Reader needs explanation about comment on astaxanthin

DEAR DR. ROACH: I recently read your column on astaxanthin. The article contained a statement that flabbergasted me. Can you explain the details behind it? You state, "Most astaxanthin sold commercially is synthesized from petroleum products." What gives? -- K.O.K.

ANSWER: Any drug, supplement or chemical you buy is either extracted and purified from a natural source or synthesized in chemical reactions (or some combination of the two).

where it's coming from. Keep in mind that the manufacturer chooses the least expensive way of getting you what you want. Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu. also be synthesized directly from vanillin, which, in turn, is derived from wood pulp or from crude oil. No matter whether the curcumin starts -- as turmeric roots from India, as wood pulp, or as oil -- the chemical you take is exactly the same, and your body doesn't know

For example, if you buy curcumin from the health food store, the supplement might start off as the roots of the shrub Curcuma longa in the ginger family. These are then boiled in water and baking soda and also powdered, making turmeric. Curcumin is purified from turmeric through the use of a solvent like acetone and becomes crystallized to make pure curcumin. However, curcumin from the health food store might

PUBLIC NOTICE OF LOCAL PUBLIC HEARING FOR THE THOROUGHbred SOLAR PROJECT

Thoroughbred Solar is proposing and has filed an application with the Kentucky Public Service Commission Electric Generation and Transmission Siting Board for a Certificate to construct an up to 50-megawatt solar electric generating facility on approximately 530 acres comprised of multiple tracts of undeveloped, agricultural land located south of the City of Munfordville, Hart County, Kentucky on the east side of Interstate 65 and west of the town of Rowletts (the "Project"). The Project substation transformer will tap into an existing overhead 69 kV transmission line owned by the East Kentucky Power Cooperative.

The Project website includes information about the size and location of the proposed Project and the anticipated economic and other impacts. The website can be accessed at www.thoroughbredsolar.com. Additionally, you may email questions to rob.kalbouss@leewardenergy.com.

Pursuant to 807 KAR 5:110, Section 9(2), notice is hereby provided that a local public hearing for this matter has been scheduled for 5:00 p.m. Central Standard Time on January 25, 2023, at the Hart County Courthouse, 200 Main Street, Munfordville, Kentucky 42765.
