Israeli PM responds to Ben & Jerry's retreat

ASSOCIATED PRESS

JERUSALEM — Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett told the head of Unilever on Tuesday that Israel will "act aggressively" against Ben & Jerry's over the subsidiary's decision to stop selling its ice cream in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and contested east Jerusalem.

British consumer goods conglomerate Unilever acquired the Vermont-based ice cream company in 2000. Ben & Jerry's said Monday it had informed its longstanding licensee — responsible for manufacturing and distributing the ice cream in Israel — it will not renew the license agreement when it expires at the end of 2022.

Bennett's office said he spoke with Unilever CEO Alan Jope about what he called Ben & Jerry's "clearly anti-Israel step," adding the move would have "serious consequences, legal and otherwise, and that it will act aggressively against all boycott actions directed against its citizens."

The announcement was one of the highest-profile company rebukes of Israeli settlements in the West Bank and east Jerusalem, territories Israel captured in the 1967 Mideast war. Most of the international community considers these settlements illegal under international law and an impediment to peace with the Palestinians.

Israel considers all of Jerusalem its capital, while the Palestinians seek it as capital of a future state.

Ben & Jerry's said the sale of its ice cream in territories sought by the Palestinians for an independent state was "Inconsistent with our values."

Israel's Foreign Ministry criticized the decision on Monday as "a surrender to ongoing and aggressive pressure from extreme anti-Israel groups."

were dispatched, Saas said. The damage to the building was "significant," he said.

No civilians were injured, but one firefighter was evaluated for heat exhaustion, Saas said. That firefighter didn't have to go to a hospital.

In a Facebook post, the Lexington Ice Center's owners said that the fire caused damage to the facility's second ice rink. The owners said they didn't know what caused the fire.

"We're very thankful no one was hurt or inside of the building when it happened," they said in the social media post. "We have been through tragedy before, and just as before, we will rebuild."

The owners had to rehions.

The youth hockey program lost championship banners, trophies and ribbons stored in a trophy case in the rink's lobby, Adelfio said. A large amount of youth equipment was lost, too, along with other gear and an LED scoreboard.

"I have been involved with youth hockey, high school hockey, and amateur hockey for over 20 years, and I know how tight the hockey community is," Adelfio said. "We will band together to replace lost gear and equipment and come back stronger."

Adelfio, the hockey commissioner, also said the loss of a rink will "crunch all of our hockey activities into one rink."
