LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 1

Responding Witness: Robert M. Conroy

- Q-1. To the extent that any of your answers to AT&T Requests for Information Nos. 1-23 are different now than they were when you provided those answers, please provide revised answers.

- A-1. The Company is not aware of any answers that are different now than when originally provided. To the extent the Company is made aware of incorrect information provided in the data responses, the information will be revised and filed in the case.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T

Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 2

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

Q-2. Please refer to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-10 (providing, in part, "The Wireless Facility owner will have conduit running through the initial presumed 13.17 feet of usable space on the pole, which it shares with LG&E.").

- a. Does LG&E charge for "conduit" in usable space in these situations?
- b. Does LG&E charge for "conduit" in unusable space in these situations?
- c. To the extent your answer to S2.a or S2.b is anything other than an unequivocal "no," please:
  - i. State whether the referenced conduit prevents other attachers from using that space.
  - ii. Describe in detail your rationale for charging for conduit.
  - iii. State the amount you propose to charge for conduit and identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support this amount.

A-2. a. Yes.

b. No.

- c. i. Conduit attached in the usable space on a pole will not prevent the attachment of additional wireline cables (electric or communications). However, the conduit may prevent LG&E from installing transformers, risers, vertical supply conductors to aerial services, switch handles, capacitor banks or similar fixtures. A Wireless Facility attachment also prevents additional Wireless Facility attachments as only one such attachment is permitted on a LG&E pole.
- ii. The Wireless Facility owner will have conduit running through the initial presumed 13.17 feet of usable space on the pole, which it may share with LG&E or other communications cable attachers. In fact, on many poles, the Wireless Facility owner's conduit may be attached to sections of usable space not otherwise occupied by LG&E or another communications attachers.

Conduit located in the usable space on the pole may prevent the installation of additional electrical equipment as described above. It is for this reason that, as shown by page 27 of LG&E's construction standards produced in response to KCTA 1-16, that LG&E does not permit Wireless Facility attachments to wooden poles supporting transformers, risers, vertical supply conductors to aerial services, switch handles, capacitor banks or similar fixtures. Wireless Facility attachments pose additional safety and reliability concerns to LG&E: antennas could fall into electric lines, qualified personnel must maintain antennas attached above electric facilities, and antennas emit radiofrequency radiation that pose additional risks to all utility workers. Additional conduit may also serve to slow LG&E's maintenance and restoration of its facilities. A Wireless Facility attachment has a far different composition than a simple wireline attachment. Wireless Facilities are not simply antennas. Conduit housing electric and communications lines are needed to serve the Wireless Facility and radio units accompany the antennas. LG&E does not propose to charge for the two conduits and two potential radio units attached in the unusable space of the pole.

- iii. LG&E proposes to charge one-half of 13.17 feet of usable space (13.17 feet of usable space as set forth by the KPSC's Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251) multiplied by the proposed wireline pole attachment rate (which is based on the wireline attachment using a presumed one foot of pole space as set forth in the KPSC's Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251).

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T

Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 3

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

Q-3. Please refer to page 57 of 97 of the Attachment to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-16. Would LG&E allow wireless carriers to place antennas mid- pole as depicted in the diagram on this page of the Attachment? If your answer is anything other than an unequivocal "no," please:

- a. State the rate you propose to charge for such placement and identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support this amount.
- b. Please explain with specificity whether the use of mid-pole antennas as depicted in this diagram (i.e. the antenna being below electric facilities) would eliminate or ameliorate the concerns raised in response to AT&T's Request for Information No. 10 for Performance Assurance.

A-3. Yes.

- a. The proposed rate for all Wireless Facility attachments made "mid-pole" is the same as Wireless Facility attachments made at the top of the pole. Wireless Facility attachment made "mid-pole" are not typical. All but one of the existing Wireless Facility attachments to LG&E poles are located at the pole top. Consistent with the methodology for determining a wireline pole attachment rate set forth in the KPSC's Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251, LG&E developed a reasonable usage factor for the typical Wireless Facility attachment to use for all Wireless Facility attachments. Further, as the number of Wireless Facility attachments is expected to grow exponentially over the next few years, assessing the same rate for all Wireless Facility attachments will avoid the administrative burden of tracking and billing the few exceptions.
- b. Wireless Facility attachments made below electric facilities pose less risk to LG&E's facilities and service. However, due to their composition and associated equipment, they pose a far greater risk than the simple wireline attachment. If LG&E must remove a wireless facility attached at mid-pole, it must still remove a substantial amount of equipment, including the electric service feeding the Wireless Facility. LG&E determined that $1,500 is a reasonable bond amount that can be uniformly applied for all Wireless Facility Attachments made to LG&E and KU structures.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 4

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

- Q-4. Please refer to page 56 of 97 of the Attachment to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-16 and to page 61 of 97 of the Attachment to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-16 (providing, in part, "The height of all poles used to mount antennas must be increased by a minimum of five feet above the existing pole's height. The cost of the taller pole is the responsibility of the attacher. (Pole height not to exceed 60' above ground.>"). Explain in detail why increasing the usable space by 5 feet by adding 5 feet to the top of the pole would not increase the usable space for rate computation purposes.
- A-4. Increasing the usable pole space by five feet does not alter the result of the rate computations. The additional five feet solely benefits the Wireless Facility owner. It is necessary to maintain the required clearance between the pole top antenna and LG&E's electric facilities and cannot be used for any other purpose. It cannot reasonably be allocated to any other user and is properly allocated to the Wireless Facility owner only. The remaining 13.17 feet of usable space, the amount of available usable pole space on a 42.5 foot pole, is then allocated between the Wireless Facility owner and the Company. The Wireless Facility owner remains responsible for 11.585 feet of usable space.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 5

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe / William S. Seelye

Q-5. Based on LG&E's and KU's respective responses to AT&T's Request for Information No. 4, the total number of distribution poles is 487,192. The pole attachment rate development, however, only reflects a total of 385,036 distribution poles. (See, e.g., Attachment to LG&E's Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information No. 54, file names Att_LGE_PSC_1-54_PoleAttach.xlsx and Att_KU_PSC_1- 54_PoleAttach.xlsx).

- a. Please explain this 102,156 difference in the number of distribution poles.
- b. If the 487,192 number of distribution poles were used in the development of LG&E's pole attachment rate, what would that proposed pole attachment rates be?
- c. Please identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support your answer to Request No. S5.b.

A-5.

- a. The 487,192 distribution poles consist of primary, secondary, service, and guy poles. Additionally, this number includes all transmission poles with distribution under-build. The total count for the pole attachment rate only includes 35, 40, and 45 foot distribution poles.
- b. The Company did not perform this analysis as it would not be an appropriate way to calculate the pole attachment rates. In its Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251, the Commission specified the use of 35, 40, and 45 foot distribution poles for the calculation of pole attachment rates.
- c. See the response to part b.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 6

Responding Witness: Robert M. Conroy / William S. Seelye

- Q-6. Please explain in detail why LG&E developed its proposed pole attachment rates using a combined number of LG&E and KU distribution poles instead of using only the number of LG&E distribution poles.
- A-6. The current cable television attachment charges are the same for both LG&E and KU. These charges were the result of a negotiated settlement in the Companies' last rate cases. It is the Companies' objective to maintain the same attachment charges for both utilities. The cost support shown in Exhibit WSS-12 was provided to support the reasonableness of the current charges and was therefore developed on a combined basis for both utilities.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 7

Responding Witness: William S. Seelye

- Q-7. In developing its proposed attachment rates, did LG&E use cost and other information solely from its own poles and operations, or did it combine cost and other information from its poles and operations with cost and other information from KU's poles and operations? To the extent that LG&E combined its cost and other information with that of KU, please:
- a. identify each input it used in developing its proposed pole attachment rates;
  - b. for each input identified, state whether it used its own information regarding that input or a combination of its information and that of KU;
  - c. to the extent that it used a combination of information, please explain in detail why it did so instead of using solely its own information.
  - d. State what the proposed pole attachment rates would have been had LG&E used solely its own information instead of combining any of its information with the information of KU.
  - e. Please identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support your answer to Request No. S7.e.
- A-7. Revenue requirements were developed for each company individually and then combined to evaluate the reasonableness of the current pole attachment charge. See response to Question No. 6. The cost information for each company is attached.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 8

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

- Q-8. Please state how many of the 19 wireless attachments on LG&E poles (see LG&E's answer to AT&T's Request for Information No. 5) are pole top antennas and, for all that are not, please describe what type of attachment is involved.
- a. For each attachment, please state either that the rates in LG&E's proposed tariffs apply or describe in detail the rates that apply to the attachment.
  - b. Please identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support your answer to Request No. S8.b.
- A-8. All but 1 of the 19 Wireless Facility attachments on LG&E poles are pole top antennas. The 1 Wireless Facility attachment not located on the pole top is same type attached to the pole top but is attached with a stand-off bracket below LG&E's primary electric conductors and above the communications cables (there are no secondary electric conductors on that pole).
- a. The existing Wireless Facility attachments on LG&E poles are charged pursuant to license agreements with the attachment customers (such agreements were produced in response to AT&T 1-3). If the PSA is approved, after the expiration of the license agreements, all of the existing Wireless Facility attachments would be subject to the proposed Wireless Facility attachment charge.
  - b. The Company assumes that the reference to Request No. S8.b actually refers to Request No. S8.a. See Response to AT&T 1-3.

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 9

Responding Witness: William S. Seelye

- Q-9. State the average pole height for wireless attachments LG&E used in calculating the proposed pole attachment rates, and identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support your answer. If your answer is anything other than the 51.05 feet average height of all LG&E distribution poles on which wireless facilities are attached that is set out LG&E's answer to AT&T's Request for Information No. 5, please explain in detail all reasons for the difference.
- A-9. For the wireless charge, a 42.5 foot pole is assumed in the calculation, as specified by the Commission's Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251 for wireline attachments. However, the average height of a pole with a wireless facility attached is 51.05 feet. See response to KCTA 1-10.

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 10

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

Q-10. Please refer to page 61 of 97 of the Attachment to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-16 (providing, in part, "The height of all poles used to mount antennas must be increased by a minimum of five feet above the existing pole's height. The cost of the taller pole is the responsibility of the attacher. Pole height not to exceed 60' above ground."). For each wireless attachment currently on an LG&E pole:

- a. Describe in detail what, if any, make ready costs were incurred; and
- b. State whether a taller pole was required as a result of the attachment.

A-10.

- a. That information is not readily available.
- b. A taller pole was required as a result of all but one Wireless Facility attachment to LG&E poles.

LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 11

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

- Q-11. Please refer to page 59 of 97 of the Attachment to LG&E's Response to KTCA's Request for Information No. 1-16 (setting out a 48" minimum clearance between the bottom of the antenna and the top of the conductor). In light of this 48" clearance, please explain in detail why LG&E assumed a 5 foot clearance in developing its proposed attachment rate.
- A-11. The referenced page actually sets out a 48" minimum clearance between the bottom of the antenna mount and the top of the conductor. The mounting hardware for the antenna will require some amount of space down the side of pole, which LG&E presumes to be approximately one foot. The conduit housing the communications cable feeding the antenna must terminate prior to the antenna. The 48" clearance must be maintained between the highest LG&E electric facility and the bottom of the mounting hardware or the top of the communications conduit, whichever is lower. LG&E presumes that the Wireless Facility owner will use the remaining one foot of pole space for its mounting hardware and the termination of its communications conduit. Further, the wood poles used by LG&E are available in 5 foot increments. All 5 feet required for the Wireless Facility attachment are for the sole benefit of the Wireless Facility owner.

Question No. 12

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

Q-12. S.12 Please refer to LG&E's response to AT&T Request for Information No. 6 (providing, in part, "LG&E's bucket trucks are typically not capable of reaching higher than 60 feet above ground.").

- a. Would LG&E permit wireless attachments on poles that are higher than 60 feet if a mid pole antenna (lower than 60 feet above ground) were used instead of pole top antenna?
- b. Please explain in detail how maintenance is performed on LG&E's poles that are higher than 60 feet high. (See, e.g., LGE's Response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11).

A-12.

- a. Yes.
- b. While the standard bucket truck in LG&E's fleet is typically not capable of reaching higher than 60 feet, LG&E and its contractors do maintain a much smaller number of trucks capable of reaching higher than 60 feet.

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T

Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 13

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe

Q-13. S.13 Please refer to LG&E's response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11. Provide a detailed description of the following (under the column heading "Retirement Unit"):

- a. Bracket – 1 Wire
- b. Bracket – Neutral Fastening
- c. Concrete Poles
- d. Cross Arms
- e. Fence
- f. Guy
- g. H Frame Structure
- h. H-Beam Steel Guy
- i. Knee Braces
- j. Platform
- k. Platforms New (05491)
- l. Pole Wood X FT (Dist)
- m. Pole Steel X Ft
- n. Poles, Modified
- o. Steel Poles
- p. Tower – 110 ft Steel Type F
- q. Towers
- r. X Braces
- s. Z Frame Set

A-13.

- a. Bracket – 1 Wire - Typically refers to small bracket with a spool insulator used for attaching a neutral or secondary conductor to a pole.
- b. Bracket – Neutral Fastening - Typically refers to a clamp type or metal bracket used for attaching a neutral conductor on poles.
- c. Concrete Poles - Pole made of concrete and reinforcing steel. Limited use on the Company's system.
- d. Cross Arms – Rectangular shaped wood structural member of various lengths and dimensions typically used to support primary conductors and equipment on poles.

- e. Fence - Security enclosure used to limit access around ground mounted equipment primarily at substations and some customer service points.
- f. Guy – High strength metallic wire installed between a) an above ground portion of a pole and the ground; or b) an above ground portion of two poles used to support transverse or longitudinal loading on poles.
- g. H Frame Structure – Two pole structure of wood or metal used to support conductors, cables or equipment.
- h. H-Beam Steel Guy – Steel H-beam embedded in concrete used to support guy wires originating on another pole. Typically used where a pole-to-ground guy cannot be installed due to clearance or Right of Way issues.
- i. Knee Braces – Guying assembly consisting of a pipe and guy wire used where space for guying a pole is limited.
- j. Platform – Metal members formed together into a mounting platform to support aerial mounted equipment on poles.
- k. Platforms New (05491) – Prefabricated support for aerial mounted equipment on poles.
- l. Pole Wood X FT (Dist) – Treated wood pole of various lengths and classes used to support aerial distribution and communication conductors and equipment.
- m. Pole Steel X Ft - Steel pole of various lengths and classes used to support aerial distribution and communication conductors and equipment.
- n. Poles, Modified – Unknown, potentially structural materials used for the reinforcement of deteriorated wood poles.
- o. Steel Poles - Steel pole of various lengths and classes used to support aerial distribution and communication conductors and equipment.
- p. Tower – 110 ft Steel Type F – Specific type of metallic lattice work structure used at line angles to support aerial conductors and cables.
- q. Towers – Metallic lattice work structure used to support aerial conductors and cables.
- r. X Braces – Wood or metal cross bracing used to provide strength and stability to an H-Frame.
- s. Z Frame Set – Miscellaneous or preassembled framing materials used in conjunction with poles or H-Frames which could include arms, cross bracing, etc.

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 14

Responding Witness: John K. Wolfe / William S. Seelye

Q-14. Please refer to LG&E's and KU's Response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11 and LG&E's Response to Commission Staff's First Request for Information No. 54, file name Att_LGE_PSC_1-54_PoleAttach.xlsx.

- a. Please explain the differences in the gross plant and quantities included in the "Cost Support for Attachment Charges" in response to the Staff's Request and the inventories provided in response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11.
- b. Please provide the pole investment and quantity inventory used to develop the Cost Support for Attachment Charges in response to the Staff's Request.
- c. Please identify all documents, including without limitation workpapers, photographs, and schematics, that support the Cost Support for Attachment Charges in response to the Staff's Request and the Gross Plant by Pole Size, Cash Working Capital, and Common Plant in response to AT&T's Request.

A-14.

- a. The gross plant amounts and pole quantities in the Cost Support for Attachment Charges include only 35, 40, and 45 foot poles for the historical period for the 12 months ended June 30, 2016. These are the pole types which are supported for the calculation of pole attachment charges per the Commission's Order of September 17, 1982 in Administrative Case No. 251 which governs overhead pole attachment rates in the state of Kentucky.
- b. See attached.
- c. Gross Plant by Pole Size can be found in the attachment for part b. Cash Working Capital is determined by taking the product of each pole type's percentage of gross plant multiplied by the total expense adjustment in the "CWC and Common" tab for each company multiplied by 0.85 to remove minor appurtenances. Common plant values were obtained from the cost of service study supporting the Company's filed rates.

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 15

Responding Witness: Valerie L. Scott

- Q-15. Is LG&E's Response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11 based on information from Kentucky only, or is it based in whole or in part on information from other States? If the response is based, in whole or in part, on information from other states, please provide a revised response that is based on information from Kentucky only.
- A-15. The information provided in AT&T 1-11 was Kentucky only. LG&E does not have any assets in FERC Plant Account No. 364 outside of Kentucky.

CASE NO. 2016-00371

Response to Supplemental Request for Information of AT&T
Dated February 7, 2017

Question No. 16

Responding Witness: Valerie L. Scott

- Q-16. In response to AT&T Request for Information No. 11, LG&E appears to have provided supplemental FERC information related to KU instead of LG&E. If this was a mistake, please provide supplemental FERC information related to LG&E. If this was not a mistake, please explain why it was appropriate to provide information related to KU in response to a Request directed to LG&E.
- A-16. The information provided for AT&T 1-11 was LG&E information only. LG&E assumes this request relates to AT&T 1-13. See attached for the correct LG&E attachment to AT&T 1-13.
