Introduction

Kentucky Center for Education and Workforce Statistics

The Kentucky Center for Education and Workforce Statistics (KCEWS) is a state office whose purpose is to provide independent, accurate, and timely data about the Commonwealth's education and workforce processes to better inform policy making and practice. The Center produces reports such as the Kentucky High School Feedback Reports, Early Childhood Profiles, and the Kentucky County Profiles. The Center also produces a variety of white papers about teacher preparation and retention, employment outcomes, and various other topics to inform decision makers, practitioners, and the general public. We also develop statewide metrics on education and workforce and conduct research for the state and various organizations.

The Center was created through Executive Order in 2012 then formalized in statute in 2013 to expand upon the work of the Kentucky P-20 Data Collaborative. The Center is attached to the Education and Workforce Development Cabinet Office of the Secretary and is overseen by a Board composed of the agency heads from the Kentucky Department of Education (KDE), the Council on Postsecondary Education (CPE), the Education Professional Standards Board (EPSB), the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA), and the Kentucky Education and Workforce Development Cabinet.

The Center maintains the Kentucky Longitudinal Data System (KLDS) which includes early childhood, K-12, postsecondary, adult education, and workforce data. The KLDS securely links and de-identifies data from various state data systems seamlessly which allows the state to develop a broader understanding about the education to workforce continuum.

By bringing information together across agencies and sectors here are a few examples of the kind of analyses the office has conducted which can only be performed with a system like the KLDS Kentucky has developed:

- a. By linking high school and college data we are able to better understand how high school experiences affect college going and success. We are able to provide much richer data about college preparation linked back to high schools so we can improve alignment between the two areas.
- b. Bringing together kindergarten readiness data with information about poverty and child care options in Kentucky's counties allow us to better inform parents and local decision makers about the state of early childhood in communities and provide insights into actions necessary to ensure that all of Kentucky's children enter schools with the skills they need to be successful.
- c. By linking teacher preparation programs to the schools where their graduates teach, we provide important information about the impact these teachers have on local schools and also provide Universities with feedback they can use to adapt their programs to ensure that future teachers enter the classrooms with the skills they need to have the greatest impact on student learning.
- d. Linking education and employment records allow us to know if our graduates are entering the workforce and earning a reasonable wage, how well our colleges are meeting the needs of Kentucky's industries, and what the return on investment is for our education and training programs.

Total Population

Median Household Income

The Census defines a household as any group of related or unrelated individuals living together other than in group quarters such as dormitories, prisons, or military barracks. Half of all households have an income higher than the median, and half have an income lower than the median. The Census calculates median household incomes for counties, states, and the nation, but there is no way to mathematically combine medians, so we are unable to report median household incomes for Area Development Districts or Workforce Investment Areas. Living in Poverty

The percentage of the population with incomes below the federally defined poverty level. Area Development District, Workforce Investment Area, and Appalachian/Non-Appalachian percentages were calculated by weighting each county's percentages by the total county population and should be treated as estimates. Eligible for Medicaid

The percentage of the population eligible for Medicaid assistance. The state percentage is more than the combination of the county percentages due to the inclusion of eligible persons not assigned to a specific county. Comparable national data are not available. Without Medical Insurance

The percentage of the population under the age of 65 not covered by medical insurance. Registered Voters who Voted in the 2012 General Election

Access to Broadband Internet

Access to broadband is defined as the percentage of households in a county population with broadband or internet availability as of 12/31/2012. This does not suggest everyone who has potential access actually uses it. Area Development District, Workforce Investment Area, and Appalachian/Non-Appalachian percentages are calculated by weighting each county's percentage by the total county population and should be treated as estimates. PIE CHART: 2012 Employment by Sector

Employment numbers are 2012 annual averages of data collected by the Kentucky Office of Employment and Training in the Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages (QCEW). The QCEW is a quarterly census of Kentucky employers covering all employment subject to state unemployment insurance withholding or similar federal programs. This excludes the self-employed, most federal employees, and the military. The QCEW is a census of jobs at the place of employment rather than at the employees' places of residence. Federal disclosure rules require employment numbers to be concealed if it is reasonably possible to more-or-less accurately estimate a single employer's employment numbers based on the data reported.
