Dear Chuck,

As a follow up to our letter dated March 7, 2023, we would like to provide an update on progress toward developing system improvements as part of our continued efforts to prepare for winter storm events:

- A third-party reliability consultant has completed reviews of equipment at Hardinsburg and Slaughters and will submit its full report to Texas Gas in the coming weeks.
- Another third-party consultant is conducting a complete analysis of the policy and procedures of the Texas Gas/Boardwalk reliability program.
- Texas Gas is conducting an on-going effort to install permanent structures over certain critical control equipment that is expected to be completed by the winter heating season.

We appreciate our partnership with LG&E and KU and look forward to providing dependable service for years to come.

Best Regards,
