Tri-County Pet Resort looks to treat your pet to luxury

By Cole Parke
Staff Writer

Tri-County Pet Resort in Lily is now offering a luxury pet spa to ensure that when you go on vacation, your dog gets a vacation of its own.

The resort is owned and operated by the Cooney family, and in particular the combo of Lynette and Luke Cooney, who live onsite and ensure every pet is well taken care of, though the building is owned by Paul and Jennifer Cooney.

Like many great business ventures, the idea for the resort came from a problem the Cooneys themselves had experienced.

"It actually started because Paul and Jennifer couldn't find a place to board their dogs," Lynette said. "Everything was booked up months in advance. It started as a joke, we were like, 'You know, we have experience with animals. We've worked with dogs and cats and horses our whole lives, we should open up our own place.' Then it just kept coming up and what started as a joke, over a few years, turned into 'Let's actually do this.'"

With the plan in motion, the Cooneys bought the former London Moose Lodge and began the remodeling to turn the bar and club into what it is today.

Opening in the spring of 2022, the entire operation is very young, though it has had its fair share of pleased customers in its short life.

"We opened at a limited capacity right before spring break, and we actually had to turn some people away, which was good, that's what we'd hoped for," Lynette said. "Then as we worked to get the word out it started a little slower but now that summer is approaching we've been getting all the business we can hope for. There's definitely a need for it. Everybody we've talked to about it that's brought their dogs has been really happy with what we offer."

Looking at Google reviews, while the resort only has seven total customer reviews, all have been five stars and have come along with at least a paragraph of praise with three even including pictures of their happy pets.

One reason the Cooneys believe the opening has been so successful is due to the demand within the Tri-County area, with very few reliable options in the area.

"A lot of people were going up to Richmond or Lexington or down to Knoxville for luxury pet care," Lynette said.

Dillingham picks Cats, Lyon County's Perry receives scholarship offer

By KEITH TAYLOR
Kentucky Today

LEXINGTON, Ky. (KT) - Kentucky picked up a commitment on the recruiting trail when Robert Dillingham chose the Wildcats on Friday night.

Dillingham, the No. 13 overall prospect in the Class of 2023, is a point guard and a five-star recruit and chose Kentucky over Auburn, Louisville, and USC.

"If you put in the work at Kentucky and coach (John Calipari) thinks you are good enough to make it, then it will happen for you," Dillingham told ESPN. "When I visited Kentucky, it was incredible. They explained everything. The basketball, academics, strength and conditioning, NIL."

NIL, a new recruiting tool, helped sway Dillingham to Lexington.

"Coach Cal explained how it works and said, 'It's not the reason you come here, but it's definitely a perk.' I know TyTy Washington and Oscar Tshiebewe have done very well."

Dillingham chose N.C. State initially, but de-committed last March.

"Coach Cal and his staff came to see me when I was at Combine Academy," he recalled. "They flew private into Lincolnton, North Carolina. That meant a lot. Coach Cal is down to earth. He told me and my mom his whole story growing up. My mom is an energetic and positive person. She felt good about Coach Cal and Kentucky."

Dillingham, a 6-foot-1 guard, plays for Donda Academy in California and currently plays on the Nike EYBL summer league circuit.

Lyon County (Ky.) High School Travis Perry received a scholarship offer from Kentucky on Saturday afternoon. Perry made a visit to Lexington and impressed Calipari in the Titans-Rockets Summer Shootout in Shelbyville. Perry scored 42 points in one game and 36 in another contest in the shootout.

Perry has played on the varsity team at Lyon County since 7th-grade and has scored 3,189 points in his career. The state record is held by King Kelly Coleman, who tallied 4,337 points from 1953-56.
