Poll

a poll-high seven ranked teams. Five ACC teams are ranked.

Baylor, an NCAA Sweet 16 team last year, has now made it into the rankings in eight consecutive seasons.

TCU has gone from 0-18 in Big 12 games last season to the best start in school history, 11-0 after an 88-57 win over UTSA on Saturday night. The Horned Frogs are ranked for the first time since January 1999. Billy Tubbs was their coach the last time the Frogs were in the poll, when they were 24th the last week of January 1999. That was a season after TCU's last NCAA tournament appearance.

The Big 12's other ranked teams are No. 9 Texas, No. 10 Kansas, No. 12 Iowa State, No. 18 West Virginia and No. 19 Oklahoma.

No unranked undefeateds

No. 24 Colorado State (11-0) and TCU, the remaining undefeated teams in NCAA Division I basketball going into Monday, made it into the new poll.

The ACC had three of the nation's nine undefeated teams, No. 2 Duke, No. 4 Louisville and No. 5 Virginia.

Colorado State was ranked for two weeks in February 2013, but before that hadn't been in the poll since 1954.

Ins and outs

Northern Iowa (10-1) returned to the poll after a one-week absence, getting back in at No. 23 and giving the Missouri Valley Conference two ranked teams (No. 11 Wichita State is the other).

The other newcomers were Baylor, Colorado State and TCU.

Falling out were Miami, San Diego State, Butler and Michigan State.

Steady standings

After Kentucky Duke stayed second followed by Arizona and Louisville.

The only change in the top 10 was Virginia (11-0) moving up to fifth and swapping spots with Wisconsin (10-1), the only Top 25 team that was idle last week.

Yllanovva, Gonzaga, Texas and Kansas rounded out the top 10.

South Carolina women remain No. 1 in AP Poll

By Doug Feinberg
AP Basketball Writer

Stanford had an unsuccessful trip east while Oregon State stayed unbeaten.

The Cardinal lost at Chattanooga and Tennessee to fall to 16th in The Associated Press women's basketball poll Monday.

It's the lowest Stanford has been in the Top 25 since Jan. 2, 2006, when the Cardinal were also 16th.

Oregon State buoyed by a big win at then-No. 6 North Carolina climbed into a tie for 10th — the highest ranking for the undefeated Beavers, who also swept a tournament in New Orleans.

While the Pac-12 schools made big moves, the top of the poll stayed relatively unchanged.

South Carolina remained No. 1 for the fifth straight week after cruising to three wins. UConn, Texas, Notre Dame and Texas A&M rounded out the first five. The Irish and Aggies switched places after Texas A&M lost to the Longhorns on Sunday.

Louisville rose to No. 7 from the 10th spot while Kentucky dropped four spots to No. 12 after a loss to Duke.

Some notes from this week's poll:

Cardinal struggles

Stanford had its run of 111 straight weeks in the first 10 end. The previous time the Cardinal weren't among the top 10 teams was Jan. 19, 2009.

Welcome to the top 25

Wisconsin-Green Bay and Arizona State joined the poll this week at No.

24 and No. 25 respectively. The two teams are no strangers to the Top 25 having both recently appearing in the poll. The experience and add more talent.

More on that in a minute.

First, let me backtrack to the fallacy of my thinking about UK's coaching needs from two years ago.

Balance is key

I should have seen the fallacy from Mumme's own tenure at Kentucky, when his offense stalled as SEC opponents figured out how to attack it, and when the tempo of Kentucky's offense left the defense gasped all too often.

While Stoops and Dawson aren't going to make Kentucky's offense the Wisconsin of the South any time soon, Stoops explained the need for a balanced attack Monday in a way that even I could understand.

"We're never going to become a great defense unless we practice against some physically every day," Stoops said. "I think we need to be unique. I think we need to have some nuances and some creativity to move the football for where we're at, but I also think it comes down to some basic principles of football that you have to have."

"That's what I love about Shannon, and what I think he and Dana have done at West Virginia, is they've really run the ball very well and have some physicality about them, but are still throwing the heck out of the ball and are still very creative with the way they're doing things."

Dawson's journey

Ironically, Dawson's second coaching opportunity came under Mumme at Southeastern Louisiana in 2003 (following one year at his alma mater, Wingate), where he was in charge of "Offensive

Quality Control!

Dawson's march up the coaching ladder then took him to New Mexico State, Mississippi, Stephen F. Austin and, finally, West Virginia in 2011.

"The most important thing I like about Shannon is his leadership," Stoops said. "But other things I like about him is I feel like he's always done more with less. And I like the way he's worked his way up the profession."

"I like the way he's evolved," Stoops added. "He told me, 'Coach, we wouldn't be having this conversation if I was the same I was two, three, four years ago,' when he was just throwing the ball around."

The Mountaineers have utilized a fast-paced attack in Dawson's four years in Morgantown. This season they have averaged 85 plays a game — 44 rushing attempts and 41 passing.

WVA was ranked No. 11 in the nation in total offense, including No. 9 in pass offense. Three running backs gained at least 450 yards this season.

Lots of interest for UK OC job

Stoops said the interest in Kentucky's offensive coordinator post from potential hires has been "amazing," and he took a long look at the direction of the Wildcats' offense before selecting Dawson.

"I think continuity is very important as you're dealing with college kids and where we're at," Stoops said. "I feel like we've made some very good progress, and I think Neal and his staff have done a great job these first two years."

Stoops said he's getting a positive response from recruits about the Dawson hire.

"Recruits are very excited about the offense," he said. "The bottom line is it's a fun offense to be a part of."

Ladycats complete sweep of Ludlow

As the second game of a varsity doubleheader versus Ludlow and the Wildcats both winning as well as the Ladycats JV running out to a 19-0 halftime lead in blowing out Ludlow, the last game of the evening was a tight contest for the Ladycats.

They jumped out early building a 14-3 lead before the Panthers scored, 15 straight points to take an 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter.

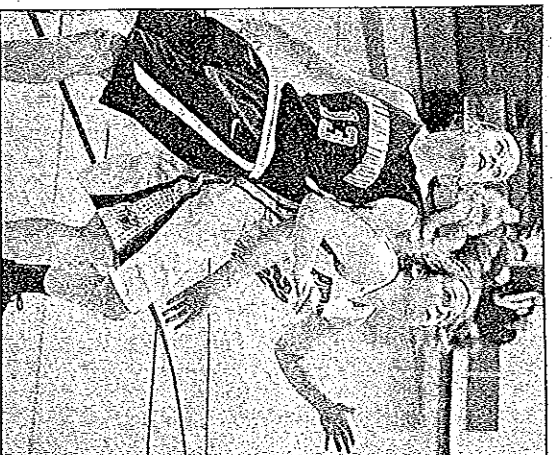

Ludlow held a 4-point halftime lead but PC tied it up at the end of three. The 4th quarter was all Ladycats as they placed six players in the scoring column, led by Isabella Hall with six including 4 of 4 from the charity stripe and some beautiful passes for each basket by her teammates. Mackayla Mator had seven including her fifth three of the game.

The Ladycats completed the 4-game sweep with a 69-62 victory.

Mator's five threes and four of four from the free throw line contributed to her team high 23 points. Bishop had 14 and Isabella called 11.

The win evened the Ladycats record to 3-3.

Earlier in the week, PCHS defeated old 38th District foe Augustus 59-52 which was highlighted by Mackayla Bishop scoring her 1,000 career point as a varsity basketball player.

Amberly Purdy positions herself inside for the offensive rebound. She had 20 points in the Ladycats two games this past week and her inside scoring has been a big part of the Ladycats' victories.

The transfer from Belleue finished with 17 points and is averaging 15.5 ppg leading the Ladycats.

In another tight contest, the Ladycats trailed by a single point after the first eight minutes were played but turned that around for a one point lead at the half.

Augustus took a two point lead after three but like the Ludlow game, the Cats' press wore down Augustus and they won the pivotal fourth quarter 21-12.

The seven point victory, Amberly Purdy carried the team in the 4th quarter, eight of her fourteen points. Bailey Wainwright had a big three pointer of her 10 points.

The Ladycats played Saturday on Saturday, Dec. 20 and Paris on Monday night, Dec. 22 but results were not available at press time. They will travel to Paris after Christmas for the Bourbon County Holiday Invitational.

Pendleton County Alumni Night, January 2

Starting in the 1960s through mid-1990s, there was a major rival for Pendleton County. When a basketball was tossed for tip-off at Pendleton County versus Bracken County basketball game, it was sure to be a tightly contested game, with the wooden bleachers packed with loud fans yelling for their team and at the officials.

In the midst of holiday and gathering with family and gathering with family this holiday break, there is a chance to remember those days as Pendleton County High School will be hosting Alumni Night at the Ludlow and Wildcat basketball games versus old 38th District rival Bracken County.

Ladycat Varsity will play in the main gym at 6 p.m. versus the Lady Panthers with Junior Varsity to follow in the auxiliary gym. Wildcat Varsity will play in the main gym at approximately 7:30 p.m.

Wildcats defeat unbeaten Augusta

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

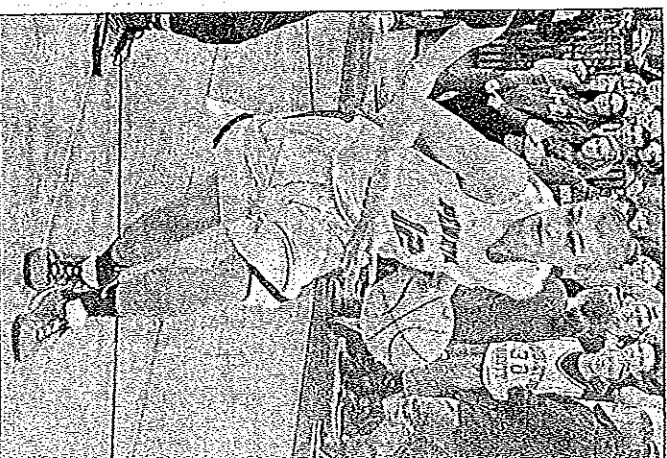

The Pendleton County Wildcats basketball team scored its biggest win of the early season on Monday, Dec. 15, with a 73-70 upset of the previously unbeaten Augusta Panthers.

Following a slow start by both clubs that saw PC open the second quarter with an 11-9 lead, the Cats offense exploded for a 25-point outburst that saw them go ahead by double figures. The Wildcats took advantage of sharp three-point shooting to pull ahead of Augusta as the home crowd went into a frenzy. The Cats went into the half with a 36-22 lead.

The start of the second half saw the Panthers make a furious comeback, cutting the 14-point deficit to eight less than 90 seconds into the third quarter. Augusta would narrow the margin to 39-36 before the Cats responded with a run of their own, pushing the lead back to eight points as the quarter drew to a close.

Both teams battled evenly throughout the final eight minutes, but Augusta was unable to get any closer than five points as the Cats established dominance in the paint in large part due to a career performance by senior center Hunter Lea who pulled down 18 rebounds to go along with 15 points and three blocks. Pendleton County sank 17 of 23 free throws including several in the final, handing seconds to preserve an eight-point victory.

Junior Michael Artorius led four Wildcats who reached double-figures with 17 points, five rebounds and four assists. Tanner Daugherty added 14 points

Senior Wildcat Patrick McCain takes the ball toward the basket in the Wildcats match-up versus Augusta. He scored 13 points in the 78-70 victory.

Patrick McCain presence has been a huge factor in our success so far this season. He is a tenacious rebounder and our players feed off his energy in the post. Our players brought into the scouting report and embraced the rebounding aspect of the game," he said.

The win marks the third straight victory for the Wildcats following an 0-5 start. Due to an early press date, results for the Dec. 18 match-up with Ludlow (9-5) and the Dec. 19 showdown versus Bracken County (1-5) will be found in next week's issue.

Beldner also noted the tenacity his team used on the boards, and the inspiring performance delivered by his senior center, "Hunter Lea's inside while chipped in with 13. The Panthers were led by Camryn Snapp who finished with a game-high 27 points. "I was pleased with our defensive focus for the entire game. Augusta is a very difficult team to guard because they are aggressive and they have so many weapons," said head coach Katron Beldner.
