any such payment due an employee who has died shall be made to the person designated as beneficiary on his group life coverage, if living, otherwise to the employee's estate. No employee leaving the employment of the Company during any calendar year shall be entitled to any vacation pay in the following year.

8.6 Pay in Lieu of Vacation

An employee with at least four weeks of vacation eligibility (including carry-over) may “sell back” one week of vacation after they have taken two weeks of vacation and carried over one week. Payout for such a week of worked vacation will occur in February of the following year.

8.7 Vacation During Illness, Disability, or Personal Leave of Absence

A. If an employee goes on paid sick leave or becomes unable to work because of compensable occupational injury prior to the time his vacation is scheduled to commence, his vacation will be rescheduled later in the year, except that an employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, at his option, cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay and take his vacation as previously scheduled. The vacation of an employee who becomes ill or is injured after working his last shift prior to vacation will not be rescheduled, and he will not be eligible for any sick pay until such scheduled vacation has expired. However, at the sole discretion of the Company, vacation may be restored to an employee and rescheduled at a later date.

B. An employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, upon advance written request, elect at the end of the calendar year to cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay for any unused vacation period in order to avoid loss of vacation pay. An employee disabled as the result of a compensable occupational injury or who is receiving long term disability insurance payments at the end of a vacation year and is unable to work during any unused vacation period as provided in Section 8.6, will not receive pay for the vacation not taken, except as provided in Section 8.7C.

C. In the year in which an employee incurs an occupational injury or illness, after the application of Section 8.4, the employee shall receive payment for any remaining unused vacation in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between what the employee received from workers' compensation insurance or Short Term Disability pay and the employee's regular straight time wages assuming a 40-hour work week.

D. An employee will earn vacation during approved personal leaves of absence on a prorated basis as follows:

- an employee on a PLOA of one full month to three full months will earn 75 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule; and
- an employee on a PLOA of four to six months will earn 50 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule.

8.8 Vacation at Retirement

Any employee who retires may elect to work during all weeks of any vacation to which he may be entitled in the year of retirement, and for each such week of vacation worked, shall receive with his final payroll check additional compensation in an amount computed on the same basis as is then employed in computing the compensation paid to other employees who work during one week of their vacation under Section 8.6 above.

ARTICLE IX

SENIORITY

9.1 Seniority Recognition

In cases of filling permanent vacancies, decrease of force and recalls from layoff, consideration shall be given to length of continuous service, all as specifically set forth in various sections of this Agreement dealing with such events.

9.2 Definitions

A. Bargaining Unit Seniority

For all purposes of this Agreement, an employee's bargaining unit seniority ("Seniority") shall date from his first day of work following his employment with the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) of the Company or his last reemployment if his continuous service has been broken. An employee of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) in the bargaining unit on the effective date of the first contract shall have Seniority equal to his continuous service with the Company in any of its regions in any position. Any employee of the Company who accepts transfer into the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement following the effective date of the first contract shall retain his previous Company service for computing vacation, pension and insurance benefits but shall be considered as a new employee for all other purposes of this Agreement.

B. Qualified

Wherever used in this Agreement "qualified" shall mean that the employee has the ability to perform the required duties of the job on a regular basis under the degree of supervision normally given to employees in the job and to perform those duties safely and efficiently.

9.3 Seniority List

A seniority list showing the Seniority of each employee was posted under the Collective Bargaining Agreement effective October 9, 1977. The Company will revise such list from time to time as necessary for it to be kept current. It shall be the responsibility of the employees to bring any error to the attention of the Company, with a copy to the Unit Secretary.

9.4 Probationary Employees

A newly hired employee (or an employee rehired after loss of Seniority) will be considered a probationary employee and will not accrue any Seniority until he has actually worked at least forty (40) days. In exceptional cases, the Company shall have the right, upon notice to the Union, to extend the probationary period for an additional period not to exceed twenty (20) days actually worked. During the employee's probationary period the Company may terminate the employee with or without cause and such termination shall not be subject to review in the grievance or arbitration procedure. During the probationary period, the Company may from time to time transfer a probationary employee or assign various duties for the purpose of determining his suitability for permanent employment. Upon satisfactory completion of his probationary period, an employee will be credited with Seniority in accordance with Section 9.2(A).

9.5 Termination of Seniority

An employee shall lose all Seniority with the Company and all rights under this Agreement (except for previously accrued pension and insurance benefits, if any, to the extent specifically provided elsewhere) upon the occurrence of any of the following:

- (A) Resignation or quit by the employee for any reason
- (B) Discharge for just cause
- (C) Layoff for twelve (12) consecutive months, or the length of the employee's Seniority, if more at the start of his layoff, to a maximum of three (3) years
- (D) Absence for two (2) consecutive working days without having notified the Company unless impossible to do so, and furnished a satisfactory explanation within such period
- (E) Fails to notify the Company of his intention to return to work from layoff within ten (10) days (Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excepted) after mailing of notification by registered or certified mail (return receipt requested) to the last address shown on the Company records (and copies of said notice having also been given to the Union) or fails, without reasonable excuse, to report for work at the time designated in the notice

- (F) Failure to return to work from absence due to sickness or injury within twelve (12) months after the last day of active employment, or the length of the employee's Seniority, if more at the time his absence commences, to a maximum of three (3) years; provided, that the Seniority of any employee with two (2) years Seniority or more at the time such an absence commences shall not terminate for so long as he (1) receives sick pay under the Company's sick pay plan, or (2) receives regular periodic payments under the Company's long term disability insurance program. If the job he held at the time the absence commenced has been permanently filled during his absence or is otherwise no longer available, for the purpose of reclaiming his job or in selecting another job in the manner as if he had been laid off from his old job at the time of his return as provided in Section 10.1, such an employee shall not be considered to have continued to accrue Seniority during the period of his absence in excess of three (3) years
- (G) Acceptance of wages or other compensation for services rendered for others, or accrual of income from self-employment, (other than earnings the employee would have received even if he had not lost time from work, such as from his farm, etc.) during leave of absence unless such payment was from the Union or was authorized in writing by the Company in advance
- (H) Failure to return at or prior to the expiration of a leave of absence, if possible, or failure to notify the Company of his inability to return if such notification is possible.
- (I) Transfer out of the bargaining unit as provided in Article XIX
- (J) Transfer out of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River)
- (K) Absence for a period in excess of that provided in Section 16.6 relating to pregnancy
- (L) Retirement
- (M) Death provided, however, nothing in this Section 9.5 shall operate to deprive any employee, or his heirs, whose Seniority is terminated by reason of his retirement or death, of benefits, if any, accrued prior to such retirement or death.

9.6 Compensable Disability

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 9.5(F), the Seniority of any employee covered by this Agreement shall not be broken so long as he receives regular periodic payments under Workers' Compensation for disability incurred during the course of his employment with the Company which prevents his return to work. If the job he held at the time the absence commenced has been permanently filled during his absence or is otherwise no longer available, for the purpose of reclaiming his job or in selecting another job in the manner as if he had been laid off from his old job at the time of his return as provided in Section 10.1, such an employee with five (5) years of Seniority or more at the time his absence commences shall continue to accrue Seniority during the entire period of such absence, but an employee with less than five (5) years Seniority at the time his absence commences shall not be considered to have continued to accrue Seniority during the period of his absence in excess of three (3) years.

9.7 Identical Hiring Dates

When two (2) or more employees in the bargaining unit have identical hiring dates or dates of transfer into the bargaining unit, Seniority shall be awarded in the alphabetical order of the spelling of their names, surnames listed first.

9.8 Temporary Employees

Temporary employees shall have the same status as Probationary Employees for the full duration of their temporary employment and shall accrue no Seniority of any kind. "Temporary Employees" shall be:

- A. Those who are hired on jobs at or below the General Laborer classification for an agreed and limited period of time (not more than ninety (90) days) in order to fill temporary needs for additional personnel resulting from absence of regular employees by reason of vacations, sickness or other cause; or

- B. Part-time help such as grass-cutters at various locations in the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) who do not regularly work more than twenty-four (24) hours per week; or

- C. Employees of other companies (customers of Kentucky Utilities Company) whose only function shall be to operate switches at Sub-Stations and other remote locations. However, it is specifically understood and agreed that the operation of Company owned switches will be the work of employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement should it be necessary to call someone out at night to perform such function.

Should the status of a Temporary Employee be changed to that of a permanent employee in the bargaining unit, his Seniority shall date from the date of such change of status, except that the date from which the employee has continuously worked a regular schedule of at least twenty (20) hours each week will be considered as the date of employment for the purposes of determining vacation. However, no sick leave days will be accrued to any employee's account for the time worked as a temporary employee.

ARTICLE X

REDUCTION AND RESTORATION OF FORCES

10.1 Permanent Layoff

The following procedure shall be followed in a reduction of forces:

- (A) If the number of employees in a particular classification at a location is to be reduced, but some retained, employees will be reduced, in inverse order of Seniority, provided that the remaining employees are qualified for the work to be performed.

- (B) A surplus employee may upon reduction displace an employee holding a job:

- (1) for which he is qualified, and
 - (2) which is at the same or lower rate than the job as to which he is surplus (except that an employee may return to a higher classification formerly held), and
 - (3) which is either (a) held by an employee with less Seniority at the surplus employee's location or at any location close enough to his residence so he can meet his normal work schedule and such emergency call-out requirements as are inherent in the job (it being specifically agreed that, except with the consent of the Company, members of service organizations must live in the service area served), or (b) held by an employee with the least Seniority in a classification at any other location in the bargaining unit with the understanding that to do so would require a change of residence, or accept layoff in lieu thereof.

- (C) Should the surplus employee not have previously qualified on the job he chooses under the above procedure, no training time will be allowed. However, such employee shall be oriented in the job requirements and will be given up to maximum of five (5) working days to display his qualifications, or lack thereof, should there be good cause to believe he can perform the work on the job satisfactorily due to knowledge and skills developed on other jobs with the Company.

10.2 Rates on Demotion

When an employee is demoted in a reduction of forces, he will be paid at the lower of (a) the top of the rate range of the job to which he has been demoted or (b) the rate that he was being paid on the job from which he was demoted.

10.3 Notice of Recall

Recall of an employee after a layoff shall be in writing and mailed to the employee's last known address by certified or registered mail as it appears on the Company's records. If an employee on layoff changes his address, he must notify the Company in writing by certified or registered mail with a copy of said notice being mailed to the local Union.

10.4 Restoration of Forces

(A) In the restoration of forces, employees shall be recalled in order of Seniority to the jobs they held before the reduction of forces (if available) or to other jobs they have previously held or for which they are otherwise qualified, provided that the employees recalled must be qualified for the work to be performed.

(B) Should the Company decide to recall an unqualified employee to attempt to train for a vacancy, it will give preference to the senior employee on layoff whose prior experience, work record, skill and ability, and demonstrated physical and mental capacities indicate that he is capable of becoming qualified within a reasonable period.

10.5 Notification of Layoff

When a reduction in working force becomes necessary and employees are to be reduced in classification or laid off, the concerned employees and the Union shall be given not less than forty-eight (48) hours' notice unless an emergency condition beyond the control of the Company makes such notice impossible.

10.6 Retention of Officers and Committee

The Unit President, Unit Secretary and Unit Grievors (should the Unit Griever remain in the geographic area he represents), will not be released from active employment in a reduction of force as long as work for which they are qualified to perform is available in the bargaining unit.

EMPLOYMENT FOR HANDICAPPED EMPLOYEE

- A. Notwithstanding the Seniority provisions of this Agreement, the Company and the Union may mutually agree to fill a vacancy of any length by assignment of an employee during the time he is handicapped, recuperating from any accident or illness or otherwise is unable to perform the duties of his regular job but is qualified to perform the needed work.
- B. An employee, who is injured or acquires a work-related illness in the course of his employment and made subject to the provisions of the Kentucky Workers' Compensation laws and as a result thereof loses his ability to return to his regular job, may use his Seniority to displace a junior employee on any equal or lower rated job (provided he is released by the Company doctor to perform the duties of this job) in the same manner and with the same effect as if he had been released for lack of work under the provisions of Section 10.1 of this Agreement.

ARTICLE XII

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

It is agreed that any employee may discuss any problem or complaint with his supervisor on an informal basis, with or without the presence of his Grievance Committeeman or Steward and without resort to the grievance procedure.

12.1 Grievance Procedure

Any difference arising as to the application or interpretation of the provisions of this Agreement shall constitute a grievance and shall be settled in the following manner:

Step 1

A. An employee who has a grievance shall present the grievance orally to his immediate supervisor, with or without the presence of his Grievance Committeeman or Steward, within five (5) days after the complaining employee knew, or by reasonable diligence should have known, of such incident.

B. In the settlement of a grievance, the Company shall not enter into any agreement with any individual employee covered by this Agreement in conflict with the terms of this Agreement which will have any effect on the rights of other employees, and any settlement under any such private agreement will not constitute a precedent should a similar situation arise in the future.

C. If the grievance is not resolved to the satisfaction of the employee and it is desired that the grievance be considered further, the employee or his Grievance Committeeman or Steward may immediately file a written grievance with such supervisor. In any event, regardless of when the employee presents it orally to his immediate supervisor, or knows, or should have known, of the incident, such written grievance must be presented not more than fifteen (15) days next following the incident that caused the grievance (unless a different time is provided elsewhere in this Agreement for the particular type of grievance). The written grievance shall state the nature of the incident, the Section or Sections of this Agreement upon which the grievance is based and the redress or relief that is sought, and shall be signed by the employee and his Grievance Committeeman or Steward. The supervisor, or his designee, will discuss the grievance with the employee and his Grievance Committeeman or Steward and will give his answer within five (5) days after receipt of the written grievance. If the immediate supervisor and the Grievance Committeeman or Steward, at such meeting, feel the need for aid in arriving at a solution, they may, by agreement, invite such additional Company or Union representatives or witnesses as may be necessary and available to participate in further discussion.

If the Step 1 supervisor, or his designee, does not give his answer within the prescribed time or if the answer is unsatisfactory to the Union and it is desired to appeal the grievance for further consideration, an appeal may be filed within five (5) days after the answer (or within five (5) days of expiration of the five (5) day answer period if no answer is given) with the person who supervises the Step 1 supervisor, signed by the employee's Grievance Committeeman. Such supervisor, or his designee, will discuss the grievance with the employee and the Grievance Committeeman and will give his answer in writing within five (5) days after the meeting.

Step 3

If the answer of the Step 2 supervisor, or his designee, is unsatisfactory to the Union and it is desired to appeal the grievance for further consideration, an appeal may be filed within five (5) days after receipt of the answer with the manager of the Step 2 supervisor, signed by the employee's Grievance Committeeman. The manager or their designee(s), will discuss the grievance in a meeting with the employee, the Grievance Committeeman and the International Union Representative, and will give an answer in writing within five (5) days after the meeting.

12.2 Grievance Meetings

Grievances to be handled through the grievance procedure should be taken up at such time of day as will least interfere with the regular working hours of the employees involved. If the Company finds it more convenient and practical to conduct such proceedings during regular working hours, and the Union representative is agreeable to meeting at such time, then Union grievance representatives who are called from their regular duty will be paid their regular wages as though they were on regular duty.

12.3 Grievance Committee

The Union's Grievance Committee shall consist of regular employees of the Company covered by this Agreement selected by the Local Union to represent major geographic groupings of employees. The initial major geographic groupings are considered to be at:

Barlow/Eddyville

Morganfield/Sebree

Earlington/Dawson Springs

but said groupings may change with the addition or deletion of department and/or shift assignment of employees covered by this Agreement, but not to exceed five (5) in total. One (1) Grievance Committeeman shall be elected by the Local Union membership to represent each of said major geographic groupings.

In large areas and/or on shifts at the Green River Power Station where no Grievance Committeeman is employed, a Steward will be appointed as determined by the Local Union so that there will be at least one (1) Grievance Committeeman or Steward on each active shift. The Steward will act as an assistant to the Grievance Committeeman and be limited to the handling of grievances through Step 1 only.

During his term of office, should a Grievance Committeeman or Steward cease to be employed within the major group he represents, the office of Grievance Committeeman or Steward representing that group shall become vacant and shall be filled by the Local Union with a permanent employee of said group.

The Local Union President and Unit President shall be considered as a member of the Local Union Grievance Committee in addition to the Grievance Committeemen provided for above.

The Union shall furnish to the Company a list of its Officers, Grievance Committeemen and Stewards, and keep such list current.

12.4 Time Limits

A grievance that is not filed, appealed or referred to arbitration within the prescribed time limits shall be considered settled and shall not be processed in any subsequent steps of the grievance or arbitration procedure. If the second or third step supervisor does not timely answer, the Union can demand an answer by giving notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the corporate labor relations manager. If no written answer is given in person or by posting in the mail within five (5) days after receipt of such demand, the particular grievance shall be deemed to be granted but without precedent.

12.5 Calculation of Time

The term "days" as used in this Article XII and the following Article XIII shall be understood and agreed to exclude all Saturdays, Sundays or Holidays occurring in each such calculation.

12.6 Group Grievances

In the event more than one employee desire to file identical grievances, either the Grievance Committeeman or Steward for the area in which the alleged grievance has arisen, or one of the aggrieved employees selected by the others, may file and process the grievance on their behalf as a class, provided the employees involved are adequately identified in the initial written grievance.

12.7 Union Grievances

A. The Union may file a grievance at Step 3 with regard to any obligation of the Company to the Union as such, as opposed to its obligations to the individual employee(s). Also in the event an employee dies the Union may process any claim he would have had relating to any money due under any provision of this Agreement. In processing such claim on behalf of a deceased employee, the fifteen (15) day time limit for filing the initial grievance shall be waived.

B. In the event the Union believes that an interpretation contrary to the terms of this Agreement has occurred with respect to one or more employees, which interpretation, if established as a practice, might adversely affect other employees in the future, if the directly affected employees fail to file a grievance, then the Union may file a grievance in its own name at Step 2 for the purpose of obtaining a prospective determination with respect to employees generally.

12.8 Expedited Procedure

Notwithstanding the procedures set forth in this Article, the parties may by agreement omit any Step or Steps and proceed to a higher Step.

12.9 Extension of Time Limits

It is understood and agreed that any time limits specified in this Article XII and the following Article XIII may, and should be, extended for good reason shown. The period during negotiations for an extension or renewal of this Agreement shall specifically be deemed as requiring a liberal interpretation of this Section.

ARTICLE XIII

ARBITRATION PROCEDURE

13.1 Arbitration Procedure

If the Step 3 answer of the Plant General Manager, the Manager Substation Construction and Maintenance, the Manager Electric System Planning Engineering and Metering, or the Manager Earlington Operations, or their designee(s), is unsatisfactory to the Union, the Union may refer such grievance to arbitration by delivering to the Manager, Corporate Labor Relations, within twenty (20) days after receipt of the answer, written notification that it desires to arbitrate the grievance. If the Company and the Union are unable to agree to an arbitrator, the Company and Union shall jointly request the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to provide a list of seven (7) qualified arbitrators who have training or experience in the subject of the dispute in question. The representatives of the parties shall either agree to an arbitrator on the list or select one by each party's alternately striking a name from the list until one name remains. More than one grievance may be submitted to the same Arbitrator if a multiple submission is agreeable to both parties.

13.2 Arbitration Hearing

The arbitration hearing shall be scheduled for a date as soon as mutually agreeable but within sixty (60) calendar days of the date that the Arbitrator is selected by the parties, provided the Arbitrator is available. The arbitration hearing shall be held at the Green River Power Station or the Company's District Office nearest to where the grievance arose or at a place mutually agreed upon by the Company and the Union or, if they are unable to agree, the Arbitrator shall select a neutral place in Madisonville, Kentucky for the hearing.

13.3 Duties of the Arbitrator

It shall be the duty of the Arbitrator to hear and render a decision on a dispute submitted to him in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. The Arbitrator shall regard the provisions of this Agreement as the sole and complete understanding governing the relationship of the parties, and it shall be his function to interpret and apply the specific provisions of this Agreement. The Arbitrator shall not supplement, enlarge, diminish or alter the scope or meaning of any provisions of this Agreement, nor entertain jurisdiction of any subject not covered hereby.

The decision and award of the Arbitrator shall be final and binding on the Company, the Union and the employees.

13.4 Costs of Arbitration

The compensation and expenses of the Arbitrator shall be borne equally by the parties. The compensation and expenses, if any, of witnesses and other participants in the arbitration shall be borne by the party desiring or requesting their presence, except that an employee at the Green River Power Station or an employee in the district where the grievance arose who is a witness may appear during his normal working hours for the time necessary to give his testimony only without loss of pay.

13.5 Arbitrator's Decision

The Arbitrator shall be jointly requested to render a copy of his decision to each party in writing within thirty (30) calendar days from the date of close of the hearing, or the filing of briefs, if any.

DISCIPLINARY SUSPENSION AND DISCHARGE

While it shall remain the policy of the Company to warn employees for minor infractions before taking disciplinary action or discharging them, it is understood that certain major offenses may be cause for immediate discipline, including discharge. Grievances involving discharge shall automatically be referred to Step 3.

In the event any employee is called before a Company representative for the purpose of being reprimanded or receiving disciplinary action, he will be, if he so chooses, allowed to have a Local Union representative present. In the event the Company intends to suspend or discharge an employee, or give a final written warning to an employee prior to discharge, the Company will inform the employee of his or her right to union representation. The parties agree that in general it is in the best interest of all concerned that disciplinary action be taken in private.

Should it be determined by the Company during the grievance procedure that any disciplinary action is too severe, or if a grievance concerning disciplinary action by the Company is referred to arbitration and the final decision of the Arbitrator results in a modification of the disciplinary action taken, the employee shall receive compensation for time lost from work in such amount as the Company and the Union mutually agree if the matter is resolved in the grievance procedure, or, if the matter is decided by an Arbitrator, as the Arbitrator may deem necessary to give proper redress under the circumstances, including consideration of any earnings or other compensation received by the employee during the period of such lost time; but the Arbitrator shall not reduce any back pay award by reason of earnings the employee would have received (such as from his farm, etc.) even if he had not lost time from work.

If an employee is discharged after completion of his probationary period and the discharge is protested through the grievance procedure, the Company will continue normal insurance coverage for such employee until the grievance is finally resolved.

ARTICLE XV

TEMPORARY ASSIGNMENTS AND PERMANENT JOB VACANCIES

15.1 Temporary Assignments

The Company may temporarily assign any employee to work in any other job classification; except that at Green River Power Station, other than in cases of emergency, consideration will be given to the senior available employee temporarily working out of his classification when there is a need to return an employee to such classification. If the employee has been temporarily assigned to a lower rated job, the applicable rate shall be the rate of his regular job, and if the employee has been temporarily assigned to a higher rated job, the applicable rate will be the higher of the rate of his regular job or the minimum of the rate range for the job to which he is assigned. Such assignments shall be effective upon the execution of a payroll authorization by a supervisor, and payment for work in a higher classification will be for a period of not less than eight (8) hours. When a temporary assignment to another job classification or another shift of one (1) week or more is to be made, employees in the various classifications required will be permitted to indicate their choice of assignment in order of seniority, but the final right to make such assignments, and to change them from time to time, is exclusively reserved to the Company in order to assure safe and efficient operations. Such temporary assignments on a shift at the Green River Power Plant will not exceed two (2) hours if the crew is not fully staffed (at least five (5) employees).

15.2 Permanent Job Vacancies

A. Policy

It shall be the Company's policy to advance senior employees when permanent job vacancies occur, provided the employee is qualified.

It is the Company's intent to allow current bargaining unit members to bid on jobs before hiring from the outside, where possible. Depending on the current operational needs, the Company agrees to bid lower positions such as C or B, (if no C classification exists), lower positions (Unit Operator Assistant and/or Auxiliary Operator) in the Green River Power Plant operational group, and/or Trainee, where no qualified bidders exist for top rated positions. Should the Company determine the need is for immediately filling an upper rated position, the Company will discuss this with the Union before hiring from the outside. The final decision will rest solely with the Company, based on operational needs.

B. Posting Procedure

(1) When the Company determines that there is, or will be a permanent vacancy in the bargaining unit, it will post, for five (5) days, Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excluded, a notice describing the job and its special qualifications, if any, including residency requirements for members of service organizations, if applicable, on bulletin boards throughout the bargaining unit. Copies of all such postings shall also be sent to the Union's Unit Secretary. An employee desiring consideration in the event of such a permanent vacancy should make written application on forms provided by the Company during such five (5) day period. After having given consideration to each applicant's Seniority, prior experience, work record, skill and ability, the Company will post the name and seniority date of the successful bidder, if any, on the bulletin boards throughout the bargaining unit. Normally such announcement will be made within three (3) weeks after completion of the posting. During the time necessary to consider applications, the Company may fill the vacancy temporarily by assignment of any available employee. Employees who fail to make application will be considered to have waived their interest in the particular vacancy for that particular occasion only.

(2) If a posting is for a vacancy in a classification to which employees normally advance without bidding, such as provided in Paragraph G below, and if there is no qualified applicant and the Company does not hire a new employee from outside for the posted vacancy, then if the Company desires to fill the vacancy with an employee in a lower rated job than the one previously posted, it will post such lower rated job prior to hiring a new employee for such lower rated job.

C. Bid by Absentee

The Company and the Union will cooperate in contacting any employee who is absent from work due to illness, injury, vacation or for other legitimate reason as specified in this Agreement during the entire posting period who notified either the Company or the Union, if possible, prior to his absence of an interest in bidding, to assure he is notified of the posting. If such employee is absent for three (3) weeks or less and is not contacted during such period and afforded an opportunity to bid, then upon return to work, he may bid on a job posted during his absence. However, such bid must be made within five (5) working days after the employee's return to work. If the Company awards the bid to such previously absent employee and if it had previously made an award to another applicant, such other applicant will be returned to his previous job.

D. Bidding Limitation

An employee shall be limited to no more than one permanent job transfer per year under this bidding procedure to a job of equal or lower rate unless for reasons of health or for other good and sufficient reasons shown. Additionally, any employee hired (or an employee rehired after loss of Seniority), after August 1, 2002 shall be ineligible to bid for a period of one (1) year from their date of hire.

E. No Qualified Applicants

Should there be no qualified applicant for any vacancy, then the Company may exercise its discretion in the filling of the vacancy by voluntary transfer or by hiring or it may cancel the posting.

F. Hiring Experienced Employees

Should the Company hire any new employee who has had prior experience on a similar job requiring such skills for which hired to fill a vacancy for which the bidding procedure has not been completed, he shall be placed in the proper classification at a rate commensurate with such experience. Should any lower-rated employee with Seniority at the time of hiring such new experienced employee believe that he was qualified to perform the job for which the new employee was hired and desires assignment to such job, he may request and shall be granted a review of his qualifications and shall be upgraded to the same rate for which such new employee was hired should the facts demonstrate he was so qualified. Such up-grading and pay for same to become effective the date of hiring the new employee.

G. Reclassification

A reclassification of an employee to a higher rated job, such as from Line Technician B to Line Technician A or from Maintenance Technician B to Maintenance Technician A, shall not be considered the filling of a permanent vacancy for purposes of this Article XV, and nothing in this Section 15.2 shall be construed to require the Company to post any such higher rated position.

H. Training

In filling permanent vacancies in higher rated jobs in operating groups at the Green River Power Station, it is agreed that if there is no qualified applicant and if a qualified person cannot be hired from outside, the Company will be guided by the factors set forth in Paragraph B(l) above in selecting an employee from a lower classification in the operating group to attempt to train for the vacancy with the senior applicant given preference if the other factors are relatively equal, provided that such employee has demonstrated the basic physical and mental capacities to become qualified within a reasonable period and provided that such employee has not been selected for another training position as described in this paragraph within the previous twelve (12) month period. Also, should the Company decide to attempt to train an unqualified employee to fill a vacancy other than in an operating group at the Green River Power Station, it will be guided by the factors set forth in Paragraph B (l) above in selecting an employee for such training with the senior applicant given preference if the other factors are relatively equal, provided that such employee has demonstrated the basic physical and mental capacities to become qualified within a reasonable period. In either event the Company will post a vacancy in the classification it desires to fill, designating that it is for training. The applicant selected shall not be assigned to such classification until he satisfactorily completes his training and becomes qualified.

I. Return to Former Classification

In the event an unqualified employee is selected by the Company for training for a job and does not become qualified within a reasonable period, he shall be returned to his former classification or a classification of similar status. It is agreed that under normal circumstances an employee selected for training for a higher rated job in an operating group at the Green River Power Station under Paragraph H above should become qualified within 480 hours, within a 120 calendar day period.

J. Residence Requirements

It is recognized that as a public utility the Company is obligated to provide reliable service to its customers. Such may at times make it necessary for employees to work overtime, both scheduled and on an emergency basis. Employees are expected to work their fair share of overtime work when called upon to do so by the Company and failure to do so may be cause for appropriate disciplinary action.

- (a) In addition, to assist in promptly responding to overtime callouts for emergencies, Line Technicians, Service Technicians, Substation Technicians, Meter Technicians and Customer Order Technicians shall reside within twenty-five (25) miles of their reporting location.

ABSENCES AND LEAVES OF ABSENCE

16.1 Absences

A. It is understood that an employee has a responsibility to his job and to the Company to report for work on time as scheduled. An employee who reports for work after his starting time may be refused work for the day at the discretion of his supervisor if a replacement for him has been called, his crew has already left without him or there is otherwise no work readily available for him.

B. When an employee cannot for any reason, report for work as scheduled he must, in accordance with established procedures in effect at the time, notify the Company (personally or by other acceptable means) prior to scheduled start time, indicating to the extent possible the probable duration of his tardiness and absence, unless unavoidable circumstance would prevent employee from doing so. Failure to comply could result in an unexcused absence, even if the absence would otherwise have been legitimate.

16.2 Disability Leave

Upon reasonable advance request, if possible, leave of absence without pay will be granted to any employee for illness, injury or pregnancy which prevents the employee from working, verified by the employee's doctor if requested, and concurred in, if the Company deems advisable, by a doctor selected by the Company, and will from time to time be extended if the circumstances warrant unless the employee's Seniority terminates under Section 9.5(F) or (K). The Company may require reasonable periodic verification from the employee of continued inability to work. To the extent such absence is covered by paid sick leave, long-term disability insurance or similar insurance, the reports under such programs shall be sufficient verification.

16.3 Personal Leave

At the Company's discretion, leaves of absence without pay for an agreed upon period of time may be granted to any employee for personal reasons, and may from time to time be extended for additional periods if the circumstances warrant. Requests for such leaves of absence and extensions must be made in writing and approved by the Company.

16.4 Return To Work

A. The Company may require that an employee returning to work after being absent for a period in excess of five (5) consecutive workdays due to any temporary disability or personal leave furnish, prior to the resumption of his duties, a certificate of ability to return to work and perform his regular duties from the employee's doctor, concurred in, if the Company deems advisable, by a doctor selected by the Company.

B. Examination by the doctor selected by the Company shall be confined to the illness or injury that caused the absence or to an illness or injury known or reasonably suspected to have occurred to the employee during such leave of absence. Such examination shall not be directed toward a condition that existed prior to the temporary disability or leave of absence unless the Company reasonably believes it would affect his ability to be qualified for his job.

C. Examination by the doctor selected by the Company shall be at the expense of the Company.

D. In the case of a disagreement between an employee's doctor and the Company doctor concerning the health of an employee, and the dispute becomes the subject of a grievance, a third disinterested doctor having special knowledge and experience in the matter shall be chosen by mutual agreement between the Company and the Union or if they are unable to agree, a third doctor chosen by an arbitrator shall examine the employee, and his decision shall be final and binding. The expense of the third physician shall be borne equally between the Company and the Local Union.

E. Nothing in this section shall be interpreted to affect the Company's right to require a physical examination at any time when it has reason to believe that an employee has a disability which could affect his ability to perform his job safely.

16.5 Early Termination

Any employee who desires to terminate his leave and return to work prior to the normal expiration date of any leave granted him may do so upon satisfying the requirements for return and giving the Company three (3) working days notice.

16.6 Pregnancy Leave

An employee on pregnancy leave may remain on leave for a period equal to the time allowed for non-work related illness or injury as provided in Section 16.2. Upon return to work, she may reclaim her job or select another in the same manner as if she had been absent for any other non-work related illness or injury. If the employee fails to apply for reinstatement, or refuses to take an available position as above provided, her employment shall be terminated.

16.7 Leave For Union Business

A leave of absence without pay will be given to employees who are elected and/or chosen delegates for the purpose of attending conventions, conferences and such usual and proper functions of the Union (normally not to exceed two (2) weeks plus travel time). Not more than two (2) employees shall be eligible for such leave at any one time, but if two (2) are to be absent at the same time, they will be selected from unrelated work groups so as to avoid a double burden on the remaining employees by reason of the absences. The Company, without creating any future obligation or precedent, may grant Union requests for leaves for additional employees. The Union will give sufficient notice to allow for orderly replacement on work assignments.

16.8 Periodic Payments

It should be the responsibility of the employee to make arrangements for the payment of any insurance premiums and the like which are his obligations during any leave of absence.

16.9 Fraud

Obtaining a leave of absence or extension thereof under false pretense or falsifying forms, applications, and other information pertaining to a leave may be cause for appropriate disciplinary action.

ARTICLE XVII

ALLOWED TIME

17.1 Funeral Pay

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of five days for Immediate Family Members who include: spouse, child, step-child, or parent or step-parent.

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of three days for Other Family Members who include: brother; sister; grandparents; grandchildren; parents-in-law; sons-in-law; daughters-in-law; spouses of the employee's brothers or sisters; employee's spouse's brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents; step relations of the preceding, or any relative living with the employee.

Such days shall be consecutive work days and shall be computed in direct relation to the death and funeral, but shall not extend beyond the day following the funeral, except in the case of the death of an Immediate Family Member in which case such days may extend to the second day following the funeral. Payment will not be made for any day during such three- or five-day period on which the employee would otherwise not work.

Employees will not be paid for unused funeral leave.

Should the employee need to be absent on a normal scheduled day or days, other than those for which payment is provided above, the employee may elect to take such day or days as vacation time, provided he is then entitled to sufficient vacation time which he has not utilized by time off or for which he has not been paid.

Payment shall be made on the next pay day after receiving notice in writing from the employee and (a) the name of the deceased person and relationship to the employee, and (b) the date and location of the funeral.

If a day for which an employee would otherwise be entitled to funeral pay falls on a day on which the employee had scheduled vacation, holiday or other time off, at the request of the employee, the previously scheduled time may be rescheduled and the employee will receive Funeral pay.

17.2 Military Training or Temporary Duty

Except as otherwise provided by law, if it should become necessary for an employee to leave the service of the Company to serve in the Armed Forces of the United States, or should an employee volunteer for service in any of the Armed Forces of the United States, then any such employee shall retain and accrue his seniority during such service, provided he returns to the employ of the Company within ninety (90) calendar days after his demobilization or release from the service, and provided further that he is fit and competent and has received a release or discharge under honorable conditions. A reservist who is called to active duty as a result of mobilization shall receive a supplement, for ninety (90) days from being called, of the difference between military pay and the employee's base pay in effect prior to taking leave under this Article. If the employee's family elects to continue dental coverage under the provisions of COBRA, the Company will waive the premium for such coverage up to twelve (12) months. Additionally, an employee who participates in military summer camp or short-term duty up to three (3) weeks will receive a supplement of the difference between military pay and the employee's base pay. Except as otherwise provided by law, this Article shall not apply to any employee who re-enlists or otherwise extends his period of full-time military service beyond the period of time of his military obligation to the United States. The employment status of an employee shall not be affected by his enlistment or participation in the civilian components of military services, regardless of whether such enlistment or participation is voluntary or mandatory.

17.3 Jury Duty

If a regular full-time employee (other than a probationary employee) is summoned for jury duty or is subpoenaed to appear as a witness in court and is required to so report or serve or appear on a regular workday during normal working hours which he would otherwise be scheduled to work, he shall be paid the difference between his normal straight time hourly rate (including regular shift differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments) for those hours lost and the payment received for such service (but not including any payment officially designated as expenses). In the case of such an employee on an afternoon or night shift, the Company shall reschedule him to the day shift for days he is required to report to court. If any such employee is not required to appear until, or is released from such service at, a time that reasonably permits him to report to work or to return to work during his scheduled hours, he will so report or return and may be assigned to his normal duties or may be assigned to such other work as may be available. To be entitled to pay under this section, an employee must notify his supervisor as far in advance of the date he is required to report for such duty as possible and present a statement from the Clerk of the Court giving the time and date of such duty and the amount of compensation received for such service. In no event shall pay under this Section exceed eight (8) hours pay per day.

17.4 Sick Leave Plan

Any employee who cannot report to work as scheduled because of personal or family illness should attempt to contact his or her manager before the scheduled start time or as soon as possible thereafter. Medical certification may be requested. Any employee at Green River should contact his or her supervisor or manager at least one hour before the scheduled start time unless unavoidable circumstance would prevent employee from doing so.

The Company will provide up to 40 hours of sick leave per calendar year.

Unused sick leave may not be accumulated. Unused sick leave is not paid to the employee.

An employee may use sick leave in one-hour increments.

A. Employee

1. Must report the cause of the employee's absence to his or her immediate supervisor (or to the individual designated by the supervisor to receive such reports) as soon as possible, but in any event not later than the beginning of the first work shift from which the employee will be absent;
2. Must adopt such remedial measures as may be commensurate with his or her disability;
3. Must, upon request, present evidence satisfactory to the Company, of the employee's inability to work, or that the injury or illness was non-occupational;
4. Must have accumulated unused sick leave credit at least equal to the hours being reported for sick leave pay; and
5. Must advise his or her supervisor (or the individual designated by the supervisor to receive such reports) of the date on which the employee expects to return to work as far in advance thereof as possible. Where the employee's work is being performed by relief or substitute personnel, at the supervisor's request such advice must be given at least one hour prior to the beginning of the shift on which the employee expects to return to work.

B. No sick leave will be allowed for any injury or illness arising out of, or in the course of, any occupation or employment for wage or profit.

Sick leave credit cannot be used for any other purpose than specified in the plan, and is not payable in cash, or in any other form, should the employee leave the Company. This plan is designed to assist the employee to prevent a loss of income due to absence from duty because of illness.

If an employee becomes ill or injured while on vacation, the employee shall be paid only for the vacation, except as noted in 8.7(A).

If an employee becomes ill or injured on a holiday, the employee is to be paid only for the holiday.

If the illness continues after a vacation or holiday period, benefits under the Sick Leave Plan would commence upon completion of the scheduled vacation or holiday.

17.5 Personal Days

An employee should prearrange all personal days with his or her supervisor or manager. Two personal days are available during the calendar year for current employees. During the first year of employment personal days will be pro-rated according to the following schedule:

- Hired before July 1, the employee will receive 16 hours personal days
- Hired between July 1 and October 31, the employee will receive 8 hours personal day
- Those hired on or after November 1 will not be eligible to receive their personal days until January 1 of the following year.

If an employee has available personal days, he or she will be required to use that time for bridging to Short Term Disability (STD) if remaining sick time is not adequate.

There is no carry-over of unused personal days.

There is no pay in lieu of personal days under any circumstances.

17.6 Accumulated Sick Leave

An employee's unused sick leave hours, as of 09/30/99, can be used for the same purposes, other than for family illness, as the sick leave in Section 17.4 after the sick leave awarded each calendar year under 17.4 has been exhausted. The unused sick leave hours will be reduced by the number of hours used for this purpose.

In addition, unused sick leave hours as of 09/30/99 may be used to increase the pay an employee receives under the STD program in Article 18 for hours at 75% to 100%. The unused sick leave hours will be reduced by the number of hours used for this purpose.

In accordance with the provisions of the Company's retirement Annuity Plan, an employee's "credited service" at retirement as that term is defined in the Plan, will be increased by the number of that employee's unused days of sick leave as of his or her retirement date at a rate of 260 days being equal to one year of "credited service." Unused days exceeding, or less than, 260 will be expressed as a fraction of a year, as it is defined herein.

ARTICLE XVIII

HEALTH AND RETIREMENT BENEFITS

During the term of this Agreement the Company will continue to provide the existing or no less favorable group life insurance, long-term disability insurance, retirement annuity and medical, including post-retirement medical insurance benefits, dental assistance program, employee savings plan, employee assistance program, dependent care assistance plan, and dependent life insurance plan, short term disability and workers' compensation supplement for members of the bargaining unit as are provided for other full time employees of the Company, except as described in 18.1, 18.2, and 18.3 below. The details of such benefits shall be as specifically provided in master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. (A) payments for such benefits must be deductible as business expenses or contributions to a qualified plan, and (B) benefits provided through an insurance carrier shall be those provided by the policy or contract and such coverage must continue to be available from the same or another carrier on a reasonable basis. If occasion to change or discontinue any such benefits should arise under clause (A) or (B), the Company will notify the Union and the parties will promptly enter into negotiations as to the benefits to be changed or substituted. The Company will furnish identification cards for medical purposes. The Company will furnish each employee annually the amount of his accumulated sick leave and the aggregate amount of his contributions to the retirement plan.

The Company will assume an increase of 4% in each year of the Contract in medical and hospitalization expense per employee. To the extent this expense increases over 4% the employees will absorb increases up to the next 4%. Should the total increase exceed 8%, the Company and the employees will equally share in the balance of that expense.

With respect to medical benefits, to the extent that individual plan premiums exceed the Company's contribution, the employees will contribute the additional cost of premiums according to the plan they select. Contributions will be made monthly on a pre-tax basis.

A representative of this union will participate on a joint Health Care Task Force which will meet biannually to review trends in health care, review current Company Medical benefit plans, and make cost containment recommendations. The joint Health Care Task Force will also be charged with the responsibility of recommending changes, including plan design changes and increases in co-pays on doctor visits and prescriptions. The task force will establish their priority as avoiding future increases in employee contributions to the extent practicable while maintaining the current quality of coverage. However, the Company retains the right in its sole discretion to modify the terms, conditions and level of benefits under these medical, so long as benefits for employees covered by this Agreement are the same as provided to other full-time employees of the Company.

18.1 Employee Savings Plan

The Company matching contribution under the LG&E AND KU ENERGY LLC Savings Plan is 70 percent on employee contributions up to (6) percent of covered compensation.

18.2 Retiree Medical Insurance

A. Bargaining unit employees employed by the Company as of December 31, 2005 will be eligible for retiree medical benefits, the details of such benefits will be as specifically provided in the master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. For employees retiring January 1, 2012 or after, the Company will contribute monthly up to $200.00 toward the cost of a Company medical plan for the eligible retiree. Such $200.00 credit shall continue until attainment of age 62, which at such time the credit shall increase to $465.00. The $465.00 credit shall continue until age attainment of age 65, which at such time the credit shall revert to $200.00. Additionally, the eligible retiree's spouse or other dependent will be eligible for an additional $100.00 toward the cost of his/her insurance premium. The maximum total monthly credit shall be either $300.00 or $565.00 depending upon the age of the former employee.

B. Bargaining unit employees hired by the Company on or after January 1, 2006, will be eligible for the same retiree medical benefits however, the Company premium contribution will be a lump sum account that will spring into existence on the eligible retiree's date of retirement. This Retiree Medical Account must be used for the sole purpose of paying for retiree medical coverage through the Company.

The initial lump sum amount will be determined based on the following formula:

1. For the retiree, $2,000 per year of service after age 45, with a maximum initial account balance of $30,000.
2. For the dependents, a total initial account balance equal to 50 percent of the initial account balance for the retiree.

On the date the eligible employee retires, the Company will fund this Retiree Medical Account. Once funded, the account balance will be credited with interest based on the 10-year Treasury rate subject to a four (4) percent minimum and a seven (7) percent maximum.

The retiree may elect to pay the age-related monthly premiums from the Retiree Medical Account in full or in part until the account balance reaches zero. Once the Retiree Medical Account is fully depleted, the retiree may continue medical coverage through the Company by paying 100 percent of the age-related monthly premiums.

The details covering the provisions of the Retiree Medical Account will be as specifically provided in the master plan document covering the terms of the plan.

18.3 Retirement Income Benefits

Bargaining unit employees hired by the Company on or after January 1, 2006, will be eligible for the Retirement Income Account under the LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan instead of the LG&E Energy LLC Retirement Plan. The Company will make an annual lump sum contribution based on the following schedule to the employee's Retirement Income Account in the LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan.

Years of Service as of January 1	Percent of Compensation (as defined under terms of LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan)
Less than 6	3 percent
6 but less than 11	4 percent
11 but less than 16	5 percent
16 but less than 21	6 percent
21 or more	7 percent

The annual lump sum contribution will be made by April 1 of the applicable year and the employee will be immediately 100 percent vested. Such bargaining unit employees on the active payroll as of December 31 of the preceding year, regardless of whether the employee has satisfied the three month eligibility requirement, will receive this annual lump sum contribution. The details covering the provisions of the Retirement Income Account will be as specifically provided in the master plan document covering the terms of the plan.

ARTICLE XIXTRANSFER OUT OF THE BARGAINING UNIT*19.1 Permanent Transfer

The selection of employees to be promoted to supervisory positions or to be transferred to other positions excluded from the bargaining unit shall be at the sole discretion of the Company, subject to the agreement of the employee. For the first sixty (60) calendar days the employee shall continue to accrue Seniority in the bargaining unit. If the Company transfers him back to the bargaining unit, or he asks to be removed from the position within the sixty (60) days period, he shall return to the bargaining unit and will be placed on the job he held prior to such promotion or transfer, or to another job in accordance with such accrued Seniority if an adjustment in the workforce has occurred during his absence. If he continues in the supervisory or other position outside the bargaining unit beyond the sixty (60) day period, his Seniority shall be broken and he shall lose all rights under this Agreement. The Company will notify the Unit Secretary of the date of permanent transfer.

19.2 Temporary Transfer

Should an employee covered by this Agreement temporarily be designated by the Company as a Temporary Supervisor to fill in temporarily for eight (8) hours or more for any regular supervisor such as during vacations, illness, death in the family, jury duty or other absences of a temporary nature, and the employee accepts such duties, he shall receive his regular rate of pay or the rate of the supervisor whose work he performs, whichever is higher, during the period that the employee performs such work. (An exception is in the Coal Yard-See Note 1) The area grievance committeeman or Unit President will be informed of such designation.

ARTICLE XXWAGES

20.1 Hourly Wages

The hourly wage rates for the respective job classifications and the effective dates thereof are as set forth in Exhibit A to this Agreement.

20.2 Shift Differential

A. A shift differential of ninety cents ($.90) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees assigned to an afternoon shift, and one dollar and five cents ($1.05) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by such employees assigned to a night shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 5 a.m. and prior to 12 noon shall be considered a day shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 12 noon and prior to 8 p.m. shall be considered an afternoon shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 8 p.m. and prior to 5 a.m. shall be considered a night shift.

B. A shift differential of forty-five cents ($.45) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees at Green River Power Station assigned to a rotating shift regardless of when a particular shift may commence.

C. A shift differential of one dollar and five cents ($1.05) shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees at Green River Power Station assigned to a relief shift regardless of when a particular shift may commence.

D. Only one shift differential can be applicable to any particular hours by any employee.

20.3 Sunday Differential

A Sunday differential of one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per hour shall be paid for all work performed on Sunday by full time employees who are assigned to work on Sunday as a part of their normal (non-overtime) schedule. This differential will be in addition to any applicable shift differential.

20.4 Pay for Work Performed

If an employee who is regularly required to, and who is qualified to, perform the work of the next higher classification makes a request to the Company that he be promoted, the Company at its option will either (a) stop requiring him to perform the work, (b) temporarily assign him to the classification under Section 15.1 for the periods he is required to perform the work or (c) permanently promote him to such classification.

ARTICLE XXI

TWO-PERSON CREW PREMIUM

When two non-supervisory employees are assigned work to be performed without the direction of a supervisor and the work involves the installation, maintenance or operation of electric lines or equipment, the company may designate one of the employees to be in charge of the work to be performed. The employee designated to be in charge shall be paid a $1.00 per hour premium over their regular rate of pay.

ARTICLE XXII

EMPLOYEES WORKING AWAY FROM THEIR REGULAR PLACE OF EMPLOYMENT

22.1 Transportation and Lodging

Whenever an employee is temporarily assigned duties away from his regular place of employment, he will be provided transportation, or compensation for transportation, between the temporarily assigned job and his regular place of employment or headquarters. If, in the opinion of his supervisor, it is impractical for the employee to return daily to his regular place of employment, the Company will provide suitable lodging (single room, if available) and board at or near the place of such temporary employment.

For each trip authorized by the Company, between the places of work assigned and the regular place of work or headquarters, time required for travel shall be considered as time worked. It is not the policy of the Company to require any employee to stay away from his regular place of employment or headquarters for a continuous period of more than two (2) weeks, except in cases of emergency.

Except in cases of emergency, employees who will be required to stay away from home overnight will be given notice of that requirement as soon as possible, but not later than the day before.

22.2 Meals

When it is necessary for any employee to work in areas away from his regular headquarters, or to work hours in excess of his normal hours, the Company will provide additional compensation or meals as follows:

A. Whenever a line crew, service crew, substation crew, or any employee is working away from their regular headquarters and returning to their regular headquarters each day, but are working in an area where it is not practical to return to headquarters within the 1-hour period allowed for the noon meal, the Company shall provide an additional $7.00 of compensation to be added to the employee's payroll check as reimbursement for the purchase of the noon meal by the employee, provided the lunch can be obtained in the area in which the crew or employee is working. Work groups who choose to use a ½ hour lunch period will forfeit any meal entitlement to which they may otherwise have been entitled. Where the lunch cannot be obtained in the area in which the crew or employee is working, then each employee will be required to bring his own lunch with him from home. In those instances in which it will be necessary for the employee to bring his own lunch, then the supervisor should so advise on the day before working in the area.

B. Whenever a line crew, service crew, substation crew, or any employee performs work in excess of 2 hours beyond his normal quitting time of his normal scheduled shift, the Company will furnish or pay for the employee's meal, or meals, required during such hours of work.

C. Whenever any employee or crew is working away from regular headquarters and not returning to their regular headquarters each day, then all board and lodging while away from regular headquarters will be paid for by the Company. Under such circumstances, the supervisor will arrange for a hot lunch to be selected from the regular menu at a public eating place at noon if it is practical to do so. Under no circumstances should more than one (1) hour be taken for the noon lunch period, including travel time from work area to the eating place and return. If the work is so located that it is impractical for the crew to go to a public eating place for their noon meal, then the supervisor will arrange for lunches to be provided at the job site.

D. In those cases where the work is so located that it is impractical for the crew to go to a public eating place for their noon meal and the employee is either provided the noon meal or is reimbursed for the purchase of the noon meal under this Section 22.2, it will be permissible for the supervisor to authorize the taking of only 30 minutes for the lunch period and quitting work 30 minutes earlier than would be the case where an hour lunch period is taken. Except during emergencies or during extraordinary circumstances, the lunch hour of day shift employees shall normally begin not earlier than 11:00 a.m., nor later than 1:00 p.m. local standard time.

ARTICLE XXIII

RETIREMENT

The practice of retirement of employees at age sixty-five (65) will continue in effect; provided, however, that if for any period during the life of this Agreement, mandatory retirement at such age shall be prohibited by law, then for so long as such prohibition shall remain in effect, the retirement age hereunder shall be increased to such age as is necessary in order to comply with the law.

ARTICLE XXIV

BULLETIN BOARD

The Company will either provide space on its bulletin boards, or provide separate bulletin boards at the same locations, where notices of the Union meetings and other official business of the Union may be posted from time to time. Such notices shall not consist of or include advertising or the promotion of political, religious or charitable projects or contain any material derogatory to the Company, any of its affiliates, or any employee or employees of the Company.

ARTICLE XXV

SHIFT PREFERENCE

A. At the Green River Power Station, the selection of assignments within the operating groups will be made as follows:

During the month of December of each year, the Company shall first identify the operating groups by posting under the name of the Shift Supervisor; provided this shall not restrict the Company's management right to change supervision from time to time. The employees in the various classifications required will be permitted to indicate their choice of assignment to an operating group in order of seniority, but the final right to schedule group positions, and to change them from time to time, is exclusively reserved to the Company in order to assure safe and efficient operations. Any resulting change in group assignments will become effective at the start of a pay period near the first of January selected by the Company.

B. In the event that a vacancy occurs in an operating group after the shift selection process above, the replacement will be placed on the shift where the opening occurs.

C. Vacancies created while operators are in training will be filled by Relief Operators from Relief Group "R".

D. When possible, because of available relief, the Senior Relief Group "R" operator in the classification needed shall have first choice in filling the temporary vacancy created because of training.

E. When a successful bidder is posted on or before December 1, he or she will be permitted a shift selection for the following year within the classification to which they bid by order of seniority among the employees in that classification regardless of whether training has or has not been completed.

F. The Relief Group "R" Unit Operators, Unit Operator Assistants, and Auxiliary Operators will work non-relief days at assigned duties.

G. Relief operators shall be listed on the overtime list in his/her own classification, and one classification immediately below.

SUCCESSORSHIP

The Company agrees that the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the parties will remain in full force and effect for the specified duration regardless of any change in the ownership of the Company. The Company will include a provision, in any sales or merger agreement, with any successor or assign, that will affirm and make the continuation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement a condition of the sale or merger of the Company.

ARTICLE XXVII
MOVING EXPENSES

A. When the permanent reporting location of an employee is changed (a) because of his bidding into a permanent job vacancy under Section 15.2 of this Agreement, or, (b) when the Company requests him to take a job which requires his moving to another location, or, (c) when he is released for lack of work and then exercises his placement rights to displace another employee under Section 10.1 of this Agreement, and the employee is required to move his residence because of this change, the Company will pay a lump sum payment, net of taxes, and payable upon the employee's relocation equal to:

- One (1) month's base pay for renters
- Two (2) month's base pay for home owners

B. As much advance notice as possible will be given the employee of the proposed change in headquarters to give him sufficient time to arrange for new quarters in the new locality. If it is not possible to give the employee reasonable notice of the proposed change in permanent headquarters, and it is necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay his reasonable board and lodging expenses not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon. If it is not possible to give such reasonable notice of the change, but it is not necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay mileage at its standard rate for the mileage by which the distance from his present residence to his new headquarters exceeds the distance to his old headquarters, not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon.

C. The Company shall not be obligated to pay the moving expenses of (a) any employee who has less than twelve (12) months of continuous service since last date of hire, or,

(b) in the case of any other employee, more than once in any period of twelve (12) consecutive months in connection with that employee's transfer to a new regular place of employment, unless (in either case) the move is at the Company's request.

D. Nothing in this Article of this Agreement shall be interpreted to require any employee to change his place of residence.

ARTICLE XXVIII

LAUNDRY

The Company will continue, as in the past, to pay for laundering the following items of employees' wearing apparel soiled in connection with the operation or maintenance of the Green River Power Station:

Coveralls

Overalls

Overall Jackets

Work Shirts

Work Trousers

The Company will not be responsible for dry cleaning any employee's clothing nor will it be responsible for laundering other items of clothing, such as underwear, T-shirts, socks, caps, gloves, towels, etc., nor for any special service, such as clothing repairs, for which a special charge is made.

The Plant General Manager will arrange for the above service with a commercial laundry operating in the area in such a manner as will insure satisfactory quality at reasonable cost.

ARTICLE XXIX

SAFETY AND HEALTH

The Company will continue, as heretofore, to make reasonable provisions for the safety and health of its employees during the hours of their employment. The Company and Union will cooperate in the continuing objective to eliminate accidents and health hazards.

The Company and the Union agree to a Joint Health and Safety Advisory Committee for the purpose of reviewing, discussing and recommending new or revised safety and health rules and procedures. The Committee shall be chaired by the Manager, Health and Safety, and shall meet quarterly. This Committee shall consist of not more than two (2) members of the Union. The Union representatives who shall attend a particular meeting shall be made known to the Manager, Health and Safety not less than two (2) weeks prior to the date established for the meeting. At the same time, the Union shall notify the Company of the subjects it desires to address at the meeting.

The Company will continue its practice of paying for approved lens and safety frames for an employee which are ordered through, and pursuant to the terms of, the Company's safety spectacle program. Also (except for items such as safety shoes and long sleeved shirts which would replace an employee's normal clothing) protective devices, protective clothing and other equipment required to be worn by the Company safety rules, and all tools required to perform the Company's work, shall be provided by the Company without cost to the employee.

ARTICLE XXX

CONFLICT WITH LAW

In the event any provision of this Agreement is held to be in conflict with or in violation of any state or federal statute, rule, decision, or valid administrative rule or regulation, such statute, rule, decision, administrative rule or regulation shall control, but all of the provisions of this Agreement not in conflict therewith shall continue in full force and effect.

ARTICLE XXXI
ENTIRE AGREEMENT

This Agreement sets forth the entire understanding between the Company and the Union and represents the full and complete agreement between the parties on all bargainable issues for the duration hereof. Both the Company and the Union unqualifiedly waive, for the duration of this Agreement, any obligation on the part of the other to bargain collectively with respect to any subject or matter not expressly covered by this Agreement. Neither party intends to be bound or obligated except to the extent that it has expressly so agreed herein and this Agreement shall be strictly construed. This Agreement applies only to the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) of Kentucky Utilities Company as described in Article II herein, and no employee covered by this Agreement shall have or be entitled to any rights, benefits or privileges in any other region, plant or operation of the Company (now existing or hereafter established). None of the benefits, rights or privileges afforded by this Agreement to the Union or any employee shall survive the expiration or termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE XXXII
TERMINATION

This Agreement shall be in full force from February 1, 2012, without modification or addition for its duration to 12:01 A.M. August 1, 2014, unless amended by mutual agreement.

Thereafter, it shall continue in force until sixty (60) days subsequent to notification by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, by either party to the other party, but in no case shall terminate prior to the date indicated above.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

Whenever an employee is promoted to a classification having a higher starting rate, he shall receive the starting rate of the new classification or the next higher step in that classification which is at least ten (10) cents per hour above the employee's rate prior to the promotion. Thereafter he shall progress as though he had already worked the period required by the preceding steps in his new classification.

Any new employee, upon producing evidence satisfactory to the Company of previous experience in the classification in which he is being employed, shall be given credit for such experience, except that he shall not start higher than the "After One Year" step and, in such event, shall receive the "After Two Years" step after one year's continuous employment. However, if after employment he demonstrates that he has the knowledge, skill and ability equivalent to that of an employee who has had two years' experience in the classification, he shall receive the "After Two Years" step beginning with the first payroll period commencing after sixty (60) days of employment.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or record of material used by crews, shall, in addition to his regular wage, receive $17.50 per month during the first year he is so designated, $22.50 per month during the second year, and $32.50 per month thereafter as compensation for the satisfactory performance of these duties.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to operate winch truck used by crews shall receive six (6) cents per hour in addition to his regular wage.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or records of material used by crews, and who shall also be designated by Company to operate winch truck used by crews, shall be paid both the monthly and hourly premiums set out in the two preceding paragraphs in addition to his regular wage.

- Note 1 - Applicable, upon Plant General Manager's recommendation, to not more than one employee in a crew which is normally supervised by a Coal Yard Supervisor. Employees in this classification will be expected to supervise the crew, or any subdivision of it, in the absence of the regular supervisor. In the absence of both the Coal Yard Supervisor and Assistant Coal Yard Supervisor on a shift, another employee will be temporarily moved up to the Assistant's position and paid the Assistant Coal Yard Supervisor rate.
- Note 2 - Applicable, upon Plant General Manager's recommendation, to not more than one employee in a crew of 3 or more which is normally supervised by a Chief Electrician, Chief Mechanic or Maintenance Manager. Employees in this classification will be expected to supervise the crew, or any subdivision of it, in the absence of the regular supervisor.
- Note 3 - Applicable to employees who have been selected for and are in training for Line Technician or Service Technician C, Auxiliary Operator, Substation Technician C, or any other classification having a first year hourly rate in excess of the trainee hourly rate. Employees who are successful demotional job bidders to a trainee classification will receive the highest rate of pay for that classification. A trainee in this category will be assigned to the classification for which he is in training at the end of three (3) to six (6) months, if he is then qualified, or, if not, as soon thereafter as he becomes qualified.
- Note 4 - Applicable in overhead line construction crews normally consisting of 6 or more, including the Supervisor, in which supervision by other than Supervisor is frequently required.
- Note 5 - Employees or new hires entering the Meter Reader classification on or after August 1, 2000 will be paid the Laborer-General wage scale.
- Note 6 - Employees or new hires entering the Customer Order Technician classification on or after August 1, 2005 will be paid the new Customer Order Technician wage scale, which will be increased by $.30 above the Laborer-General wage scale.

Note 7 - Meter Readers hired prior to August 1, 2000 who enter this classification as of July 24, 2005 will continue to be paid per the Meter Reader pay scale.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

1. Reclassify existing Meter Readers and Meter Readers-General Labor into the new classification of Customer Order Technician. Employees currently in the Meter Reader classification will continue being paid per that wage scale. A Note 6 will be added to the contract as follows: Note 6 – Employees or new hires entering the Customer Order Technician classification on or after August 1, 2005 will be paid the new Customer Order Technician wage scale, which will be increased by $.30 above the Laborer-General wage scale.
2. Customer Order Technicians will be trained to safely perform non-climbing service work, including after-hours reconnects.
3. Customer Order Technicians will be the first classification called to perform after-hours reconnects. If the Customer Order Technicians in an area are not available, the next person(s) called will be as listed on the call-out list for that area.
4. Employees called out to perform an after-hours reconnect shall be paid a minimum of four (4) hours at the applicable overtime rate, even if the employee actually works less than four (4) hours.
5. The Company agrees to provide Line Technician training, as business conditions allow for those Customer Order Technicians who request the training and have been successfully recommended by the EEI CAST test and a physical abilities test. The Health and Safety Coordinator for the Earlington Operations Area will determine the need for protective footwear for the trainee.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

The following language applies specifically to Green River Operations group employees only working a 12-hour shift schedule. Where an issue is not specifically addressed, the provisions of the Contract will apply.

1. WORKDAY AND WORKWEEK

- a. The normal workday will be 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for day shift and 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. for night shift.
- b. The workweek will begin at 6 a.m. Monday morning and end 6 a.m. the following Monday.
- c. The current 12-hour schedule now in effect will be the continued as per Article V, Section 5.1.

2. REST BREAKS AND LUNCH BREAKS

An employee will be given three (3) paid breaks and a paid lunch.

3. CREW SELECTION

Employees will be allowed to select crews per Article XXV of the Contract.

4. SHIFT DIFFERENTIAL

An additional $1.05 will be paid for all hours worked by employees scheduled on night shift. This will be included and paid at the overtime rate for all overtime hours worked.

5. SUNDAY PREMIUM

An additional $1.25 will be paid for all hours worked on Sunday. This will be included and paid at the overtime rate for all overtime hours worked.

6. HOLIDAYS

Holidays will remain as currently in the Contract. The first 8 hours will be paid at 2 ½ times the straight time rate or may be saved to be used at another agreed upon time. The last 4 hours of a 12 hour shift on a holiday will be paid at the straight time rate.

7. VACATION

- a. The amount of vacation will be 40 hours per week of eligible vacation.
- b. Full weeks of vacation will be calculated on the normal hours scheduled for that week.
- c. Full day vacations will be paid at 12 hours pay.
- d. Less than a full day of vacation will be continued per Section 8.3.
- e. Employees who take a full week of vacation will not be required to work their scheduled days off before, or after their vacation, with a maximum of one employee on each shift. Should two employees request to block out the same off days, the senior employee will be allowed to choose which off day period to block. The Company may allow more employees to block the same set of off days or an employee to block before and after their vacation if operational needs allow or no other employee has the time blocked.

8. OVERTIME

- a. Overtime will be paid at 1 ½ times the straight time rate for hours worked in excess of 12 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week. In the event an employee working a 36 hour week is required to work more than the scheduled 36 hours, the employee will be paid 1 ½ times the straight time rate for hours worked in excess of the employee's normally scheduled 36 working hours, except for the first 4 hours of non-mandatory meetings which will be paid at the regular straight time rate.
- b. Double time will be paid to an employee who is required to work on his last available consecutive off day, provided he has worked at least 6 hours on his previous off day.
- c. Double time will be paid for any hours worked in excess of 16 hours in a day.
- d. Open positions on the Operating Schedule being prepared for the following work week will be filled using the following procedure:

- (1) The operating schedule for the following week will be posted with all the required positions filled. Any vacancies on the schedule not filled by “on shift” operators will be filled on an overtime basis using the operator in the classification required with the least amount of actually worked overtime hours. Should a tie exist in the number of hours actually worked, the operator with the least amount of bargaining unit seniority will be used.
- (2) After the schedule is posted the Company will begin asking/calling available operators for the vacancies filled in Step 1. Contacts will be made beginning with the operator in the classification required with the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained, the Company will begin asking/calling the next higher bargaining unit classification beginning with operator in that classification with the least amount of total overtime. These contacts in this step will be completed by 8:00 a.m. Saturday.
- (3) The operator previously scheduled for that vacancy in Step 1 will be required to check with the shift supervisor anytime after 8:00 a.m. Saturday to determine if they have been released from that overtime. If no operator is obtained in Step 2, the operator scheduled for that vacancy in Step 1 will be required to fill the vacancy.
- (4) Vacancies will be filled beginning with the classification that is required for that shift. Example: If a Unit Operator is to be off work who would have been working in a Unit Operator Assistant position, then a Unit Operator Assistant will be scheduled for that position.
- (5) In filling overtime vacancies where the Company has short notice, the overtime will be considered a Call In. Calls will be made beginning with the operator in the classification required with the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained, the Company will begin calling the next higher bargaining unit classification beginning with operator in that classification with the least amount of total overtime. The first operator contacted will be informed that they will be required to fill this vacancy. If this operator requests, the Company will continue to attempt to contact other employees using the overtime list to obtain an operator for this vacancy. If another operator accepts the overtime shift, the Company will call the required employee back to release them from the obligation. If the required employee cannot be reached, then the person that accepted the shift will be called back and released from the overtime and the required person will report for this position.

e. If the call in of operators becomes a problem, a call in list may be established. Volunteers will be given the first opportunity for overtime. If coverage is still a problem, it may be necessary to establish a standby or on call list. The operators on call will be paid standby pay as outlined in the Contract.

f. A layover operator has the option of furnishing his or her own meals and receiving one-half hour overtime pay if he works in excess of two hours after his normal quitting time.

9. JURY DUTY

a. An employee will be paid 12 hours pay minus any fees paid by the court for missing a full shift.

b. An employee selected for jury duty must inform his/her supervisor as soon as possible. If the employee is scheduled to work the day shift, the employee will report to work if there is at least four (4) hours remaining in the shift. If an employee is scheduled to work the night shift, such employee will work the first six (6) hours of the shift on the day(s) of the jury service. If the employee is held past 1400 hours, the employee will not report for day shift or will be relieved of duty for the night shift.

10. BEREAVEMENT

An employee will be paid 12 hours pay for days missed. The number of days for various family members will be as outlined in Article XVII, Section 17.1.

11. SICK LEAVE PLAN

Employees will have 40 hours to be taken as outlined in Article XVII, Section 17.4.

12. RETIREMENT SERVICE

Employees hired before 1/1/06 who are covered by the defined benefit pension plan will have up to 80 scheduled hours worked in a two week payroll period counted as straight time for purposes under the Pension Plan.

13. VOTING TIME FOR ELECTIONS

Employees who are scheduled to work day shift on the day of a federal, state, or local election will be allowed up to two (2) paid hours to vote if they wish to do so. It is understood that employees will only be allowed off for the minimum length of time they need to vote depending on their place of residence in relation to the plant.

14. 12-HOUR OR 8-HOUR SHIFT

In August 2009 the Union will inform the Company of the Green River Power Plant operational employees' desire to stay on 12-hour shifts or return to 8-hour shifts. The Company will give considerable weight to the desires of the employees in considering whether to stay on 12-hour shifts or return to 8-hour shifts. The Company will meet with the Union for discussion before making a final decision on the shift to be worked. The Company will inform the Union of their decision by 10/1/09.

15. UNANTICIPATED ISSUES

The Company and the Union realize there may be issues that arise concerning employees on a 12-hour shift that may not have been anticipated. The Company and the Union will meet and attempt to resolve these issues using the principle that the solution will be as cost neutral as possible for both the Company and the employee(s). Should a resolution not be reached, the issue may be taken up in the Grievance and Arbitration Procedure.

LETTER OF UNDERSTANDING

Green River Generating Station

This will confirm the understanding reached during the 2012 negotiations between The United Steel, Paper and Forestry, Rubber, Manufacturing, Energy, Allied Industrial and Service Workers International Union (USW) and Kentucky Utilities Company (Company) concerning the Green River Generating Station.

If, in the Company's opinion, it becomes necessary to reduce the workforce at the Green River Generating Station because of the retirement of the Green River Generating Station's coal fired units or part thereof, the following procedure shall be followed:

1. The Company shall not lay off any Green River Generating Station employees as a result of the retirement of the Green River Generating Station's coal fired units.
2. Green River Generating Station employees shall have the right to elect severance benefits. Employees assigned to fill openings elsewhere in the Company will have the option of either electing severance benefits or accepting assignment to a new position. Green River Generating Station employees shall be entitled to a severance benefit payment equal to two weeks of pay for each full year of service, with a maximum benefit of fifty-two weeks. Additionally, the Company will pay an employee's group medical and dental premiums, provided an employee elects COBRA or retiree medical coverage, for a period equal to one month of coverage for each two full years of service, without proration, up to a maximum of twelve months. Receipt of these benefits is conditioned upon the individual employee signing and not revoking a full waiver and release of any actual or potential employment related claims against the Company, including waiver of contractual recall rights.
3. Green River Generating Station employees who do not elect severance benefits will be provided a list of available positions within the Company will be made available to the union. The available positions may be with any LG&E and KU Energy LLC subsidiary.

The employees provided with this list shall be allowed to state their preference for the available openings. With consideration being given to the list of employee preference, the available openings shall be filled based on Union seniority. In the event an employee refuses an available position pursuant to this provision, the employee will not be offered or entitled to any other position, but may elect to receive severance benefits in accordance with Paragraph 2 above. Employees placed into positions within the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) pursuant to this paragraph shall be reclassified to the new position and their pay shall be red-circled at the rate of pay which results from reducing the employees' former rate of pay by fifty percent (50%) of the difference between his former rate of pay and the rate of pay for his new classification. Employees placed into a position in the same classification at a Kentucky Utilities facility outside of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) shall be paid at the then current rates of pay applicable to that facility and consistent with the employees' step rate at the time of the placement. Employees placed into a position in a different classification at a Kentucky Utilities facility outside of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) shall receive the top rate of pay for the classification in which they are placed. Employees placed into positions at any other facilities will be paid in accordance with the then current pay practices and rates applicable to that facility. The company reserves the right to determine the appropriate classification and level for which the employee being placed is qualified.

4. The Company will make available Meter Reader positions equal to the number of Meter Reader positions filled by contractors in the Earlington Operations area at the time of the retirement of the Green River Generating Station. Meter Reader positions filled by employees pursuant to Paragraph 3 above shall have their pay red-circled at the rate of pay which results from reducing the employees' former rate of pay by fifty percent (50%) of the difference between their former rate of pay and the rate of pay for a COT after two years in classification and shall not be required to relocate. The Company retains the right, at its discretion, to contract out any Meter Reader positions filled by employees pursuant to Paragraph 3 above, in the event such employees subsequently leave the respective Meter Reader positions in which they are placed.

5. Employees placed into positions pursuant to Paragraph 3 must, in the Company's sole discretion, meet all requirements for the position, including, but not limited to satisfying the qualifications for the position, the education requirements for the position, and the residency requirements for the position. With respect to meeting the residency requirement, employees will have up to twelve (12) months to relocate.
6. It is understood that this agreement will not be construed as the Company's position of either previous or equivalent experience for any of the classifications or lines of progression involved in the transfers of the Green River Generating Station employees. Furthermore, the individual qualifications of such employees shall not serve as a precedent for any future applications of their classification.
7. With respect to Green River Generating Station employees, the provisions in this Letter of Understanding shall supersede the provisions set forth in Article 10 of the Collective Bargaining Agreement.
8. In the event the Company begins staffing a new generating facility on or before 12-31-2020 in the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) or 2 (Green River), the Company will endeavor to make available fifty percent (50%) of any union positions at such a new plant to former Green River Generating Station employees who were displaced as a result of the retirement of the Green River Generating Station's coal fired units and who remain employed by the Company at the time their service is needed at the new generating facility. Former Green River Generating Station employees who seek such positions must satisfy all requirements for the new positions including successful completion of all test required for such positions. Employees who satisfy all requirements will fill any such positions based on union seniority.
9. In the event the company requires employees to complete proper plant shutdown work, at least one of the Unit Officials, (Unit President, Unit Secretary, Unit Grievors), will be provided the opportunity to perform the proper plant shut down work for a period up to a maximum of 8 weeks, provided the Unit Official is qualified to perform the plant shut down work. The number of available positions to conduct proper plant shut down and the qualifications required for this work will be determined solely by the Company.

10. With respect to operations work at the Green River Generating Station, in order to satisfy labor requirements in the period leading up to the retirement of the facility, it is understood and agreed that the Company may contract out operations work pursuant to Article 2.3 of Collective Bargaining Agreement. Such operations contractors brought in pursuant to Article 2.3 will begin training in preparation to cover employee absences and other labor shortages. There will be no reduction in the normal work schedule as result of the utilization of contractors in operations. The normal work schedule is as defined in Article 5.1 of the contract. The overtime procedure outlined in the Memorandum of Agreement on 12 hour shifts will be used to fill any overtime vacancy. Once the overtime list is exhausted, then contract operators that are qualified to fill the vacancy will be offered the overtime opportunity. If no contractor accepts the overtime, the tagged operator (“required employee”) will be required to fill the overtime opportunity. At no time will there be more contractors assigned to a shift than the number necessary to ensure that the total number of qualified personnel on a shift is four (4) inclusive of contractors. Contractors may, however, be assigned to any shift for training and other assigned duties on that shift. In the event that the number of employees on a shift drops to three (3), a qualified contractor may be assigned to that shift in order to maintain a staffing level of (4) inclusive of contractors. As long as there are four (4) employees per shift, if both units are running, contractors, once qualified, will not be offered call in or planned overtime unless that overtime is first offered to employees. In the event that only one (1) unit is running, should a vacancy occur, no overtime will be assigned on a shift staffed by three (3) qualified personnel inclusive of contractors unless management deems it necessary in order to meet operational needs. No employee will be displaced as result of the assignment of a contractor to a shift.

11. The Company shall determine staffing requirements and the timing and procedures for completing the selection and/or assignment subject to the provisions set forth herein.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused this Agreement to be executed by their duly authorized representative to become effective February 1, 2012.

SCHEDULE A	31

THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into as of the 1st day of August, 2006, by and between KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY, a Virginia and Kentucky Corporation, with its principal offices and place of business in Lexington, Fayette County, Kentucky (doing business in Virginia as Old Dominion Power Company), hereinafter referred to as the "Company," party of the first part, and LOCAL UNION NO. 2100, INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS, AFL-CIO, hereinafter referred to as the "Union," party of the second part.

WITNESSETH:

THAT WHEREAS, the parties hereto desire to cooperate in the maintenance of just and equitable terms and conditions of employment and to provide methods for fair and peaceable adjustment of differences that may arise between them and to promote harmony and efficiency to the end that the Company and the Union and the general public may mutually benefit; and

WHEREAS, the continuous operation of the business of the Company is essential to the public welfare and it is, therefore, a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to maintain continuous and dependable service, irrespective of any differences which may occur at any time, it is mutually agreed by said parties as follows:

ARTICLE I

Section 1 Union Recognition

The Company hereby recognizes the Union as the exclusive bargaining agency for all its employees in its Pineville and Norton Operations and will continue to recognize the Union for all matters pertaining to rates of pay, hours of work and any and all conditions of employment during the life of this contract, but excluding without limitation all clerical employees, line supervisors and substation supervisors and supervisors who have the authority to hire and fire or recommend such action. This Agreement is restricted entirely to said Pineville and Norton Operations of the Company's system and is applicable only to the employees located within said Pineville and Norton Operations and within the classifications referred to in Article XIV.

Section 2 Authorization for Dues, Agency Fees, Deductions etc.

All Kentucky employees of the Company covered by this Agreement who on the date of execution of this Agreement are members or agency fee payers of the Union shall, as a condition of continued employment, remain members or agency fee payers for the term of the Agreement to the extent of paying the periodic dues or agency fees uniformly required. All Kentucky employees covered by this Agreement who are hired after the date of execution of this Agreement shall, as a condition of continued employment, become members or agency fee payers of the Union at the completion of their probationary period and remain members or agency fee payers for the term of this Agreement, to the extent of paying the initiation fee (or reinstatement fee) and periodic dues or agency fees uniformly required.

Section 3

The Company, where so authorized and directed by an employee in writing upon an authorization form, meeting all requirements of law and approved by the Company, will deduct from the wages of any and all employees in its Pineville and Norton Operations for whom the Union is bargaining agent, Union dues, agency fees, initiation fees and lawful unit wide assessments in the amounts authorized by each employee on one of the above mentioned forms. This deduction shall be made as designated by the employee on the approved form on the first pay day of each month and remitted promptly to Local Union No. 2100, 10400 Dixie Highway, Louisville, Kentucky 40272. All checks shall be made payable to International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 2100. Each remittance shall be accompanied by a list setting forth the amount deducted and the names of those from whom the deductions were made.

Section 4

In the event there is an overcharge made in making payroll deduction for dues, agency fees, initiation fees and assessments, the Union shall be responsible for adjustment of such claim, with the individual members.

Section 5

Section 2 of this Article shall not apply to Virginia employees. This Article is intended to comply with all requirements and the provisions of applicable state and federal law, and nothing herein contained shall require the taking of any action in violation thereof; the Union agrees to indemnify and save the Company harmless from any claim or liability arising out of any action taken by the Company in compliance herewith. However, in the event changes in the state and/or federal law should make the application of Section 2 above lawful for Virginia employees, then the provisions of said Section 2 shall apply to said Virginia employees.

Section 6 Management Rights

By reason of the nature of the business of the Company it is essential, and is therefore agreed, that the management of the Company and the supervision and control of all operations and the direction of the working forces, including the right to relieve employees from duty because of lack of work, or for just cause, the right to hire, suspend, discharge for cause, promote, demote or transfer employees and the right to operate the Company should be, and is, vested in, and reserved to, the Company, except as herein limited.

It is further agreed that in the interest of obtaining improved service, better operations or lower costs, the Company has the right to make changes in equipment, operations, and the organization of work, including the determination of job content, minimum requirements and qualifications; and combine jobs, eliminate jobs, and create new jobs, and it is understood that this is a proper function of management.

The Company shall have the right to formulate and enforce rules and regulations dealing with employee conduct and work and safety, which are not in conflict with this Agreement. The Company will notify the Union office in writing at least fourteen (14) calendar days prior to implementation of any new or revised rules or regulations and shall meet to discuss such changes during the fourteen (14) calendar day period if requested.

ARTICLE II

Section 1 No Strike – No Lockout

Union pledges to Company the loyal, honest, safe and dependable service of all its members who perform work under this Agreement.

The Company agrees not to lock out its employees and the Union agrees that there shall be no slowdown, sitdown, strike or other interference with or stoppage of the work of the Company on the part of the Union or any of its members, during the existence of this agreement.

Although it is a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to cooperate in maintaining a continuous and dependable public service, it shall not be a violation of this Agreement, nor cause for discharge or disciplinary action, for an employee as an individual matter to decline to cross a picket line at premises other than premises of the Company where loss of Company property or injury to the employee is threatened.

A duly identified and authorized representative of the Union shall, upon due advance arrangement, be granted access to Company premises for the purpose of investigating problems with which he is properly concerned in the administration of this Agreement. Union activity as permitted herein does not include Union business of an internal nature which does not involve the Company.

Section 2 Subcontracting

(1) The Company currently and historically utilizes outside contractors and subcontractors to supplement its own work force. These outside contractors and subcontractors are utilized primarily for the following reasons: to meet emergency situations; to obtain specialized services not readily available within the Company's work force; for purposes of business expediency (time); and to enable the Company to render service to its customers in the most efficient and economical manner practicable. While the Company expects that a continuation of such outside contracting policies will be necessary for prudent and efficient business operations during the life of this Agreement, the Company agrees that it will not subcontract work normally and usually performed by employees presently covered by this Agreement for the purpose of eroding the bargaining unit.

Additionally, the Company agrees that except in an emergency it will not subcontract the work involved in the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity of a type normally and usually performed by employees in journeyman classifications or above when such subcontracting would cause the layoff of, such employees or affect their recall. It shall not be a violation of this Agreement for the Company to continue subcontracting in areas where there has been no reduction in force.

(2) If it becomes necessary for the Company to contract out work of the type regularly and customarily performed by employees covered hereby, it shall notify the Union of such subcontracting and identify the type of contractual agreement, probable duration of the contract and the approximate number of employees involved in the performance of the contract. However, nothing in this article shall require the Company to assume unreasonable or excessive costs in its operations.

(3) It is agreed that outside contractors will not perform overtime work, normally performed by employees covered by this Agreement, except in the following circumstances and situations: where the employees in the work area affected have been offered the work; if an emergency exists and employees in the work area affected by the emergency have been fully utilized; or if it is necessary to have an equipment outage for the contractor to complete the work he is performing. It is not a violation of this Section for a contractor to continue or complete work on an overtime basis, provided the contractor is responsible for that work during the normal workweek. However, contractors will not be called out to perform overtime work unless one of the above three (3) exceptions has been met.

(4) The Company agrees that, others factors being substantially equal (i.e. price, availability, qualifications etc.), contractors who employ union members will be given preferred consideration. It is understood that this provision in no way creates third party beneficiary status for any individual or contractor.

Section 3 Successorship

The Company agrees that the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the parties will remain in full force and effect for the specified duration regardless of any change in the ownership of the Company. The Company will include a provision, in any sales or merger agreement, with any successor or assign, that will affirm and make the continuation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement a condition of the sale or merger of the Company.

ARTICLE III

Section 1 Notification in Event of Discharge of Employee

In the event of a discharge or suspension of any employee, the Company shall within forty-eight (48) hours give the employee and Local No. 2100 at Louisville, Kentucky, written notice thereof. If a written reprimand is given to an employee a copy will also be given to the Union.

Section 2 Grievance After Discharge or Suspension

In the event the Union or any discharged or suspended employee shall fail to file a written grievance within five (5) working days concerning the above mentioned discharge or suspension, such discharge or suspension shall be final.

Section 3 Union Representation – Stewards

For adequate representation of the employee groups, there shall be a steward at the following locations: Somerset, Kentucky, London, Kentucky, Pineville, Kentucky, Harlan, Kentucky, Pennington Gap, Virginia, and Norton, Virginia, and as many assistant stewards as may be needed, the names of all of whom shall be furnished to the Company. It is understood an assistant steward will function only in the absence of the steward. It is agreed that the Company will recognize the stewards as the official representatives of the employee group covered by the terms of this Agreement. (The right is reserved by the Union to change the stewards at will, provided that notice of any change is immediately given to the Company.) No steward shall be discriminated against by the Company because of his faithful performance of his duties as steward.

Section 4 Grievance Procedure

Should differences arise between the Company and Union as to the meaning and/or application or the observation and performance of any of the provisions of this Agreement, the following shall be the procedure for adjustment thereof, and any settlement reached in any step of this procedure will be final:

- (1) The employee and/or his steward shall first bring the grievance to the attention of his immediate supervisor.
- (2) If the grievance is not settled, it shall be reduced to writing so as to describe the complaint, designate the article and section of the contract which the aggrieved party contends has been violated and state briefly the events or actions which are alleged to be in violation of the contract and which justify the complaint and shall be presented by the aggrieved employee and/or his steward to the employee's immediate supervisor and the next level of management who did not participate at Step 1.
- (3) If the matter is not satisfactorily disposed of within three (3) working days, a Business Representative of the Union shall be called in. The Business Representative, the Steward, and such person or persons as the Union may designate, shall meet with the appropriate manager and such person or persons the Company may designate to make a thorough investigation. It is agreed that a fair and sincere effort shall be made to reach a satisfactory adjustment or settlement of all matters so presented within ten (10) working days after this meeting.

- (4) If the matter cannot be settled in the foregoing manner, it is agreed that the Union may refer the grievance to arbitration by giving notice to the Company in the manner hereafter specified, provided that such notice is given within forty-five (45) days after the occurrence of the event or action upon which the grievance is based or within such time as the period for giving notice may be extended by agreement of the parties in writing. If notice is not given within such period, the grievance shall be considered settled.
- (5) The Union may refer a grievance which the parties are unable to settle under the grievance procedure to arbitration by delivering to the human resources representative within the time specified in paragraph (4) written notification that it desires to arbitrate the grievance. The Company and the Union shall each appoint a representative and such representatives shall seek agreement as to the identity of a mutually acceptable arbitrator. If they are unable to agree, the Company and Union shall jointly request the American Arbitration Association to provide a list of seven (7) qualified (National Academy of Arbitrators member) arbitrators who have training or experience in the subject of the dispute in question. The representatives of the parties shall either agree to an arbitrator on the list or select one by each party alternating striking a name from the list until one name remains, either party may reject one list per case. More than one grievance may be submitted to the same arbitrator if a multiple submission is acceptable to both parties. The compensation and expenses of the arbitrator shall be borne equally by the parties. The compensation and expenses, if any, of witnesses and other participants in the arbitration shall be borne by the party desiring or requesting their presence.
- (6) Employee disciplinary records shall not be utilized in arbitration involving discipline administered to that employee if such records are more than five (5) years old, provided that employee has not received discipline within the five (5) year period.

Section 5 Arbitration

The jurisdiction of the arbitrator shall be strictly limited to the determination of disputes having to do with the application of the provisions of the Agreement which have been submitted to arbitration as provided herein. But said arbitrator shall have no power to change any of the provisions of the Agreement.

Section 6 Grievance Meetings

Grievances to be handled through the grievance procedure shall be taken up at such time of day as will least interfere with the regular working hours of the employees involved. If the Company finds it more convenient and practical to conduct such proceedings during regular working hours, then Union grievance representatives who are called from their regular duty will be paid their regular wages as though they were on regular duty.

ARTICLE IV

Leaves of Absence – Union Business

The Company, upon written request from the union, shall grant to the officers and committees of the Union all necessary and reasonable leaves of absence to transact Union business, provided reasonable notice shall be given and their seniority and all other rights with the Company shall not be affected due to their absence. It is understood and agreed, however, that the Company shall not be required to grant such leave of absence to any employee whose absence, in the opinion of the Company, would interfere with the proper operation of its business. The Company shall also have the right to recall any employee who has been granted a leave of absence, in the event an emergency or for operational effectiveness shall, in the opinion of the Company, make such recall necessary.

Union members who are excused from work for the conduct of Union business, and who are not eligible for compensation by the Company for the time so spent, shall, upon request by the Union, be compensated by the Company for straight-time work hours missed. The Union will reimburse the Company for these hours upon proper notice. The Company's obligation under this section shall be suspended if, after thirty (30) calendar days from demand for proper reimbursement, such reimbursement is not received by the Company. Any contested amount of reimbursement is all that may be withheld by the Union to avoid the suspension of such obligation.

Union members' absences from work for the conduct of Union business will be limited to twenty (20) work days in a calendar year. However, the Company will give additional consideration in this area on a case by case basis to requests which are submitted in writing.

ARTICLE V

Exclusive Contract

During the life of this Agreement the Company will not enter into any contract with any employee or group of employees, or with any other organization in the Company which would supersede or modify the provisions of this Agreement, unless required to do so under the provisions of the National Labor Relations Act or any of the amendments thereto.

ARTICLE VI

No Discrimination, Interference or Intimidation of Employee by Company or Union

The Company further agrees that it will not interfere with, restrain or coerce employees because of membership or lawful activity in the Union, nor will it by discrimination with respect to hire, tenure or employment or any other term or condition of employment or in any manner attempt to discourage membership in the Union.

The Union agrees that neither the Union nor any of its members will interfere with, intimidate, restrain or coerce any employee in any manner whatsoever with respect to his right to work or the free exercise of his own choice as to Union membership or non-union membership, and further that there shall be no solicitation of employees for Union membership or dues on Company's time or property, provided, however, that if any employee shall lease or rent his residence from Company, then such residence shall not be considered as Company property for the purpose of this paragraph.

Any claim of violation of any of the provisions of this Article, either by Company or Union, shall constitute a complaint which shall be adjusted through the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof.

ARTICLE VII

Section 1 Probationary Period

The Company and the Union agree that it is necessary for the Company to hire additional employees, in excess of the number needed from time to time for normal operation, for the purpose of new construction work, unusual, seasonal or emergency maintenance or operating conditions, and to train such employees for replacement of, or additional to, its regular personnel. All such employees shall be classed as probationary employees until completion of ninety (90) days of continuous employment, during which the employee works for the Company, and during said time such employee shall acquire no seniority. Any employee, if still employed at the end of said ninety (90) days period, shall either be released from employment by the Company or placed upon the regular employee list, and if and when so placed upon the said regular employee list, his seniority shall begin from the date of his original employment. There shall be no responsibility for reemployment of probationary employees if they are laid off or released during said period of ninety (90) days. However, any claim of personal prejudice or any claim of discrimination for Union activity in connection with the layoff or release of probationary employees shall be considered and decided through the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof. Such claims must be supported by written evidence at the time the complaint is filed.

Section 2 Temporary Employees

When students and others are hired for vacation replacements or other temporary needs, it is agreed that their employment is temporary and will not exceed one hundred ten (110) working days. These employees shall not accrue seniority.

ARTICLE VIII

Section 1 Determination of Seniority

Region-wide seniority shall mean the aggregate years, months and days of work performed in the bargaining unit by an employee on the job for this Company. However, for the purpose of this Article VIII, region-wide seniority shall consist of (a) length of continuous service; (b) knowledge, skill and ability; and (c) physical fitness. When knowledge, skill and ability and physical fitness are relatively equal, length of continuous service shall govern. If any claim shall be made that any promotion, demotion, transfer or increase or decrease in force, including layoff or reemployment made by the Company, is due to discrimination, the dispute shall be settled under the grievance procedure provided for in Article III hereof.

Section 2 Seniority List

The Company will post a list of its employees' seniority records, including those now in the military service, and give the Union a copy for checking for its correctness.

An up-to-date seniority list shall be made available by the Company to the Union semi-annually in May and November.

Section 3 Decrease or Increase of Working Force

Whenever the Company reduces its working force, employees shall be laid off in accordance with and in inverse order of their seniority, via; length of continuous service, knowledge, skill and ability and physical fitness as provided in Section 1 hereof.

Whenever the Company increases its working force after a layoff, the employees shall be returned to work in the inverse order in which they were laid off. No new employee shall be hired for jobs covered by this Agreement before all laid off employees qualifying under Section 1 of this Article shall have been offered the opportunity to return to work.

Each laid off employee shall keep the Company advised in writing of his correct mailing address twice yearly and the mailing or telegraphing by the Company of notice that a job is available, to the said address, shall be deemed sufficient compliance with any provision hereof with respect to giving preference to said laid off employees.

Section 4 Loss of Seniority

Seniority shall be lost for the following reasons:

- (a) By the employee voluntarily leaving the employ of the Company.
- (b) By the discharge of an employee, if such discharge is not reversed through the grievance procedure.
- (c) By the failure of an employee, after a layoff, to report back to work within six (6) days after being offered reemployment or to give a satisfactory reason to the Company for further delay.

Section 5 Job Vacancies

In the event a vacancy occurs which, in the opinion of the Company, must be filled or a new job is created; that is to say, when an employee quits or is discharged or is transferred from one department or from one location to another, or is changed from one shift to another, or is retired, or dies, the Company shall post a notice of such vacancy within five (5) working days after the vacancy occurs, stating the maximum rate of pay, classification, immediate supervisor, shift and residence requirements, if any, on all bulletin boards for a minimum of five (5) working days before permanently selecting the employee. If such notice is subsequently modified it shall remain posted for a minimum of five (5) working days after such modification before the Company permanently selects the employee. The Company will select the employee to fill the vacancy within twenty (20) working days following its posting of said notice. Within five (5) working days after the Company's Region Office receives a fully approved payroll authorization, authorizing such action, the employee selected shall be placed on the job, and all other applicants for the job will be advised in writing of the name of the selected applicant. When new jobs are created or vacancies occur, said jobs or vacancies will be posted by the Company, as hereinabove provided, and application must be made for the job during said period of five (5) working days. The advice and recommendation of a board consisting of the employee's steward, a Business Representative of the Union and not to exceed two employees having knowledge of the job and/or qualifications of the bidders, selected by the steward and the Business Representative will be considered in filling such vacancies, which board will meet with not more than four (4) Company representatives, but such jobs may be filled by the Company temporarily until a suitable person has been selected by the Company. In the event an employee makes an application for a job vacancy posted in accordance with the provisions of this Article and is selected to fill the vacancy, then refuses to accept that job, the Company shall not be obligated to consider applications for other job vacancies, with the exception of a vacancy created by death, from that employee for a period of six (6) months following the date of posting of the job vacancy which was refused by the employee.

Any employee who successfully changes Line of Business through the bidding procedure can not subsequently bid to another Line of Business for one (1) year.

Any employee hired during the term of this contract shall be barred from bidding to another Line of Business for one (1) year from date of hire.

Section 6 Moving Expenses

A. When the permanent reporting location of an employee is changed (a) because of his bidding into a permanent job vacancy under Article VIII, Section 5 of this Agreement, or, (b) when the Company requests and the employee consents to transfer to another location, or, (c) when the Company requires the employee to transfer to another location, and the employee is required to move his residence because of this change, the Company will pay a lump sum payment, net of taxes, equal to:

- One (1) month's base pay for renters
- Two (2) month's base pay for home owners

B. As much advance notice as possible will be given the employee of the proposed change in headquarters to give him sufficient time to arrange for new quarters in the new locality. If it is not possible to give the employee reasonable notice of the proposed change in permanent headquarters, and it is necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay his reasonable board and lodging expenses not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon. If it is not possible to give such reasonable notice of the change, but it is not necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay mileage at its standard rate for the mileage by which the distance from his present residence to his new headquarters exceeds the distance to his old headquarters, not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon.

C. The Company shall not be obligated to pay the moving expenses of (a) any employee who has less than twelve (12) months of continuous service since last date of hire, or, (b) in the case of any other employee, more than once in any period of twelve (12) consecutive months in connection with that employee's transfer to a new regular place of employment, unless (in either case) the move is at the Company's request.

Section 7 Leave of Absence

Employees may, for proper cause, be granted leave of absence up to thirty (30) days without jeopardizing their seniority and by mutual agreement between the employees involved, the Union and the Company, such period may be further extended.

Section 8 Absence from Duties

Upon prior arrangement with Company, employees shall be entitled to be absent from their duties without pay not to exceed three (3) days per calendar year.

Section 9 Return to Work After Accident or Illness

After a regular employee has recovered from accident or sickness and reports for work, he shall be returned to his regular job, provided he is physically able and qualified to perform his job.

Section 10 Handicapped Employees

Nothing in this Article shall be construed to diminish any rights an employee would otherwise have under this Agreement, the Americans with Disabilities Act, the Workers' Compensation Laws of Kentucky and Virginia or other applicable laws.

Section 11 Unexcused Absence from Job Grounds for Discharge

The absence of any employee from his regular shift of duty for a total of three times within any three months' period without properly notifying the Company and without a reasonable and satisfactory excuse may, at the Company's option, be grounds for discharge.

Section 12 Residence Requirements

- (a) Line Technicians shall reside either (1) within the service territory of the technician's reporting location or (2) within thirty (30) road miles of that same reporting location. Line Technicians, whose reporting location is changed by the Company, will not be required to relocate.

- (b) Service Technicians shall reside either (1) within the service territory of the office to which the technician regularly reports or (2) within twenty (20) road miles of that same reporting office.
- (c) Employees in Service or Line Technician positions as of the effective date of this policy (August 1, 1992) who do not meet these residency requirements will not be required to move. However, those Service or Line Technicians can not move any further from their current reporting location than they now live.
- (d) Line Technicians may transfer or bid to other positions within that line crew or to another line crew at the same reporting location without having to move.
- (e) Line Technicians described in paragraph (a) who transfer to Service Technician positions described in paragraph (b), must meet the residency requirements set forth in paragraph (b) even if the transfer does not involve a change in reporting location.
- (f) Service or Line Technicians that transfer to a position at a different reporting location than they now have must meet the residency requirements for that location.

Section 13 Maternity Leave

An employee on maternity leave (or otherwise absent by reason of pregnancy) may utilize any accumulated paid sick leave in accordance with the Company's paid sick leave plan, and even if the employee does not plan to return to work, accumulated paid sick leave may be utilized to the same extent it could be if the employee applied for maternity leave.

An employee on maternity leave may remain on leave for a period equal to the time allowed for non-work related illness or injury.

Upon return to work the employee will either be returned to the former job or placed in another position in accordance with the practice in effect for employees returning from leave because of sickness or injury. If the employee fails to return to work at or prior to the expiration of maternity leave or refuses to take the position made available as above provided, her employment will terminate.

Section 14 Health & Safety

The Company and the Union recognize the need for a strong Health and Safety Program for the benefit of all employees and the Company. The Union will cooperate in assisting and maintaining the Company's rules regarding health and safety. The Company recognizes the interest of the Union in the health and safety of its members, and will give careful consideration to any recommendations made by it.

The Company and the Union agree to a Joint Health and Safety Advisory Committee for the purpose of reviewing, discussing and recommending new or revised safety and health rules and procedures. The Committee shall be chaired by the Manager, Health and Safety, and shall meet quarterly. This Committee shall consist of not more than two (2) members of the Company and two (2) members of the Union. The Union representatives who shall attend a particular meeting shall be made known to the Manager, Health and Safety not less than two (2) weeks prior to the date established for the meeting. At the same time, the Union shall notify the Company of the subjects it desires to address at the meeting.

Employees in the Armed Forces

Except as otherwise provided by law, if it should become necessary for an employee to leave the service of the Company to serve in the Armed Forces of the United States, or should an employee volunteer for service in any of the Armed Forces of the United States, the Company's policy states that it will provide support for employee's military service obligations consistent with its obligations under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA) and any applicable state and/or local laws. The Military Leave Policy applies to all LG&E Energy Corp. and subsidiaries. Except as otherwise provided by law, this Article shall not apply to any employee who re-enlists or otherwise extends his period of full-time military service beyond the period of time of his military obligation to the United States.

Section 1 Holidays

The Company will permit as many of its employees as practicable to be absent from their duties with regular pay on the following holidays: New Year's Day, Good Friday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, the day after Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. An employee's birthday shall be recognized as a holiday on the employee's actual birthday or on a day during each calendar year mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company. A Personal Leave Day shall be recognized as a holiday in each calendar year on a day mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company.

Section 2

An employee scheduled to work on any of the above holidays shall be entitled, at his option, either (a) upon the exercise of this option by notice to the Company before the end of the pay period involved, to be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times his regular rate of pay for the hours worked, or (b) to be absent from his duties with regular pay on a day to be mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company. An employee shall be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) on a holiday.

This section shall not apply to employees called out for emergency work on one of the above holidays, which shall be governed by the provisions of Section 6 of Article XIII. Except in cases of emergency, unscheduled absences of other employees, or with respect to an employee regularly scheduled to work on a holiday, employees shall be notified three (3) working days in advance of being required to work on a holiday.

Section 3 Work on Scheduled Off Days

Any employee who is required to work on his scheduled off day shall be paid time and a half and shall not be denied continuing his regular shift of duties during the week.

Any employee who is required to work on his last consecutive off day shall be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate, provided he worked at least three (3) hours on his previous off day.

ARTICLE XI

Vacations

Effective January 1, 2000, eligible employees will earn vacation from date of hire based on years of service in accordance with the following schedule:

Vacation Earned	Completed Years of Service Attained During Calendar Year
5 days	Maximum in year of hire
10 days	Years 1-4

15 days	Years 5-14
20 days	Years 15-24
25 days	Years 25 and above

Such employees on a forty (40) hour workweek shall be paid the equivalent of forty (40) hours at their straight time hourly base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments, for each week of vacation. Such employees who normally work more than twenty (20) but less than forty (40) hours per week (a part-time employee, should such be included in the bargaining unit during the life of this Agreement) shall be eligible for one-half the normal vacation entitlement (earned/accrued).

Eligibility

A. To qualify for vacation in the following year, an employee must be active on the payroll as of December 31. An exception to this requirement applies to those employees who are on approved Family and Medical Leave.

B. An employee reinstated from inactive status shall become eligible for vacation based on his or her anniversary date:

- An employee returning to work from January 1 through June 30 is eligible for earned vacation during the calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay.
- An employee returning to work on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the calendar year.

C. Employees hired directly by the Company to fill temporary positions (not hired as temporaries through contractors) who later become regular employees of the Company are eligible for vacation accrual retroactive to the beginning of their temporary employment with the Company.

D. An employee hired between January 1 and June 30 is eligible for 5 days of vacation during that calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay. An employee hired on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the initial calendar year of employment. After the initial calendar year of employment, an employee can take vacation effective January 1 or upon three (3) continuous months of active service, whichever is later, based upon the above schedule.

E. Employees who are rehired as regular full time employees accrue vacation at the same rate as when they left employment if they were employed for one year of continuous service prior to separation and if the separation was for one year or less.

Scheduling of Vacations

A. Vacations, except in case of emergency (in which case special arrangements must be made by the employee with his department head), shall be taken at least one work week at a time.

B. In the event that an employee doesn't sign his weeks consecutively, the Company will go to the next employee in seniority who will be entitled to sign for his vacation.

C. Heads of departments shall schedule vacations annually as soon as practicable after the beginning of the year. Subject to the need to maintain the necessary complement of employees at all times, departmental employees shall have their choice of time for vacations in order of their seniority.

D. At an employee's request, an excused absence may be charged to vacation time to which an employee is then entitled.

Accumulating Vacations

Vacation time may not be accumulated from one year to the next, and vacations earned as of any January 1 must be liquidated by time off by December 31 of that same year, except that with the responsible manager's prior written approval, an employee may defer up to five days of vacation to the following calendar year.

Vacation Pay at Separation

An employee who quits, dies, retires or is discharged on or after any January 1 and without having received the vacation for which he became eligible upon such date, will be entitled to his vacation pay upon termination of employment. Any such payment due an employee who has died shall be made to the person designated as beneficiary on his group life coverage, if living, otherwise to the employee's estate. No employee leaving the employment of the Company during any calendar year shall be entitled to any vacation pay in the following year.

Pay in Lieu of Vacation

An employee with four weeks of vacation eligibility (including carry-over) may "sell back" one week of vacation after they have taken two weeks of vacation and carried over one week. Payout for such a week of worked vacation will occur in January of the following year.

Vacation During Illness, Disability, or Personal Leave of Absence

A. If an employee goes on paid sick leave or becomes unable to work because of compensable occupational injury prior to the time his vacation is scheduled to commence, his vacation will be rescheduled later in the year, except that an employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, at his option, cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay and take his vacation as previously scheduled. The vacation of an employee who becomes ill or is injured after working his last shift prior to vacation will not be rescheduled, and he will not be eligible for any sick pay until such scheduled vacation has expired.

B. An employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, upon advance written request, elect at the end of the calendar year to cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay for any unused vacation period in order to avoid loss of vacation pay. An employee disabled as the result of a compensable occupational injury or who is receiving long term disability insurance payments at the end of a vacation year and is unable to work during any unused vacation period or take pay in lieu of vacation within the parameters specified within this article, will not receive pay for the vacation not taken, except as provided in Paragraph C below.

C. In the year in which an employee incurs an occupational injury or illness, after the application of up to one week vacation carry-over as specified within this article, the employee shall receive payment for any remaining unused vacation in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between what the employee received from workers' compensation insurance or Short Term Disability pay and the employee's regular straight time wages assuming a 40-hour work week.

D. An employee will earn vacation during approved personal leaves of absence on a prorated basis as follows:

- an employee on a PLOA of one full month to three full months will earn 75 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule; and
- an employee on a PLOA of four to six months will earn 50 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule.

Vacation at Retirement

Any employee who retires may elect to work during all weeks of any vacation to which he may be entitled in the year of retirement, and for each such week of vacation worked, shall receive with his final payroll check additional compensation in an amount computed on the same basis as is then employed in computing the compensation paid to other employees who work during one week of their vacation and take pay in lieu as specified within this article.

ARTICLE XII

Section 1 Work Away from Headquarters, Travel on Company Time, Meals

(a) Whenever an employee is assigned duties distant from his regular place of employment, he will be provided transportation or transportation expense between the assigned job and his regular place of employment or headquarters. If, in the opinion of his supervisor, it is impractical for the employee to return daily to his regular place of employment, the Company will provide suitable lodging and board near the place of such temporary employment. Except in cases of emergencies, employees required to stay away from home overnight will be given notice as soon as possible but not later than the day before. Under normal circumstances where employees are performing work which is not of an emergency nature, a light-duty Company vehicle, which is adequate to provide transportation, is assigned to the job and available, and the location of the work is within 50 road miles distance from the place at which the employees regularly report to work, the employees will not be required to stay out of town overnight, such travel to be on Company time. Employees who are not notified that they are to work out of town the day before such work is to be performed will be provided by the Company an additional $7.00 of compensation to be added to the employee's payroll check as reimbursement for the purchase of the noon meal while performing such work. Employees will be provided meals outside normal working hours during such work as provided under sections 1(b) and 1(c) of this Article XII.

(b) Whenever planned work or emergency work occurs which requires the employee or employees to work before or beyond their normal hours to such an extent that it conflicts with or interferes with their regular meal time, then in such cases the meal or meals will be paid for by the Company.

(c) Whenever any employee or employees, after completing their normal working hours, are called out for extra work because of emergency or service interruption and required to work in excess of two (2) hours, then the Company will pay for meal or meals required.

Section 2 Work Away from Regular Place of Employment

No employee shall be required, except during emergencies, to stay away from his regular place of employment or headquarters for a continuous period of more than two weeks.

Section 3 Travel Time

For each trip authorized by the Company, between the places of work assigned and the regular place of work or headquarters, time required for travel shall be considered as time worked.

Section 4 Double Shift or Part Shift

Any employee who, after the completion of a regular shift of duty, is ordered to double shift, or part shift, shall not be denied the privilege of continuing his regular shift during any work week.

Section 5 Temporary Transfer

No employee who is performing a regular job attained by virtue of seniority shall be transferred by the Company to another location without the consent of the employee, except in case of temporary transfers not exceeding three months in duration or in case of emergency.

Section 6 Acting Supervisor

On a crew with three or more persons, whenever a regular supervisor in the classification of Line Supervisor, Service Supervisor, Substation Supervisor, Shift Engineer, Chief Electrician or Chief Meter Technician is on vacation or off the job for any cause, and another employee is ordered by the person to whom such supervisor reports (or, in his absence, such person's supervisor) to perform the work of a supervisor for eight (8) hours or more, the employee shall receive his regular rate of pay or the rate of pay of the supervisor, whichever is higher, during the period that the employee performs said work.

Section 7 Temporary Supervisor

When the Company combines two or more crews (to form a combined crew of four or more) for a project, unless a Supervisor A is assigned to the resulting work group, a Supervisor B will be temporarily promoted to Supervisor A for the period during which the crews are combined. If a crew normally consisting of four or more men, including the Supervisor, is reduced to a crew consisting of three men, including the Supervisor, the Supervisor A of that crew shall continue to receive the wage of a Supervisor A as long as he continues in the position of Supervisor of that crew.

Section 8 Two-Person Crew Premium

When two non-supervisory employees are assigned work to be performed without the direction of a supervisor and the work involves the installation, maintenance or operation of electric lines or equipment, the company may designate one of the employees to be in charge of the work to be performed. The employee designated to be in charge shall be paid a $1.00 per hour premium over their regular rate of pay.

Section 9 Temporary or Emergency Work in Lower Classification

An employee ordered to perform work for the convenience of the Company, temporarily or in an emergency, in a lower classification, shall receive the rate of pay for the classification in which he is regularly employed.

Section 10 Furnishing of Tools

The Company will furnish all tools required by the employee for use in the performance of his normal work.

Section 11 Uniform Laundering

The Company will arrange uniform laundering for employees working out of their service territory for extended periods.

ARTICLE XIII

Section 1 Normal Work Week

The normal work week of employees covered by this Agreement shall consist of five days of eight hours each, Monday through Friday. Except during emergencies or during extraordinary circumstances, lunch hour shall not begin earlier than eleven (11:00) A.M. nor later than one (1:00) P.M., local standard time.

The Substation Department crews and Meter Department personnel shall begin their workday at 7:00 a.m. and end at 4:00 p.m. with one hour for lunch break. The lunch hour shall not begin earlier than ten (10:00) a.m. nor later than twelve (12:00) noon, local standard time.

The Company may consider reasonable requests received from a majority of the members of a service crew to change the normal starting and quitting times, such decision to remain solely within the Company's discretion to exercise.

Section 2 Overtime, Rates of Pay

The wages of the aforesaid employees shall be computed on an hourly basis, equal to the employees' hourly rate as provided in Article XIV hereof. The basic wage shall consist of forty hours worked each week at the employee's hourly rate, and in addition to such basic wage, time and one-half shall be paid for all hours worked in excess of eight hours within any twenty-four hour period, or forty hours within a work week, whichever is greater, but in no case both; provided, however, said additional payment for work in excess of eight hours in any twenty-four hour period shall not be paid to any employee in a relief classification for work he performs while working his regular relief schedule.

Section 3 Division of Overtime

The Company will endeavor to divide overtime work, other than in an emergency, equally among the employees regularly assigned to that kind of work. An employee who cannot be contacted will not be charged with overtime which he would otherwise have worked. For overtime groups at various locations who so desire, an overtime record will be posted on the appropriate bulletin board.

Section 4 Overtime – Idle Holiday Counted as Time Worked

An idle holiday shall be counted as a day worked for determining weekly overtime.

Section 5 Pay Provisions for Change in Schedule and Partially Used Time

An employee who is scheduled or notified to report for work on a regular shift and does report for work at the time specified without having been given actual notice of change of schedule, shall receive full pay at his regular rate for his scheduled (non-overtime) hours on that day, even though idle or sent home early because of delay or shortage of materials or for other reasons beyond his control. This provision shall not apply in the event that:

- (a) Strikes or work stoppages by employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement in connection with labor disputes interfere with the conduct of normal operations; or An employee is not put to work or is released from work after having been put to work either at his own request or due to his own fault.

Section 6 Call Out Time

Employees called out for emergency work shall receive a minimum of two (2) hours' pay at one and one-half times their regular rate of pay for such work, except that if the employee begins such emergency work after midnight, but prior to the regular starting time of the first day shift, he shall be entitled to receive a minimum of three (3) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay for such work.

Employees called out for emergency work on a normal day off or on an observed Company holiday will receive a minimum of three (3) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay for such work.

Section 7 Planned Overtime on Off Day

An employee scheduled for planned overtime work on a day which would be a scheduled off day on his normal work schedule will receive a minimum of four (4) hours' pay at one and one-half times his regular rate of pay. Employees shall not, in order to be entitled to the four hours' minimum, be required to remain on the job for any longer than it takes to complete the planned work, including any work related to or arising from the planned work. On three-day weekends, the Company will not schedule planned overtime work on customer-owned facilities, except in the case of hospitals.

An employee making timely request may decline planned overtime; provided sufficient employees regularly assigned to and qualified to perform the work are available and willing to work.

Section 8 Minimum Rest Period

When in the opinion of the Company, an employee has worked such any extended period of time as to impair his effectiveness or present a hazard to his health or safety, or to the health and safety of fellow employees, he may be required by the Company to leave work for a rest period of up to eight (8) hours. After sixteen (16) continuous hours worked an employee may request and will be granted a minimum rest period of eight (8) hours.

Such rest period shall be taken in its entirety unless the employee is requested and agrees to return to work before the expiration of such eight (8) hour rest period. If such rest period overlaps the employee's regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day, the employee shall be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours which overlap unless the rest period was initiated by the employee in accordance with this policy. If the rest period ends within two (2) hours or less of the end of the employee's regularly scheduled shift, the employee may either return to work at his regular hourly rate of pay or not return to work and forfeit the remaining hours in his shift.

An employee who is called out for emergency work and works at least sixteen (16) hours, and such emergency work continues beyond one-half (½) of the employee's regular shift, and the emergency is declared over as determined by the Company, that employee may request an eight (8) hour rest period and be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours remaining in his shift up to four (4) hours. If in this situation the employee chooses to continue to work the remainder of his shift and the Company agrees for him to work, he will continue to be paid double-time for the rest of his shift.

Section 9 Continuous Hours Worked (Time and one-half)

All continuous hours worked after the end of the employee's last previous regular shift by an employee during periods which commence more than eight (8) hours prior to the employee's next regularly scheduled starting time and continue into his regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day shall be paid at one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's regular hourly rate of pay if the employee completes his regular shift on such work day; provided, however, if the emergency situation (or other cause for his presence outside his normal working hours) should end during the employee's regularly scheduled shift of duty, and he is offered the opportunity to leave work, he may either leave work at that time (without loss of the time and one-half treatment for such continuous hours worked) or complete the remainder of his regular shift at his regular hourly rate of pay. During the continuation of an emergency situation as determined by the Company, for pay purposes, the continuity of the employee's work shall not be considered to be broken by short breaks for meals, refreshments, or rest periods authorized by his supervisor.

An employee who is called out for emergency work more than four (4) hours before his regular starting time and who completes such work within two (2) hours of his regular starting time and is thereafter released from duty, shall continue to be paid at the appropriate overtime rate until his normal starting time. He will be paid his normal straight-time rate of pay for working his normal shift.

Section 10 Daylight Savings Time

An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made to Daylight Saving Time (normally in the spring) and who only actually works seven (7) hours instead of his normal eight (8) because of the change shall receive pay for his normal eight (8) hours. An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made from Daylight Saving Time (normally in the fall) and who actually works nine (9) hours because of the change, shall receive pay at the established premium rate for the ninth (9th) hour.

Section 11 Continuous Hours Worked – (Double-time)

An employee who works more than sixteen (16) continuous hours shall be paid two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all such hours worked.

Section 12 On-Call

Each employee who serves in a weekly On-Call status will be paid eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per week. If an employee works on service calls outside his normal scheduled workday during his On-Call week, he will be paid for such time worked in accordance with Article XIII-Overtime. The eighty-five dollars ($85.00) weekly On-Call pay is provided to compensate the employee for the interruption of lifestyle being on-call contains. The on-call employee, in exchange for the eighty-five dollars ($85.00), agrees to remain available and fit to respond to call outs during the week they serve as the On-Call person.

Eligibility:

All employees in the area who are classified as:

- Service Technician A
- Line Technician A
- Line Supervisor B
- Service Technician B with at least two years in classification as a Technician B
- Line Technician B with at least two years in classification as a Technician B

Areas to be staffed with an On-Call person:

- Harlan
- Pineville
- London
- Somerset
- Norton
- Pennington Gap

On-Call Staffing:

Each area will implement their own system of determining their On-Call person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload. At least on a weekly basis, the Union will provide to management the name of the employee designated to be on-call for each area.

Dispatcher's Priority

Dispatcher's will make the first call to the Service Technician who is assigned to the area where the service is needed. If that person is unavailable or unable to respond, the next call will go to the "On-Call" person for that area. If the Union and management in an area agree, the first call will go to the "On-Call" person.

If an employee serves in an On-Call status for service calls for less than one (1) week, he will be paid one (1) hour's pay at his appropriate overtime rate in addition to time spent on any service calls for each day he serves in an On-Call status for service calls.

Section 13 Emergency Electric Restoration for Another Utility

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid one and one half (1-1/2) times his hourly rate for the first eight (8) hours worked in any one day.

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) in any one day. This two (2) times his hourly wage rate provision does not apply when such work is performed for any affiliated company of E.ON U.S. LLC within the state of Kentucky.

ARTICLE XIV

Classification of Schedule "A"

It is agreed that wage rates for the several classifications of work shall be established in accordance with the work classifications and progression schedule attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked Schedule "A" for identification, and that the application thereof shall be in the following manner: Whenever an employee is promoted to a classification having a higher starting rate, he shall receive the starting rate of the new classification, or if such starting rate represents an increase in pay of less than five cents (5¢) per hour, he shall receive the rate of the new classification applicable (After One Year). In the event such employee is promoted to a new classification at a higher rate than the starting rate, he shall progress as though he had already worked the period required by the preceding steps of the classification.

An employee who successfully bids between the Line Technician C, Service Technician C, or Meter Technician C classifications will retain the employee's rate and time in progression steps.

Payroll periods will be on a bi-weekly basis with employees being paid every other Friday.

Section 1 Sick Leave, Group Insurance, Survivors Insurance, Service Annuity, Medical Care Plan, Employee Savings Plan, Employee Assistance Program, Dependent Care Assistance Plan, Dependent Life Insurance Plan

During the term of this Agreement the Company will provide the existing or no less favorable sick leave, group life insurance, long-term disability insurance, retirement annuity and medical, including post-retirement medical insurance benefits, dental assistance program, employee savings plan, employee assistance program, dependent care assistance plan, and dependent life insurance plan for members of the bargaining unit as are provided for other full time employees of the Company. The details of such benefits shall be as specifically provided in master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. The Company will furnish identification cards for medical purposes. The Company will furnish each employee annually the amount of accumulated sick leave.

The Company will assume an increase of 4% in each year of the Contract in medical and hospitalization expense per employee. To the extent this expense increases over 4% the employees will absorb increases up to the next 4%. Should the total increase exceed 8%, the Company and the employees will equally share in the balance of that expense.

Section 2 Funeral Leave

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of five days for Immediate Family Members who include: spouse, child, step-child, or parent or step-parent.

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of three days for Other Family Members who include: brother, sister, grandparents, grandchildren, parents-in-law, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law, spouses of the employee's brothers or sisters, employee's spouse's brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents, step relations of the preceding, or any relative living with the employee.

Such days shall be consecutive work days and shall not extend beyond the day following the funeral, except in the case of the death of an Immediate Family Member in which case such days may extend to the second day following the funeral, and shall be conditioned on the employee's attendance at the funeral. Payment will not be made for any day during such three-day period on which the employee would not otherwise work.

Employees will not be paid for unused funeral leave.

Should the employee need to be absent on a normal scheduled day or days, other than those for which payment is provided above, the employee may elect to take such day or days as vacation time, provided he is then entitled to sufficient vacation time which he has not utilized by time off or for which he has not been paid.

Payment shall be made on the next pay day after receiving notice in writing from the employee and (a) the name of the deceased person and relationship to the employee, and (b) the date and location of the funeral.

ARTICLE XVI

Bulletin Boards for Union Use

At all places where the Company now has bulletin boards, the Company will in the exercise of its discretion either furnish space on said bulletin boards or furnish nearby space upon which the Union may erect its own bulletin boards, of a size not larger than the Company's bulletin boards.

The Union agrees that it shall confine such posted notices to information concerning Company-Union relations and matters of concern to Union members. The Union further agrees it shall not post any notices that are derogatory or inflammatory in nature. All such notices shall be submitted to the Manager Human Resources for review prior to posting.

ARTICLE XVII

No Discrimination

There shall be no discrimination in the administration of this Agreement with regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, disability or veteran status.

ARTICLE XVIII

Notice of: Changes, Modifications, or Terminations Effective Date, Termination Date

Within the period of one hundred twenty (120) days prior to expiration date of Agreement; either party hereto may request the other to meet for the purpose of negotiating modifications to this Agreement or negotiating a new agreement, to become effective on the expiration of this Agreement. The parties agree to meet within twenty (20) days of such request and to bargain in good faith thereafter, as required by Section 8(a)(5), (b)(3) and (d), of the Labor Management Relations Act of 1947, as Amended.

This Agreement shall become effective as of the date set forth at the commencement hereof and shall continue in full force and effect from that date until August 1, 2009, unless changed or modified by mutual consent, and shall automatically be extended from year to year thereafter unless either party at least sixty (60) days prior to the expiration of this Agreement or any extension thereof shall serve upon the other party written notice that the same shall not be renewed at the applicable expiration date.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Article, the Company and the Union may reopen the Wage Scale, of this agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2007, and again reopen the wage scale of this agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2008 provided that neither the Company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates to be effective August 1, 2006, August 1, 2007 or August 1, 2008. This Agreement will be reopened for such purposes only if the Company or the Union actually delivers to the other, not later than July 1, 2007 or July 1, 2008, written notice of intent to reopen. Failing receipt by the Company or the Union, on the date specified, of such written notice to reopen, this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect through August 1, 2009, and the wage rates in effect as of midnight July 31, 2006, shall continue in full force and effect for the duration of the Agreement. If this Agreement is reopened in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph, and the parties have not reached an agreement by midnight July 31, 2007 or 2008 as appropriate, this Agreement shall be suspended and the Company and the Union shall have the same rights and obligations as they would have possessed had the Agreement expired, provided that neither the Company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates to be effective August 1, 2007 or August 1, 2008 as appropriate.

Service of the above notices on the Union shall be deemed sufficient by depositing the notice, signed by the Corporate Manager Labor Relations of the Company, in the United States Mail, registered or certified, and addressed to Local No. 2100, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, 10400 Dixie Highway, Louisville, Kentucky 40272.

Service of the above notices on the Company shall be deemed sufficient by depositing the notice, signed by a Business Manager of the Union, in the United States Mail, registered or certified, and addressed to the Corporate labor relations manager, E.ON U.S., LLC, 220 West Main, P.O. Box 32020, Louisville, Kentucky 40232.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, Union and Company have caused their respective names to be hereunto subscribed by their duly authorized officers and seven copies of this Agreement to be executed, each to have the force and effect of an original, this _____ day of _____, 2006.

SCHEDULE "A"

WAGE RATES, HOURLY RATED CLASSIFICATIONS EFFECTIVE JULY 23, 2006 APPLICABLE TO LOCAL UNION 2100, INTERNATIONAL BROTHERHOOD OF ELECTRICAL WORKERS, AFL-CIO, OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY AND OLD DOMINION POWER COMPANY.

It is agreed that wage rates and applications thereof for the several classifications of work shall be established in accordance with the following schedule.

Any new employee, upon producing evidence satisfactory to the Company of previous experience in the classification in which he is being employed shall be given credit for such experience, except that he shall not start higher than the "After One Year" step, and in such event shall receive the "After Two Years" step after one year's continuous employment. However, if after employment, he demonstrates that he has the knowledge, skill and ability equivalent to that of an employee who has had two (2) years' experience in the classification, he shall receive the "After Two Years" step beginning with the first payroll period commencing after sixty (60) days of employment.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or record of material used by the crews, shall, in addition to his regular wage, receive $15.00 per month during the first year he is so designated, $20.00 per month during the second year, and $30.00 per month thereafter as compensation for the satisfactory performance of these duties.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews, and/or records of material used by crews, shall be paid both the monthly and hourly premiums set out in the two preceding paragraphs in addition to his regular wage.

The following rates are applicable to all employees working normally on the day shift from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

To employees normally working on the second shift (generally 4:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight), add fifty cents (50¢) per hour to the following rates.

To employees normally working on the third shift (generally 12:00 midnight to 8:00 a.m.), and to swing and relief shift employees, add sixty-seven cents (67¢) per hour to the following rates.

Employees who have been assigned a regular schedule of work which includes work on Sunday pursuant to an approved payroll authorization specifying such schedule shall receive a Sunday work premium of ninety-five cents (95¢) per hour in addition to their straight time and shift premium rates.

AGREEMENT

THIS AGREEMENT entered into this 1st day of August, 2008, by and between EARLINGTON OPERATIONS, AREAS 1 (PARKWAY) AND 2 (GREEN RIVER) OF KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY (hereinafter called "Company") and the UNITED STEEL, PAPER AND FORESTRY, RUBBER, MANUFACTURING, ENERGY, ALLIED INDUSTRIAL AND SERVICE WORKERS INTERNATIONAL UNION (hereinafter called "Union"). Except as otherwise expressly provided herein the provisions of this Agreement shall be effective as of August 1, 2008.

ARTICLE I
PURPOSE AND INTENT

1.1 Purpose and Intent

It is the purpose and intent of the parties to set forth herein the agreement between the parties covering rates of pay, hours of work and conditions of employment for employees in the unit for which the Union has been certified by the National Labor Relations Board as exclusive bargaining representative; to promote harmonious industrial and economic relationships between the Company and its employees in an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding to the end that there shall be no interruption of, interference with, or impeding of work during the life of this Agreement, and to provide procedures for the equitable adjustment of grievances.

1.2 Periodic Meetings

Upon mutual agreement, the parties agree to meet on the reasonable request of either party at times which should be least disruptive to the Company's operations. Such meeting shall not be for the purpose of conducting collective bargaining negotiations but shall be for the sole purpose of appraising any problem which may have arisen in the application, administration or interpretation of this Agreement or of the problems of general concern to either party. Therefore, such meeting shall not modify, add to, or detract from the provisions of this Agreement. If such meeting is requested by the Company, it will pay employees for time lost.

ARTICLE II
SCOPE OF AGREEMENT

2.1 Recognition

The Company hereby recognizes the Union as exclusive representative for the purpose of collective bargaining with respect to rates of pay, wages, hours of employment and other conditions of employment for employees in its Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River), included in the unit for which the Union has been certified by the National Labor Relations Board on September 17, 1976, in Case No. 9-RC-11595, namely:

All production and maintenance employees of the Employer employed in the Employer's Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River), including servicemen, linemen, metermen, patrolmen, chief electricians, groundmen and truck drivers, but, excluding business development and home demonstration employees, right-of-way solicitors, shift engineers, line foremen A, service foremen A, line foremen B, service foremen B, the chief electricians employed at the Green River Generating Station, the chief mechanic, the coal yard foreman, the chemist, and assistant chemist, all engineering and professional employees, office clerical employees, guards and supervisors. The Term "supervisor" means any individual having authority, in the interest of the employer, to hire, transfer, suspend, lay off, recall, promote, discharge, assign, reward, or discipline other employees, or responsibly to direct them, or to adjust their grievances, or effectively to recommend such action, if in connection with the foregoing the exercise of such authority is not of a merely routine or clerical nature, but requires the use of independent judgment.

The Company also recognizes the Union as the collective bargaining agent for the employees of new plants built or new service areas established, whose operations are consolidated with the operations of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) and who perform the same classifications or nature of work as those employees covered by this Agreement.

The employees in such bargaining unit and represented by the Union and covered by this Agreement are hereinafter referred to as "employees" or individually as "employee."

The Union makes this Agreement in its capacity as exclusive bargaining representative of the employees. As the representative of the employees, the Union may process grievances through grievance procedure, including arbitration, in accordance with the provisions of this Agreement, or adjust or settle the same.

2.2 No Discrimination

There shall be no discrimination in the administration of this Agreement with regard to race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex, disability, veteran status, or because of the exercise by an employee of his rights as a member or representative of the Union. The terms "he" or "his" as used in this Agreement shall apply to both male and female employees.

2.3 Contracting Out

It is agreed that the Company has historically from time to time contracted out work, examples of which are set forth below, which practice may continue. The Company agrees, however, that except for work historically contracted out, and work of a similar nature, it will not subcontract any work historically and principally performed by employees covered by this Agreement as a part of their normal duties if such subcontracting shall cause the reduction of schedule of employees qualified to perform the work. Such work which the Company has historically contracted out includes but is not necessarily limited to:

- Blacktopping
- Sandblasting and metal spraying
- Acid clean boilers
- Non-destructive testing (turbine equipment and boiler tubing, generators)
- Painting
- Insulating
- Tree trimming
- Conveyor belt vulcanizing
- Unloading frozen coal
- Railroad track maintenance and repair
- Large vacuum equipment, removal of fly ash, etc.
- Construction work:
 - Foundation work
 - Piping installation
 - Earth moving equipment and river dredging
 - Unloading and/or erecting heavy equipment
 - Electrical contracts (new construction)
- Service Engineers:
 - Turbine overhaul supervision
 - Safety valve maintenance/repair supervision

Soot blower maintenance/repair supervision
Mobile equipment maintenance/repair
Maintenance work:
Major boiler repairs

Major condenser repairs
Specialized major turbine repairs, generator repairs
General maintenance at Green River
Power Station when peak work load exceeds capacity of bargaining unit personnel
Surveying
Fabrication of replacement parts at outside service shops
Motor rewinding work completed at outside service shops
Contract hauling

Service Contracts:
Elevators
Portable restroom facilities
Street lighting maintenance
Building transmission, distribution lines, substations
Pole setting
Pole inspections
Substation foundation, site preparation
Crane service, hauling heavy equipment
Substation fencing
Janitorial and Custodial Work

The Company agrees that, other factors being basically equal i.e. price, availability, qualifications, etc, contractors who employ Union members will be given consideration. It is understood that this provision in no way creates 3rd party beneficiary status for any individual contractor.

2.4 No-Strike Clause

During the term of this Agreement, employees, the Union, its officers, representatives, and members shall not take part in, cause, authorize, instigate, aid, sanction, encourage, condone or ratify any strike, slow-down, sit-down, stoppage of work, boycott, picketing, or other interference with, or interruption of Company operations or the work and business of the Company. The Union and its representatives will exert every effort to cause employees covered by this Agreement who participate in any such activities to desist therefrom. Failure or refusal on the part of any employee to comply with the provisions of this Article shall be cause for appropriate disciplinary action, including suspension or discharge.

2.5 No Lock-Out Clause

During the term of this Agreement the Company will not cause or engage in any lock-out of its employees.

2.6 Restraining Orders and Injunctions

Nothing in this Article or elsewhere in this Agreement shall be deemed or construed to preclude the Company from enforcing the provisions of Section 2.4 in any court of competent jurisdiction, and such court shall not be precluded by any provision of this Agreement from entertaining any such suit for violation of said Section and granting all appropriate injunctive relief. An equal right to seek judicial relief is retained by the Union should the Company, in its opinion, violate the provisions of Section 2.5.

2.7 Picket Line

Although it is a recognized obligation on the part of both the Company and the Union to cooperate in maintaining a continuous and dependable public service, it shall not be a violation of this Agreement, nor cause for discharge or disciplinary action, for an employee as an individual matter to decline to cross a picket line at premises other than premises of the Company where loss of Company property or injury to the employee is threatened.

2.8 Visitation

A duly identified and authorized representative of the Union shall, upon due advance arrangement, be granted access to Company premises for the purpose of investigating problems with which he is properly concerned in the administration of this Agreement. Union activity as permitted herein does not include Union business of an internal nature which does not involve the Company.

2.9 Supervisors Working

Supervisors will not displace qualified available employees in the bargaining unit by performing work regularly performed by them. Nothing, however, shall limit the performance of bargaining unit work by personnel outside the bargaining unit of work which such personnel have previously performed and similar work, or under any of the following circumstances:

In the instruction and training of employees.

In relief, or to replace an absent employee, or to accomplish work which bargaining unit employees have been permitted to decline.

To perform work requiring skills or abilities not available among employees.

In the event of breakdowns or emergencies, or to help straighten out problems.

At locations or in crews where there are three (3) or less bargaining unit employees.

In developmental work on, or testing of, equipment, products, services, or methods.

In non-overtime situations.

By service supervisors, service managers, chief electricians, and coal yard supervisors.

2.10 Copies of Agreement

The Company shall arrange to have copies of this Agreement printed in booklet form, and the Company and the Union shall share the printing cost in proportion to the number of copies that each orders for its own use.

ARTICLE III

UNION SECURITY

3.1 Union Security

All present employees of the Company covered by this Agreement who on the date of execution of this Agreement are members of the Union and those who become members during the life of this Agreement, shall, as a condition of continued employment, remain members in good standing for the term of the Agreement to the extent of paying the periodic dues uniformly required of all Union members as a condition of retaining membership. All employees covered by this Agreement who are hired by the Company after the date of execution of this Agreement shall, as a condition of continued employment, become members of the Union at the completion of their probationary period and remain members in good standing for the term of this Agreement to the extent of paying the initiation fee and the periodic dues uniformly required of all Union members as a condition of retaining membership.

3.2 Check-Off

The Company, where so authorized and directed by the employee in writing upon an authorization form meeting all requirements of law, will deduct from the wages of such employee Union dues in the amount(s) authorized by such employee, and as specified by the International Secretary-Treasurer, on one of such forms. Such deductions of regular monthly dues for a particular month shall be made from the first pay period of the succeeding month and shall be forwarded monthly to the International Secretary-Treasurer. In the event an employee has insufficient earnings due during the first pay period of any month, then such deduction shall be made from the first pay period thereafter in which the employee has sufficient earnings from which the deduction can be made. The Company will permit a Union designated representative to be introduced to a new employee after completion of his probationary period for a brief orientation at a time when it does not interfere with the duties of either.

The Company, where so authorized and directed by the employee in writing upon an authorization form meeting all requirements of law, will deduct from the wages of such employee political action committee contributions in the amount(s) authorized by such employee on one of such forms.

3.3 Law

This Article is intended to comply with the provisions of State and Federal law, and nothing herein contained shall require the Company to take any action in violation thereof. The Union agrees to indemnify and save the Company harmless from any claims, demands, suits or other forms of liability arising out of any action taken by the Company in compliance with this Article.

ARTICLE IV
MANAGEMENT

Except to the extent expressly abridged or limited by a specific provision of this Agreement, the Company reserves and retains, solely and exclusively, all of its inherent rights, functions and prerogatives of management as such rights, functions and prerogatives existed prior to the certification of the Union or the execution of this Agreement. Such rights, functions and prerogatives include, but are not limited to, the Company's right to establish, continue and change, from time to time, policies, practices and procedures for the conduct of the business; to determine products to be manufactured or sold and services to be rendered; to determine the number, location and types of its operations and the methods, processes, services and materials to be employed; to institute, change, curtail or discontinue facilities, processes, service methods, equipment, machinery, methods of production or operations; to subcontract; to assign work to employees in accordance with requirements determined by the Company; to make and enforce reasonable rules for the maintenance of discipline; to suspend, discharge or otherwise discipline employees for just cause; and otherwise to take such measures as the Company may determine to be necessary for the orderly, safe and efficient conduct of the business. Recognizing the desirability of avoiding any impediment to the exercise by the Company of its management rights, functions and prerogatives in a manner beneficial to the employees, it is agreed that no such right, function or prerogative shall be limited by any practice or course of conduct or otherwise than by the express provisions of this Agreement.

ARTICLE V

5.1 Normal Work Schedule

A. Except for employees at the Green River Power Station, the normal work schedule for full time employees will consist of five (5) consecutive days of eight (8) consecutive hours of work (interrupted only by an unpaid lunch break) Monday through Friday. The normal work schedule for full time employees at Green River Power Station will be as agreed to in negotiations and as in effect on the date of execution of this Agreement. Although the Company reserves the right to change such schedules, it agrees that if the changed schedule is permanent and will thereafter become the employee's regular schedule, the Company will notify the Union of its intention and afford the Union an opportunity to present its views before finally making its decision.

B. The anticipated schedule of working hours for the coming week for employees such as relief personnel who are not on a fixed schedule shall be posted no later than the end of day shift on Wednesday of each week.

C. "Workweek", as used in this Agreement, means seven consecutive days starting at 12:00 midnight on Saturday night and ending at 12:00 midnight on the following Saturday night. For employees at the Green River Power Station, workweek means seven consecutive days, starting at 6:00 am Monday and ending at 6:00 am on the following Monday.

D. This section provides for the normal scheduling pattern and shall not be construed as a guarantee of hours of work per day or per week or of days of work per week, nor a limitation on the scheduling of work per day or per week (including overtime).

E. In the event of a temporary change (not to exceed two (2) consecutive days) in an employee's schedule due to training or line switching, employees will be permitted to work until the end of the employee's normal shift if the employee reports to his regular work station for work in appropriate dress, however, this provision shall not apply when an employee is required to be away from his normal work station overnight.

5.2 Sufficient Rest Time/Balance of Shift

When in the opinion of the Company, an employee has worked such an extended period of time as to impair his effectiveness or present a hazard to his health or safety, or to the health and safety of fellow employees, he may be required by the Company to leave work for a rest period of up to eight (8) hours. After sixteen (16) continuous hours worked an employee may request and will be granted a minimum rest period of eight (8) hours. Such rest period shall be taken in its entirety unless the employee is requested and agrees to return to work before the expiration of such eight (8) hour rest period. If such rest period overlaps the employee's regular hours on a regularly scheduled work day, the employee shall be paid at his regular hourly rate of pay for the hours which overlap unless the rest period was initiated by the employee in accordance with this Section. If the rest period ends within two (2) hours or less of the end of the employee's regularly scheduled shift, the employee may either return to work at his regular hourly rate of pay or not return to work and forfeit the remaining hours in his shift.

5.3 Lunch Period

Employees at Green River Power Station on continuous shift operations will be allowed a paid lunch break during their shift. Other employees at Green River Power Station will receive an unpaid thirty (30) minute lunch break near the midpoint of their shift. Other employees will receive an unpaid lunch break near the midpoint of their shift.

5.4 Wash Up Time

Nonoperating employees at the Green River Power Station will be allowed a five (5) minute wash up period just prior to their lunch break and a fifteen (15) minute clean-up period (tools and locker room) just prior to the end of their shift. However, this provision shall not be interpreted to permit employees to leave Company premises until the designated shift time is terminated.

5.5 Daylight Saving Time

An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made to Daylight Saving Time (normally in the spring) and who only actually works seven (7) hours instead of his normal eight (8) because of the change shall receive pay for his normal eight (8) hours. An employee working a regularly stated schedule at the time the change is made from Daylight Saving Time (normally in the fall) and who actually works nine (9) hours because of the change, shall receive pay at the established premium rate for the ninth (9th) hour.

5.6 Continuation of Regular Shift Duties

Should an employee complete his regular shift of duty and be assigned to double shift or part shift, he will still be allowed to continue his regular shift of duties during any work week.

5.7 Reporting Time

An employee who is scheduled or notified to report for work on a regular shift and does report for work at the time specified without having been given actual notice of change of schedule, shall receive full pay at his regular rate for his scheduled (non-overtime) hours on that day, even though idle or sent home early because of delay or shortage of materials or for other reasons beyond his control. This provision shall not apply in the event that:

- (a) Strikes or work stoppages by employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement in connection with labor disputes, interfere with the conduct of normal operations; or
- (b) An employee is not put to work or is released from work after having been put to work either at his own request or due to his own fault.

5.8 Emergency Call-Out

A. When an employee is called out to work, or voluntarily reports for and is allowed to work an emergency outside of his regularly established work schedule, he shall be paid a minimum of four (4) hours at the applicable overtime rate, even if the employee actually works less than four (4) hours. However, if an employee completes his work and is called out to work again before the four (4) hour minimum time has expired, he will not be entitled to another minimum four (4) hours pay for the second call out, but will be paid for the additional time actually worked beyond the four (4) hours minimum from the first call out.

B. This provision shall not apply to an employee who is notified prior to leaving the work area to report early, or if the work is a continuation of his regular shift.

C. Maintenance employees at the Green River Power Station who are called into work less than four (4) hours prior to their normally scheduled start time will be paid only for the hours actually worked outside their normal schedule at one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate. Employees at the work site prior to their start time who are requested to begin work early will only be paid one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate for those actual hours worked outside their normal schedule.

5.9 Planned Overtime

For planned overtime work by an employee on his scheduled day off, he will receive a minimum of four (4) hours' pay at one and one-half (1-1/2) times his straight time base hourly rate of pay, or his applicable rate including shift or other premium, if any.

5.10 Standby Pay

The Company agrees that, due to the current satisfactory responsiveness of employees in this union to call-outs, there will be no initial implementation of this provision, unless the employees in one or more of the areas described below voluntarily request to implement weekly Standby in their Area. If implemented, each Area may determine their own system of determining their Standby person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload.

Should the responsiveness of employees in any area become unsatisfactory, the Company reserves the right to implement this provision in the affected area. If the Company implements this weekly Standby, each Area will determine their own system of determining their Standby person, with emphasis on volunteerism but with an objective of sharing the workload.

Any standby system developed will be done through the union.

Within the workgroups where the Company is implementing standby in accordance with the second paragraph, the Company reserves the right to assign the standby person, if the union fails to develop an acceptable system within a reasonable time.

The potential Areas in Distribution Operations to be staffed with a weekly Standby person are as follows:

- Barlow
- Eddyville

- Morganfield/Sebree
- Earlington/Dawson Springs
- Greenville

Each employee who serves in a weekly Standby status, in exchange for agreeing to remain available and fit to respond to call outs during the week, will be paid eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per week. If an employee works on service calls outside his normal scheduled workday during his Standby week, he will be paid for such time worked in accordance with Article VI-Overtime.

If an employee is assigned in a Standby status for less than one (1) week, he will be paid one (1) hour's pay at his appropriate overtime rate in addition to time spent on any service calls for each day he serves in a Standby status for service calls.

5.11 Emergency electric restoration for another utility.

An employee who performs emergency electric restoration work for another utility will be paid one and one half (1 ½) times his hourly rate for the first eight (8) hours worked in any one day and two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) in any one day. This two (2) times hourly wage rate provision does not apply when such work is performed for E.ON U.S. LLC. within the state of Kentucky including Old Dominion Power in Virginia, however, section 6.2 B(1) will apply.

ARTICLE VI

OVERTIME

6.1 Purpose

This Article provides the basis for the calculation of, and payment for, daily or weekly overtime hours and shall not be construed as a guarantee of hours of work per day or per week or of days of work per week, nor a limitation on the scheduling of hours of work per day or per week (including overtime). Overtime pay shall be computed including shift differential, if any, and/or any other regular hourly payments, unless otherwise noted.

6.2 Overtime Pay

A. An employee shall be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's regular base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments:

- 1) For work performed in excess of forty (40) hours in any one workweek.
- 2) For employees scheduled eight (8) hours per day, for work performed in excess of eight (8) hours in any normal twenty-four (24) hour workday except (a) if it is a change made through the exercise of Seniority rights (such as bidding, bumping, shift preference, etc.), or (b) in the case of the change of employees on continuous shifts from one schedule or shift to another.
- 3) For all continuous hours worked after the end of the employee's last previous regular shift by an employee during periods which commence more than eight (8) hours prior to the employee's next regularly scheduled starting time and continue into his regular hours on a regularly scheduled workday if the employee completes his regular shift on such workday. During the continuation of an emergency situation as determined by the Company, for pay purposes the continuity of the employee's work shall not be considered to be broken by short breaks for meals, refreshments, or rest periods authorized by his supervisor.
- 4) For work performed on the sixth day worked in the workweek and on the seventh day worked in the workweek, provided the employee works each of his scheduled workdays (excluding days on layoff) in the workweek or his absence (a) resulted from inability to work because of his illness or the illness of his spouse or child, when such case is substantiated by a doctor's certificate if requested by the Company, or (b) was time paid for but not worked under the provisions of this Agreement, or (c) was excused in advance for Union business.

- 5) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 6.2(2)(a), an employee in the operating groups at the Green River Power Station who is required by the Company to work sixteen (16) consecutive hours to facilitate shift preference change, the last eight (8) consecutive hours shall be compensated at applicable overtime rates. This provision shall not apply when an employee elects to change shifts resulting in the employee working sixteen (16) consecutive hours.

- 6) For employees in Maintenance at the Green River Power Station who are required to work preventative maintenance during non-outage situations will be paid one and one-half (1 ½) times their hourly wage rate for all hours worked outside their normal shift.

B. An employee shall be paid at the rate of two (2) times the employee's regular base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments:

- (1) For work performed in excess of sixteen (16) continuous hours.

- (2) For work performed by an employee who is required to work on his last consecutive off day, provided he worked at least four (4) hours on his previous off day.

6.3 Non-Duplication

No overtime or premium pay will be pyramided or duplicated. In the event that overtime or premium pay is applicable to the same hours worked under any two or more provisions of this Agreement, only the single highest premium payment required under any provision shall be paid, and hours that are paid for at overtime or premium rates under one provision of this Agreement shall not be considered as hours worked for the purpose of computing overtime work under another provision (unless specifically provided in any case).

6.4 Cooperation

Recognizing that the nature of the Company's operations requires overtime from time to time, it is agreed that performing overtime work, daily or weekly when needed, constitutes a part of the duties and responsibilities of an employee's job.

6.5 Overtime Distribution

For employees at Green River Power Station other than those in Operations Groups (covered by §6.6 of this contract) and at locations other than Green River, the following will apply:

1. Subject to the requirement that an employee assigned overtime must be qualified to perform the work, when the Company assigns overtime to bargaining unit employees, it will be distributed equitably, averaged over a reasonable period of time, among employees permanently assigned to the classification at the location at which the overtime is assigned, provided such employees are available. (In the event qualified employees are not available or are permitted to decline such overtime, it may be assigned to such person and in such manner as the Company shall determine.)
2. At the end of each two (2) week period, an overtime list for each overtime group will be posted at that group's location.
3. An employee will be charged with any overtime he is permitted to decline and with any overtime that he would have been offered or assigned during periods when the Company honors his request that he not be offered or assigned overtime unless necessary.
4. Except for absent members of crews who are called to work overtime an employee will not be charged with overtime when he cannot be contacted. An employee who is absent for more than five (5) weeks will return with an amount of overtime equal to the average amount of other employees in his classification at the location.

5. An employee will be charged with overtime as set forth above among employees permanently assigned to his regular classification whether then working in or out of his regular classification.

6. It shall be the responsibility of an employee to bring any substantially adverse distribution of overtime to him (under normal circumstances, more than twenty-four (24) hours less than the amount charged to any employee in his classification at the location) to the attention of his supervisor, and after it is brought to his supervisor's attention, the Company shall correct any such inequality by the future assignment of overtime not later than the next reasonable opportunity for which the employee is available should he have accrued the least amount of overtime credit and otherwise to the available qualified employee who then has accrued the least amount.

7. Notwithstanding the provisions of Paragraphs 1 and 5 above, with respect to maintenance work at Green River only when the Company assigns overtime mandatorily, the Company will assign the work to the qualified available employee (including any relief operators then working maintenance) with the least amount of overtime actually worked. For the purposes of assignment of maintenance overtime, in determining the amount of overtime worked by a relief operator, overtime worked both in maintenance and as an operator shall be considered.

8. Whenever an employee performs work in excess of 2 hours beyond his normal quitting time of his normal scheduled shift, the Company will furnish or pay for the employee's meal, or meals, required during such hours of work.

9. When an employee successfully bids into a classification he or she will be charged the same overtime hours as that of the employee in the new classification with the most overtime hours. Overtime hours will not change when employees are reclassified to a higher rated position, as referenced in Section 15.2(G).

10. Overtime paid for safety meetings, meals, and other events sponsored by the Company will not be counted as part of the total overtime, i.e., hours paid but not actually worked.
11. The overtime lists for all overtime groups will start with each employee at zero at the start of the pay period nearest the first of January.

6.6 Green River Power Station Operating Groups Overtime Work

I. General Information

1. Each time an operator is offered an overtime shift, it will be the responsibility of the Shift Supervisor on duty to see that all designated information is entered in the Overtime Log Book.
2. At the end of each one (1) week period, an overtime list will be posted on the Operator's Bulletin Board, grouped according to classification. In each classification, operators will be listed according to total overtime hours, with operator at the top having the least amount of total overtime hours. Total overtime hours will include hours worked plus hours rejected (with exceptions as noted later). Where a tie exists, the listing will be according to seniority. Operators may volunteer to be excluded from being offered overtime assignments. However, they remain obligated to work forced overtime assignments.
3. Any operator on vacation, holiday, union business, off sick or on STD will not be offered overtime and his or her total overtime will remain unchanged. However, an employee who is absent for more than five (5) weeks will return with an amount of overtime equal to the average amount of other employees in his or her classification.
4. In no case should an operator work more than sixteen (16) consecutive hours, unless an emergency exists.

5. The Shift Supervisor on duty has the responsibility of seeing that the layover operator is furnished necessary meal or meals. The layover operator has the option of furnishing his or her own meals and receiving one hour extra pay if the layover shift is 8-4, or one-half hour extra pay for the 4-12 or 12-8 shift. Overtime operators will furnish their own meals unless the overtime results in double shift, in which case the same rules apply as for a layover. If a layover operator chooses a meal instead of an extra one-half hour overtime pay then the Shift Supervisor should call a local restaurant for a pick-up meal. If operating conditions permit, the Shift Supervisor will allow the layover operator to pick up his or her meal when ready. If, in the opinion of the Shift Supervisor, the layover operator should not leave, then the Shift Supervisor will designate someone else to pick up the meal for him or her. A Company truck will normally be available. If the layover operator is on a special diet that cannot be obtained at a local restaurant, then the Shift Supervisor should, if at all possible, allow him or her to pick up a meal at home (in this case, he or she will not be allowed extra pay for his or her meal).

6. When an operator is promoted, he or she will be charged the same overtime hours as that of the operator in the new classification with the most total overtime hours.

7. Any operator working with Maintenance personnel may be requested from time to time to work overtime. This will be charged to the operator as overtime worked or rejected.

8. The overtime list will start with each operator at zero at the start of the pay period near the first of January as referenced in Article XXV, Section A.

9. Overtime paid for safety meetings, meals, and other events sponsored by the Company will not be counted as part of the total overtime, i.e., hours paid but not actually worked.

10. Should an operator be offered an overtime shift which would give him or her a double shift and he or she had worked a double shift the day before, the operator may reject the second double shift without it adding to his or her total overtime hours.

II. Overtime Assignments

The following steps will be taken when an operator is needed on an overtime basis.

A. Scheduled Procedure, Full or Partial Shifts

When the Company has at least eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin the overtime will be treated as scheduled.

Operators will be offered the overtime beginning with the senior operator in the job classification required who has the least amount of total overtime. From this point until eight (8) hours before the overtime shift starts, one (1) call will be made before calling the next operator.

In the event that an operator is to be offered an additional overtime shift(s) in the same classification and on the same shift as one that the shift supervisor was unable to reach him or her for, then one call to that operator will be made for each additional shift(s) before calling the next operator.

If no operator is obtained in the job classification required then the Company will go to the next higher Bargaining Unit classification(s) and proceed as per this section.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure and at least one call has been made to each available Bargaining Unit operator, the operator on duty in the job classification required, with the least amount of overtime actually worked will layover and he or she will not be charged with the previous rejection.

It is recognized that there may be times when the operator on duty with the least amount of worked overtime is physically unable to perform his or her duties for an additional shift.

In this case the next operator on duty in the job classification required with the second least amount of worked overtime will layover. If all operators in the job classification required are physically unable to perform, the Company will go to the next higher classification(s) and proceed as per this section beginning with the operator on duty in that classification with the least amount of worked overtime.

When the Company finds it necessary to call-in an operator for less than eight (8) hours it will be considered as a call-in, partial shift. The operators in the job classification required working the next shift will be called beginning with the senior operator who has the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained using this procedure, the overtime selection will follow the Call-in Procedure.

B. Layover Procedure

When the Company has less than eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin the overtime will be treated as a layover.

The operators on duty in the job classification required will be offered the overtime beginning with the senior operator who has the least amount of total overtime.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure the overtime selection will follow the Call-In Procedure.

C. Call-In Procedure

When the Company has less than eight (8) hours notice prior to the time the overtime is to begin and the Layover Procedure (for that particular job classification) is exhausted the overtime will be treated as a call-in.

The operators in the job classification required will be offered the overtime shift beginning with the operator who is on top of the list established in 6.6.2. One (1) call will be made before calling the next operator.

If no operator is obtained by the Call-In Procedure (for that particular job classification), the Company will go to the next higher Bargaining Unit Classification(s) and proceed as per the Layover Procedure. Operators who volunteer to be excluded from being offered overtime assignments will not be called, but will be charged with a reject.

If no operator is obtained using this procedure and at least one call has been made to each available Bargaining Unit Operator, the operator on duty in the job classification required, with the least amount of overtime actually worked per the list established in 6.6.2, will layover and he or she will not be charged with the previous rejection.

It is recognized that there may be times when the operator on duty with the least amount of worked overtime is physically unable to perform his or her duties for an additional shift. In this case the next operator on duty in the job classification required with the second least amount of worked overtime will layover. If all operators in the job classification required are physically unable to perform, the Company will go to the next higher classification(s) and proceed as per this section beginning with the operator on duty in that classification with the least amount of worked overtime.

ARTICLE VII

HOLIDAYS

7.1 Holidays

A. The following will be considered holidays for the purposes of this Agreement:

New Years Day
Good Friday

Memorial Day
Fourth of July
Labor Day
Thanksgiving Day
Friday after Thanksgiving
Christmas Eve
Christmas Day
(2) Floating Holidays

Eligible employees who do not work on the above holidays will receive eight (8) hours pay at their normal straight time hourly rate (including regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments).

B. Floating holidays will be taken in each calendar year on a day mutually agreed upon between the employee and the Company.

C. For employees scheduled Monday through Friday, if one of the above designated holidays falls on a Saturday, it shall be recognized on the preceding Friday (except that when Christmas Day falls on a Saturday, Christmas Eve and Christmas Day shall be recognized on the preceding Thursday and Friday), and if one of the above designated holidays falls on a Sunday, it shall be recognized on the following Monday (except that when Christmas Eve falls on a Sunday, it shall be recognized on the preceding Friday).

For employees scheduled other than Monday through Friday, (including employees who alternately work Monday through Friday and Tuesday through Saturday schedules), when a holiday falls on an off day, it shall be recognized on the next regularly scheduled day of work except in the case of two consecutive holidays such as Thanksgiving Day and Friday after Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, in which the following procedure shall apply:

If both holidays fall on an employee's off days, the first holiday shall be recognized on his last regularly scheduled day of work preceding the holidays, and the second holiday shall be recognized on the first regularly scheduled day of work immediately following the holidays. If the employee is scheduled off on only one of the holidays, then (a) if he is scheduled to work the first holiday, the second holiday shall be recognized on his first regularly scheduled day of work following the holidays, and (b) if the employee is scheduled to work the second holiday, then the first holiday shall be recognized on his last regularly scheduled day of work immediately preceding the holidays.

In all cases, if an employee is regularly scheduled to work on one of the above designated holidays, the holiday shall be recognized on that day.

7.2 Holiday Work

A. An employee who is required by the Company to work on a holiday will be paid at the rate of one and one-half (1-1/2) times the employee's normal straight time hourly rate (including regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments), for the first eight (8) hours worked, in addition to holiday pay, if the employee is entitled to holiday pay as such, or in lieu thereof, such employee may work at his normal straight time hourly rate (including regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments) on the holiday and be absent with holiday pay on another mutually agreed upon day. No additional holiday may be accumulated until such holiday is utilized except with prior consent of the Company. An employee will be paid at two (2) times his hourly wage rate for all hours worked over eight (8) on a holiday.

B. Notwithstanding the foregoing Paragraph A, employees who are regularly scheduled to work in six (6) or seven (7) consecutive day periods and who are required to work on a holiday may accumulate and "bank" up to two (2) holidays to be used in conjunction with regularly scheduled vacations or at other times mutually agreed upon in advance, which "banked" holidays, (1) may be carried forward into the next succeeding calendar year and (2) will not affect such an employee's option as set forth in Paragraph A with respect to a subsequent holiday while he has such two holidays "banked". If, however, while such an employee has two holidays "banked", he elects to be absent without pay on another holiday in lieu of receiving pay for working on such day, then such third accumulated holiday must be utilized prior to the next holiday.

7.3 Eligibility

A. To be eligible to receive holiday pay an employee must have worked in the workweek in which the celebrated holiday falls, or be on paid sick leave for such week unless (a) his absence resulted from inability to work by reason of illness or injury, for which he is not compensated, verified by a doctor's certificate if requested by the Company, or (b) he was on paid vacation during such week, or (c) he was on leave for union business during such week, in any of which cases, he must have worked either in the week immediately preceding or the four (4) weeks immediately following the workweek in which the celebrated holiday falls.

B. If an employee is scheduled to work on any holiday recognized herein and fails to report or perform his scheduled work, he shall become ineligible for pay for the unworked holiday unless he has failed to report or perform such work because of sickness or because of death in the immediate family or for comparable good cause.

7.4 Holiday During Vacation

When such a holiday for which an employee is eligible for holiday pay occurs during an employee's vacation, the employee will be granted an extra day vacation time.

7.5 Holiday During Sick Leave

When a holiday for which an employee is eligible for holiday pay occurs on a day for which an employee would otherwise receive sick pay under the Company's program, he will receive the holiday pay and no charge will be made against his paid sick leave days.

ARTICLE VIII
VACATIONS

8.1 Amount of Vacation

Effective January 1, 2000, eligible employees will earn vacation from date of hire based on years of service in accordance with the following schedule:

Vacation Earned	Completed Years of Service Attained During Calendar Year
5 days	Maximum in year of hire
10 days	Years 1-4
15 days	Years 5-14
20 days	Years 15-24
25 days	Years 25 and above

Such employees on a forty (40) hour workweek shall be paid the equivalent of forty (40) hours at their straight time hourly base rate of pay plus regular Shift Differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments, for each week of vacation. Such employees who normally work more than twenty (20) but less than forty (40) hours per week (a part-time employee, should such be included in the bargaining unit during the life of this Agreement) shall be eligible for one-half the normal vacation entitlement (earned/accrued).

8.2 Eligibility

A. To qualify for vacation in the following year, an employee must be active on the payroll as of December 31. An exception to this requirement applies to those employees who are on approved Family and Medical Leave. A full-time employee to be eligible for a vacation must have worked not less than twelve hundred forty-eight (1248) hours during the twelve (12) months next preceding the date he first becomes eligible to take such vacation. A part-time employee to be eligible for a vacation must have worked at least seventy-five percent (75%) of the number of hours an employee on his weekly schedule would work in a year. For purposes of this Section 8.2, in calculating the number of hours worked, there shall be included his normal workday for days for which he is absent but for which he is paid vacation pay, holiday pay, paid sick leave, short term disability, funeral leave, jury duty, military leave or workers' compensation supplement.

B. An employee reinstated from inactive status shall become eligible for vacation based on his or her anniversary date:

- An employee returning to work from January 1 through June 30 is eligible for earned vacation during the calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay.
- An employee returning to work on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the calendar year.

C. Employees hired directly by the Company to fill temporary positions (not hired as temporaries through contractors) who later become regular employees of the Company are eligible for vacation accrual retroactive to the beginning of their temporary employment with the Company.

D. An employee hired between January 1 and June 30 is eligible for 5 days of vacation during that calendar year. Such employee must work three (3) continuous months before being eligible for vacation pay. An employee hired on or after July 1 is ineligible for vacation during the initial calendar year of employment. After the initial calendar year of employment, an employee can take vacation effective January 1 or upon three (3) continuous months of active service, whichever is later, based upon the above schedule.

E. Employees who are rehired accrue vacation at the same rate as when they left employment if they were employed for one year of continuous service prior to separation and if the separation was for one year or less.

8.3 Scheduling of Vacations

A. An employee's vacation will, to the extent reasonably practicable, be granted at the time most desired by the employee in order of Seniority among those employees with whom his vacation must be coordinated, but the final right to schedule vacation is reserved to the Company in order to assure efficient operations.

B. Vacations will be taken at least one workweek at a time except (1) with the consent of the Company, or (2) an excused absence for legitimate reasons may, at the request of the employee, be charged against any vacation to which he is then entitled.

C. Relief operators at the Green River Generating Station not on a fixed schedule who schedule five (5) consecutive days off on Monday through Friday shall be guaranteed the Saturday and Sunday before and after such days off as off days, for a total of nine (9) days.

8.4 Accumulating Vacations

Vacation time may not be accumulated from one year to the next, and vacations earned as of any January 1 must be liquidated by time off by December 31 of that same year, except that with prior notification to the responsible manager, an employee may defer up to five days of vacation to the following calendar year.

8.5 Vacation Pay at Separation

An employee who quits, dies, retires or is discharged on or after any January 1 and without having received the vacation for which he became eligible upon such date, will be entitled to his vacation pay upon termination of employment. Any such payment due an employee who has died shall be made to the person designated as beneficiary on his group life coverage, if living, otherwise to the employee's estate. No employee leaving the employment of the Company during any calendar year shall be entitled to any vacation pay in the following year.

8.6 Pay in Lieu of Vacation

An employee with at least four weeks of vacation eligibility (including carry-over) may “sell back” one week of vacation after they have taken two weeks of vacation and carried over one week. Payout for such a week of worked vacation will occur in February of the following year.

8.7 Vacation During Illness, Disability, or Personal Leave of Absence

A. If an employee goes on paid sick leave or becomes unable to work because of compensable occupational injury prior to the time his vacation is scheduled to commence, his vacation will be rescheduled later in the year, except that an employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, at his option, cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay and take his vacation as previously scheduled. The vacation of an employee who becomes ill or is injured after working his last shift prior to vacation will not be rescheduled, and he will not be eligible for any sick pay until such scheduled vacation has expired. However, at the sole discretion of the Company, vacation may be restored to an employee and rescheduled at a later date.

B. An employee on paid sick leave or Short Term Disability may, upon advance written request, elect at the end of the calendar year to cease receiving sick pay or Short Term Disability pay for any unused vacation period in order to avoid loss of vacation pay. An employee disabled as the result of a compensable occupational injury or who is receiving long term disability insurance payments at the end of a vacation year and is unable to work during any unused vacation period as provided in Section 8.6, will not receive pay for the vacation not taken, except as provided in Section 8.7C.

C. In the year in which an employee incurs an occupational injury or illness, after the application of Section 8.4, the employee shall receive payment for any remaining unused vacation in an amount sufficient to make up the difference between what the employee received from workers' compensation insurance or Short Term Disability pay and the employee's regular straight time wages assuming a 40-hour work week.

D. An employee will earn vacation during approved personal leaves of absence on a prorated basis as follows:

- an employee on a PLOA of one full month to three full months will earn 75 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule; and
- an employee on a PLOA of four to six months will earn 50 percent vacation benefit for the following year, based upon the above schedule.

8.8 Vacation at Retirement

Any employee who retires may elect to work during all weeks of any vacation to which he may be entitled in the year of retirement, and for each such week of vacation worked, shall receive with his final payroll check additional compensation in an amount computed on the same basis as is then employed in computing the compensation paid to other employees who work during one week of their vacation under Section 8.6 above.

ARTICLE IX

SENIORITY

9.1 Seniority Recognition

In cases of filling permanent vacancies, decrease of force and recalls from layoff, consideration shall be given to length of continuous service, all as specifically set forth in various sections of this Agreement dealing with such events.

9.2 Definitions

A. Bargaining Unit Seniority

For all purposes of this Agreement, an employee's bargaining unit seniority ("Seniority") shall date from his first day of work following his employment with the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) of the Company or his last reemployment if his continuous service has been broken. An employee of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) in the bargaining unit on the effective date of the first contract shall have Seniority equal to his continuous service with the Company in any of its regions in any position. Any employee of the Company who accepts transfer into the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement following the effective date of the first contract shall retain his previous Company service for computing vacation, pension and insurance benefits but shall be considered as a new employee for all other purposes of this Agreement.

B. Qualified

Wherever used in this Agreement "qualified" shall mean that the employee has the ability to perform the required duties of the job on a regular basis under the degree of supervision normally given to employees in the job and to perform those duties safely and efficiently.

9.3 Seniority List

A seniority list showing the Seniority of each employee was posted under the Collective Bargaining Agreement effective October 9, 1977. The Company will revise such list from time to time as necessary for it to be kept current. It shall be the responsibility of the employees to bring any error to the attention of the Company, with a copy to the Unit Secretary.

9.4 Probationary Employees

A newly hired employee (or an employee rehired after loss of Seniority) will be considered a probationary employee and will not accrue any Seniority until he has actually worked at least forty (40) days. In exceptional cases, the Company shall have the right, upon notice to the Union, to extend the probationary period for an additional period not to exceed twenty (20) days actually worked.

During the employee's probationary period the Company may terminate the employee with or without cause and such termination shall not be subject to review in the grievance or arbitration procedure. During the probationary period, the Company may from time to time transfer a probationary employee or assign various duties for the purpose of determining his suitability for permanent employment. Upon satisfactory completion of his probationary period, an employee will be credited with Seniority in accordance with Section 9.2(A).

9.5 Termination of Seniority

An employee shall lose all Seniority with the Company and all rights under this Agreement (except for previously accrued pension and insurance benefits, if any, to the extent specifically provided elsewhere) upon the occurrence of any of the following:

- (A) Resignation or quit by the employee for any reason

- (B) Discharge for just cause

- (C) Layoff for twelve (12) consecutive months, or the length of the employee's Seniority, if more at the start of his layoff, to a maximum of three (3) years

- (D) Absence for two (2) consecutive working days without having notified the Company unless impossible to do so, and furnished a satisfactory explanation within such period

- (E) Fails to notify the Company of his intention to return to work from layoff within ten (10) days (Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excepted) after mailing of notification by registered or certified mail (return receipt requested) to the last address shown on the Company records (and copies of said notice having also been given to the Union) or fails, without reasonable excuse, to report for work at the time designated in the notice

- (F) Failure to return to work from absence due to sickness or injury within twelve (12) months after the last day of active employment, or the length of the employee's Seniority, if more at the time his absence commences, to a maximum of three (3) years; provided, that the Seniority of any employee with two (2) years Seniority or more at the time such an absence commences shall not terminate for so long as he (1) receives sick pay under the Company's sick pay plan, or (2) receives regular periodic payments under the Company's long term disability insurance program. If the job he held at the time the absence commenced has been permanently filled during his absence or is otherwise no longer available, for the purpose of reclaiming his job or in selecting another job in the manner as if he had been laid off from his old job at the time of his return as provided in Section 10.1, such an employee shall not be considered to have continued to accrue Seniority during the period of his absence in excess of three (3) years

- (G) Acceptance of wages or other compensation for services rendered for others, or accrual of income from self-employment, (other than earnings the employee would have received even if he had not lost time from work, such as from his farm, etc.) during leave of absence unless such payment was from the Union or was authorized in writing by the Company in advance
- (H) Failure to return at or prior to the expiration of a leave of absence, if possible, or failure to notify the Company of his inability to return if such notification is possible
- (I) Transfer out of the bargaining unit as provided in Article XIX
- (J) Transfer out of the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River)
- (K) Absence for a period in excess of that provided in Section 16.6 relating to pregnancy

- (L) Retirement
- (M) Death provided, however, nothing in this Section 9.5 shall operate to deprive any employee, or his heirs, whose Seniority is terminated by reason of his retirement or death, of benefits, if any, accrued prior to such retirement or death.

9.6 Compensable Disability

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 9.5(F), the Seniority of any employee covered by this Agreement shall not be broken so long as he receives regular periodic payments under Workers' Compensation for disability incurred during the course of his employment with the Company which prevents his return to work. If the job he held at the time the absence commenced has been permanently filled during his absence or is otherwise no longer available, for the purpose of reclaiming his job or in selecting another job in the manner as if he had been laid off from his old job at the time of his return as provided in Section 10.1, such an employee with five (5) years of Seniority or more at the time his absence commences shall continue to accrue Seniority during the entire period of such absence, but an employee with less than five (5) years Seniority at the time his absence commences shall not be considered to have continued to accrue Seniority during the period of his absence in excess of three (3) years.

9.7 Identical Hiring Dates

When two (2) or more employees in the bargaining unit have identical hiring dates or dates of transfer into the bargaining unit, Seniority shall be awarded in the alphabetical order of the spelling of their names, surnames listed first.

9.8 Temporary Employees

Temporary employees shall have the same status as Probationary Employees for the full duration of their temporary employment and shall accrue no Seniority of any kind. "Temporary Employees" shall be:

- A. Those who are hired on jobs at or below the General Laborer classification for an agreed and limited period of time (not more than ninety (90) days) in order to fill temporary needs for additional personnel resulting from absence of regular employees by reason of vacations, sickness or other cause; or
- B. Part-time help such as grass-cutters at various locations in the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) who do not regularly work more than twenty-four (24) hours per week; or
- C. Employees of other companies (customers of Kentucky Utilities Company) whose only function shall be to operate switches at Sub-Stations and other remote locations. However, it is specifically understood and agreed that the operation of Company owned switches will be the work of employees in the bargaining unit covered by this Agreement should it be necessary to call someone out at night to perform such function.

Should the status of a Temporary Employee be changed to that of a permanent employee in the bargaining unit, his Seniority shall date from the date of such change of status, except that the date from which the employee has continuously worked a regular schedule of at least twenty (20) hours each week will be considered as the date of employment for the purposes of determining vacation. However, no sick leave days will be accrued to any employee's account for the time worked as a temporary employee.

REDUCTION AND RESTORATION OF FORCES

10.1 Permanent Layoff

The following procedure shall be followed in a reduction of forces:

- (A) If the number of employees in a particular classification at a location is to be reduced, but some retained, employees will be reduced, in inverse order of Seniority, provided that the remaining employees are qualified for the work to be performed.

- (B) A surplus employee may upon reduction displace an employee holding a job:
 - (1) for which he is qualified, and

 - (2) which is at the same or lower rate than the job as to which he is surplus (except that an employee may return to a higher classification formerly held), and

 - (3) which is either (a) held by an employee with less Seniority at the surplus employee's location or at any location close enough to his residence so he can meet his normal work schedule and such emergency call-out requirements as are inherent in the job (it being specifically agreed that, except with the consent of the Company, members of service organizations must live in the service area served), or (b) held by an employee with the least Seniority in a classification at any other location in the bargaining unit with the understanding that to do so would require a change of residence, or accept layoff in lieu thereof.

- (C) Should the surplus employee not have previously qualified on the job he chooses under the above procedure, no training time will be allowed. However, such employee shall be oriented in the job requirements and will be given up to maximum of three (3) working days to display his qualifications, or lack thereof, should there be good cause to believe he can perform the work on the job satisfactorily due to knowledge and skills developed on other jobs with the Company.

10.2 Rates on Demotion

When an employee is demoted in a reduction of forces, he will be paid at the lower of (a) the top of the rate range of the job to which he has been demoted or (b) the rate that he was being paid on the job from which he was demoted.

10.3 Notice of Recall

Recall of an employee after a layoff shall be in writing and mailed to the employee's last known address by certified or registered mail as it appears on the Company's records. If an employee on layoff changes his address, he must notify the Company in writing by certified or registered mail with a copy of said notice being mailed to the local Union.

10.4 Restoration of Forces

(A) In the restoration of forces, employees shall be recalled in order of Seniority to the jobs they held before the reduction of forces (if available) or to other jobs they have previously held or for which they are otherwise qualified, provided that the employees recalled must be qualified for the work to be performed.

(B) Should the Company decide to recall an unqualified employee to attempt to train for a vacancy, it will give preference to the senior employee on layoff whose prior experience, work record, skill and ability, and demonstrated physical and mental capacities indicate that he is capable of becoming qualified within a reasonable period.

10.5 Notification of Layoff

When a reduction in working force becomes necessary and employees are to be reduced in classification or laid off, the concerned employees and the Union shall be given not less than forty-eight (48) hours' notice unless an emergency condition beyond the control of the Company makes such notice impossible.

10.6 Retention of Officers and Committee

The Unit President, Unit Secretary and Unit Grievors (should the Unit Griever remain in the geographic area he represents), will not be released from active employment in a reduction of force as long as work for which they are qualified to perform is available in the bargaining unit.

EMPLOYMENT FOR HANDICAPPED EMPLOYEE

A. Notwithstanding the Seniority provisions of this Agreement, the Company and the Union may mutually agree to fill a vacancy of any length by assignment of an employee during the time he is handicapped, recuperating from any accident or illness or otherwise is unable to perform the duties of his regular job but is qualified to perform the needed work.

C. An employee, who is injured or acquires a work-related illness in the course of his employment and made subject to the provisions of the Kentucky Workers' Compensation laws and as a result thereof loses his ability to return to his regular job, may use his Seniority to displace a junior employee on any equal or lower rated job (provided he is released by the Company doctor to perform the duties of this job) in the same manner and with the same effect as if he had been released for lack of work under the provisions of Section 10.1 of this Agreement.

ARTICLE XII

GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE

It is agreed that any employee may discuss any problem or complaint with his supervisor on an informal basis, with or without the presence of his Grievance Committeeman or Steward and without resort to the grievance procedure.

12.1 Grievance Procedure

Any difference arising as to the application or interpretation of the provisions of this Agreement shall constitute a grievance and shall be settled in the following manner:

Step 1

A. An employee who has a grievance shall present the grievance orally to his immediate supervisor, with or without the presence of his Grievance Committeeman or Steward, within five (5) days after the complaining employee knew, or by reasonable diligence should have known, of such incident.

B. In the settlement of a grievance, the Company shall not enter into any agreement with any individual employee covered by this Agreement in conflict with the terms of this Agreement which will have any effect on the rights of other employees, and any settlement under any such private agreement will not constitute a precedent should a similar situation arise in the future.

D. If the grievance is not resolved to the satisfaction of the employee and it is desired that the grievance be considered further, the employee or his Grievance Committeeman or Steward may immediately file a written grievance with such supervisor. In any event, regardless of when the employee presents it orally to his immediate supervisor, or knows, or should have known, of the incident, such written grievance must be presented not more than fifteen (15) days next following the incident that caused the grievance (unless a different time is provided elsewhere in this Agreement for the particular type of grievance). The written grievance shall state the nature of the incident, the Section or Sections of this Agreement upon which the grievance is based and the redress or relief that is sought, and shall be signed by the employee and his Grievance Committeeman or Steward. The supervisor, or his designee, will discuss the grievance with the employee and his Grievance Committeeman or Steward and will give his answer within five (5) days after receipt of the written grievance. If the immediate supervisor and the Grievance Committeeman or Steward, at such meeting, feel the need for aid in arriving at a solution, they may, by agreement, invite such additional Company or Union representatives or witnesses as may be necessary and available to participate in further discussion.

If the Step 1 supervisor, or his designee, does not give his answer within the prescribed time or if the answer is unsatisfactory to the Union and it is desired to appeal the grievance for further consideration, an appeal may be filed within five (5) days after the answer (or within five (5) days of expiration of the five (5) day answer period if no answer is given) with the person who supervises the Step 1 supervisor, signed by the employee's Grievance Committeeman. Such supervisor, or his designee, will discuss the grievance with the employee and the Grievance Committeeman and will give his answer in writing within five (5) days after the meeting.

Step 3

If the answer of the Step 2 supervisor, or his designee, is unsatisfactory to the Union and it is desired to appeal the grievance for further consideration, an appeal may be filed within five (5) days after receipt of the answer with the manager of the Step 2 supervisor, signed by the employee's Grievance Committeeman. The manager or their designee(s), will discuss the grievance in a meeting with the employee, the Grievance Committeeman and the International Union Representative, and will give an answer in writing within five (5) days after the meeting.

12.2 Grievance Meetings

Grievances to be handled through the grievance procedure should be taken up at such time of day as will least interfere with the regular working hours of the employees involved. If the Company finds it more convenient and practical to conduct such proceedings during regular working hours, and the Union representative is agreeable to meeting at such time, then Union grievance representatives who are called from their regular duty will be paid their regular wages as though they were on regular duty.

12.3 Grievance Committee

The Union's Grievance Committee shall consist of regular employees of the Company covered by this Agreement selected by the Local Union to represent major geographic groupings of employees. The initial major geographic groupings are considered to be at:

Barlow/Eddyville

Morganfield/Sebree

Earlington/Dawson Springs
Greenville

but said groupings may change with the addition or deletion of department and/or shift assignment of employees covered by this Agreement, but not to exceed five (5) in total. One (1) Grievance Committeeman shall be elected by the Local Union membership to represent each of said major geographic groupings.

In large areas and/or on shifts at the Green River Power Station where no Grievance Committeeman is employed, a Steward will be appointed as determined by the Local Union so that there will be at least one (1) Grievance Committeeman or Steward on each active shift. The Steward will act as an assistant to the Grievance Committeeman and be limited to the handling of grievances through Step 1 only.

During his term of office, should a Grievance Committeeman or Steward cease to be employed within the major group he represents, the office of Grievance Committeeman or Steward representing that group shall become vacant and shall be filled by the Local Union with a permanent employee of said group.

The Local Union President and Unit President shall be considered as a member of the Local Union Grievance Committee in addition to the Grievance Committeemen provided for above.

The Union shall furnish to the Company a list of its Officers, Grievance Committeemen and Stewards, and keep such list current.

12.4 Time Limits

A grievance that is not filed, appealed or referred to arbitration within the prescribed time limits shall be considered settled and shall not be processed in any subsequent steps of the grievance or arbitration procedure. If the second or third step supervisor does not timely answer, the Union can demand an answer by giving notice by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, to the Corporate labor relations manager. If no written answer is given in person or by posting in the mail within five (5) days after receipt of such demand, the particular grievance shall be deemed to be granted but without precedent.

12.5 Calculation of Time

The term "days" as used in this Article XII and the following Article XIII shall be understood and agreed to exclude all Saturdays, Sundays or Holidays occurring in each such calculation.

12.6 Group Grievances

In the event more than one employee desire to file identical grievances, either the Grievance Committeeman or Steward for the area in which the alleged grievance has arisen, or one of the aggrieved employees selected by the others, may file and process the grievance on their behalf as a class, provided the employees involved are adequately identified in the initial written grievance.

12.7 Union Grievances

A. The Union may file a grievance at Step 3 with regard to any obligation of the Company to the Union as such, as opposed to its obligations to the individual employee(s). Also in the event an employee dies the Union may process any claim he would have had relating to any money due under any provision of this Agreement. In processing such claim on behalf of a deceased employee, the fifteen (15) day time limit for filing the initial grievance shall be waived.

B. In the event the Union believes that an interpretation contrary to the terms of this Agreement has occurred with respect to one or more employees, which interpretation, if established as a practice, might adversely affect other employees in the future, if the directly affected employees fail to file a grievance, then the Union may file a grievance in its own name at Step 2 for the purpose of obtaining a prospective determination with respect to employees generally.

12.8 Expedited Procedure

Notwithstanding the procedures set forth in this Article, the parties may by agreement omit any Step or Steps and proceed to a higher Step.

12.9 Extension of Time Limits

It is understood and agreed that any time limits specified in this Article XII and the following Article XIII may, and should be, extended for good reason shown. The period during negotiations for an extension or renewal of this Agreement shall specifically be deemed as requiring a liberal interpretation of this Section.

ARTICLE XIII

ARBITRATION PROCEDURE

13.1 Arbitration Procedure

If the Step 3 answer of the Plant General Manager, the Manager Substation Construction and Maintenance, the Manager Electric System Planning Engineering and Metering, or the Manager Earlington Operations, or their designee(s), is unsatisfactory to the Union, the Union may refer such grievance to arbitration by delivering to the Manager, Corporate Labor Relations, within twenty (20) days after receipt of the answer, written notification that it desires to arbitrate the grievance. If the Company and the Union are unable to agree to an arbitrator, the Company and Union shall jointly request the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to provide a list of seven (7) qualified arbitrators who have training or experience in the subject of the dispute in question. The representatives of the parties shall either agree to an arbitrator on the list or select one by each party's alternately striking a name from the list until one name remains. More than one grievance may be submitted to the same Arbitrator if a multiple submission is agreeable to both parties.

13.2 Arbitration Hearing

The arbitration hearing shall be scheduled for a date as soon as mutually agreeable but within sixty (60) calendar days of the date that the Arbitrator is selected by the parties, provided the Arbitrator is available. The arbitration hearing shall be held at the Green River Power Station or the Company's District Office nearest to where the grievance arose or at a place mutually agreed upon by the Company and the Union or, if they are unable to agree, the Arbitrator shall select a neutral place in Madisonville, Kentucky for the hearing.

13.3 Duties of the Arbitrator

It shall be the duty of the Arbitrator to hear and render a decision on a dispute submitted to him in accordance with the terms of this Agreement. The Arbitrator shall regard the provisions of this Agreement as the sole and complete understanding governing the relationship of the parties, and it shall be his function to interpret and apply the specific provisions of this Agreement. The Arbitrator shall not supplement, enlarge, diminish or alter the scope or meaning of any provisions of this Agreement, nor entertain jurisdiction of any subject not covered hereby. The decision and award of the Arbitrator shall be final and binding on the Company, the Union and the employees.

13.4 Costs of Arbitration

The compensation and expenses of the Arbitrator shall be borne equally by the parties. The compensation and expenses, if any, of witnesses and other participants in the arbitration shall be borne by the party desiring or requesting their presence, except that an employee at the Green River Power Station or an employee in the district where the grievance arose who is a witness may appear during his normal working hours for the time necessary to give his testimony only without loss of pay.

13.5 Arbitrator's Decision

The Arbitrator shall be jointly requested to render a copy of his decision to each party in writing within thirty (30) calendar days from the date of close of the hearing, or the filing of briefs, if any.

While it shall remain the policy of the Company to warn employees for minor infractions before taking disciplinary action or discharging them, it is understood that certain major offenses may be cause for immediate discipline, including discharge. Grievances involving discharge shall automatically be referred to Step 3.

In the event any employee is called before a Company representative for the purpose of being reprimanded or receiving disciplinary action, he will be, if he so chooses, allowed to have a Local Union representative present. In the event the Company intends to suspend or discharge an employee, or give a final written warning to an employee prior to discharge, the Company will inform the employee of his or her right to union representation. The parties agree that in general it is in the best interest of all concerned that disciplinary action be taken in private.

Should it be determined by the Company during the grievance procedure that any disciplinary action is too severe, or if a grievance concerning disciplinary action by the Company is referred to arbitration and the final decision of the Arbitrator results in a modification of the disciplinary action taken, the employee shall receive compensation for time lost from work in such amount as the Company and the Union mutually agree if the matter is resolved in the grievance procedure, or, if the matter is decided by an Arbitrator, as the Arbitrator may deem necessary to give proper redress under the circumstances, including consideration of any earnings or other compensation received by the employee during the period of such lost time; but the Arbitrator shall not reduce any back pay award by reason of earnings the employee would have received (such as from his farm, etc.) even if he had not lost time from work.

If an employee is discharged after completion of his probationary period and the discharge is protested through the grievance procedure, the Company will continue normal insurance coverage for such employee until the grievance is finally resolved.

ARTICLE XV

TEMPORARY ASSIGNMENTS AND PERMANENT JOB VACANCIES

15.1 Temporary Assignments

The Company may temporarily assign any employee to work in any other job classification; except that at Green River Power Station, other than in cases of emergency, consideration will be given to the senior available employee temporarily working out of his classification when there is a need to return an employee to such classification. If the employee has been temporarily assigned to a lower rated job, the applicable rate shall be the rate of his regular job, and if the employee has been temporarily assigned to a higher rated job, the applicable rate will be the higher of the rate of his regular job or the minimum of the rate range for the job to which he is assigned. Such assignments shall be effective upon the execution of a payroll authorization by a supervisor, and payment for work in a higher classification will be for a period of not less than eight (8) hours. When a temporary assignment to another job classification or another shift of one (1) week or more is to be made, employees in the various classifications required will be permitted to indicate their choice of assignment in order of seniority, but the final right to make such assignments, and to change them from time to time, is exclusively reserved to the Company in order to assure safe and efficient operations. Such temporary assignments on a shift at the Green River Power Plant will not exceed two (2) hours if the crew is not fully staffed (at least five (5) employees).

15.2 Permanent Job Vacancies

A. Policy

It shall be the Company's policy to advance senior employees when permanent job vacancies occur, provided the employee is qualified.

It is the Company's intent to allow current bargaining unit members to bid on jobs before hiring from the outside, where possible. Depending on the current operational needs, the Company agrees to bid lower positions such as C or B, (if no C classification exists), lower positions (Unit Operator Assistant and/or Auxiliary Operator) in the Green River Power Plant operational group, and/or Trainee, where no qualified bidders exist for top rated positions. Should the Company determine the need is for immediately filling an upper rated position, the Company will discuss this with the Union before hiring from the outside. The final decision will rest solely with the Company, based on operational needs.

B. Posting Procedure

(1) When the Company determines that there is, or will be a permanent vacancy in the bargaining unit, it will post, for five (5) days, Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays excluded, a notice describing the job and its special qualifications, if any, including residency requirements for members of service organizations, if applicable, on bulletin boards throughout the bargaining unit. Copies of all such postings shall also be sent to the Union's Unit Secretary. An employee desiring consideration in the event of such a permanent vacancy should make written application on forms provided by the Company during such five (5) day period. After having given consideration to each applicant's Seniority, prior experience, work record, skill and ability, the Company will post the name and seniority date of the successful bidder, if any, on the bulletin boards throughout the bargaining unit. Normally such announcement will be made within three (3) weeks after completion of the posting. During the time necessary to consider applications, the Company may fill the vacancy temporarily by assignment of any available employee. Employees who fail to make application will be considered to have waived their interest in the particular vacancy for that particular occasion only.

(2) If a posting is for a vacancy in a classification to which employees normally advance without bidding, such as provided in Paragraph G below, and if there is no qualified applicant and the Company does not hire a new employee from outside for the posted vacancy, then if the Company desires to fill the vacancy with an employee in a lower rated job than the one previously posted, it will post such lower rated job prior to hiring a new employee for such lower rated job.

C. Bid by Absentee

The Company and the Union will cooperate in contacting any employee who is absent from work due to illness, injury, vacation or for other legitimate reason as specified in this Agreement during the entire posting period who notified either the Company or the Union, if possible, prior to his absence of an interest in bidding, to assure he is notified of the posting. If such employee is absent for three (3) weeks or less and is not contacted during such period and afforded an opportunity to bid, then upon return to work, he may bid on a job posted during his absence. However, such bid must be made within five (5) working days after the employee's return to work. If the Company awards the bid to such previously absent employee and if it had previously made an award to another applicant, such other applicant will be returned to his previous job.

E. Bidding Limitation

An employee shall be limited to no more than one permanent job transfer per year under this bidding procedure to a job of equal or lower rate unless for reasons of health or for other good and sufficient reasons shown. Additionally, any employee hired (or an employee rehired after loss of Seniority), after August 1, 2002 shall be ineligible to bid for a period of one (1) year from their date of hire.

F. No Qualified Applicants

Should there be no qualified applicant for any vacancy, then the Company may exercise its discretion in the filling of the vacancy by voluntary transfer or by hiring or it may cancel the posting.

G. Hiring Experienced Employees

Should the Company hire any new employee who has had prior experience on a similar job requiring such skills for which hired to fill a vacancy for which the bidding procedure has not been completed, he shall be placed in the proper classification at a rate commensurate with such experience. Should any lower-rated employee with Seniority at the time of hiring such new experienced employee believe that he was qualified to perform the job for which the new employee was hired and desires assignment to such job, he may request and shall be granted a review of his qualifications and shall be upgraded to the same rate for which such new employee was hired should the facts demonstrate he was so qualified. Such up-grading and pay for same to become effective the date of hiring the new employee.

G. Reclassification

A reclassification of an employee to a higher rated job, such as from Line Technician B to Line Technician A or from Maintenance Technician B to Maintenance Technician A, shall not be considered the filling of a permanent vacancy for purposes of this Article XV, and nothing in this Section 15.2 shall be construed to require the Company to post any such higher rated position.

H. Training

In filling permanent vacancies in higher rated jobs in operating groups at the Green River Power Station, it is agreed that if there is no qualified applicant and if a qualified person cannot be hired from outside, the Company will be guided by the factors set forth in Paragraph B(1) above in selecting an employee from a lower classification in the operating group to attempt to train for the vacancy with the senior applicant given preference if the other factors are relatively equal, provided that such employee has demonstrated the basic physical and mental capacities to become qualified within a reasonable period and provided that such employee has not been selected for another training position as described in this paragraph within the previous twelve (12) month period. Also, should the Company decide to attempt to train an unqualified employee to fill a vacancy other than in an operating group at the Green River Power Station, it will be guided by the factors set forth in Paragraph B(1) above in selecting an employee for such training with the senior applicant given preference if the other factors are relatively equal, provided that such employee has demonstrated the basic physical and mental capacities to become qualified within a reasonable period. In either event the Company will post a vacancy in the classification it desires to fill, designating that it is for training.

The applicant selected shall not be assigned to such classification until he satisfactorily completes his training and becomes qualified.

I. Return to Former Classification

In the event an unqualified employee is selected by the Company for training for a job and does not become qualified within a reasonable period, he shall be returned to his former classification or a classification of similar status. It is agreed that under normal circumstances an employee selected for training for a higher rated job in an operating group at the Green River Power Station under Paragraph H above should become qualified within 480 hours, within a 120 calendar day period.

J. Residence Requirements

It is recognized that as a public utility the Company is obligated to provide reliable service to its customers. Such may at times make it necessary for employees to work overtime, both scheduled and on an emergency basis. Employees are expected to work their fair share of overtime work when called upon to do so by the Company and failure to do so may be cause for appropriate disciplinary action.

- (a) In addition, to assist in promptly responding to overtime callouts for emergencies, Line Technicians, Service Technicians, Substation Technicians and Meter Technicians shall reside within twenty-five (25) miles of their reporting location.

ABSENCES AND LEAVES OF ABSENCE

16.1 Absences

A. It is understood that an employee has a responsibility to his job and to the Company to report for work on time as scheduled. An employee who reports for work after his starting time may be refused work for the day at the discretion of his supervisor if a replacement for him has been called, his crew has already left without him or there is otherwise no work readily available for him.

B. When an employee cannot for any reason, report for work as scheduled he must, in accordance with established procedures in effect at the time, notify the Company (personally or by other acceptable means) prior to scheduled start time, indicating to the extent possible the probable duration of his tardiness and absence, unless unavoidable circumstance would prevent employee from doing so. Failure to comply could result in an unexcused absence, even if the absence would otherwise have been legitimate.

16.2 Disability Leave

Upon reasonable advance request, if possible, leave of absence without pay will be granted to any employee for illness, injury or pregnancy which prevents the employee from working, verified by the employee's doctor if requested, and concurred in, if the Company deems advisable, by a doctor selected by the Company, and will from time to time be extended if the circumstances warrant unless the employee's Seniority terminates under Section 9.5(F) or (K). The Company may require reasonable periodic verification from the employee of continued inability to work. To the extent such absence is covered by paid sick leave, long-term disability insurance or similar insurance, the reports under such programs shall be sufficient verification.

16.3 Personal Leave

At the Company's discretion, leaves of absence without pay for an agreed upon period of time may be granted to any employee for personal reasons, and may from time to time be extended for additional periods if the circumstances warrant. Requests for such leaves of absence and extensions must be made in writing and approved by the Company.

16.4 Return To Work

A. The Company may require that an employee returning to work after being absent for a period in excess of five (5) consecutive workdays due to any temporary disability or personal leave furnish, prior to the resumption of his duties, a certificate of ability to return to work and perform his regular duties from the employee's doctor, concurred in, if the Company deems advisable, by a doctor selected by the Company.

B. Examination by the doctor selected by the Company shall be confined to the illness or injury that caused the absence or to an illness or injury known or reasonably suspected to have occurred to the employee during such leave of absence. Such examination shall not be directed toward a condition that existed prior to the temporary disability or leave of absence unless the Company reasonably believes it would affect his ability to be qualified for his job.

C. Examination by the doctor selected by the Company shall be at the expense of the Company.

D. In the case of a disagreement between an employee's doctor and the Company doctor concerning the health of an employee, and the dispute becomes the subject of a grievance, a third disinterested doctor having special knowledge and experience in the matter shall be chosen by mutual agreement between the Company and the Union or if they are unable to agree, a third doctor chosen by an arbitrator shall examine the employee, and his decision shall be final and binding. The expense of the third physician shall be borne equally between the Company and the Local Union.

E. Nothing in this section shall be interpreted to affect the Company's right to require a physical examination at any time when it has reason to believe that an employee has a disability which could affect his ability to perform his job safely.

16.5 Early Termination

Any employee who desires to terminate his leave and return to work prior to the normal expiration date of any leave granted him may do so upon satisfying the requirements for return and giving the Company three (3) working days notice.

16.6 Pregnancy Leave

An employee on pregnancy leave may remain on leave for a period equal to the time allowed for non-work related illness or injury as provided in Section 16.2. Upon return to work, she may reclaim her job or select another in the same manner as if she had been absent for any other non-work related illness or injury. If the employee fails to apply for reinstatement, or refuses to take an available position as above provided, her employment shall be terminated.

16.7 Leave For Union Business

A leave of absence without pay will be given to employees who are elected and/or chosen delegates for the purpose of attending conventions, conferences and such usual and proper functions of the Union (normally not to exceed two (2) weeks plus travel time). Not more than two (2) employees shall be eligible for such leave at any one time, but if two (2) are to be absent at the same time, they will be selected from unrelated work groups so as to avoid a double burden on the remaining employees by reason of the absences. The Company, without creating any future obligation or precedent, may grant Union requests for leaves for additional employees. The Union will give sufficient notice to allow for orderly replacement on work assignments.

16.8 Periodic Payments

It should be the responsibility of the employee to make arrangements for the payment of any insurance premiums and the like which are his obligations during any leave of absence.

16.9 Fraud

Obtaining a leave of absence or extension thereof under false pretense or falsifying forms, applications, and other information pertaining to a leave may be cause for appropriate disciplinary action.

ARTICLE XVII

17.1 Funeral Pay

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of five days for Immediate Family Members who include: spouse, child, step-child, or parent or step-parent.

Funeral leave is paid for a maximum of three days for Other Family Members who include: brother; sister; grandparents; grandchildren; parents-in-law; sons-in-law; daughters-in-law; spouses of the employee's brothers or sisters; employee's spouse's brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents; step relations of the preceding, or any relative living with the employee.

Such days shall be consecutive work days and shall be computed in direct relation to the death and funeral, but shall not extend beyond the day following the funeral, except in the case of the death of an Immediate Family Member in which case such days may extend to the second day following the funeral. Payment will not be made for any day during such three- or five-day period on which the employee would otherwise not work.

Employees will not be paid for unused funeral leave.

Should the employee need to be absent on a normal scheduled day or days, other than those for which payment is provided above, the employee may elect to take such day or days as vacation time, provided he is then entitled to sufficient vacation time which he has not utilized by time off or for which he has not been paid.

Payment shall be made on the next pay day after receiving notice in writing from the employee and (a) the name of the deceased person and relationship to the employee, and (b) the date and location of the funeral.

If a day for which an employee would otherwise be entitled to funeral pay falls on a day on which the employee had scheduled vacation, holiday or other time off, at the request of the employee, the previously scheduled time may be rescheduled and the employee will receive Funeral pay.

17.2 Military Training or Temporary Duty

Except as otherwise provided by law, if it should become necessary for an employee to leave the service of the Company to serve in the Armed Forces of the United States, or should an employee volunteer for service in any of the Armed Forces of the United States, then any such employee shall retain and accrue his seniority during such service, provided he returns to the employ of the Company within ninety (90) calendar days after his demobilization or release from the service, and provided further that he is fit and competent and has received a release or discharge under honorable conditions. A reservist who is called to active duty as a result of mobilization shall receive a supplement, for ninety (90) days from being called, of the difference between military pay and the employee's base pay in effect prior to taking leave under this Article. If the employee's family elects to continue dental coverage under the provisions of COBRA, the Company will waive the premium for such coverage up to twelve (12) months. Additionally, an employee who participates in military summer camp or short-term duty up to three (3) weeks will receive a supplement of the difference between military pay and the employee's base pay. Except as otherwise provided by law, this Article shall not apply to any employee who re-enlists or otherwise extends his period of full-time military service beyond the period of time of his military obligation to the United States.

The employment status of an employee shall not be affected by his enlistment or participation in the civilian components of military services, regardless of whether such enlistment or participation is voluntary or mandatory.

17.3 Jury Duty

If a regular full-time employee (other than a probationary employee) is summoned for jury duty or is subpoenaed to appear as a witness in court and is required to so report or serve or appear on a regular workday during normal working hours which he would otherwise be scheduled to work, he shall be paid the difference between his normal straight time hourly rate (including regular shift differential, if any, and any other regular hourly payments) for those hours lost and the payment received for such service (but not including any payment officially designated as expenses). In the case of such an employee on an afternoon or night shift, the Company shall reschedule him to the day shift for days he is required to report to court. If any such employee is not required to appear until, or is released from such service at, a time that reasonably permits him to report to work or to return to work during his scheduled hours, he will so report or return and may be assigned to his normal duties or may be assigned to such other work as may be available. To be entitled to pay under this section, an employee must notify his supervisor as far in advance of the date he is required to report for such duty as possible and present a statement from the Clerk of the Court giving the time and date of such duty and the amount of compensation received for such service. In no event shall pay under this Section exceed eight (8) hours pay per day.

17.4 Sick Leave Plan

Any employee who cannot report to work as scheduled because of personal or family illness should attempt to contact his or her manager before the scheduled start time or as soon as possible thereafter. Medical certification may be requested. Any employee at Green River should contact his or her supervisor or manager at least one hour before the scheduled start time unless unavoidable circumstance would prevent employee from doing so.

The Company will provide up to 40 hours of sick leave per calendar year.

Unused sick leave may not be accumulated. Unused sick leave is not paid to the employee.

An employee may use sick leave in one-hour increments.

A. Employee

1. Must report the cause of the employee's absence to his or her immediate supervisor (or to the individual designated by the supervisor to receive such reports) as soon as possible, but in any event not later than the beginning of the first work shift from which the employee will be absent;
2. Must adopt such remedial measures as may be commensurate with his or her disability;
3. Must, upon request, present evidence satisfactory to the Company, of the employee's inability to work, or that the injury or illness was non-occupational;
4. Must have accumulated unused sick leave credit at least equal to the hours being reported for sick leave pay; and
5. Must advise his or her supervisor (or the individual designated by the supervisor to receive such reports) of the date on which the employee expects to return to work as far in advance thereof as possible. Where the employee's work is being performed by relief or substitute personnel, at the supervisor's request such advice must be given at least one hour prior to the beginning of the shift on which the employee expects to return to work.

B. No sick leave will be allowed for any injury or illness arising out of, or in the course of, any occupation or employment for wage or profit.

Sick leave credit cannot be used for any other purpose than specified in the plan, and is not payable in cash, or in any other form, should the employee leave the Company. This plan is designed to assist the employee to prevent a loss of income due to absence from duty because of illness.

If an employee becomes ill or injured while on vacation, the employee shall be paid only for the vacation, except as noted in 8.7(A).

If an employee becomes ill or injured on a holiday, the employee is to be paid only for the holiday.

If the illness continues after a vacation or holiday period, benefits under the Sick Leave Plan would commence upon completion of the scheduled vacation or holiday.

17.5 Personal Days

An employee should prearrange all personal days with his or her supervisor or manager. Two personal leave days are available during a calendar year.

If an employee has available personal days, he or she will be required to use that time for bridging to Short Term Disability (STD) if remaining sick time is not adequate.

There is no carry-over of unused personal days.

There is no pay in lieu of personal days under any circumstances.

17.6 Accumulated Sick Leave

An employee's unused sick leave hours, as of 09/30/99, can be used for the same purposes, other than for family illness, as the sick leave in Section 17.4 after the sick leave awarded each calendar year under 17.4 has been exhausted. The unused sick leave hours will be reduced by the number of hours used for this purpose.

In addition, unused sick leave hours as of 09/30/99 may be used to increase the pay an employee receives under the STD program in Article 18 for hours at 75% to 100%. The unused sick leave hours will be reduced by the number of hours used for this purpose.

In accordance with the provisions of the Company's retirement Annuity Plan, an employee's "credited service" at retirement as that term is defined in the Plan, will be increased by the number of that employee's unused days of sick leave as of his or her retirement date at a rate of 260 days being equal to one year of "credited service." Unused days exceeding, or less than, 260 will be expressed as a fraction of a year, as it is defined herein.

ARTICLE XVIII
HEALTH AND RETIREMENT BENEFITS

During the term of this Agreement the Company will continue to provide the existing or no less favorable group life insurance, long-term disability insurance, retirement annuity and medical, including post-retirement medical insurance benefits, dental assistance program, employee savings plan, employee assistance program, dependent care assistance plan, and dependent life insurance plan, short term disability and workers' compensation supplement for members of the bargaining unit as are provided for other full time employees of the Company, except as described in 18.1, 18.2, and 18.3 below. The details of such benefits shall be as specifically provided in master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. (A) payments for such benefits must be deductible as business expenses or contributions to a qualified plan, and (B) benefits provided through an insurance carrier shall be those provided by the policy or contract and such coverage must continue to be available from the same or another carrier on a reasonable basis. If occasion to change or discontinue any such benefits should arise under clause (A) or (B), the Company will notify the Union and the parties will promptly enter into negotiations as to the benefits to be changed or substituted. The Company will furnish identification cards for medical purposes. The Company will furnish each employee annually the amount of his accumulated sick leave and the aggregate amount of his contributions to the retirement plan.

The Company will assume an increase of 4% in each year of the Contract in medical and hospitalization expense per employee. To the extent this expense increases over 4% the employees will absorb increases up to the next 4%. Should the total increase exceed 8%, the Company and the employees will equally share in the balance of that expense.

With respect to medical benefits, to the extent that individual plan premiums exceed the Company's contribution, the employees will contribute the additional cost of premiums according to the plan they select. Contributions will be made monthly on a pre-tax basis.

A representative of this union will participate on a joint Health Care Task Force which will meet biannually to review trends in health care, review current Company Medical benefit plans, and make cost containment recommendations. The joint Health Care Task Force will also be charged with the responsibility of recommending changes, including plan design changes and increases in co-pays on doctor visits and prescriptions. The task force will establish their priority as avoiding future increases in employee contributions to the extent practicable while maintaining the current quality of coverage. However, the Company retains the right in its sole discretion to modify the terms, conditions and level of benefits under these medical, so long as benefits for employees covered by this Agreement are the same as provided to other full-time employees of the Company.

18.1. Employee Savings Plan

The Company matching contribution under the E.ON US LLC Savings Plan is 70 percent on employee contributions up to (6) percent of covered compensation.

18.2. Retiree Medical Insurance

A. Bargaining unit employees employed by the Company as of December 31, 2005 will be eligible for retiree medical benefits, the details of such benefits will be as specifically provided in the master plan documents or insurance contracts covering the terms of such plans. Effective January 1, 2008 the Company will contribute monthly up to $180 toward the cost of a Company medical plan for the eligible retiree. Additionally, the eligible retiree's spouse or other dependent will be eligible for an additional $100 toward the cost of his/her insurance premium, to a maximum total monthly Company contribution of $280. Effective January 1, 2010 the Company will contribute monthly up to $190 toward the cost of a Company medical plan for the eligible retiree. Additionally, the eligible retiree's spouse or other dependent will be eligible for an additional $100 toward the cost of his/her insurance premium, to a maximum total monthly Company contribution of $290.

B. Bargaining unit employees hired by the Company on or after January 1, 2006, will be eligible for the same retiree medical benefits however, the Company premium contribution will be a lump sum account that will spring into existence on the eligible retiree's date of retirement. This Retiree Medical Account must be used for the sole purpose of paying for retiree medical coverage through the Company.

The initial lump sum amount will be determined based on the following formula:

1. For the retiree, $2,000 per year of service after age 45, with a maximum initial account balance of $30,000.
2. For the dependents, a total initial account balance equal to 50 percent of the initial account balance for the retiree.

On the date the eligible employee retires, the Company will fund this Retiree Medical Account. Once funded, the account balance will be credited with interest based on the 10-year Treasury rate subject to a four (4) percent minimum and a seven (7) percent maximum.

The retiree may elect to pay the age-related monthly premiums from the Retiree Medical Account in full or in part until the account balance reaches zero. Once the Retiree Medical Account is fully depleted, the retiree may continue medical coverage through the Company by paying 100 percent of the age-related monthly premiums.

The details covering the provisions of the Retiree Medical Account will be as specifically provided in the master plan document covering the terms of the plan.

18.3. Retirement Income Benefits

Bargaining unit employees hired by the Company on or after January 1, 2006, will be eligible for the Retirement Income Account under the LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan instead of the LG&E Energy LLC Retirement Plan. The Company will make an annual lump sum contribution based on the following schedule to the employee’s Retirement Income Account in the LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan.

Years of Service as of January 1	Percent of Compensation (as defined under terms of LG&E Energy LLC Savings Plan)
Less than 6	3 percent

6 but less than 11	4 percent
11 but less than 16	5 percent
16 but less than 21	6 percent
21 or more	7 percent

The annual lump sum contribution will be made by April 1 of the applicable year and the employee will be immediately 100 percent vested. Such bargaining unit employees on the active payroll as of December 31 of the preceding year, regardless of whether the employee has satisfied the three month eligibility requirement, will receive this annual lump sum contribution. The details covering the provisions of the Retirement Income Account will be as specifically provided in the master plan document covering the terms of the plan.

ARTICLE XIX

TRANSFER OUT OF THE BARGAINING UNIT

19.1 Permanent Transfer

The selection of employees to be promoted to supervisory positions or to be transferred to other positions excluded from the bargaining unit shall be at the sole discretion of the Company, subject to the agreement of the employee. For the first sixty (60) calendar days the employee shall continue to accrue Seniority in the bargaining unit. If the Company transfers him back to the bargaining unit, or he asks to be removed from the position within the sixty (60) days period, he shall return to the bargaining unit and will be placed on the job he held prior to such promotion or transfer, or to another job in accordance with such accrued Seniority if an adjustment in the workforce has occurred during his absence. If he continues in the supervisory or other position outside the bargaining unit beyond the sixty (60) day period, his Seniority shall be broken and he shall lose all rights under this Agreement. The Company will notify the Unit Secretary of the date of permanent transfer.

19.2 Temporary Transfer

Should an employee covered by this Agreement temporarily be designated by the Company as a Temporary Supervisor to fill in temporarily for eight (8) hours or more for any regular supervisor such as during vacations, illness, death in the family, jury duty or other absences of a temporary nature, and the employee accepts such duties, he shall receive his regular rate of pay or the rate of the supervisor whose work he performs, whichever is higher, during the period that the employee performs such work. (An exception is in the Coal Yard-See Note 1) The area grievance committeeman or Unit President will be informed of such designation.

ARTICLE XX

WAGES

20.1 Hourly Wages

20.2 Shift Differential

A. A shift differential of ninety cents ($.90) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees assigned to an afternoon shift, and one dollar and five cents ($1.05) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by such employees assigned to a night shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 5 a.m. and prior to 12 noon shall be considered a day shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 12 noon and prior to 8 p.m. shall be considered an afternoon shift. Any shift regularly commencing at or after 8 p.m. and prior to 5 a.m. shall be considered a night shift.

B. A shift differential of forty-five cents ($.45) per hour shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees at Green River Power Station assigned to a rotating shift regardless of when a particular shift may commence.

C. A shift differential of one dollar and five cents ($1.05) shall be paid for all work performed by full time employees at Green River Power Station assigned to a relief shift regardless of when a particular shift may commence.

D. Only one shift differential can be applicable to any particular hours by any employee.

20.3 Sunday Differential

A Sunday differential of one dollar and twenty-five cents ($1.25) per hour shall be paid for all work performed on Sunday by full time employees who are assigned to work on Sunday as a part of their normal (non-overtime) schedule. This differential will be in addition to any applicable shift differential.

20.4 Pay for Work Performed

If an employee who is regularly required to, and who is qualified to, perform the work of the next higher classification makes a request to the Company that he be promoted, the Company at its option will either (a) stop requiring him to perform the work, (b) temporarily assign him to the classification under Section 15.1 for the periods he is required to perform the work or (c) permanently promote him to such classification.

ARTICLE XXI

TWO-PERSON CREW PREMIUM

When two non-supervisory employees are assigned work to be performed without the direction of a supervisor and the work involves the installation, maintenance or operation of electric lines or equipment, the company may designate one of the employees to be in charge of the work to be performed. The employee designated to be in charge shall be paid a $1.00 per hour premium over their regular rate of pay.

ARTICLE XXII
EMPLOYEES WORKING AWAY FROM THEIR REGULAR PLACE OF EMPLOYMENT

22.1 Transportation and Lodging

Whenever an employee is temporarily assigned duties away from his regular place of employment, he will be provided transportation, or compensation for transportation, between the temporarily assigned job and his regular place of employment or headquarters. If, in the opinion of his supervisor, it is impractical for the employee to return daily to his regular place of employment, the Company will provide suitable lodging (single room, if available) and board at or near the place of such temporary employment.

For each trip authorized by the Company, between the places of work assigned and the regular place of work or headquarters, time required for travel shall be considered as time worked. It is not the policy of the Company to require any employee to stay away from his regular place of employment or headquarters for a continuous period of more than two (2) weeks, except in cases of emergency.

Except in cases of emergency, employees who will be required to stay away from home overnight will be given notice of that requirement as soon as possible, but not later than the day before.

22.2 Meals

When it is necessary for any employee to work in areas away from his regular headquarters, or to work hours in excess of his normal hours, the Company will provide additional compensation or meals as follows:

A. Whenever a line crew, service crew, substation crew, or any employee is working away from their regular headquarters and returning to their regular headquarters each day, but are working in an area where it is not practical to return to headquarters within the 1-hour period allowed for the noon meal, the Company shall provide an additional $7.00 of compensation to be added to the employee's payroll check as reimbursement for the purchase of the noon meal by the employee, provided the lunch can be obtained in the area in which the crew or employee is working. Work groups who choose to use a ½ hour lunch period will forfeit any meal entitlement to which they may otherwise have been entitled. Where the lunch cannot be obtained in the area in which the crew or employee is working, then each employee will be required to bring his own lunch with him from home. In those instances in which it will be necessary for the employee to bring his own lunch, then the supervisor should so advise on the day before working in the area.

B. Whenever a line crew, service crew, substation crew, or any employee performs work in excess of 2 hours beyond his normal quitting time of his normal scheduled shift, the Company will furnish or pay for the employee's meal, or meals, required during such hours of work.

C. Whenever any employee or crew is working away from regular headquarters and not returning to their regular headquarters each day, then all board and lodging while away from regular headquarters will be paid for by the Company. Under such circumstances, the supervisor will arrange for a hot lunch to be selected from the regular menu at a public eating place at noon if it is practical to do so. Under no circumstances should more than one (1) hour be taken for the noon lunch period, including travel time from work area to the eating place and return. If the work is so located that it is impractical for the crew to go to a public eating place for their noon meal, then the supervisor will arrange for lunches to be provided at the job site.

D. In those cases where the work is so located that it is impractical for the crew to go to a public eating place for their noon meal and the employee is either provided the noon meal or is reimbursed for the purchase of the noon meal under this Section 22.2, it will be permissible for the supervisor to authorize the taking of only 30 minutes for the lunch period and quitting work 30 minutes earlier than would be the case where an hour lunch period is taken.

Except during emergencies or during extraordinary circumstances, the lunch hour of day shift employees shall normally begin not earlier than 11:00 a.m., nor later than 1:00 p.m. local standard time.

ARTICLE XXIII
RETIREMENT

The practice of retirement of employees at age sixty-five (65) will continue in effect; provided, however, that if for any period during the life of this Agreement, mandatory retirement at such age shall be prohibited by law, then for so long as such prohibition shall remain in effect, the retirement age hereunder shall be increased to such age as is necessary in order to comply with the law.

ARTICLE XXIV
BULLETIN BOARD

The Company will either provide space on its bulletin boards, or provide separate bulletin boards at the same locations, where notices of the Union meetings and other official business of the Union may be posted from time to time. Such notices shall not consist of or include advertising or the promotion of political, religious or charitable projects or contain any material derogatory to the Company, any of its affiliates, or any employee or employees of the Company.

ARTICLE XXV
SHIFT PREFERENCE

A. At the Green River Power Station, the selection of assignments within the operating groups will be made as follows:

During the month of December of each year, the Company shall first identify the operating groups by posting under the name of the Shift Supervisor; provided this shall not restrict the Company's management right to change supervision from time to time. The employees in the various classifications required will be permitted to indicate their choice of assignment to an operating group in order of seniority, but the final right to schedule group positions, and to change them from time to time, is exclusively reserved to the Company in order to assure safe and efficient operations. Any resulting change in group assignments will become effective at the start of a pay period near the first of January selected by the Company.

B. In the event that a vacancy occurs in an operating group after the shift selection process above, the replacement will be placed on the shift where the opening occurs.

C. Vacancies created while operators are in training will be filled by Relief Operators from Relief Group "R".

D. When possible, because of available relief, the Senior Relief Group “R” operator in the classification needed shall have first choice in filling the temporary vacancy created because of training.

E. When a successful bidder is posted on or before December 1, he or she will be permitted a shift selection for the following year within the classification to which they bid by order of seniority among the employees in that classification regardless of whether training has or has not been completed.

F. The Relief Group “R” Unit Operators, Unit Operator Assistants, and Auxiliary Operators will work non-relief days at assigned duties.

G. Relief operators shall be listed on the overtime list in his/her own classification, and one classification immediately below.

SUCCESSORSHIP

The Company agrees that the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the parties will remain in full force and effect for the specified duration regardless of any change in the ownership of the Company. The Company will include a provision, in any sales or merger agreement, with any successor or assign, that will affirm and make the continuation of the Collective Bargaining Agreement a condition of the sale or merger of the Company.

ARTICLE XXVII
MOVING EXPENSES

A. When the permanent reporting location of an employee is changed (a) because of his bidding into a permanent job vacancy under Section 15.2 of this Agreement, or, (b) when the Company requests him to take a job which requires his moving to another location, or, (c) when he is released for lack of work and then exercises his placement rights to displace another employee under Section 10.1 of this Agreement, and the employee is required to move his residence because of this change, the Company will pay a lump sum payment, net of taxes, equal to:

- One (1) month's base pay for renters
- Two (2) month's base pay for home owners

B. As much advance notice as possible will be given the employee of the proposed change in headquarters to give him sufficient time to arrange for new quarters in the new locality. If it is not possible to give the employee reasonable notice of the proposed change in permanent headquarters, and it is necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay his reasonable board and lodging expenses not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon. If it is not possible to give such reasonable notice of the change, but it is not necessary for the employee to live in the new location until he can arrange to move, the Company will pay mileage at its standard rate for the mileage by which the distance from his present residence to his new headquarters exceeds the distance to his old headquarters, not to exceed one calendar month unless otherwise agreed upon.

C. The Company shall not be obligated to pay the moving expenses of (a) any employee who has less than twelve (12) months of continuous service since last date of hire, or, (b) in the case of any other employee, more than once in any period of twelve (12) consecutive months in connection with that employee's transfer to a new regular place of employment, unless (in either case) the move is at the Company's request.

D. Nothing in this Article of this Agreement shall be interpreted to require any employee to change his place of residence.

ARTICLE XXVIII

LAUNDRY

The Company will continue, as in the past, to pay for laundering the following items of employees' wearing apparel soiled in connection with the operation or maintenance of the Green River Power Station:

Coveralls
Overalls
Overall Jackets
Work Shirts
Work Trousers

The Company will not be responsible for dry cleaning any employee's clothing nor will it be responsible for laundering other items of clothing, such as underwear, T-shirts, socks, caps, gloves, towels, etc., nor for any special service, such as clothing repairs, for which a special charge is made.

The Plant General Manager will arrange for the above service with a commercial laundry operating in the area in such a manner as will insure satisfactory quality at reasonable cost.

SAFETY AND HEALTH

The Company will continue, as heretofore, to make reasonable provisions for the safety and health of its employees during the hours of their employment. The Company and Union will cooperate in the continuing objective to eliminate accidents and health hazards.

The Company and the Union agree to a Joint Health and Safety Advisory Committee for the purpose of reviewing, discussing and recommending new or revised safety and health rules and procedures. The Committee shall be chaired by the Manager, Health and Safety, and shall meet quarterly. This Committee shall consist of not more than two (2) members of the Union. The Union representatives who shall attend a particular meeting shall be made known to the Manager, Health and Safety not less than two (2) weeks prior to the date established for the meeting. At the same time, the Union shall notify the Company of the subjects it desires to address at the meeting.

The Company will continue its practice of paying for approved lens and safety frames for an employee which are ordered through, and pursuant to the terms of, the Company's safety spectacle program. Also (except for items such as safety shoes and long sleeved shirts which would replace an employee's normal clothing) protective devices, protective clothing and other equipment required to be worn by the Company safety rules, and all tools required to perform the Company's work, shall be provided by the Company without cost to the employee.

CONFLICT WITH LAW

In the event any provision of this Agreement is held to be in conflict with or in violation of any state or federal statute, rule, decision, or valid administrative rule or regulation, such statute, rule, decision, administrative rule or regulation shall control, but all of the provisions of this Agreement not in conflict therewith shall continue in full force and effect.

ARTICLE XXXI
ENTIRE AGREEMENT

This Agreement sets forth the entire understanding between the Company and the Union and represents the full and complete agreement between the parties on all bargainable issues for the duration hereof. Both the Company and the Union unqualifiedly waive, for the duration of this Agreement, any obligation on the part of the other to bargain collectively with respect to any subject or matter not expressly covered by this Agreement. Neither party intends to be bound or obligated except to the extent that it has expressly so agreed herein and this Agreement shall be strictly construed. This Agreement applies only to the Earlington Operations, Areas 1 (Parkway) and 2 (Green River) of Kentucky Utilities Company as described in Article II herein, and no employee covered by this Agreement shall have or be entitled to any rights, benefits or privileges in any other region, plant or operation of the Company (now existing or hereafter established). None of the benefits, rights or privileges afforded by this Agreement to the Union or any employee shall survive the expiration or termination of this Agreement.

ARTICLE XXXII

TERMINATION

This Agreement shall be in full force from August 1, 2008, without modification or addition for its duration to 12:01 A.M. August 1, 2011, unless amended by mutual agreement.

Thereafter, it shall continue in force until sixty (60) days subsequent to notification by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, by either party to the other party, but in no case shall terminate prior to the date indicated above.

Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Article, the Company and the Union may reopen the Wage Scale, of this Agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2009, and again reopen the Wage Scale of this Agreement for the purpose of negotiating wage rates to become effective August 1, 2010, provided that neither the company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates upon such re-opener. This Agreement will be reopened for such purposes only if the Company or the Union actually delivers to the other, not later than the preceding July 1, 2009 or July 1, 2010, written notice of intent to reopen. Failing receipt by the Company or the Union, by the dates specified, of such written notice to reopen, this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect through August 1, of the following year, and the wage rates in effect as of midnight July 31, of that year shall continue in full force and effect until August 1 of the following year. If this Agreement is reopened in accordance with the provisions of this paragraph, and the parties have not reached an agreement by midnight July 31, 2009 or 2010, as appropriate, this Agreement shall be suspended and the Company and the Union shall have the same rights and obligations as they would have possessed had the Agreement expired, provided that neither the Company nor the Union may require the other to negotiate concerning any term other than the wage rates to be effective August 1, 2009 or August 1, 2010, as appropriate.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

Whenever an employee is promoted to a classification having a higher starting rate, he shall receive the starting rate of the new classification or the next higher step in that classification which is at least ten (10) cents per hour above the employee's rate prior to the promotion. Thereafter he shall progress as though he had already worked the period required by the preceding steps in his new classification.

Any new employee, upon producing evidence satisfactory to the Company of previous experience in the classification in which he is being employed, shall be given credit for such experience, except that he shall not start higher than the "After One Year" step and, in such event, shall receive the "After Two Years" step after one year's continuous employment. However, if after employment he demonstrates that he has the knowledge, skill and ability equivalent to that of an employee who has had two years' experience in the classification, he shall receive the "After Two Years" step beginning with the first payroll period commencing after sixty (60) days of employment.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or record of material used by crews, shall, in addition to his regular wage, receive $17.50 per month during the first year he is so designated, $22.50 per month during the second year, and $32.50 per month thereafter as compensation for the satisfactory performance of these duties.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to operate winch truck used by crews shall receive six (6) cents per hour in addition to his regular wage.

Any employee, other than a supervisor, who is designated by the Company to keep time of crews and/or records of material used by crews, and who shall also be designated by Company to operate winch truck used by crews, shall be paid both the monthly and hourly premiums set out in the two preceding paragraphs in addition to his regular wage.

Note 1 - Applicable, upon Plant General Manager’s recommendation, to not more than one employee in a crew which is normally supervised by a Coal Yard Supervisor. Employees in this classification will be expected to supervise the crew, or any subdivision of it, in the absence of the regular supervisor. In the absence of both the Coal Yard Supervisor and Assistant Coal Yard Supervisor on a shift, another employee will be temporarily moved up to the Assistant's position and paid the Assistant Coal Yard Supervisor rate.

- Note 2 - Applicable, upon Plant General Manager's recommendation, to not more than one employee in a crew of 3 or more which is normally supervised by a Chief Electrician, Chief Mechanic or Maintenance Manager. Employees in this classification will be expected to supervise the crew, or any subdivision of it, in the absence of the regular supervisor.
- Note 3 - Applicable to employees who have been selected for and are in training for Line Technician or Service Technician C, Auxiliary Operator, Substation Technician C, or any other classification having a first year hourly rate in excess of the trainee hourly rate. Employees who are successful demotional job bidders to a trainee classification will receive the highest rate of pay for that classification. A trainee in this category will be assigned to the classification for which he is in training at the end of three (3) to six (6) months, if he is then qualified, or, if not, as soon thereafter as he becomes qualified.
- Note 4 - Applicable in overhead line construction crews normally consisting of 6 or more, including the Supervisor, in which supervision by other than Supervisor is frequently required.
- Note 5 - Employees or new hires entering the Meter Reader classification on or after August 1, 2000 will be paid the Laborer-General wage scale.
- Note 6 - Employees or new hires entering the Customer Order Technician classification on or after August 1, 2005 will be paid the new Customer Order Technician wage scale, which will be increased by $.30 above the Laborer-General wage scale.
- Note 7 - Meter Readers hired prior to August 1, 2000 who enter this classification as of July 24, 2005 will continue to be paid per the Meter Reader pay scale.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

1. Reclassify existing Meter Readers and Meter Readers–General Labor into the new classification of Customer Order Technician. Employees currently in the Meter Reader classification will continue being paid per that wage scale. A Note 6 will be added to the contract as follows: Note 6 – Employees or new hires entering the Customer Order Technician classification on or after August 1, 2005 will be paid the new Customer Order Technician wage scale, which will be increased by $.30 above the Laborer-General wage scale.
2. Customer Order Technicians will be trained to safely perform non-climbing service work, including after-hours reconnects.
3. Customer Order Technicians will be the first classification called to perform after-hours reconnects. If the Customer Order Technicians in an area are not available, the next person(s) called will be as listed on the call-out list for that area.
4. Employees called out to perform an after-hours reconnect shall be paid a minimum of four (4) hours at the applicable overtime rate, even if the employee actually works less than four (4) hours.
5. The Company agrees to provide Line Technician training, as business conditions allow for those Customer Order Technicians who request the training and have been successfully Recommended by the EEI CAST test and a physical abilities test. The Health and Safety Coordinator for the Earlington Operations Area will determine the need for protective footwear for the trainee.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

The following language applies specifically to Green River Operations group employees only working a 12-hour shift schedule. Where an issue is not specifically addressed, the provisions of the Contract will apply.

1. WORKDAY AND WORKWEEK

- a. The normal workday will be 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. for day shift and 6 p.m. to 6 a.m. for night shift.
- b. The workweek will begin at 6 a.m. Monday morning and end 6 a.m. the following Monday.
- c. The current 12-hour schedule now in effect will be the continued as per Article V, Section 5.1.

2. REST BREAKS AND LUNCH BREAKS

An employee will be given three (3) paid breaks and a paid lunch.

3. CREW SELECTION

Employees will be allowed to select crews per Article XXV of the Contract.

4. SHIFT DIFFERENTIAL

An additional $1.05 will be paid for all hours worked by employees scheduled on night shift. This will be included and paid at the overtime rate for all overtime hours worked.

5. SUNDAY PREMIUM

An additional $1.25 will be paid for all hours worked on Sunday. This will be included and paid at the overtime rate for all overtime hours worked.

6. HOLIDAYS

Holidays will remain as currently in the Contract. The first 8 hours will be paid at 2 ½ times the straight time rate or may saved to be used at another agreed upon time. The last 4 hours of a 12 hour shift on a holiday will be paid at the straight time rate.

7. VACATION

- a. The amount of vacation will be 40 hours per week of eligible vacation.
- b. Full weeks of vacation will be calculated on the normal hours scheduled for that week.
- c. Full day vacations will be paid at 12 hours pay.
- d. Less than a full day of vacation will be continued per Section 8.3.
- e. Employees who take a full week of vacation will not be required to work their scheduled days off before, or after their vacation, with a maximum of one employee on each shift. Should two employees request to block out the same off days, the senior employee will be allowed to choose which off day period to block. The Company may allow more employees to block the same set of off days or an employee to block before and after their vacation if operational needs allow or no other employee has the time blocked.

8. OVERTIME

- a. Overtime will be paid at 1 ½ times the straight time rate for hours worked in excess of 12 hours in a day or 40 hours in a week. This means that on the 36 hour week, if an employee is required to work an extra day, the first four hours of that day will be paid the regular rate; once the 40 hour limit has been met then the employee will be paid at 1 ½ times the straight time rate.
- b. Double time will be paid to an employee who is required to work on his last available consecutive off day, provided he has worked at least 6 hours on his previous off day.
- c. Double time will be paid for any hours worked in excess of 16 hours in a day.
- d. Open positions on the Operating Schedule being prepared for the following work week will be filled using the following procedure:

(1) The operating schedule for the following week will be posted with all the required positions filled. Any vacancies on the schedule not filled by “on shift” operators will be filled on an overtime basis using the operator in the classification required with the least amount of actually worked overtime hours. Should a tie exist in the number of hours actually worked, the operator with the least amount of bargaining unit seniority will be used.

(2) After the schedule is posted the Company will begin calling available operators for the vacancies filled in Step 1. Calls will be made beginning with the operator in the classification required with the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained, the Company will begin calling the next higher bargaining unit classification beginning with operator in that classification with the least amount of total overtime.

(3) If an operator is obtained in Step 2, the operator previously scheduled for that vacancy in Step 1 will be notified that they are no longer required to fill that particular vacancy. If no operator is obtained in Step 2, the operator scheduled for that vacancy in Step 1 will be required to fill the vacancy.

(4) Vacancies will be filled beginning with the classification that is required for that shift. Example: If a Unit Operator is to be off work who would have been working in a Unit Operator Assistant position, then a Unit Operator Assistant will be scheduled for that position.

(5) When filling overtime from the overtime list, operators on their short turnaround (one day off between shifts) will not be contacted until after attempts have been made to contact all other available operators. In filling vacancies in Step 1, these operators will be included.

(6) In filling overtime vacancies where the Company has short notice, the overtime will be considered a Call In. Calls will be made beginning with the operator in the classification required with the least amount of total overtime. If no operator is obtained, the Company will begin calling the next higher bargaining unit classification beginning with operator in that classification with the least amount of total overtime. The first operator contacted will be informed that they will be required to fill this vacancy. If this operator requests, the Company will continue to attempt to contact other employees using the overtime list to obtain an operator for this vacancy. If another operator accepts the overtime shift, the Company will call the required employee back to release them from the obligation. If the required employee cannot be reached, then the person that accepted the shift will be called back and released from the overtime and the required person will report for this position.

e. If the call in of operators becomes a problem, a call in list may be established. Volunteers will be given the first opportunity for overtime. If coverage is still a problem, it may be necessary to establish a standby or on call list. The operators on call will be paid standby pay as outlined in the Contract.

f. A layover operator has the option of furnishing his or her own meals and receiving one-half hour overtime pay if he works in excess of two hours after his normal quitting time.

9. JURY DUTY

a. An employee will be paid 12 hours pay minus any fees paid by the court for missing a full shift.

b. An employee selected for jury duty must inform his/her supervisor as soon as possible. If the employee is scheduled to work the day shift, the employee will report to work if there is at least four (4) hours remaining in the shift. If an employee is scheduled to work the night shift, such employee will work the first six (6) hours of the shift on the day(s) of the jury service. If the employee is held past 1400 hours, the employee will not report for day shift or will be relieved of duty for the night shift.

10. BEREAVEMENT

An employee will be paid 12 hours pay for days missed. The number of days for various family members will be as outlined in Article XVII, Section 17.1.

11. SICK LEAVE PLAN

Employees will have 40 hours to be taken as outlined in Article XVII, Section 17.4.

12. RETIREMENT SERVICE

Employees hired before 1/1/06 who are covered by the defined benefit pension plan will have up to 80 scheduled hours worked in a two week payroll period counted as straight time for purposes under the Pension Plan.

13. VOTING TIME FOR ELECTIONS

Employees who are scheduled to work day shift on the day of a federal, state, or local election will be allowed up to two (2) paid hours to vote if they wish to do so. It is understood that employees will only be allowed off for the minimum length of time they need to vote depending on their place of residence in relation to the plant.

14. 12-HOUR OR 8-HOUR SHIFT

In August 2009 the Union will inform the Company of the Green River Power Plant operational employees' desire to stay on 12-hour shifts or return to 8-hour shifts. The Company will give considerable weight to the desires of the employees in considering whether to stay on 12-hour shifts or return to 8-hour shifts. The Company will meet with the Union for discussion before making a final decision on the shift to be worked. The Company will inform the Union of their decision by 10/1/09.

15. UNANTICIPATED ISSUES

The Company and the Union realize there may be issues that arise concerning employees on a 12-hour shift that may not have been anticipated. The Company and the Union will meet and attempt to resolve these issues using the principle that the solution will be as cost neutral as possible for both the Company and the employee(s). Should a resolution not be reached, the issue may be taken up in the Grievance and Arbitration Procedure.

(1) This is the number of full-time employees at test-year end. The costs are created by the participants in each plan. Participant count may vary from employee count. For example, not all employees have elected to participate in the Medical Plan because it requires an employee premium contribution, whereas all employees participate in Life Insurance because it is automatically provided to all employees with the full premium paid by the Company.

(2) This cost is for KU employee participants only. Servco allocated labor is not included because a Servco number of employees cannot be determined, due to the allocations. These benefits exclude off-duty time (i.e. vacation, holiday, sick, military leave, jury duty), which are included in labor.

(3) These benefits include the Family Assistance Program, the WellFit Program, Mercer fees and Pension Benefit Guaranty Corporation premiums on the pension plan.

KENTUCKY UTILITIES COMPANY

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information

Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 51

Responding Witness: Daniel K. Arbough

Q-51. Provide complete details of the financial reporting and rate-making treatment of KU's pension costs.

A-51. The financial accounting and reporting of pension costs for KU are as follows: KU's pension costs for the year are determined by an actuarial firm (Mercer) and follow the requirements of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 87, "Employers' Accounting for Pensions", which is now "Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 715-30", as amended by SFAS No. 158, "Employers' Accounting for Defined Benefit Pension and Other Postretirement Plans – An Amendment of FASB Statements No. 87, 88, 106 and 132(R)", which is now "ASC 715-20". These costs are applied to all labor charged during the year to distribute the costs between capital and operating expenses.

For rate-making, a pro forma adjustment is made to the net periodic pension expense recorded in the test year. The adjustment is the difference in the net periodic pension cost calculated by Mercer for 2012 and the amount included in the test period.

In applying the provisions of ASC 715-20, effective December 31, 2006, KU recorded a regulatory asset, under the provisions of SFAS No. 71, "Accounting for the Effects of Certain Types of Regulation", which is now "ASC 980-10", representing the adjustments to the pension asset and liability in recognizing their funded status otherwise includible in other comprehensive income. The regulatory asset represents the expected recovery of the portion of the change in funded status of the pension plans, and it will be adjusted annually as prior service cost and actuarial gains and losses are recognized in net periodic benefit cost. The funded status of a benefit plan is measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation. For pension plans, the benefit obligation is measured as the projected benefit obligation, and for other postretirement benefit plans, the benefit obligation is the accumulated postretirement benefit obligation.

In its Order in Case No. 2003-00434, the Commission granted the Company's request to record the minimum pension liability calculated under ASC 715-30 as a regulatory asset instead of an adjustment to equity in other comprehensive income. The minimum pension liability reflected an amount equivalent to the unfunded accumulated benefit obligation. Since the unfunded obligation was subject to market price fluctuations in the value of plan assets, the minimum pension liability could result in a reduction in equity for a loss, or an increase in equity for a gain, that may never be incurred. Under ASC 715-30 those gains and losses would be expensed in future periods and subject to inclusion in future base rates, accordingly it was appropriate to record a regulatory asset related to that future recovery, rather than impact current rates through the reduction in capital. Under ASC 715-20, no minimum pension liability is recorded, rather the funded status of the pension plans using the projected benefit obligation is now recorded as the pension liability on the balance sheet. The Company continues to record a regulatory asset for the portion of the obligation that will be expensed in future periods and subject to inclusion in future base rates.

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 52

Responding Witness: Daniel K. Arbough

- Q-52. Provide complete details of KU's financial reporting and rate-making treatment of Statement of Financial Accounting Standard ("SFAS") No. 106, including:
- a. The date that KU adopted SFAS No. 106;
 - b. All accounting entries made at the date of adoption; and
 - c. All actuarial studies and other documents used to determine the level of SFAS No. 106 cost recorded by KU.
- A-52. The financial accounting and reporting of post retirement benefits for KU are as follows: KU's post retirement benefits for the year are determined by an actuarial firm (Mercer). These costs are applied to all labor charged during the year to distribute the costs between capital and operating expenses.

For rate-making, a pro forma adjustment is made to the post retirement benefits expenses for the test period. The adjustment is the difference in the net periodic benefit cost calculated by Mercer for 2012 and the amount included in the test period.

- a. KU adopted SFAS No. 106, now referred to as Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 715-10, effective January 1, 1993.
- b. At the date of adoption, KU debited Post Retirement Expenses for $998,528 and Regulatory Assets for $86,613, and credited Other Deferred Liabilities for $1,085,141.
- c. See attached for actuarial data used to calculate levels of ASC 715-10 (SFAS No. 106) costs for this case. Proprietary information not responsive to the question has been redacted.

Subject: 2012 Net Periodic Benefit Cost for Postretirement Benefit Plan

Dear Kelli:

Enclosed are exhibits illustrating the 2012 net periodic benefit cost for financial and regulatory accounting purposes for the Postretirement Benefit Plans of LG&E and KU Energy LLC. The figures in the exhibits may be revised if assets and/or liabilities are remeasured during the year due to a plan amendment, curtailment, settlement or other significant event.

A measurement date of December 31, 2011 was used in these calculations. Plan liabilities were based on census data collected as of September 30, 2011 and claims costs and spouse participation assumptions were updated. The market values of assets as of December 31, 2011 were provided by LG&E and KU Energy LLC. All other methods, assumptions and plan provisions used in calculating the 2012 net periodic benefit costs were the same as those used in the December 31, 2011 disclosures, including a 4.78% discount rate.

We have assumed that LG&E and KU Energy LLC will make an additional prefunding contribution for the 401(h) account at the end of the year equal to the maximum tax-deductible contribution for the 2012 calendar year. Since the contribution is assumed to be at the end of the year, it does not impact the expense calculations this year. If the contribution is made earlier, the expense will be slightly reduced. Please note that we are assuming no additional prefunding for the Nonunion and Union VEBAs. We have also assumed that no benefit payments are paid out of the 401(h) account in 2012.

Compared to the 2012 net periodic benefit cost projections provided on April 28, 2011, the net periodic benefit cost changed slightly. The financial accounting expense decreased from $10.8 million to $9.2 million, the regulatory accounting expense decreased from $14.2 million to $12.9 million and the consolidated financial statement accounting expense decreased from $14.0 million to $12.6 million. Consolidated financial statement accounting includes the expense amounts under regulatory accounting for KU and LG&E (Union and Non-union) and expense amounts under financial accounting for ServCo, WKE (Union and Non-union) and International. The reduction was primarily due to gains generated by updated per capita claims costs and spouse participation assumptions and participant data, partially offset by the decrease in the discount rate and additional plan changes not anticipated in the projections.

Based on our discussions, we have assumed that LG&E and KU Energy LLC will apply for and receive the subsidy available under Medicare in 2012 for the grandfathered pre-2000 Kentucky Utilities retirees that have post-65 drug coverage. The full amount of the reduction in expense has been applied to Kentucky Utilities. The following assumptions were used with the MMA calculations:

- LG&E and KU Energy LLC will determine actuarial equivalence by benefit option. Testing by benefit option, the grandfathered pre-2000 Kentucky Utilities post-65 retiree medical drug plan is projected to meet the definition of actuarial equivalence indefinitely.
- LG&E and KU Energy LLC will apply for and receive the subsidy available under Medicare indefinitely for all pre-2000 Kentucky Utilities retirees that have post-65 drug coverage.
- Retirees do not elect the Medicare Part D benefit.

The estimated subsidy was based on Mercer's understanding of the Medicare Reform legislation based on the final Center for Medicare Services (CMS) regulations issued in January 2005 and on the provided claims information from the medical plan administrator.

Mercer has prepared this report exclusively for LG&E and KU Energy LLC; subject to this limitation, LG&E and KU Energy LLC may direct that this report be provided to its auditors in connection with the audit of its financial statements. Mercer is not responsible for use of this report by any other party.

The only purpose of this report is to present Mercer's actuarial estimates of liabilities for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2012 for other postretirement benefit plans relating to LG&E and KU Energy LLC, for LG&E and KU Energy LLC to incorporate, as LG&E and KU Energy LLC deems appropriate, in its financial statements under US accounting standards.

This report may not be used for any other purpose. Mercer is not responsible for the consequences of any unauthorized use. Its content may not be modified, incorporated into or used in other material, sold or otherwise provided, in whole or in part, to any other person or entity, without Mercer's permission.

All parts of this report, including any documents incorporated by reference, are integral to understanding and explaining its contents, no part may be taken out of context, used or relied upon without reference to the report as a whole.

Decisions about benefit changes, granting new benefits, investment policy, funding policy, benefit security and/or benefit-related issues should not be made on the basis of this valuation, but only after careful consideration of alternative economic, financial, demographic and societal factors, including financial scenarios that assume future sustained investment losses.

To prepare this report Mercer has used and relied on participant data as provided by LG&E and KU Energy LLC to Mercer Outsourcing as summarized on the attached exhibits. LG&E and KU Energy LLC is responsible for ensuring that such participant data provides an accurate description of all persons who are participants under the terms of the plan or otherwise entitled to benefits that is sufficiently comprehensive and accurate for the purposes of this report. If the data supplied are not sufficiently comprehensive and accurate for the purposes of this report, the valuation results may differ significantly from the results that would be obtained with such data; this may require a later revision of this report. Although Mercer has reviewed the data in accordance with Actuarial Standards of Practice No. 23, Mercer has not verified or audited any of the data or information provided.

Mercer has used and relied on the plan documents, including amendments, and interpretations of plan provisions provided by LG&E and KU Energy LLC. The plan provisions used in this valuation are described in the December 31, 2011 year end disclosure report, dated January 13, 2012. LG&E and KU Energy LLC is solely responsible for the validity, accuracy and comprehensiveness of this information. If any data or plan provisions supplied are not accurate and complete, the valuation results may differ significantly from the results that would be obtained with accurate and complete information; this may require a later revision of this report. Moreover, plan documents may be susceptible to different interpretations, each of which could be reasonable, and that the different interpretations could lead to different valuation results.

This report is based on our understanding of applicable law and regulations as of the valuation date. Mercer is not an accountant or auditor and is not responsible for the interpretation of, or compliance with, accounting standards; citations to, and descriptions of accounting standards provided in this report are for reference purposes only. Mercer is not engaged in the practice of law. This report does not constitute and is not a substitute for legal advice.

The plan sponsor is ultimately responsible for selecting the plan's accounting policies, methods and assumptions. The policies, methods, and assumptions used in this valuation are described in herein. The plan sponsor is solely responsible for communicating to Mercer any changes required to those policies, methods and assumptions.

A valuation report is only a snapshot of a plan's estimated financial condition at a particular point in time; it does not predict the plan's future financial condition or its ability to pay benefits in the future and does not provide any guarantee of future financial soundness of the plan. Over time, a plan's total cost will depend on a number of factors, including the amount of benefits the plan pays, the number of people paid benefits, the period of time over which benefits are paid, plan expenses and the amount earned on any assets invested to pay benefits. These amounts and other variables are uncertain and unknowable at the valuation date.

Because modeling all aspects of a situation is not possible or practical, we may use summary information, estimates, or simplifications of calculations to facilitate the modeling of future events in an efficient and cost-effective manner. We may also exclude factors or data that, if used, in our judgment, would not have significantly affected our results. Use of such simplifying techniques does not, in our judgment, affect the reasonableness of valuation results for the plan.

Valuations do not affect the ultimate cost of the plan, only the timing of when benefit costs are recognized. Cost recognition occurs over time. If the costs recognized over a period of years are lower or higher than necessary, for whatever reason, normal and expected practice is to adjust future expense levels with a view to recognizing the entire cost of the plan over time.

To prepare the valuation report, assumptions are used in a forward looking financial and demographic model to present a single scenario from a wide range of possibilities; the results based on that single scenario are included in the valuation. The future is uncertain and the plan's actual experience will differ from those assumptions; these differences may be significant or material because these results are very sensitive to the assumptions made and, in some cases, to the interaction between the assumptions.

Different assumptions or scenarios within the range of possibilities may also be reasonable and results based on those assumptions would be different. As a result of the uncertainty inherent in a forward looking projection over a very long period of time, no one projection is uniquely "correct" and many alternative projections of the future could also be regarded as reasonable. Two different actuaries could, quite reasonably, arrive at different results based on the same data and different views of the future. A "sensitivity analysis" shows the degree to which results would be different if

Ms. Kelli Higdon
LG&E and KU Energy LLC

you substitute alternative assumptions within the range of possibilities for those utilized in this report. We have not been engaged to perform such a sensitivity analysis and thus the results of such an analysis are not included in this report. At LG&E and KU Energy LLC's request, Mercer is available to perform such a sensitivity analysis.

Assumptions may also be changed from one valuation to the next because of changes in mandated requirements, plan experience, changes in expectations about the future and other factors. A change in assumptions is not an indication that prior assumptions were unreasonable when made.

This report was prepared in accordance with generally accepted actuarial principles and procedures. Based on the information provided to us, we believe that the actuarial assumptions are reasonable for the purposes described in this report.

LG&E and KU Energy LLC should notify Mercer promptly after receipt of the valuation report if LG&E and KU Energy LLC disagrees with anything contained in the valuation report or is aware of any information that would affect the results of the valuation report that has not been communicated to Mercer or incorporated therein. The valuation report will be deemed final and acceptable to LG&E and KU Energy LLC unless LG&E and KU Energy LLC promptly provides such notice to Mercer.

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 53

Responding Witness: Daniel K. Arbough

- Q-53. Provide complete details of KU's financial reporting and rate-making treatment of SFAS No. 112, including:
- a. The date that KU adopted SFAS No. 112;
 - b. All Accounting entries made at the date of adoption; and
 - c. All actuarial studies and other documents used to determine the level of SFAS No. 112 cost recorded by KU.
- A-53. The financial accounting and reporting of post employment benefits for KU are as follows: KU's post employment benefits for the year are determined by an actuarial firm (Mercer) and follow the requirements of SFAS No. 112, "Employers' Accounting for Postemployment Benefits". These costs are applied to all labor charged during the year to distribute the costs between capital and operating expense.
- a. KU adopted SFAS No. 112, now referred to as Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") 712-10, effective December 1993.
 - b. At the date of adoption, KU debited Post Employment Benefits Expense for $1,394,396 and credited Accumulated Provision for Pension and Benefits for the same amount.
 - c. See attached for actuarial data used to calculate levels of ASC 712-10 (SFAS No. 112) costs for this case. Proprietary information not responsive to the question has been redacted.

Subject: Postemployment Benefits Projections for 2012 – 2016

Dear Kelli:

Enclosed are exhibits illustrating the estimated liabilities and projected cash flows under the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 712 (formerly FAS 112) for the postemployment benefits for disabled employees of LG&E and KU Energy LLC for the 2012 – 2016 fiscal years. The ASC 712 liability estimates reflect a 3.60% discount rate.

The ASC 712 liability includes the actuarial present value of continued medical benefits and life insurance for each disabled employee and their dependents, including future surviving spouses, until the disabled's age 65, when the ASC 712 benefit terminates (benefits beyond age 65 are accounted for under ASC 715 (formerly FAS 106)).

The projected liabilities and cash flows for current disabled employees are based on the same data, assumptions, plan provisions and methods assumptions used in the determination of the December 31, 2011 ASC 712 liability, including a reduction in liability for Medicare-eligible disableds associated with the Medicare Modernization Act of 2003.

In addition, for each fiscal year, future employees were projected to become disabled based on the valuation data and disabled incidence assumptions used in the determination of the 2012 ASC 715 expense, assuming a stable employee population for each future fiscal year. All other assumptions, plan provisions and methods for the future disabled employees are the same as those used in the determination of the December 31, 2011 ASC 712 liability.

The only purpose of this report is to provide projected actuarial liabilities and cash flows under ASC 712 for the fiscal years ending 2012 – 2015 for the postemployment benefits for disabled employees of LG&E and KU Energy LLC under ASC 712. We make no representations regarding either the amount or existence of other liabilities that might be reportable.

This report may not be used for any other purpose. Mercer is not responsible for the consequences of any unauthorized use. Its content may not be modified, incorporated into or used in other material, sold or otherwise provided, in whole or in part, to any other person or entity, without Mercer's permission.

All parts of this report, including any documents incorporated by reference, are integral to understanding and explaining its contents, no part may be taken out of context, used or relied upon without reference to the report as a whole.

Subject: RE: Deep Wells/Monitoring Wells/Testing Wells

Angela,

For ARO purposes I was not differentiating between deep wells and piezometers. So the number of 26 deep wells that I supplied consisted of the 25 piezometers at Dix Dam along with an actual water well on adjacent farm property that we recently acquired for a total of 26 deep wells. Adding in the 72 piezometers on the Main Ash Pond gives a total of 98 deep wells from an ARO perspective. However, I was under the understanding that the 72 piezometers associated with the Main Ash Pond would be permanently capped as part of the ongoing landfill conversion project. I have been unable to confirm the latter.

Dix Dam - $25 \times $7,000 =$

Thanks, Brian

Brown - $73 \times $7,000 =$

Brian,

I have 26 deep wells from your email you sent November 29th. So, in addition to the 26 deep wells, there are also 72 piezometers in the email below. So, I now have a total of 98 wells. Does it sound like I am recording this accurately? Just wanted to be sure I wasn't doing any double counting.

Thanks,
Angela

Angela,
Here's the information for Brown, Tyrone, and Pineville. There are no wells at Haefling. All of these wells are monitoring wells except the two water wells at Tyrone.

Would there be any of these types of wells at Dix Dam, Ohio Falls, Paddy's Run, Pineville, Zorn, or Haefling? If so, who should I contact to receive this information?

Thanks,
Angela

All:

I just want to make sure I understand the different types of wells we have at our generating facilities and what each one of them are used for since they qualify as AROs due to the legal obligation to plug them upon retirement. Please feel free to correct me if I wind up misstating something.

Monitoring wells - Used to test the ground water to ensure that there are no environmental concerns in regards to landfills and/or ash ponds material entering the ground water.

Deep wells (aka production wells) - Used to pump water out of the ground to use in the boiler, etc.

Test wells (using piezometers) - Used to analyze the slope stability to ensure there are no leaks due to breaches in our landfills and/or ash ponds.

I have currently heard from Mill Creek, Cane Run, Ghent and Brown about how many monitoring wells and production wells they have at those plants. The estimated cost I have received for the closure/plugging of one of these wells is approximately $7,000 each based on recent charges. I will need to know how many of these exist at the other plants and if the $7,000 per well estimate seems reasonable for them as well. Please advise on whether or not monitoring wells and production wells would cost approximately the same per well.

It also appears I will need estimates for the test wells (using piezometers) in regards to how many we have per plant and how much it would cost to plug one of these type wells. I also understand that some of these wells may also exist at Dix Dam and Ohio Falls.

I copied David and Paul on this email as well because I heard that they may be able to help with these estimates.

I apologize for the quick turnaround as I know everyone is busy, but it would be greatly appreciated if you could send me this information by Monday, December 3rd. If these wells are deemed material enough to need AROs set up for them, this needs to be accomplished as soon as possible to ensure our financials are accurate.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks so much for your help,
Angela

Angela,
Here's the information for Brown, Tyrone, and Pineville. There are no wells at Haefling. All of these wells are monitoring wells except the two water wells at Tyrone.

Would there be any of these types of wells at Dix Dam, Ohio Falls, Paddy's Run, Pineville, Zorn, or Haefling? If so, who should I contact to receive this information?

Thanks,

All:

I just want to make sure I understand the different types of wells we have at our generating facilities and what each one of them are used for since they qualify as AROs due to the legal obligation to plug them upon retirement. Please feel free to correct me if I wind up misstating something.

Monitoring wells - Used to test the ground water to ensure that there are no environmental concerns in regards to landfills and/or ash ponds material entering the ground water.

Deep wells (aka production wells) - Used to pump water out of the ground to use in the boiler, etc.

Test wells (using piezometers) - Used to analyze the slope stability to ensure there are no leaks due to breaches in our landfills and/or ash ponds.

I have currently heard from Mill Creek, Cane Run, Ghent and Brown about how many monitoring wells and production wells they have at those plants. The estimated cost I have received for the closure/plugging of one of these wells is approximately $7,000 each based on recent charges. I will need to know how many of these exist at the other plants and if the $7,000 per well estimate seems reasonable for them as well. Please advise on whether or not monitoring wells and production wells would cost approximately the same per well.

It also appears I will need estimates for the test wells (using piezometers) in regards to how many we have per plant and how much it would cost to plug one of these type wells. I also understand that some of these wells may also exist at Dix Dam and Ohio Falls.

I copied David and Paul on this email as well because I heard that they may be able to help with these estimates.

I apologize for the quick turnaround as I know everyone is busy, but it would be greatly appreciated if you could send me this information by Monday, December 3rd. If these wells are deemed material enough to need AROs set up for them, this needs to be accomplished as soon as possible to ensure our financials are accurate.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks so much for your help,
Angela

Mike:

Ghent - $95,000

I came up with a total (estimate) of $95,000 for closing the wells at Ghent. I got an actual cost for closing one well at Mill Creek and applied some assumptions for the wells we have here.

Not sure how Ghent compares to the other facilities as far as the number of wells or even the types of wells. No doubt, closing a production well would cost more than closing an observation well or a piezometer. I would think, just due to Ghent's size we would have more wells (of all types) than other/most facilities so maybe this is a worse-case scenario for the plants.

Now for the disclaimer: I would say the cost might range slightly less than this value, but if it actually cost $130,000, it wouldn't surprise me.

I will let you forward to Sara and whoever else needs this.

I hope to hear from one of our contractors by tomorrow on the CFC info.

Dave

Danny,

Thanks for the info. We think we have a good estimate for the cost. Do you have any deep/production wells or monitoring wells?

Thanks,
Angela

15 x $7,000 =
Green River = $105,000

Green River has a total of 15 test wells, (piezometers) used to analyze the slope stability of the ash ponds. If you need me to research the cost of closing them please let me know.

All:

I just want to make sure I understand the different types of wells we have at our generating facilities and what each one of them are used for since they qualify as AROs due to the legal obligation to plug them upon retirement. Please feel free to correct me if I wind up misstating something.

Monitoring wells - Used to test the ground water to ensure that there are no environmental concerns in regards to landfills and/or ash ponds material entering the ground water.

Deep wells (aka production wells) - Used to pump water out of the ground to use in the boiler, etc.

Test wells (using piezometers) - Used to analyze the slope stability to ensure there are no leaks due to breaches in our landfills and/or ash ponds.

I have currently heard from Mill Creek, Cane Run, Ghent and Brown about how many monitoring wells and production wells they have at those plants. The estimated cost I have received for the closure/plugging of one of these wells is approximately $7,000 each based on recent charges. I will need to know how many of these exist at the other plants and if the $7,000 per well estimate seems reasonable for them as well. Please advise on whether or not monitoring wells and production wells would cost approximately the same per well.

It also appears I will need estimates for the test wells (using piezometers) in regards to how many we have per plant and how much it would cost to plug one of these type wells. I also understand that some of these wells may also exist at Dix Dam and Ohio Falls.

I copied David and Paul on this email as well because I heard that they may be able to help with these estimates.

I apologize for the quick turnaround as I know everyone is busy, but it would be greatly appreciated if you could send me this information by Monday, December 3rd. If these wells are deemed material enough to need AROs set up for them, this needs to be accomplished as soon as possible to ensure our financials are accurate.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks so much for your help,
Angela

FACILITY ASSUMPTIONS - Have not been updated from 2005 study.

Any Facility constructed before 1985 will have asbestos, unless abatement has been completed

STOREROOMS - L. F. is calculated based on 3% of total sq. ft. for pipe and ductwork insulation @ $65/LN.FT. or SQ. FT. (Includes removal and air monitoring costs). Cost per Ln. Ft. is based on recent invoicing for work performed by NEC.

Cost to remove VCT is based on actual invoicing from NEC for work performed at South Service Center in 1994. The same costs were applied to removal of ceiling tiles.

Costs to remove roofing materials is based on actual sq. ft. costs for the removal of Bldg 1 & Bldg 2 Roof at the Auburndale facility (to be completed in 3 phases between 2003 and 2006)

Costs to remove asbestos insulated wiring are strictly an estimate. Several stations could possibly contain asbestos wiring. There is no data to indicate which stations actually have asbestos. Several are listed as possibly containing asbestos based on age of the station.

KU has 70 transmission substations. There is no data to indicate how many of them have asbestos wiring. It is being assumed that approximately 70%, or 49 stations might have asbestos wiring.

Angela,
Here's the information for Brown, Tyrone, and Pineville. There are no wells at Haefling. All of these wells are monitoring wells except the two water wells at Tyrone.

All:

I just want to make sure I understand the different types of wells we have at our generating facilities and what each one of them are used for since they qualify as AROs due to the legal obligation to plug them upon retirement. Please feel free to correct me if I wind up misstating something.

Monitoring wells - Used to test the ground water to ensure that there are no environmental concerns in regards to landfills and/or ash ponds material entering the ground water.

Deep wells (aka production wells) - Used to pump water out of the ground to use in the boiler, etc.

Test wells (using piezometers) - Used to analyze the slope stability to ensure there are no leaks due to breaches in our landfills and/or ash ponds.

I have currently heard from Mill Creek, Cane Run, Ghent and Brown about how many monitoring wells and production wells they have at those plants. The estimated cost I have received for the closure/plugging of one of these wells is approximately $7,000 each based on recent charges. I will need to know how many of these exist at the other plants and if the $7,000 per well estimate seems reasonable for them as well. Please advise on whether or not monitoring wells and production wells would cost approximately the same per well.

It also appears I will need estimates for the test wells (using piezometers) in regards to how many we have per plant and how much it would cost to plug one of these type wells. I also understand that some of these wells may also exist at Dix Dam and Ohio Falls.

I copied David and Paul on this email as well because I heard that they may be able to help with these estimates.

I apologize for the quick turnaround as I know everyone is busy, but it would be greatly appreciated if you could send me this information by Monday, December 3rd. If these wells are deemed material enough to need AROs set up for them, this needs to be accomplished as soon as possible to ensure our financials are accurate.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks so much for your help,
Angela

$182,000

We have 19 monitoring wells (1-19) that will remain open and tested. There are 3 production wells (A, B, and C) A will remain open for future use at water treatment, B has not been used but is tested bi-yearly, and C is going into production for the Unit 2 Scrubber. Test wells 1, 2a, 2b, and 3 are for the new ash landfill and will remain open.

Hope this helps.

Tim and Jeff,

I don't believe I have received any responses to the number of wells at Tyrone and Trimble. If I have missed the responses, I apologize and please resend them to me. I understand there are three different types of wells (basically) with similar costs, so if I could receive the number of each type of well currently at the two plants, I can come up with an estimate. Please let me know if I should be contacting someone else for this information. It would be greatly appreciated if I could receive this information by Friday, December 16th.

Thanks so much,

Angela,
Here's the information for Brown, Tyrone, and Pineville. There are no wells at Haefling. All of these wells are monitoring wells except the two water wells at Tyrone.

All:

Would there be any of these types of wells at Dix Dam, Ohio Falls, Paddy's Run, Pineville, Zorn, or Haefling? If so, who should I contact to receive this information?

Thanks,
Angela

All:

I just want to make sure I understand the different types of wells we have at our generating facilities and what each one of them are used for since they qualify as AROs due to the legal obligation to plug them upon retirement. Please feel free to correct me if I wind up misstating something.

Monitoring wells - Used to test the ground water to ensure that there are no environmental concerns in regards to landfills and/or ash ponds material entering the ground water.

Deep wells (aka production wells) - Used to pump water out of the ground to use in the boiler, etc.

Test wells (using piezometers) - Used to analyze the slope stability to ensure there are no leaks due to breaches in our landfills and/or ash ponds.

I have currently heard from Mill Creek, Cane Run, Ghent and Brown about how many monitoring wells and production wells they have at those plants. The estimated cost I have received for the closure/plugging of one of these wells is approximately $7,000 each based on recent charges. I will need to know how many of these exist at the other plants and if the $7,000 per well estimate seems reasonable for them as well. Please advise on whether or not monitoring wells and production wells would cost approximately the same per well.

It also appears I will need estimates for the test wells (using piezometers) in regards to how many we have per plant and how much it would cost to plug one of these type wells. I also understand that some of these wells may also exist at Dix Dam and Ohio Falls.

I copied David and Paul on this email as well because I heard that they may be able to help with these estimates.

I apologize for the quick turnaround as I know everyone is busy, but it would be greatly appreciated if you could send me this information by Monday, December 3rd. If these wells are deemed material enough to need AROs set up for them, this needs to be accomplished as soon as possible to ensure our financials are accurate.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks so much for your help,
Angela

CASE NO. 2012-00221

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information
Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 55

Responding Witness: Lonnie E. Bellar

Q-55. Provide the following information concerning the costs for the preparation of this case:

- a. A detailed schedule of expenses incurred to date for the following categories:
 - (1) Accounting;
 - (2) Engineering;
 - (3) Legal;
 - (4) Consultants; and
 - (5) Other Expenses (Identify separately).

For each category, the schedule should include the date of each transaction, check number or other document reference, the vendor, the hours worked, the rates per hour, amount, a description of the services performed, and the account number in which the expenditure was recorded. Provide copies of any invoices, contracts, or other documentation that support charges incurred in the preparation of this rate case. Indicate any costs incurred for this case that occurred during the test year.

- b. An itemized estimate of the total cost to be incurred for this case. Expenses should be broken down into the same categories as identified in (a) above, with an estimate of the hours to be worked and the rates per hour. Include a detailed explanation of how the estimate was determined, along with all supporting workpapers and calculations.
 - c. During the course of this proceeding, provide monthly updates of the actual costs incurred, in the manner requested in (a) above. Updates will be due the last business day of each month, through the month of the public hearing.
- A-55.
- a. See attached. The Company has transitioned to all-electronic billing through Serengeti for outside legal services and no longer receives paper invoices. Therefore, supporting documentation from Serengeti is provided in the attachment that includes the above requested information for legal services.
 - b. See attached.
 - c. The Company will provide monthly updates as requested.

LG&E AND KU SERVICES COMPANY and its "AFFILIATES" (as defined below)
PURCHASE ORDER STANDARD TERMS AND CONDITIONS

If Seller and Company are parties to a General Services Agreement ("GSA") or Administrative Services Agreement ("ASA") applicable to the subject matter of this order, that GSA or ASA is incorporated by reference in this order as if fully set forth herein. In the event of a conflict between the terms and conditions set forth in that GSA or ASA and this order, the terms and conditions set forth in the GSA or ASA shall prevail and control.

1. Affiliate: "Affiliate" shall mean any entity which, from time to time, in whole or in part, and directly or indirectly, controls, is controlled by, or under common control with LG&E and KU Services Company, a Kentucky corporation, and shall include, without limitation, Louisville Gas and Electric Company and Kentucky Utilities Company, both Kentucky corporations.

2. Company: "Company" shall mean LG&E and KU Services Company and/or any of its Affiliates as appropriate based on which entity is the party to the applicable purchase order or other binding document. The rights and obligations of LG&E and KU Services Company and each of its Affiliates hereunder shall be limited to the extent of such party's proportionate utilization of Contractor's services hereunder.

3. Delivery and Acceptance: Time is of the essence. If any goods are not delivered or services performed within the specified times, or within a reasonable time if no time is specified, then Company may terminate this order by notice to Seller in addition to exercising all other rights and remedies available to Company under applicable law. All materials and work are subject to Company's acceptance. Payment shall not constitute acceptance.

4. Warranties: Seller expressly warrants that the goods and/or services shall:

(a) Comply strictly with the provisions of the order and all specifications, drawings, and exhibits referred to in the order or thereafter furnished by Company; (b) Be new, merchantable, and of the most suitable grade in accordance with the highest industry standards and specifications; (c) Be fit for Company's intended purposes; (d) Be in full compliance with all applicable laws, ordinances, regulations, codes, and facility rules, including those relating to safety; and (e) Be free from any patent, copyright, or trademark claims, infringements or rights of others. All such warranties shall extend for a reasonable time, but in no case less than eighteen (18) months after delivery or twelve (12) months after the start of regular use by Company, whichever occurs first.

5. Changes: Company reserves the right at any time to change the specifications, quantity ordered, and/or delivery date. Such changes may result in adjustments in the price or delivery schedule in accordance with the pricing and delivery structure of the order. However, in the case of a change in specifications, any claim for adjustment of price or delivery schedule by the Seller shall be waived unless such claims are asserted in writing within five (5) working days after receipt of Company notice of change. Seller shall continue performance pursuant to the order during the time any claim hereunder is pending.

6. Termination: Company shall have the right at any time with or without cause to terminate the order by written, telegraphic, or electronic notice to Seller. In case of Seller's default, Company shall have all rights and remedies available under applicable law. In no case shall Company be liable for special, incidental or consequential damages. Company shall not have any liability for such termination except as follows:

(a) In case of termination of an order for goods specially manufactured for Company, if Seller is not in default, then Company shall be liable for actual costs incurred by the Seller prior to the notice of termination pursuant to the order up to the price of the goods.

(b) In case of termination of an order for services, if Seller is not in default, Company shall be liable for payment for services performed prior to the notice of termination.

(c) In case of termination of an order for goods not specially manufactured for Company, if Seller is not in default, Company shall not have any liability for termination of the order. Company shall have the right to return any goods purchased from Seller as long as such goods have not been specially manufactured for Company and are being stocked by Seller at the time Company returns the goods.

7. Equal Employment Opportunity: To the extent applicable, Seller shall comply with all of the following provisions, which are incorporated herein by reference:

(a) Equal Opportunity regulations set forth in 41 CFR 60-1.4(a) and (c) prohibiting discrimination against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin;

(b) Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act regulations set forth in 41 CFR 60-250.4 relating to the employment and advancement of disabled veterans and veterans of the Vietnam era;

(c) Rehabilitation Act regulations set forth in 41 CFR 60-741.4 relating to the employment and advancement of qualified disabled employees and applicants for employment;

(d) Clause known as "Utilization of Small Business Concerns and Small Business Concerns Owned and Controlled by Socially and Economically Disadvantaged Individuals" set forth in 15 USC 637(d)(3); and

(e) The subcontracting plan requirements of 15 USC 637(d).

8. Indemnification: Seller agrees to release, indemnify, hold harmless and defend Company, affiliated companies, and all of their directors, officers, employees, agents, and representatives from and against any claim, liability, loss, and expense (including but not limited to attorney's fees) arising directly or indirectly out of or in connection with goods or services supplied under the order, including but not limited to those arising directly or indirectly out of or in connection with:

(a) Injury to or death of persons (including but not limited to the employees of Company) or damage to or loss of property (including but not limited to the property of Company); and

(b) Seller's failure to comply with or breach of any warranty or other obligation in this order. Seller's indemnification obligations shall apply, regardless of whether the party to be indemnified was concurrently at fault; but shall not apply if the party to be indemnified was solely at fault.

9. Independent Contractor: Nothing herein shall be deemed to constitute Seller, or any of Seller's employees or agents, to be the agent, representative or employee of Company. Seller shall be an independent contractor and shall have sole responsibility for and control over the details and means of performance.

10. Insurance: Before any parts of the services are performed or the goods are delivered, Seller shall, at Seller's sole cost, cause to be issued and maintained not less than the insurance coverage set forth below:

Type of Insurance	Limits (in $ millions)
Commercial General Liability (Including Contractual Liability) written on an occurrence basis	General Aggregate	2
	Prod./Comp. Op. Agg	1
	Personal & Adv. Injury	1
Automobile Liability, including any auto, hired autos and non-owned autos Excess Liability, Umbrella Form	Each Occurrence	1
	Combined Single Limit	1
Worker's Compensation and Employer's Liability	Each Occurrence	2
	Aggregate	2
	Each Accident	.5
	Disease - Policy Limit	.5
	Disease - Each Employee	.5

Certificates of insurance satisfactory in form to Company and signed by the Seller's insurer shall be supplied by Seller to Company, evidencing that the above insurance is in force and that not less than thirty (30) calendar days' written notice will be given to Company prior to any cancellation or restrictive modification of the policies. The Seller shall cause its insurer to waive all subrogation rights against Company, except with regard to Worker's Compensation, and evidence thereof satisfactory in form and substance to Company shall be exhibited in the Certificate of Insurance. Seller's liability shall not be limited to its insurance coverage. Company shall be added as an Additional Insured under the Seller's Commercial General Liability, Auto Liability and Excess Liability policies.

11. Assignments: Seller shall not assign its rights or obligations hereunder wholly or in part, voluntarily, by operation of law, or otherwise without first obtaining the written consent of Company. Subject to the foregoing, the provisions hereof shall be binding upon the successors and assigns of the parties hereto.

12. Governing Law: The transactions and agreements between the Seller and Company shall be governed by the subject to the law and jurisdiction of the Commonwealth of Kentucky (or the State of Virginia, if performance will occur at a Virginia site).

13. Hazardous Materials: For hazardous materials as defined by 29CFR1910.1200, a Material Safety Data Sheet (MSDS) is required prior to delivery. Please mail to Company, Industrial Hygienist, at Company's address. NO ASBESTOS OR LEAD CONTAINING MATERIALS ALLOWED.

14. Sales Tax: Do not bill Kentucky Sales Tax; Blanket Direct Pay Authorization maintained under 103 KAR 31.030. Louisville Gas and Electric Company Permit # 037710 and Kentucky Utilities Company Permit # 045084, and LG&E and KU Services Company will provide Resale Certificate for tangible personal property purchased for resale to affiliate subsidiaries as required under PUHCA.

15. Invoicing Instructions: Show Order No., Line No. and Company Item Identification No. on invoice and all papers and packages relating to this order. Mail invoice to the "Bill To" address shown on the face of this Purchase Order for each lot of material shipped or delivered. Do not deliver invoices with goods. Freight must be transported as listed on the front of the Purchase Order. Freight that is prepaid and noted on the invoice must be substantiated by attaching to the invoice original transportation bills received to the carrier.

16. Payment Terms: Unless otherwise agreed, payment terms are net 30 days on receipt of properly submitted invoice. Unless otherwise herein agreed, no COD orders will be accepted.

17. Modification: This purchase order, together with any written instructions issued hereunder and any attachments hereto, contains the complete and final agreement between Company and Seller and any agreement that purports to modify the terms and conditions hereof shall not be binding upon Company unless made in writing and signed by Company's authorized representative.

Question No. 56

Responding Witness: Shannon L. Charnas

- Q-56. Provide KU's most recent depreciation study. If no such study exists, provide a copy of KU's most recent depreciation schedule. The schedule should include a list of all plant and related facilities by account number, service life and accrual rate for each, the methodology that supports the schedule, and the date the schedule was last updated.
- A-56. See the information provided, as required by Commission regulation 807 KAR 5:001, Section 10(6)(n), located at Tab 33 of the Filing Requirements.

Question No. 57

Responding Witness: Lonnie E. Bellar

- Q-57. Describe the status of any outstanding recommendations relating to KU's management audits. Identify any savings or costs related to management audit recommendations, the impact of which is not already reflected in the test year of this case.
- A-57. On March 14, 2012, KU and LG&E submitted the first Management Audit Action Plan Progress Reports regarding the Comprehensive Management and Operations Audit of the Customer Service functions to the Commission.

KU and LG&E accepted all recommendations and requested that ten recommendations (II-R1, II-R6, II-R9, IV-R1, IV-R2, IV-R4, IV-R5, IV-R7, IV-R8, and IV-R9) be considered complete. The remaining ten recommendations were considered ongoing by KU and LG&E and will be completed according to the implementation plan of each recommendation.

The original progress cost estimates were not split between KU and LG&E or within or outside the test period. KU and LG&E adjusted the original progress report to reflect actuals or more refined cost and benefit estimates. From a total perspective, the changes were not material. There are some amounts outside the test period that have yet to be spent and could change as a result.

The total KU and LG&E one-time costs were up by $129,000 above the March 14 progress report reflecting a few late arriving invoices relating to the Morganfield Call Center construction and contingencies around the CTI/screen pop project. The total KU and LG&E annual recurring costs were down by ($226,000) reflecting a decision to hire some of the call center representatives on a part-time basis and a lower cost than expected cost on the Field Services transactional study. KU and LG&E quantified the annual recurring benefit to be $235,000 coming from decreased long distance charges and lower costs associated with reduced calls rolled over to a third-party provider, Twenty-First Communication.

Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information

Dated June 15, 2012

Question No. 58

Responding Witness: Lonnie E. Bellar / Valerie L. Scott

Q-58. Concerning KU's demand side management, conservation and energy efficiency programs, provide the following:

- a. A list of all programs currently offered by KU.
- b. The total cost of the programs KU offered during the test year and the costs incurred during each of the three most recent calendar years.
- c. Total demand and energy reductions realized under the programs KU offered during the test year and in each of the three most recent calendar years.

A-58. a. The current demand side management, conservation and energy efficiency programs offered at KU as approved by the Commission's November 9, 2011 Order in Case No. 2011-00134, are: Residential and Commercial Load Management; Commercial Conservation; Residential Conservation; Residential Low Income Weatherization; Smart Energy Profile; Residential Incentives; Residential Refrigerator Removal; Residential High Efficiency Lighting; Residential New Construction; Residential and Commercial AC Diagnostic and Tune-Up; Customer Education and Public Information; and the Dealer Referral Network.

b. KU demand side management cost of programs offered during the 12 months ending March 31, 2012 and the three most recent calendar years:

12 Months Ending March 2012	$13,589,517.82
2011	$12,541,914.43
2010	$11,793,988.27
2009	$10,687,721.66

c. The total incremental and cumulative demand and energy reductions realized under the programs KU offered during the test year and in each of the three recent calendar years are reflected in the chart below. The cumulative demand and energy reductions reflect Portfolio to Date totals.

	Demand Reductions (MW)	Energy Savings (MWh)
2009	6.9	4,510
2010	13.8	56,311
2011	19.1	79,806
