Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-001

REQUEST:

Provide the following expense account data:

a. Schedules, in comparative form, showing the operating expense account balance for the base period and each of the three most recent calendar years for each account or subaccount included in Duke Kentucky's annual report. Show the percentage of increase or decrease of each year over the prior year.

b. A listing, with descriptions, of all activities, initiatives or programs undertaken or continued by Duke Kentucky since its last general rate case for the purpose of minimizing costs or improving the efficiency of its operations or maintenance activities. Include all quantifiable realized and projected savings.

RESPONSE:

a. Please see STAFF-DR-01-001(a) Attachment.

b. Since its last natural gas base rate case filed in 2021, Operation & Maintenance (O&M) costs for Duke Energy Kentucky have remained relatively flat, overcoming the cost of inflation, due to several initiatives the Company has executed on in order to minimize costs to customers.

As discussed in the direct testimony of Brian R. Weisker, Duke Energy Kentucky has aggressively investigated and, where justified, implemented new products, technologies, and work methods to increase our productivity. Duke Energy Kentucky and Ohio participate in the American Gas Association's (AGA) Gas Utility Operations Best Practices Benchmarking Program. In this program, natural gas distribution companies from the United States and Canada routinely benchmark three to five distribution operations topics each year. Duke Energy Kentucky has implemented process improvements and utilized new technology, materials, and equipment as a result of what it has learned through participating in this program. The Company also participates in the AGA Peer to Peer review program. This voluntary safety initiative is for local natural gas utilities throughout North America. The National AGA Peer Review Program is a peer-to-peer safety and operational practices review program that allows AGA member companies to observe their peers, share leading practices, and identify opportunities to better serve customers and communities.

In addition to the AGA efforts to drive efficiency in operations, Duke Energy Kentucky has continued to utilize our Watch and Protect Program to reduce 3rd party damages which drives cost savings and efficiency. The Watch and Protect Program is a two-part program that aims to predict and prevent damages by utilizing data analytics of historic damages and their associated 811 tickets. Field inspectors are then tasked with visiting the excavations sites that are calculated to have the highest risk to inform the excavator of the dangers of excavating around a natural gas pipeline and reduce the probability of a damage occurring. Duke Energy Kentucky has also continued utilizing our Untonable Program with a goal to repair tonability to underground assets and confirm the location of these assets before a 3rd party excavation and potential damage occurs. The contractor awarded this work receives a notice of an untonable underground asset directly from our locate contractor and reports to the site to repair tonability as soon as possible. Like the Watch and Protect Program, the Untonable Program reduces 3rd party damages and helps with reducing costs for repairs. Duke Energy also implemented a new Ticket Management System (TMS) in the fall of 2023. The TMS provides greatly improved visibility to our 811 tickets, provides efficiency with marking facilities, and provides data for developing performance metrics for our contract locators. The efficiencies gained with the TMS help with controlling O&M costs. Finally, Duke Energy Kentucky has driven efficiencies in our Designated Building Leak Survey Program, eliminating unnecessary inspections and helping to keep O&M costs flat.

Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-006

REQUEST:

Provide a detailed analysis of expenses for professional services during the 12 months preceding the base period, as shown in Schedule B, and all workpapers supporting the analysis. At a minimum, the workpapers should show the payee, dollar amount, reference (i.e., voucher no., etc.), account charged, hourly rates and time charged to the company according to each invoice, and a description of the services provided.

RESPONSE:

Please see STAFF-DR-01-006 Attachment. The line items in which the vendor is blank or unknown is a charge resulting from an allocation. The Company can provide detail behind individual line items, but it is a manual process for each line item to research the allocation pool to go back to the original invoice and vendor. This analysis excludes contractor labor which has been charged to the 923 account.

PERSON RESPONSIBLE: Linda L. Miller

Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

PUBLIC STAFF-DR-01-011

REQUEST:

Describe Duke Kentucky's lobbying activities and provide a schedule showing the name, salary, and job title of each individual whose job function involves lobbying on the local, state, or national level.

RESPONSE:

CONFIDENTIAL PROPRIETARY TRADE SECRET

Duke Energy Kentucky's lobbying activities include advocacy before the Legislative and Executive branch to achieve the strategic objectives of the company and its business units. Duke Energy Business Services (DEBS) employs the following lobbyists registered with the Kentucky Legislative Ethics Commission.

Name	Title	Salary	Kentucky Gas Lobbying
Patrick Keal	State Government Affairs Director	[redacted]	$66,207
Jennifer Loraine	VP Government Affairs	[redacted]	$23,788

Duke Energy Kentucky's natural gas business has allocated labor expense for these employees based on the amount of time they devote to Duke Energy Kentucky natural gas-related matters. These employees also have other non-lobbying job responsibilities so only a portion of their Duke Energy natural gas time is charged to lobbying activities. Any charge related to lobbying activities is recorded to Duke Energy Kentucky's below-the-line expense and therefore is not included in the forecasted test period in this case.

Duke Energy Kentucky has also retained third party consultants to provide lobbying activities on its behalf.

Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-025

REQUEST:

Concerning Duke Kentucky's construction projects:

a. For each project started during the last five calendar years, provide the information requested in the format contained in Schedule I1. For each project, include the amount of any cost variance and delay encountered, and explain in detail the reasons for such variances and delays.

b. Using the data included in Schedule I1, calculate the annual "Slippage Factor" associated with those construction projects. The Slippage Factor should be calculated as shown in Schedule I2.

c. In determining the capital additions reflected in the base period and forecasted test period, explain whether Duke Kentucky recognized a Slippage Factor.

RESPONSE:

a. Please see STAFF-DR-01-025(a) Attachment for requested data associated with projects started during the last five calendar years (i.e., projects started in 2020 and forward). Please note that the Company does not maintain annual budgets at the detailed project level.

b. Please see STAFF-DR-01-025(b) Attachment. The slippage factor is calculated by comparing actual annual capital spend to budgeted annual capital spend for the electric operations of Duke Energy Kentucky, regardless of the year the project started.

c. Duke Energy Kentucky did not recognize a Slippage Factor for capital additions in either the base period or forecasted test period. Duke Energy Kentucky intends that the dollars budgeted for capital construction projects will be spent in the year budgeted and this is supported by the 5-year average slippage factor calculation.

Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-026

REQUEST:

Describe in detail how the base period capitalization rate was determined. If different rates were used for specific expenses (i.e., payroll, clearing accounts, depreciation, etc.), indicate the rate and how it was determined. Indicate all proposed changes to the capitalization rate and how the changes were determined.

RESPONSE:

For the actual months (September 2024 through February 2025) during the base period, labor is charged directly to expense or capital as deemed appropriate at that time. Any labor loadings (e.g., payroll taxes, clearing accounts, depreciation, etc.) on the direct labor cost is allocated to capital or expense based on the same proportion as the direct labor.

For the forecasted months (March 2025 through August 2025) of the base period, labor is budgeted directly to expense or capital as was deemed appropriate at the time the budget was developed. Any labor loadings (e.g., payroll taxes, clearing accounts, depreciation, etc.) on the direct labor cost is allocated to capital or expense based on the same proportion as the direct labor.

The Company does not anticipate any changes to the capitalization rate.

Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-029

REQUEST:

Provide Duke Kentucky's long-term construction planning program.

RESPONSE:

Planning for future construction projects is the end product of a process of study and analysis through which Duke Energy Kentucky assures itself that it will provide a safe, economical, and reliable system to meet its present and future delivery obligations.

As discussed in the direct testimony of company witness Brian Weisker, blanket projects consist of customer growth projects, equipment replacement projects, government mandated projects, and capital expenditures associated with capital tools and building upgrades. Customer growth projects involve new main installations related to general growth in Duke Energy Kentucky's customer load. Prior-period customer and load growth is used to estimate how much incremental infrastructure will be required in future periods. Government mandated projects consist of street improvement projects and other construction projects Duke Energy Kentucky is required to undertake by permit.

Duke Energy Kentucky develops the blanket capital expenditure budget for these projects through a qualitative and quantitative review of historical data. The Company uses historical average installation footage and determines whether any unusual factors existed during any year. The Company then prepares a five-year future look. Duke Energy Kentucky uses specific cost projections related to a particular project, to the extent that such information is available. For example, government entities notify the Company about many street improvement projects well in advance, and we prepare the capital budget for these items by incorporating the projected cost for the known parameters of these projects. Specific projects are larger projects that Duke Energy Kentucky can identify in advance which are needed to maintain the integrity of the system, strengthen infrastructure to meet design-day requirements, or are initiated by governmental entities for public improvements. Integrity projects consist of casing projects, corrosion control and general transmission, and distribution integrity projects required to maintain a safe pipeline system. These projects are driven by prior-period O&M work done to inspect the system for safety and reliability. System infrastructure projects are projected by computer modeling when areas of the distribution system have deficient minimum pressure levels. Duke Energy Kentucky budgets for specific projects based on engineering cost estimating methods for labor and material costs, based on the known scope for each project. The costs are generated by historical costing data based on past projects and adjusting to current resource and material trends.

REQUEST:

For each of the following Accounting Standards Codification (ASC), provide the information listed concerning implementation by Duke Kentucky.

a. ASC 410-20, "Asset Retirement Obligations."

(1) The effect on the financial statements.

(2) Whether the base period or forecasted test period includes any impact of the implementation. If so, provide a detailed description of the impact.

b. A schedule comparing the depreciation rates utilized by Duke Kentucky prior to and after the adoption of ASC 410-20. The schedule should identify the assets corresponding to the affected depreciation rates.

c. ASC 715-20, "Defined Benefit Plans - General."

(1) The effect on the financial statements.

(2) Whether the base period or forecasted test period includes any impact of the implementation. If so, provide a detailed description of the impact.

RESPONSE:

a. ASC 410-20:

(1) ASC 410-20 addresses accounting for Asset Retirement Obligations (AROs). In accordance with this accounting guidance, upon identification and valuation of an ARO, a liability and associated capitalized asset retirement cost are recorded. The liability is accreted over the periods remaining until expected settlement of the obligation, and the asset retirement cost is depreciated over the expected remaining life of the related plant assets. Depreciation and accretion are deferred in accordance with ASC 980-10. At March 31, 2025, Duke Energy Kentucky has recorded $14,706,738 in asset retirement obligations and $4,488,775 of asset retirement costs, net of accumulated depreciation (balances do not include electric utility). As ARO liabilities are settled, the spend is also deferred in accordance with ASC 980-10.

(2) The base period and forecasted test period do not include the ARO Asset balances as these amounts are removed as "adjustments" as shown on Schedule B-2.2 and Schedule B 3.1 which rolls into the total "adjustments" as shown on Schedule B-2 and Schedule B-3. There is no income statement impact in the base period or forecasted test period resulting from Duke Energy Kentucky's accounting per ASC 410-20 Asset Retirement Obligations.

b. Depreciation of the assets associated with the recording of Asset Retirement Obligations is straight-line based on the expected remaining life of the related plant assets. Prior to implementation of ASC 410-20 there would not have been depreciation rates established for such assets as these are specifically identified with the Asset Retirement Obligation and the plant asset(s) associated with the ARO. The following summarizes the assets resulting from the AROs recorded at the gas utility (does not include electric utility) in compliance with ASC 410-20 and includes the gross asset balances at March 31, 2025, and the current annual depreciation rates:

- Gas Mains: $7,026,651; 2.08%
- Telecommunication tower lease (common obligation to remove Duke-owned assets at conclusion of lease): $1,486,982; 31.58%

Depreciation expense for these AROs has been deferred as addressed in response (a)(2) above.

c. ASC 715-20:

(1) ASC 715-20 (Defined Benefit Plans – General) addresses the content and organization of annual disclosures about defined benefit pension plans and other post-retirement benefits as well as disclosures required for interim-period financial reports.

(2) ASC 715-20 (Defined Benefit Plans – General) does not impact amounts recorded in either the base or forecasted test periods.

Duke Energy Kentucky
Case No. 2025-00125
STAFF's First Request for Information
Date Received: May 7, 2025

STAFF-DR-01-033

REQUEST:

Provide a complete description of the financial reporting and ratemaking treatment of Duke Kentucky's pension costs.

RESPONSE:

Duke Energy Kentucky participates in qualified and non-qualified defined benefit retirement plans (Pension) and other post-retirement benefit plans (OPEB) sponsored by Duke Energy Corporation (Duke Energy). The following primary authoritative accounting guidance for Pensions and OPEB is codified as part of the Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) that relates to Compensation – Retirement Benefits (ASC Topic 715):

ASC Subtopic Name	ASC Topic-Subtopic
Retirement Benefits – Defined Benefit Plans - General	715-20
Retirement Benefits – Defined Benefit Plans – Pension	715-30
Retirement Benefits – Defined Benefit Plans – Other Postretirement	715-60

Duke Energy's Pension and OPEB costs are calculated by the company's third-party actuary, Willis Towers Watson (WTW). Duke Energy determines the assumptions to be used by WTW to calculate Pension/OPEB plan obligations and costs based upon a range of assumptions presented by WTW. Upon consummation of the merger with Duke Energy in 2006, Cinergy's benefit plan obligations were re-measured. However, push-down accounting did not apply to Duke Energy Kentucky. As a result, Pension and OPEB costs are calculated on a pre-purchase accounting basis. Duke Energy Kentucky Pension and OPEB costs and obligations are allocated to Duke Energy Kentucky by Duke Energy. A portion of Duke Energy Kentucky's Pension and OPEB service cost is capitalized as a component of property, plant, and equipment. All other components of Pension and OPEB cost are expensed. Additionally, Duke Energy Kentucky is allocated its proportionate share of Pension and OPEB costs for employees of Duke Energy's shared services affiliate that provides support to Duke Energy Kentucky.

In applying the provisions of ASC 715, Duke Energy is required to recognize the funded status of a benefit plan, measured as the difference between the fair value of plan assets and the benefit obligation, in its statement of financial position. Duke Energy remeasures its Pension and OPEB plan assets and obligations annually on December 31. For a pension plan, the benefit obligation is the projected benefit obligation (PBO). For an OPEB plan, the benefit obligation is the accumulated post-retirement benefit obligation (APBO). Actuarial gains or losses (represent the effect of differences between actuarial assumptions and actual experience) and prior service costs or credits (effect of plan amendments) that arise during the period as a result of re-measurement, represent costs that are probable of future recovery, and are reflected in regulatory assets and/or regulatory liabilities in the statement of financial position. Regulatory assets and/or regulatory liabilities are recognized in the following three categories: qualified pension plans, non-qualified pension plans and OPEB plans. Duke Energy elects to amortize actuarial gains or losses in excess of the corridor of 10 percent of the greater of the market-related value of plan assets or plan projected benefit obligation into Pension and OPEB cost over the average remaining service period of active covered employees. If all or almost all of a plan's participants are inactive, the average remaining life expectancy of the plan's participants is used instead of their average remaining service period. Prior service cost or credit is amortized over the average remaining service period of active covered employees. If all or almost all of a plan's participants are inactive, the average remaining life expectancy of the plan's participants is used instead of their average remaining service period.

Provide detailed descriptions of all early retirement plans or other staff reduction programs Duke Kentucky has offered or intends to offer its employees during either the base period or the forecasted test period. Include all cost-benefit analyses associated with these programs.

RESPONSE:

While the Company seeks continuous improvement to address evolving business needs, the Company does not anticipate early retirement or staff reduction programs at this time for the base period or forecasted test year. As businesses need to meet O&M targets, there are some tools under which employees have left or are leaving under during the base period, however none of those employees were in the Duke Energy Kentucky payroll company. Those tools which have been applied to employees in other jurisdictions are described in STAFF-DR-01-034 Attachments 1 through 3.

I. INTRODUCTION

The purpose of the Duke Energy Severance Plan (the "DESP") is to provide severance benefits to Eligible Employees of Duke Energy Corporation and its participating affiliates, including Piedmont Natural Gas Company, Inc. ("Piedmont Natural Gas") (individually and collectively, the "Company"). The DESP provides a lump sum severance payment, certain continued health benefits and outplacement assistance (collectively, "DESP Benefits") to Eligible Employees who separate under the DESP.

This document is a Summary Plan Description for the DESP as in effect on May 1, 2024 that describes the eligibility criteria and DESP Benefits available to Eligible Employees who are separated from employment with the Company and its affiliates under circumstances in which the provision of severance benefits is appropriate, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion. The eligibility criteria for any voluntary window offered under the DESP, as well as the DESP Benefits available to Eligible Employees who request and are approved for separation under any such voluntary window, will be described in a separate Summary Plan Description.

You must read each provision of this Summary Plan Description as a part of the whole summary. A single statement, read out of context, may be misleading. The DESP is intended to be a "welfare plan" subject to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended (ERISA).

II. ELIGIBILITY

A. Eligibility Criteria

You are an Eligible Employee for purposes of the DESP only if you are an active employee of the Company and the Company, in its sole discretion, designates you as an Eligible Employee. The Company may designate you as an Eligible Employee in such circumstances as the Company, in its sole discretion, determines make the provision of severance benefits appropriate.

You will not be an Eligible Employee if any of the following applies to you: (i) you are employed in a position governed by a collective bargaining agreement; (ii) you are in temporary, seasonal or fixed-term employment status; (iii) you are an executive officer of the Company; (iv) you are eligible for severance protection under another active severance plan or agreement sponsored by Duke Energy Corporation ("Duke Energy") or a Duke Energy affiliate; (v) you are not designated as an Eligible Employee by the Company or (vi) you are selected for and accept a position with the Company after being designated as an Eligible Employee, but prior to your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion.

B. Requirements for Receiving DESP Benefits

If you are designated as an Eligible Employee, you will be eligible to receive DESP Benefits only if each of the following applies to you:

- you separate from employment in accordance with the terms of the DESP on the Release Date (as defined below) established by the Company for you;
- you sign and do not revoke a waiver of claims against the Company and certain others which becomes effective and irrevocable no later than 53 days following the date you receive such waiver; and
- you meet all other requirements of the DESP.

Note, however, that notwithstanding anything in the DESP or this SPD to the contrary, the waiver requirement described above is not applicable to the outplacement assistance benefits described in Section III(C), and your receipt of the outplacement assistance benefits described in Section III(C) is not conditioned on your satisfaction of the waiver requirement. You must still satisfy all other applicable DESP requirements to receive the outplacement assistance benefits described in Section III(C).

If (i) you voluntarily separate from employment prior to your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion; (ii) your employment is terminated for cause, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, prior to your Release Date; (iii) you are removed from service prior to your Release Date and subsequently terminated for cause, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion; (iv) you separate and become entitled to severance benefits pursuant to another severance plan or agreement sponsored by Duke Energy or its affiliates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion; or (v) you are selected for and accept a position with the Company after being designated as an Eligible Employee, but prior to your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, you will not be eligible to receive DESP Benefits. However, if you are described in (i), (iv) or (v) above, you will be eligible to receive the outplacement assistance benefits described in Section III(C).

C. Release Date

Your "Release Date" is the date on which you must separate from employment with Duke Energy and its affiliates in order to receive DESP Benefits. Release Dates will be designated by the Company, in its sole discretion, and generally will be no later than 12 months following the date of the notification informing you that you have been designated as an Eligible Employee under the Plan.

III. DESP BENEFITS

As described in more detail below, DESP Benefits include a lump sum severance payment, certain continued health benefits and outplacement assistance.

A. Severance Payment

If you are designated as an Eligible Employee and separate under the DESP in accordance with the terms of the DESP, you will receive a Severance Payment ("Severance Payment") as described below.

1. Formula

The Severance Payment is calculated as of your Release Date in accordance with the following formula:

- two weeks of your Annual Base Pay for each Year of Service (including partial Years of Service).

Your Severance Payment (i) will not be less than 12 weeks of your Annual Base Pay ("Minimum Severance Payment"), and (ii) will not be more than 52 weeks of your Annual Base Pay.

2. Payment

If you separate under the DESP in accordance with the terms of the DESP, you will receive the Severance Payment in the form of a lump sum via check following your Release Date as follows:

- if your Release Date occurs on or before October 31 of a calendar year, you will receive the lump sum payment within 21 calendar days after your waiver becomes effective and irrevocable; and
- if your Release Date occurs after October 31 of a calendar year, you will receive the lump sum payment within 21 calendar days after the later of (i) January 1 of the immediately following calendar year, or (ii) the date that your waiver becomes effective and irrevocable (but no later than 53 days following the date you receive such waiver).

Your Severance Payment is subject to all applicable state and Federal tax withholdings, as well as any other deductions required by law, such as those made in order to comply with any court or administratively ordered wage garnishments.

3. Definitions

For purposes of calculating the amount of the Severance Payment,

"Annual Base Pay" means the following:

- if you are an Eligible Employee paid on a salaried basis, your annual base pay as in effect on your Release Date, excluding any allowances, premiums, bonuses, overtime, benefits or other forms or types of compensation; and

- if you are an Eligible Employee paid on an hourly basis, your hourly base rate of pay as in effect on your Release Date, excluding any allowances, premiums, bonuses, overtime, benefits or other forms of types of compensation, multiplied by (A) 2080 if you are a full-time employee as of your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion or (B) if you are a part-time employee as of your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, the number of hours you were scheduled to work during the 12-month period ending on your Release Date (which number of hours will be annualized if such period of employment is less than 12 months).

"Year of Service" means the following:

- if you were employed by Duke Energy and its affiliates immediately prior to the merger of Duke Energy and Piedmont Natural Gas contemplated by the Agreement and Plan of Merger dated as of October 24, 2015 (the "Merger"), or you were hired following the Merger by a Company that was affiliated with Duke Energy immediately prior to the Merger, your period of employment with Duke Energy and its affiliates (including the Company) beginning on your most recent date of hire with the Company, or adjusted service date, if earlier, and ending on your Release Date, calculated to the nearest number of full months, divided by 12 and rounded up to the nearest full year (i.e., partial Years of Service are recognized for purposes of the DESP), all as determined in accordance with uniform procedures prescribed by the Company, in its sole discretion, which procedures will be interpreted to avoid duplicative counting of service and will exclude any service with Piedmont Natural Gas and its affiliates before the Merger; and

- if you were employed by Piedmont Natural Gas and its affiliates immediately prior to the Merger, or you were hired following the Merger by a Company that was affiliated with Piedmont Natural Gas immediately prior to the Merger, your period of employment with Piedmont Natural Gas and its affiliates prior to the Merger and with Duke Energy and its affiliates (including the Company) on and after the Merger, beginning on your most recent date of hire with Piedmont Natural Gas and its affiliates, or adjusted service date, if earlier, and ending on your Release Date, calculated to the nearest number of full months, divided by 12 and rounded up to the nearest full year (i.e., partial Years of Service are recognized for purposes of the DESP), all as determined in accordance with uniform procedures prescribed by the Company, in its sole discretion, which procedures will be interpreted to avoid duplicative counting of service and will exclude any service with Duke Energy and its affiliates before the Merger.

If you previously received severance benefits under another severance benefits plan of Duke Energy or any of its affiliates, you will have your "Years of Service" determined beginning with your most recent date of rehire with the Company.

4. An Example – Severance Payment

Here is a closer look at how the Severance Payment will be calculated. Assume you are an Eligible Employee, your Annual Base Pay is $70,000 and you have 22 Years of Service.

1.	Annual Base Pay	$70,000
2.	One week of Annual Base Pay ($70,000/52 weeks)	$1,346.15
3.	Formula benefit for Years of Service 22 x 2 = 44 weeks x $1,346.15	$59,230.60
4.	Minimum Severance Payment ($1,346.15 x 12)	$16,153.80
5.	Final Severance Payment (greater of lines 3 or 4, but not higher than 52 weeks of Annual Base Pay)	$59,230.60

In this example, your Severance Payment is $59,230.60. You would receive a lump sum payment equal to $59,230.60 (less taxes and other withholdings) following your Release Date as described above.

B. Medical, Dental and Vision Benefits

If you are designated as an Eligible Employee and you separate under the DESP in accordance with the terms of the DESP, continued medical, dental and/or vision coverage under the Company-sponsored medical, dental and/or vision plan in which you are enrolled on your Release Date, as applicable, will be provided during the 6-month period following the termination of your active coverage (the "COBRA Subsidy Period") pursuant to the Federal law known as COBRA for you and your eligible dependents covered on your Release Date at no premium cost to you if you satisfy the following requirements:

- you are enrolled in the medical, dental and/or vision plan coverage, as applicable, on your Release Date; and

- you elect to continue such coverage following the termination of your active coverage in accordance with COBRA.

For these purposes, your eligible dependents are determined in accordance with the terms and provisions of the medical, dental and/or vision plan in which you are enrolled, as applicable. You and your eligible dependents are eligible for COBRA coverage only under the health care plans in which you and your eligible dependents are enrolled on your Release Date.

If you make any changes to your COBRA coverage during the COBRA Subsidy Period during annual enrollment or as a result of a work/life event for which changes are permitted, modified COBRA coverage will be provided at no premium cost to you for the remainder of the COBRA Subsidy Period.

If you are designated as an Eligible Employee and you die before your Release Date, and your eligible dependents enrolled in Company-sponsored medical dental and/or vision coverage at the time of your death elect to continue such coverage following your death under COBRA, COBRA coverage will be provided at no premium cost to your eligible dependents for the COBRA Subsidy Period. If you are receiving Company-provided COBRA coverage under the DESP and you die prior to the expiration of the COBRA Subsidy Period, COBRA coverage will be provided to your eligible dependents covered at the time of your death at no premium cost for the remainder of the COBRA Subsidy Period. You or your eligible dependents will be responsible for paying the applicable premium or portion thereof for any COBRA coverage continued after the expiration of the COBRA Subsidy Period, as the Company will not pay any portion of the premium cost for such period.

C. Outplacement Assistance

If you are designated as an Eligible Employee under the DESP and satisfy all applicable DESP requirements in accordance with the terms of the DESP, the Company will provide you with up to 6 months of outplacement assistance through a vendor selected by Duke Energy, in accordance with its policies in effect from time to time.

D. Special Rehire Severance Payment

If you previously separated and received severance benefits under a severance plan or agreement sponsored by Duke Energy, Piedmont Natural Gas or their affiliates, but you were later rehired by Duke Energy, Piedmont Natural Gas or their affiliates and repaid all or a portion of those severance benefits, and you separate under the DESP in accordance with the terms of the DESP, you may be eligible to receive an additional rehire severance payment (the "Rehire Severance Payment"). The Rehire Severance Payment is in addition to the Severance Payment provided for under the DESP. If you believe that you are eligible for a Rehire Severance Payment, you may contact the Plan Administrator for additional information, including details regarding the amount and payment of the Rehire Severance Payment.

E. Maximums

The sum of your Severance Payment and any Rehire Severance Payment will not be more than 2 times the amount set forth in Box 5 of your Form W-2 for the year immediately preceding the year in which your Release Date occurs (which amount will be annualized if you did not work a full year in the prior year).

IV. OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

A. Other Plans

If you separate under the DESP in accordance with the terms of the DESP, you will be treated as having been involuntarily terminated without cause solely for purposes of determining your rights to a payment under any annual incentive plan sponsored by the Company or its affiliates in which you are participating during the year in which your Release Date occurs.

B. Reemployment and Contingent Worker Assignments

Separation from employment and receipt of benefits under the DESP does not preclude your subsequent rehire. However, Duke Energy, the Company and their affiliates generally will not rehire anyone who separates under the DESP for 12 months after their Release Date. You do not have any right to reemployment or any preferential rights for rehire. Employees who separate under a Company-sponsored severance program, including the DESP, generally are not eligible for staff augmentation contingent worker assignments to the Company for 12 months following their separation from employment.

Following any reemployment with Duke Energy, the Company or its or their affiliates, you shall have no right to additional DESP Benefits and may be required to repay a pro-rated portion of any DESP Benefits you received before your reemployment date, depending upon the amount of your DESP Benefits and the length of the break in service.

C. Tax Information

Your Severance Payment and any Rehire Severance Payment are taxable to you as ordinary income. This document is only a summary. It is not intended to be a complete description of the tax consequences of the DESP. You are urged to consult with your personal tax advisor before making any decisions. The Company will withhold from any payment of DESP Benefits such Federal and state tax withholdings and other deductions reasonably determined to be required by law, such as those made in order to comply with any court or administratively ordered garnishments from certain DESP Benefits. A limited number of executives could be subject to a 6-month delay in the payment of their Severance Payment and any Rehire Severance Payment to comply with the Internal Revenue Code.

D. Employment Issues

The DESP does not constitute inducement or consideration for the employment of any employee, nor is it a contract between any employee and Duke Energy, the Company or their affiliates. The DESP does not give any employee the right to continued employment. Duke Energy, the Company and their affiliates have the right to hire and terminate any employee at any time, with or without cause, as if the DESP had never been established. The DESP does not provide Eligible Employees with any right not expressly granted by its provisions, and does not provide any benefit (other than outplacement assistance benefits) without the execution of the waiver and release(s) required in Section II(B).

E. WARN and Similar Local Laws

Your Severance Payment will be reduced by any amount paid to you for advance notice of employment loss required by the WARN Act or similar state or local law or both, where you are on excused leave with pay, as well as by any amount that must be paid under any government mandated severance requirement that does not prohibit offsets, but not below the Minimum Severance Payment.

APPENDIX A

This Appendix A includes important information that is required by Federal regulations to be included in the Summary Plan Description for the DESP.

Inquiries and Claims

To file a claim, follow the procedures described here.

Inquiries and questions about the DESP may be addressed to the Plan Administrator at the address provided below under the "DESP Administration" section. If you disagree with your benefits under the DESP, you must file a claim within 12 months of the date your first payment would have been due under the DESP. Any legal action for benefits under the DESP must be brought within 1 year following a final denial of an appeal brought in accordance with the DESP's claims procedures.

Situations That Can Affect Your DESP Benefits

Some situations could cause a loss or delay of your DESP Benefits.

The DESP is designed to provide DESP Benefits to Eligible Employees. Some situations could affect DESP Benefits. These situations include the following:

- Eligibility for the DESP is limited to those Eligible Employees designated by the Company. You may be in a position such that you are not designated as eligible for the DESP. If you are not designated as an Eligible Employee, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits.
- Eligibility for the Rehire Severance Payment described in Section III(D) is conditioned on you satisfying the eligibility requirements for the Rehire Severance Payment described in that Section. If you do not satisfy the eligibility requirements, you will not be eligible for the Rehire Severance Payment.
- Eligibility for DESP Benefits is subject to strict deadlines. If you do not meet the deadlines, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits.
- Eligibility for DESP Benefits is conditioned on your satisfying all applicable Plan requirements and separating from employment on a specified date (i.e., your Release Date) in the manner determined by the Company. If you do not comply with these requirements, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits.
- If you voluntarily separate from employment prior to your Release Date, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits (other than outplacement assistance benefits).
- If you are designated as an Eligible Employee under the DESP but are terminated for cause prior to your Release Date, as determined by the Company in its sole discretion, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits.
- If you are designated as an Eligible Employee under the DESP but are removed from service prior to your Release Date and subsequently terminated for cause, as determined by the Company in its sole discretion, you will not be eligible for DESP Benefits.
- If you separate and become entitled to severance benefits pursuant to another severance plan or agreement sponsored or agreed to by the Company or its affiliates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, you will not be eligible to receive DESP Benefits (other than outplacement assistance benefits).
- If you are selected for and accept a position with the Company after being designated as an Eligible Employee, but prior to your Release Date, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, you will not be eligible to receive DESP Benefits (other than outplacement assistance benefits).

Claim Review Process

The DESP has a claim review process that is followed whenever you submit a claim for DESP Benefits. Claims for DESP Benefits, and related appeals, generally must be submitted by certain deadlines, as further described below.

Initial Decision

When you file a claim, Duke Energy Human Resources reviews the claim and makes a decision to either approve or deny the claim (in whole or in part). You will receive a written notice of the claim decision within a reasonable period of time - generally not later than 90 days after receipt of your claim. In some situations, Duke Energy Human Resources may need an extension of time to make a decision (for example, if it needs additional information). If special circumstances require an extension, the period to make a decision may be extended for an additional 90 days. You'll be notified of the extension within the initial 90-day period following receipt of your claim.

If Your Claim is Denied

If your request or claim is denied, in whole or in part, you will receive a written notice that explains:

- the specific reasons for the denial;
- the DESP provisions on which the denial is based;
- a description of any additional material or information needed and an explanation of why it is necessary; and
- an explanation of the DESP's claim review procedures, applicable time limits and your rights to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following a denial on review.

Request for Review if Your Claim is Denied

After receiving the notice, you, your beneficiary, or your legal representative may ask for a full and fair review of the decision by writing to the Claims Committee. You must make this request within 60 days of the date you receive notice of the denied claim. During the 60-day period, you or your authorized representative will be given reasonable access to all documents and information related to the claim, and you may request copies free of charge. You also can submit written comments, documents, records, and other information to the Claims Committee.

Final Decision

The Claims Committee or its delegate then will review the claim and make a decision based on all comments, documents, records, and other information you've submitted. You'll receive the Claims Committee's final decision within a reasonable period of time - generally not later than 60 days after the Claims Committee receives your request for review. If necessary, the period may be extended for an additional 60 days.

If your request on review is denied, in whole or in part, you will receive a written notice that explains:

- the specific reasons for the denial;
- the DESP provisions on which the denial is based;
- a statement that you are entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, documents, records, and other information relating to your claim; and
- a statement of your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA.

Legal Action

You have the right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA if you are not satisfied with the outcome of the claims review process. You may not initiate a legal action against the DESP, Duke Energy, the Company, affiliates of Duke Energy or the Company, the Benefits Committee or the Claims Committee until you have completed the claims review process. No legal action may be brought more than 1 year following a denial of an appeal brought in accordance with the DESP's claims procedures. If a civil action is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

Discretionary Authority

Authority to decide initial claims under the DESP and denied claims on review under the DESP includes the full power and discretion to interpret DESP provisions and to make factual determinations, with the decisions, interpretations and factual determinations made by the Claims Committee controlling. Requests for information regarding individual claims, or review of a denied claim, are to be directed in writing and properly addressed to the particular entity identified as having the authority to decide the initial claim or to decide the denied claim on review, as applicable.

Your Rights Under ERISA

As a participant in the DESP, you are entitled to certain rights and protections under ERISA, which are listed below:

Receive Information About Your Plan and Benefits

As a participant in the DESP, you have the right to:

- Examine, without charge, at the Plan Administrator's office and at other specified locations, such as worksites, all documents governing the DESP and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) filed by the DESP with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure Room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

- Obtain, upon written request to the Plan Administrator, copies of documents governing the DESP and copies of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) and updated summary plan description. The Plan Administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.

Prudent Actions By Plan Fiduciaries

In addition to creating rights for DESP participants, ERISA imposes duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the DESP. The people who operate the DESP, called "fiduciaries" of the DESP, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other DESP participants and beneficiaries. No one, including Duke Energy, the Company or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

Claim Review

If your claim for DESP Benefits is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial -- all within certain time schedules. For more information on claim review, see the "Claim Review Process" section above.

Enforce Your Rights

Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request a copy of DESP documents or the latest annual report from the DESP and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a Federal court. In such a case, the court may require the Plan Administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the Plan Administrator. If you have a claim for DESP Benefits which is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or Federal court once you have completed the claims review process.

If you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a Federal court.

The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees -- for example, if it finds your claim is frivolous.

Assistance With Your Questions

If you have any questions about the DESP, you should contact the Plan Administrator.

If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the Plan Administrator, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210.

You also may obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

Legal Documents as Final Authority

Although this summary plan description describes the principal features of the DESP that are generally applicable, it is only a summary. The complete provisions of the DESP are set forth in the legal plan document, which is available upon request by contacting the Duke HR Control Center during regular office hours. Descriptions of DESP Benefits should not be taken out of context. Inquiries about specific situations should be directed in writing to Duke Energy Human Resources. In the event of a conflict between this summary plan description or any other communication regarding the DESP and the plan document, the plan document controls. Remember, the DESP may be amended only by proper corporate action and not by oral or written communications about benefits under the DESP.

Performance Transition Program (PTP) Overview

As part of our workforce planning and performance management efforts, the Company offers a program designed to address poor performers and provide an option to exit a poorly performing employee in lieu of placing the employee on a formal Performance Improvement Plan (PIP).

This Management Toolkit provides an overview of the process to help facilitate the potential application of the PTP, understand the appropriate use of the PTP and determine employee eligibility.

With approval by the responsible Executive Leadership Team member and the business unit HR Business Partner Director, management may offer a choice to an employee with documented poor performance to either exit the Company under the PTP or to pursue a PIP, under the following conditions:

1. The employee has documented poor performance, including but not limited to: an overall rating of Partially Meets Expectations/Needs Improvement or lower on his or her most recent mid-year or annual performance appraisal; or
2. The employee has not yet had a performance appraisal and has demonstrated serious performance deficiencies; or
3. The employee has met expectations on his or her most recent performance appraisal but whose performance has deteoriated rapidly, or successfully completed a PIP in the past but demonstrated a subsequent decline in performance; AND
4. Management has concerns that the employee may not be successful on a Performance Improvement Plan or has identified other factors supporting a decision to offer the employee an alternative to a PIP.

Employees generally will not be offered a choice when they are subject to termination for misconduct, including but not limited to, theft, harassment, violations of Company policy, or other similar misconduct, or when they have failed to successfully complete a PIP within the previous twelve months.

Employees who choose to separate under the PTP in lieu of a PIP will be eligible for a transition payment, health care supplement, and outplacement services as described below, if they meet certain requirements, including separating from employment when designated by management, and signing and not revoking a waiver and release of claims acceptable to the Company. Those benefits are:

1. Transition payment provided as a lump sum payment equivalent to the amount of 12 weeks of the employee's regular base pay, and

2. Health care supplement provided as a lump sum payment equivalent to the premium cost of three months of COBRA continuation coverage under the Duke Energy sponsored medical, dental and/or vision coverage, if any, in which the employee and his or her eligible dependents are enrolled as of the last day of the Transition Period, plus a tax gross up based on applicable rates as determined by the Company in its sole discretion.

3. Six (6) months of outplacement services through a vendor selected by the Company in accordance with the Company's policies in effect from time to time as of his or her separation from Duke Energy.

When management has obtained appropriate approvals to offer this alternative, the employee should be provided with the "PIP With PTP Option" template included in this Toolkit instead of the PIP standard template.

PTP Process

The following describes the process to pursue this option:

Steps	Description	Objectives
1	Gather Information	• Identify employees that are not performing in accordance with previously communicated expectations • Gather and review documentation relating to the employee's poor performance, including prior performance appraisals.
2	Decide whether to offer PIP with PTP Option and seek approvals.	• Determine (i) the likelihood of success on a PIP and (ii) risk to the Company if the PTP is not offered. • Decide whether to seek approval to offer the PTP Option. • Obtain required approvals.
3	Consult with the Employee Relations Control Center	• Provide a completed PTP ERCC Template to Severance@duke-energy.com • Forward approval emails from ELT and HR Director • ERCC will send PTP letter agreement back to HR Representative
3	Meet with employee to offer the Performance Transition Program	• Offer the PTP Option to the employee using the standard script provided below.
4	Implement the PIP (if chosen by employee) or separate under PTP	• Employee selects between PIP or PTP Option • If PIP selected, employee continues under terms of the PIP • If a PTP is selected, the employee terminates under the PTP provisions

Manager Script for 1-on-1 Meeting w/ Employee to Offer Proposed PIP with PTP Option

This script should be used to offer poor performers the choice between continuing their employment under the terms of a PIP, or separating from employment under the PTP Option. The completed form should be returned to your HR Representative.

- Thank you for taking the time to meet with me today.
- Over the past several months, there has been a decline in your performance and I'd like to discuss with you how we can address this. (Add specific examples of poor performance here.)
- When there are performance concerns, the Company typically offers the employee a Performance Improvement plan or PIP. The PIP is a tool to assist an employee with improving and sustaining personal performance to a satisfactory level in areas that are critical to meeting the demands of his/her position.
- A PIP is a joint effort involving a written understanding between an employee and a supervisor/manager regarding specific ways to improve less than satisfactory performance in a specific time period.
- In this case, we would place you on a PIP for 90 days.
- The PIP is not corrective action; however, your failure to adhere to the expectations outlined in the PIP may result in corrective action up to and including discharge.
- Upon successful completion of a PIP, you are expected to sustain a level of satisfactory performance for 12 months or you could be removed from your position pending an investigation.
- At times, the Company also may offer a second option to consider if you do not feel that you will be successful in the PIP program. The second option would involve your separation from the Company under a Performance Transition Program in lieu of a PIP.
- The PTP Program offers an opportunity for a transition payment, health care supplement, and outplacement services if all program requirements are met.
    - The Transition payment would be provided as a lump sum payment equivalent to the amount of12 weeks of your regular base pay, and
    - The health care supplement would be a second payment equivalent to (ii) three (3) months of the cost of medical/dental/vision coverage under COBRA for you and your covered dependents, based on your existing coverage as of your release date which amount will be grossed up for taxes based on applicable rates as determined by the Company in its sole discretion.
    - The PTP Program also offers six (6) months of outplacement services through a vendor selected by the Company in accordance with the Company's policies in effect from time to time.

- To participate in the PTP Program in lieu of a PIP, you would be required to separate from your employment when released, and sign and not revoke a Waiver and Release of Claims against the Company.

- (Provide the employee with a copy of the completed PIP document and PTP Letter here).

- This is an important decision, and I understand if you need more time to think it over. Let's plan to reconvene in a few days so that we can agree on a decision and discuss next steps.

- Manager/Supervisor to take the action item to schedule the follow up discussion.

RETIREMENT TRANSITION PROGRAM (RTP)

Purpose and Overview

As part of our workforce planning efforts, the Company is seeking to identify employees with critical skills or knowledge who are eligible to retire (i.e., more than 55 years old with at least 10 years of service) to address the potential risk of losing their critical skills or knowledge. In many instances, knowledge transfer plan(s) are incomplete or clear successors may not be identified or known for those employees.

The Retirement Transition Program (RTP) is an optional retention program designed to retain, for a specified period of time, certain employees with critical skills to ensure knowledge transfer in an orderly manner before retirement. It also provides the Company with the ability to have clarity around an employee's retirement date for planning purposes. The RTP is not a severance program, but is designed to be management-initiated, although participation in the RTP is based on mutual agreement between management and the employee.

This Management Toolkit provides an overview of the process to help facilitate the identification and review of employees with critical skills or knowledge and also help managers with planning for the future. "Retirement-eligible" refers to an employee who is at least 55 years old with 10 years of service. "Critical skills" generally refers to those skills essential for continued operations and not replaceable without significant notice or transition time. Additional detail is provided on the "Definitions" page of this Toolkit.

Program Phases

Phase	Description	Objective
1	Identify risk of losing retirement-eligible employees with critical skills via manager script for a 1-on-1 meeting or through use of a survey.	Determine critical skilled employees' intent and timing for retirement. The same information is designed to be obtained regardless of whether the employee takes the survey or the manager meets with them one-on-one.
2	Gather additional information from employees identified in Phase 1 performing a critical role using a manager script.	Gather more specific information from employees performing critical roles who have shared an intent to retire, and begin discussing a knowledge transfer plan. Determine if knowledge transfer plan can be implemented through business-as-usual or if employee's retirement plans creates a business risk.
3	Obtain approvals and conduct a follow-up meeting with the employee to present options if knowledge transfer plan is not yet developed and/or no clear successor is identified (e.g., cannot transition business-as-usual).	Obtain approvals (by the business unit Senior Management Committee member and HRBP Director), and meet with employee to present options for retaining the employee.

It is important to note that although there are three potential phases in the RTP process, situations may vary and it may not be necessary to go through all three phases. For example, if the business decides not to do the survey in Phase 1, and they have already identified their retirement eligible employees performing critical roles, then they may go straight to Phase 2 to gather more detailed information before determining whether to utilize the RTP for certain employees.

Phase 1 and 2 are only for gathering information to help in management discussion with the HR Business Partner to determine next steps. This will ensure consistent administration of the RTP and allow time for necessary approvals prior to presenting any RTP options as described in Phase 3.

Prior to embarking on Phase 3 of the RTP process, managers should work with their HR Business Partner to determine if their employee would be eligible for possible transition benefits or reduced schedule with premium pay. Eligibility for the RTP must be approved by the business unit Senior Management Committee member and HRBP Director.

In situations where the RTP option is presented to a designated employee, the HRBP should provide the relevant information to the ER Control Center (Severance @duke-energy.com) for purposes of tracking and administration. Updated information should be provided to the ER Control Center once the employee declines or accepts the RTP option. This will permit us to track and report RTP letter agreements and signed waivers, and ensure timely administration of payments and other benefits.

Program Options

There are two options within the RTP. Eligible employees who meet all program requirements have the opportunity to either receive transition benefits upon retirement, or to participate in a reduced work schedule with premium pay and a separation bonus, as described below.

Option 1: Transition Benefits

1. Transition Payments. The Transition Payments will consist of the following:

    a. Transition Bonus. The amount of the Transition Bonus depends on the length of time the employee remains employed with the Company (called the “Transition Period”) under the terms of the RTP Program. The Transition Bonus will be (i) equal the sum of two weeks of regular base pay for each full month of the Transition Period, but never less than 6 weeks, or more than 48 weeks, of the employee’s final rate of regular base pay, and (ii) provided as a lump sum payment.

    b. Health Care Supplement. The Health Care Supplement will be (i) equal to the premium cost of six months of COBRA continuation coverage under the Duke Energy sponsored medical, dental and/or vision coverage, if any, in which the employee and his or her eligible dependents are enrolled as of the last day of the Transition Period, plus a tax gross up based on applicable rates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, and (ii) provided as a lump sum payment.

2. Outplacement. The Company will make outplacement services available to eligible employees for a period of up to six months through a vendor selected by the Company, in accordance with our policies in effect from time to time (including the Duke Energy Corporation Section 409A Payment Policy).

3. Conditions to Payment. To earn the RTP Program benefits, eligible employees must remain employed and in good standing with us through the end of the Transition Period, and sign and not revoke a valid Waiver and Release of Claims as required by the Company.

Option 2: Reduced Work Schedule

1. Premium Pay: During the time an eligible employee remains employed in a reduced work schedule under the RTP, the employee will receive his or her regular base wages/ salary reduced proportionately based on their reduced hours, plus a "Salary Premium" equivalent to 50% of their newly calculated regular base wages/ salary.

   The work schedule will be determined by mutual agreement between the eligible employee and his or her manager. Hours worked on a weekly basis will be tracked by the employee and monitored by the manager to ensure the work schedule is consistent with the reduced schedule. For example, the employee and manager may agree that in certain weeks the employee may work more hours than the schedule provides, as long as the employee reduces hours worked in a subsequent week.

2. Separation Bonus. In addition, eligible employees on a reduced work schedule who meet all program requirements will receive a Separation Bonus, in the form of a lump cash payment equal to the premium cost of six months of COBRA continuation coverage under the Duke Energy sponsored medical, dental and/or vision coverage, if any, in which the employee and his or her eligible dependents are enrolled as of the last day of the Transition Period, plus a tax gross up based on applicable rates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, provided as a lump sum payment

3. Outplacement. In addition to the opportunity to earn the Separation Bonus, the Company will make outplacement services available to eligible employees for a period of up to six months through a vendor selected by the Company, in accordance with our policies in effect as from time to time (including the Duke Energy Corporation Section 409A Payment Policy).

4. Conditions to Payment. To earn the RTP Program benefits, eligible employees must remain employed and in good standing with us through the end of the Transition Period, and sign and not revoke a valid Waiver and Release of Claims as required by the Company.

General Provisions

1. Approvals Required. Eligibility must be approved by the Senior Management Committee member and business unit HRBP Director. The RTP is management initiated, but based on mutual agreement regarding the employee's participation in the program, the transition period and the retirement date.

2. Relationship to other Benefits. The benefits of RTP participants will be determined based on their compensation and work schedule as in effect from time to time under the terms of the applicable plans. For example, employees participating in the reduced schedule option under the RTP will be treated as part-time employees. The annual base salary of an employee on a reduced work schedule will be his or her regular base wages/salary in effect immediately prior to the commencement of the reduced work schedule, reduced proportionately based on his or her reduced hours (i.e., if his or her hours are reduced by 50%, his or her regular base wages/salary will be reduced by 50%) for purposes of determining his or her benefits under the Company's benefit plans and programs, including, but not limited to, the Company's life, accidental death & dismemberment, business travel accident and long-term disability insurance plans. Any unused, accrued vacation provided to a RTP participant who participated in the reduced schedule option under the RTP upon separation in accordance with the RTP will be based on the RTP participant's annual base salary in effect immediately prior to the commencement of the Transition Period.

The 401(k) and pension benefits of RTP participants will be determined pursuant to the applicable plan documents based on the amount of compensation the RTP participants actually receive, and neither the Transition Payments nor Separation Bonus, as applicable, will be considered eligible or credited compensation, and, therefore, these items will not be taken into consideration when determining benefits under the 401(k) and pension plans. For purposes of the reduced work schedule option above, Salary Premium Pay will be considered eligible or credited compensation, and, therefore will be taken into consideration when determining the RTP participant's benefits under the 401(k) and pension plans, in accordance with applicable plan documents, which are subject to change. Solely for purposes determining their rights under the annual incentive plan and/or any outstanding equity awards, upon separation in accordance with the RTP, RTP participants will be treated as having been separated without cause.

3. Changes in Employment.

   (i) If Employment Ends During the Transition Period. If the employment of an eligible employee with the Company ends before the end of the Transition Period due to voluntary resignation or involuntary termination by the Company with cause, RTP Program benefits will not be provided. If, however, the Company terminates the employee involuntarily without cause or due to changing business conditions, the employee will be eligible to receive severance benefits under the Company's applicable severance plan in lieu of any RTP benefits.

   (ii) If an Authorized Leave is Taken During the Transition Period. Eligible employees remain eligible to earn the RTP Program benefits in case of an authorized FMLA leave or authorized short term disability leave during the Transition Period. In case of a non-FMLA short-term disability leave, however, the Company may determine that the Transition Period should either be ended early or extended upon return to work. In case of any other leave of absence, except as may otherwise be required by law, RTP Program benefits will not be provided.

   (iii) If an RTP Participant Obtains Another Internal Position. If a RTP participant accepts another internal position with the Company before separating in accordance with the RTP , Program benefits will not be provided.

4. Timing of Payment; No Severance Benefits Available. If eligible employees meet the conditions for earning the Transition Payments or the Separation Bonus, as described above, the applicable payment(s) (less applicable taxes) will be provided in a cash payment(s) as soon as administratively practicable (not more than 60 days) after termination of employment. Please note that if payment of the Transition Payments or Separation Bonus are/is received, the employee will not be considered eligible for any benefits under any applicable severance plan that otherwise covers the employee.

Background

As part of our workforce planning efforts, the Company is seeking to identify employees with critical skills or knowledge who are eligible to retire. Some of these employees do not have clear successors, and also may not have plans in place to ensure knowledge transfer in an orderly manner before they leave.

A survey or in person meeting is being conducted for certain retirement-eligible employees in our group to assess their intent and timing on their departure.

Introduction

Use the information below as talking points during the meeting with your employee. Once you have the information, please return this document to your HR Business Partner.

- As part of our workforce planning, this survey is being conducted to help identify the unique knowledge and skills of employees eligible to retire that may be lost to the Company if not transitioned properly. Please be assured that the information provided will be used solely for knowledge transfer purposes, if and when needed.

- I value your contributions and would like your input in our workforce planning process. I have a few questions I would like to ask you, which will help in this process.

What do you believe are the top three areas of your role that require knowledge transfer?

How long do you believe it would take to transfer this knowledge to others?

	Less than 6 months
	6 to 12 months
	12 to 18 months
	18 to 24 months
	Greater than 24 months

If you are anticipating retirement, how long do you plan to continue working for the company?

	Less than 6 year
	6–12 months
	12-18 months
	18-24 months
	> 24 months
	I'm thinking about retirement but not sure about the timeframe

If asked, would you consider staying at the Company for a longer time period to help with knowledge transfer? If yes, would you be willing to stay?

	Less than 1 year
	1 year
	2 years or more

I would like to thank you for being candid with me about your intentions over the next several years. This has been very helpful as we continue to work on our workforce planning.

PHASE 2: Management Script for Meeting to Gather Information from Retirement Eligible Employees with Critical Skills

This script is used to gather specific information from retirement-eligible employees who have been identified as having critical skills and knowledge for purposes of workforce planning and to evaluate potential eligibility for the RTP.

Background

As part of our workforce planning efforts, the Company is seeking to identify employees with critical skills or knowledge who are eligible to retire. Some of these employees do not have clear successors, and also may not have plans in place to ensure knowledge transfer in an orderly manner before they leave.

This script should be used to meet with retirement eligible employees who have been identified as having critical skills and knowledge (e.g., essential for continued operations and not replaceable without significant notice). The objectives of the meeting are to:

(1) Help facilitate discussion in order to allow efficient knowledge transfer and/or the advancement of highly engaged employees;
(2) Gain a better understanding of an employee's retirement intentions
(3) Assist in determining potential eligibility for the Retirement Transition Program (RTP)

Introduction

Use the information below as talking points during the meeting with your employee.

- As part of our workforce planning efforts, the Company is seeking to identify employees with critical skills or unique knowledge who are eligible to retire. Some of these employees don't have a clear successor and we're concerned about the impact of ineffective knowledge transfer if we have to endure a sudden retirement.

- You have been identified as having critical skills and being eligible to retire.

  (Manager can add more details here about the nature of those critical skills as appropriate.)

- I value your contributions and would like your input in our workforce planning process. The goal here is to identify options for effective knowledge transfer for certain employees like yourself that may be planning to leave the Company.

- I was hoping you could share with me what your current thinking is around your future here at Duke.

  - Let's talk about your critical skills and how you think we may need to approach knowledge transfer.

  - Can you provide me with additional details on your employment status within the next two years? (If the employee has critical knowledge but not likely to retire within next 2 years, no Retirement Transition Program (RTP) is offered, consider the development of a knowledge transfer plan)

- If you do not anticipate changes in your employment status at this time, would you be willing to provide us with notice if you do decide to make a change and, if so, how much?

Based on the answers to the questions above, consider whether there is time to capture knowledge and transfer skills with a business as usual approach, or whether eligibility might be appropriate for the Retirement Transition Program (e.g. transition payment, reduced work schedule, etc.). Refer to table below.

Potential additional talking points may include:

- If retirement likely in the next six months
  - Would you consider staying longer to complete knowledge transfer?
  - Would you want to consider a reduced work schedule to transition into retirement?
  - Let's discuss developing a knowledge transfer plan.
- Retirement likely in the next 12 months
  - Would you want to consider a reduced work schedule to transition into retirement?
  - Let's discuss developing a knowledge transfer plan.
- Retirement likely in the next 24 months
  - Would you want to consider a reduced work schedule to transition into retirement?
  - Let's discuss developing a knowledge transfer plan

Do you think there is anything else I need to know in planning for the future of this work that you perform?

I would like to thank you for being candid with me about your career intentions. This has been very helpful as we continue to work on our workforce planning.

RTP FORMS

PHASE 3: Management Script for Meeting with Employees Eligible for the RTP

Background

Prior to any offers or discussions with the Employee, approval of eligibility for the RTP should be obtained from the Senior Management Committee (SMC) member or designee and HRBP Director.

Use this script to discuss the Retirement Transition Program if you have an employee identified as having critical skills or knowledge who is planning to leave relatively shortly and needs to be retained for purposes of knowledge transfer, which cannot be handled in a business-as-usual manner.

During this conversation, be prepared to present the employee with the following documents:

1. Retirement Transition Program (RTP) Overview

2. RTP Letter Agreement- for either a Transition Benefits or Reduced Schedule Option

3. Sample of the Waiver and Release Form

The employee must voluntarily agree to sign and return the Letter Agreement in order to enter the RTP Program. The Waiver and Release form should not be signed until after the employee's release date if the employee wants to participate.

Introduction

Use the information below as talking points during the meeting with your employee.

- As you know from our prior discussions, you have been identified as having critical skills and knowledge and you have indicated an intent to retire in the relatively near future. (Manager can add more details here about the nature of those critical skills as appropriate.)

- I'd like for you to consider whether you are willing to work with me on an agreement to transfer your knowledge before you retire.

- Toward that end, I would like to discuss the Retirement Transition Program options with you and offer you the opportunity to participate in this program. This is a voluntary program that offers two options to choose from: (1) Transition Benefits at the end of employment; or (2) Reduced Work Schedule with Premium Pay and Separation Bonus. Under both options, we would agree on a firm retirement date so we will have certainty around the timing of your transition.

- I'm giving you an RTP Letter Agreement for you to review and consider. If you are interested in participating in the RTP, please sign and return the Letter Agreement to me. I'm sure you will need time to read and think about this, so let's plan to meet again in a few days to continue this discussion.

- Let me emphasize that participation in the RTP is voluntary, and based on mutual agreement.

- I appreciate your consideration of the RTP option, and I look forward to working through these issues with you.

- If you have any questions, please let me know or feel free to contact our HR Business Partner.

Retirement Transition Program (RTP) Overview

The Retirement Transition Program (RTP) is a voluntary program designed to facilitate business continuity and work transition when employees designated by management as having critical skills plan to leave the Company without a clear successor or existing knowledge transfer plan.

Eligible employees who decide to voluntarily participate and meet all program requirements have the opportunity to either receive transition benefits, or to participate in a reduced work schedule with premium pay and a separation bonus, as described below.

Option 1: Transition Benefits

1. Transition Payments. The Transition Payments will include of the following:

    a. Transition Bonus. The amount of the Transition Bonus depends on the length of time the employee remains employed with the Company (called the "Transition Period") under the terms of the RTP Program. The Transition Bonus will be (i) equal the sum of two weeks of regular base pay for each full month of the Transition Period, but never less than 6 weeks, or more than 48 weeks, of the employee's final rate of regular base pay, and (ii) provided as a lump sum payment.

    b. Health Care Supplement. The Health Care Supplement will be (i) equal to the premium cost of six months of COBRA continuation coverage under the Duke Energy sponsored medical, dental and/or vision coverage, if any, in which the employee and his or her eligible dependents are enrolled as of the last day of the Transition Period, plus a tax gross up based on applicable rates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion, and (ii) provided as a lump sum payment.

2. Outplacement. The Company will make outplacement services available to eligible employees for a period of up to six months through a vendor selected by the Company, in accordance with our policies in effect from time to time (including the Duke Energy Corporation Section 409A Payment Policy).

3. Conditions to Payment. To earn the RTP Program benefits, eligible employees must remain employed and in good standing with us through the end of the Transition Period, and sign and not revoke a valid Waiver and Release of Claims as required by the Company.

Option 2: Reduced Work Schedule

1. Premium Pay. During the time an eligible employee remains employed in a reduced work schedule under the RTP, the employee will receive his or her regular base wages/ salary reduced proportionately based on their reduced hours, plus a "Salary Premium" equivalent to 50% of their newly calculated regular base wages/ salary.

    The work schedule will be determined by mutual agreement between the eligible employee and his or her manager. Hours worked on a weekly basis will be tracked and monitored to ensure the work schedule is consistent with the reduced schedule. For example, the employee and manager may agree that in certain weeks the employee may work more hours than the schedule provides, as long as the employee reduces hours worked in a subsequent week.

2. Separation Bonus. In addition, eligible employees on a reduced work schedule who meet all program requirements will receive a Separation Bonus, in the form of a lump cash payment equal to the premium cost of six months of COBRA continuation coverage under the Duke Energy sponsored medical, dental and/or vision coverage, if any, in which the employee and his or her eligible dependents are enrolled as of the last day of the Transition Period, plus a tax gross up based on applicable rates, as determined by the Company, in its sole discretion.

3. Outplacement. In addition to the opportunity to earn the Separation Bonus, the Company will make outplacement services available to eligible employees for a period of up to six months through a vendor selected by the Company, in accordance with our policies as in effect from time to time (including the Duke Energy Corporation Section 409A Payment Policy).

4. Conditions to Payment. To earn the RTP Program benefits, eligible employees must remain employed and in good standing with us through the end of the Transition Period, and sign and not revoke a valid Waiver and Release of Claims as required by the Company.

General Provisions

1. Relationship to other Benefits. The benefits of RTP participants will be determined based on their compensation and work schedule as in effect from time to time under the terms of the Company's applicable plans. For example, employees participating in the reduced schedule option under the RTP will be treated as part-time employees. The annual base salary of an employee on a reduced work schedule will be his or her regular base wages/salary in effect immediately prior to the commencement of the reduced work schedule, reduced proportionately based on his or her reduced hours (i.e., if his or her hours are reduced by 50%, his or her regular base wages/salary will be reduced by 50%) for purposes of determining his or her benefits under the Company's benefit plans and programs, including, but not limited to, the Company's life, accidental death & dismemberment, business travel accident and long-term disability insurance plans. Any unused, accrued vacation provided to a RTP participant who participated in the reduced schedule option under the RTP upon separation in accordance with the RTP will be based on the RTP participant's annual base salary in effect immediately prior to the commencement of the Transition Period.

   The 401(k) and pension benefits of RTP participants will be determined pursuant to the applicable plan documents based on the amount of compensation the RTP participants actually receive, and neither the Transition Payments nor Separation Bonus, as applicable, will be considered eligible or credited compensation, and, therefore, these items will not be taken into consideration when determining benefits under the 401(k) and pension plans. For purposes of the reduced work schedule option above, Salary Premium Pay will be considered eligible or credited compensation, and, therefore will be taken into consideration when determining the RTP participant's benefits under the 401(k) and pension plans, in accordance with applicable plan documents, which are subject to change. Solely for purposes determining their rights under the annual incentive plan and/or any outstanding equity awards, upon separation in accordance with the RTP, RTP participants will be treated as having been separated without cause.

2. Changes in Employment. If the employment of an eligible employee with the Company ends before the end of the Transition Period due to voluntary resignation or involuntary termination by the Company with cause, RTP Program benefits will not be provided. Similarly, if a RTP participant accepts another position with the Company before separating in accordance with the RTP, RTP Program benefits will not be provided. If, however, the Company terminates the employee involuntarily without cause or due to changing business conditions, the employee will be eligible to receive severance benefits under the Company's applicable severance plan in lieu of RTP benefits. Eligible employees remain eligible to earn the RTP Program benefits in case of an authorized FMLA leave or authorized short term disability leave during the Transition Period. In case of a non-FMLA short-term disability leave, however, the Company may determine that the Transition Period should either be ended early or extended upon return to work. In case of any other leave of absence, except as may otherwise be required by law, RTP Program benefits will not be provided.

3. Timing of Payment; No Severance Benefits. If eligible employees meet the conditions for earning the Transition Payments or Separation Bonus, as described above, the applicable payment(s) (less applicable taxes) will be provided in a cash payment(s) as soon as administratively practicable (not more than 60 days) after termination of employment. Please note that payment of the Transition Benefits or Separation Bonus will be in lieu of and, the employee will not be considered eligible for any benefits under any applicable severance plan that otherwise covers the employee.

Nothing in this Agreement shall restrict our right to terminate your employment at any time with or without cause. The terms of this Agreement shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of us and our successors and assigns, and to you and your beneficiaries, executors, administrators, heirs and successors. The invalidity or unenforceability of any particular provision of this Agreement shall not affect the other provisions of this Agreement.

2. Choice of Law. Except to the extent pre-empted by federal law, this Agreement and your rights under it shall be construed and determined in accordance with the laws of the State of North Carolina.

3. Entire Agreement. This Agreement contains the entire agreement and understanding of the parties with respect to the subject matter contained in this Agreement, and supersedes all prior

AGREEMENT

Between the Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, Local 600

and

Duke Energy Ohio, Inc.
Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc.

THIS AGREEMENT is entered into between the Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, Local 600, formerly the Independent Utilities Union, hereinafter referred to as the "Union," and Duke Energy Ohio, Inc., Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc., hereinafter referred to as the "Company," through and by their duly authorized representatives.

WITNESSETH: Whereas, the parties to the Agreement as are mentioned above are desirous of maintaining collective bargaining between the Employer and its Employees, as are represented by the Union as bargaining agent, and are desirous of stabilizing employment, eliminating strikes, lockouts, curtailment of employment, and the peaceful settlement of all employer and employee disputes, and of making an honest effort to improve the conditions of both the employer and the employees.

WHEREAS, it is deemed desirable and necessary that definite operations and practices between the Company and the employees of the Company represented by the Union be formally set forth and described, with a desire that uniformity of working conditions exist between the aforementioned Companies and such employees.

WHEREAS, the Company and the Union recognize that in order for the parties to meet the challenge of competition, the need for long term prosperity and growth, and establish employment security, each must be committed to a cooperative labor management relationship that extends from the bargaining unit members to the executive employees. The Company and the Union agree that employees at all levels of the Company must be involved in the decision making process and provide their input, commitment, and cooperation to improving productivity and helping the Company become the lowest cost producer and highest quality provider of energy service.

NOW, THEREFORE, the Company and the Union do hereby agree to the following terms and conditions, to-wit:

ARTICLE I

Section 1. (a) The Company hereby recognizes the Union during the term of this Agreement as the sole and exclusive representative of all regular full-time and part-time employees of the occupational classifications in the units defined as "The Office, Clerical and Technical Unit" and "The Residual Unit," as described in the Order issued by the National Labor Relations Board dated August 12, 1944 and amended by the National Labor Relations Board Order dated February 24, 1967. The units so defined shall retain jurisdiction over such work as was normally performed by them prior to this Agreement but such jurisdiction shall not be expanded except by mutual agreement of the parties hereto or through due processes under the National Labor Relations Act. A-14

(b) The Company recognizes the Union as the sole bargaining agent of the units contained in the preceding paragraph for the purpose of collective bargaining with respect to rates of pay, wages, hours of employment, or other conditions of employment, and the Company agrees to attempt to adjust any and all disputes, and any other matters, arising out of or pursuant to this Agreement, with the Union.

(c) This Agreement shall be final and binding upon the successors, assignees or transferees of the Union and the corporate entity of the Company.

Section 2. (a) The Company agrees not to interfere, restrain, coerce, or discriminate against any of the members of the Union, because of their membership in the Union, or because of their activity as a member or officer of the Union. Should reasonable proof of any such interference, restraining, coercion or discrimination by any person in a supervisory capacity against a member of the Union be shown to the Company by the Union, the Company agrees to take immediate corrective action in connection with such complaint. It is further agreed that no member shall be discharged because of his or her service, or lawful activity as a member of the Union, nor will the Company at any time attempt to discourage membership in the Union.

(b) There shall be no discrimination, interference, restraint or coercion by the Company or the Union or their agents against any employee because of race, color, religion, sex, disability, national origin or ancestry or for any other reason. References to the masculine gender are intended to be construed to also include the feminine gender wherever they appear throughout the Agreement.

(c) The Union recognizes that the management of the Company, the direction of the working forces, the determination of the number of people it will employ or retain in each classification, and the right to hire, suspend, discharge, discipline, promote, demote or transfer, and to release employees because of lack of work or for other proper and legitimate reasons are vested in and reserved to the Company. A-9

(d) The above rights of Management are not all-inclusive, but indicate the type of matters or rights which belong to and are inherent to Management. Any of the rights, powers, and authority the Company had prior to entering this Agreement are retained by the Company, except as expressly and specifically abridged, delegated, granted or modified by this Agreement.

(e) The foregoing two paragraphs do not alter the employee's right of adjusting grievances as provided for in Article VII, Section 1 of this Agreement.

Section 3. Respecting the subject of "Union Security," the parties mutually agree as follows:

(a) All regular employees in the bargaining unit represented by the Union shall be required as a condition of their continued employment to maintain their membership in the Union in good standing on and after the thirty-first (31st) day following the employee's date of hire. The Union shall notify the Company's Labor Relations Department of any members who are not in good standing as determined by the Union. For the purposes of this provision, "membership in good standing" shall mean being a full member or a core fee payer of the Union.

(b) The Union agrees that neither it nor any of its officers or members will intimidate or coerce any of the employees of the Company to join or become members of the Union, nor will said Union or any of its officers or members unfairly deprive any employee within the bargaining unit represented by the Union of union membership or of any opportunity to obtain union membership if said employee so desires. In this connection the Company agrees that it will not discriminate against any employee on account of activities or decisions in connection with the Union, except as the same may become necessary on the part of the Company to carry out its obligations to the Union under this Agreement.

(c) If a dispute arises as to the actual union status of any employee, at any time, as to whether or not the employee has been unfairly deprived of or denied union membership, the dispute shall be subject to arbitration, in accordance with the arbitration provisions of Article VII of this Agreement.

(d) The Company shall provide the Union with time to discuss with new employees the Union and the existence of the collective bargaining agreement. The Company will provide new employees with electronic and/or paper access to the collective bargaining agreement, along with the Union's "Membership Application" and the "Payroll Deduction Authorization" cards for Union dues or core fees, so that enrollment will be effective 31 days after being hired.

(e) Except for those employees mentioned in subsection (d) of this section and subject to all state and federal laws, all employees who are not members of the Union shall be required, as a condition of their continued employment, to pay to the Union the applicable core fees representing the percentage of the Union's expenses that are for representational and other legally chargeable activities.

(f) The Union agrees that any present or future employee who is now or may become a member of the Union may withdraw from membership in the Union by giving notice in writing to the Labor Relations Department of the Company and to the Union. However, the Union will not impose restrictions, which are prohibited by law, on employees who wish to withdraw from Union membership. After such withdrawal, an employee shall not be required to rejoin the Union as a condition of continued employment. Any such employee will remain obliged to pay the applicable core fees.

(g) The Company agrees to dismiss any employee represented by the Union, at the written request of the Union, for nonpayment of union dues or core fees or to discipline employees represented by the Union in the manner herein provided for violation of this Agreement, if requested to do so, in writing, by the Union. Nothing in this clause, however, shall be construed so as to require the Company to dismiss or discipline any employee in violation of any state or federal law.

(h) The Company agrees, after receiving proper individual authorizations by means of written individual assignments in a form mutually agreeable to both parties, to deduct Union dues or core fees and initiation fees from employees' pay. This deduction shall be made a mutually agreed upon number of times each year and shall be forwarded to the Treasurer of the Union.

(i) The Union agrees that in the event of any strike, work stoppage, slowdown, picketing or any other interference to the work or the operations of the Company by any individual employee or group of employees in the bargaining unit represented by the Union this section of the Agreement is then and there and by reason thereof automatically canceled and of no further force and effect; provided, however, that the Company shall upon the presentation of proof satisfactory to the Company, within ten days thereafter, that the Union did not directly or indirectly authorize, permit, endorse, aid or abet said strike, work stoppage, slowdown, picketing or interference referred to, reinstate this section of the Agreement, which section, if reinstated will, from and after the date of reinstatement, be of the same validity, force and effect as if it had not been canceled. In this connection, it is the expressed intention of the parties that for the purpose of making this cancellation provision effective without affecting the other sections of the Agreement, this Agreement is to be considered a severable agreement. Should the automatic cancellation of this section occur, it is the intention and agreement of the parties that all other sections and provisions of the Agreement remain in full force and effect as therein provided. The Company agrees that it will not deliberately arrange or incite such interference to the work or operations of the Company as are referred to in this section.

(j) The provisions of this Article I, Section 3(a) regarding Union Security, shall not be applied to bargaining unit members in any state in which such union-security provisions are prohibited by law. The parties agree that, if the current law changes to make such union security provisions applicable, or not applicable, to any employees covered by this Agreement, the Parties will deem the Agreement amended to comply with the then current law.

Section 4. The Company agrees that it will not attempt to hold the Union financially responsible or institute legal proceedings against the Union because of a strike, slowdown or work stoppage not authorized, abetted or condoned by the Union. The Union agrees that, in the event of an unauthorized work stoppage, it will in good faith and without delay exert itself to bring the work stoppage to a quick termination and insist that the employee(s) involved cease their unauthorized activities. To that end, the Union will promptly take whatever affirmative action is necessary. Furthermore, the Union agrees that any employee or employees who agitate, encourage, abet, lead or engage in such a strike, work stoppage, slowdown or other interference with the operations of the Company shall be subject to such disciplinary action as the Company may deem suitable, including discharge, without recourse to any other provision or provisions of the Agreement now in effect.

ARTICLE II

Section 1. The Company agrees to designate and authorize a representative or representatives to meet with The General Board of the Union. It is agreed that these meetings shall be held quarterly, at a time mutually agreed upon, and at any other time upon the written request of either party to this Agreement. These meetings will be held within seven days after such request is made. A-32

Section 2. The Company agrees to meet and confer with any special committee of the Union, duly appointed by the President to administer any activity relating to the welfare of the members of the Union.

ARTICLE III

Section 1. (a) This Agreement and the provisions thereof, shall become effective April 1, 2019 and shall continue in full force and effect until April 1, 2023, and from year-to-year thereafter unless changed by the parties.

(b) Either of the parties hereto desiring to change any section or sections of this Agreement and/or to terminate this Agreement shall notify the other party in writing of the desired changes at least 60 days prior to April 1, 2023 or any subsequent anniversary date. During this 60-day period, conferences shall be held by and between the parties hereto, with a view to arriving at a further Agreement, and in all events this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect during the period of negotiations. A-32

(c) In the event agreement is reached on or before April 1, the 2019 – 2023 Agreement will be extended for a mutually agreed number of calendar days. The Union shall have one-half of the mutually agreed number of calendar days immediately following the date an agreement is reached in which to submit the Agreement to its membership for ratification and in case of failure to ratify, in order that the Company shall have the remaining one-half of the mutually agreed number of calendar days as notice before a strike or work stoppage commences. Providing the mutually satisfactory Agreement is ratified by the membership within the first one-half of the mutually agreed number of days following the date an agreement is reached, such Agreement will be made retroactive to the 1st day of April and any agreed upon wage adjustments will be made retroactive to the 1st day of April.

Section 2. It is agreed that this Agreement may be amended or added to at any time by the written consent of both parties hereto.

ARTICLE IV

Section 1. The Company agrees to do nothing to encourage an employee to bargain individually.

Section 2. The Company agrees that if a matter rightfully termed a Union activity is referred by an employee to his or her representative or delegate, and this is taken up with the supervisor or any one qualified or authorized to act for the Company, such Company representative shall not initiate, negotiate, or discuss this question with the employee without affording the representative or delegate of the division an opportunity to be present.

Section 3. Departmental supervisory personnel will notify the departmental union delegate when a significant change or condition affecting that department or a work group within that department is contemplated by the management of the particular department. A-83
Upon written request by the departmental union delegate or the President of the Union, a meeting shall be arranged between the Company and the Union to discuss such changes. When major organizational changes affecting personnel in various departments are contemplated, the Company agrees to notify the Union President, in writing, at least 14 calendar days in advance of the change, and, upon written request by the President of the Union, a meeting shall be arranged between the Company and the Union to discuss such changes.

Section 4. Copies of bulletins issued by the Company concerning working conditions for any division or department represented by the Union, shall be forwarded to the General Board of the Union.

ARTICLE V

Section 1. The principle of seniority is recognized by the Company. There shall be two types of seniority defined as follows:

1. System service shall be based upon the length of time an employee has been continuously employed by the Company, and shall be the governing factor in establishing vacation dates.

2. Classified seniority shall be the length of time worked by an employee on a specific classified job.

3. Bargaining unit seniority shall be the length of time an employee has been (continuously) employed in a job position within the bargaining unit represented by the Union, and shall be the governing factor in the selection of vacation. The bargaining unit seniority list will be maintained by the Union based on information provided to the Union by the Company. The bargaining unit seniority list will be provided to the Company and used for the purpose of vacation selection beginning January 1, 2020.

It shall be considered a break in system service and seniority when an employee has been off the Company payroll, except when an employee has:

(1) Been laid off because of lack of work and has not, at any time during the period of layoff or during a period not to exceed three years from the date of layoff, refused to return to work for the Company in a capacity formerly held or comparable to the capacity formerly held, by the employee. However, actual time away will be deducted from the employee's system service.

(2) Been granted a leave of absence for good cause by consent of the Company, without loss of system service and seniority rights, providing the employees are available whenever necessary for the Company's medical examinations during the leave of absence. However, the employees will receive vacation in accordance with the second paragraph of Article IX, Section 5. Requests for leave of absence and consent hereto shall be in writing.

(3) Entered the military service of the United States or has been conscripted by the United States Government. No deductions for time away shall be made from the employee's system service and seniority record.

(4) Resigned voluntarily and subsequently been re-hired. Actual time away will be deducted from the employee's system service and seniority record, and, while previous system service shall be maintained, no classified seniority shall be retained.

Existing system service and seniority records shall not be rearranged to meet the above requirements in exceptions (1), (2) and (3), but they shall be met in all cases beginning March 21, 1983.

Section 2. (a) Job available postings for job classifications covered by this Agreement shall be provided by the Company and posted for a period of seven calendar days on the appropriate bulletin boards and/or on the Duke Energy Job Opportunities Portal page. A-65 A-82

(b) If after the initial posting the job opening has not been filled by a qualified applicant from the department or division, the job available notice will then be reposted for a period of seven calendar days on all bulletin boards throughout the Company where there are employees covered by this Agreement. In certain cases where it is known that A-3

there are no qualified applicants within a division or a department, the initial posting may be waived and the job posting will then be initially posted throughout the Company where there are employees covered by this Agreement. However, if applications are received from employees within the department requesting the job opening, these applications will be given consideration before those received from employees in other departments. Furthermore, anytime employees are accepted for a job opening on a lateral or cross bid, they shall not be eligible to laterally or cross bid again for a period of six months from the date of acceptance. The only exception to this six month waiting period is that employees may cross bid to another headquarters within the same bidding area at any time.

(c) It is agreed that classified seniority will be considered within a department, district or departmental section concerning available advancements, although other qualifications for the particular position will of necessity be considered. All other factors being sufficient, the employee oldest in the point of classified seniority shall be given a reasonable opportunity to qualify for the position. A-20 A-21 A-44 A-65

(d) Should the classified seniority of any two or more employees be equal, the respective seniority position of such employees shall be determined by the Union randomly drawing the names of the affected employees. The Company will be notified of the results, in writing.

In the event no fully qualified individual has bid on a Union wide job opening, the previous experience requirement only will be waived, with the exception of positions within the General Clerical sequence, and an employee will not be disqualified for promotion on the basis of not having passed through a lower job in the promotional sequence if otherwise qualified. Employees who have at least one half of the required previous experience and are in the direct promotional sequence of a job opening, posted Union wide, where previous experience has been waived, will be considered for the job before all other non-qualified employees. Any claim of discrimination in this connection may be taken up by the Union as a grievance.

(e) An employee may waive his right to promotion, providing such waiver is presented to the Company in writing and does not prevent other employees from acquiring experience in the job held by the employee. When an employee waives his right to promotion, the employee next in seniority, other qualifications being sufficient, shall be entitled to such promotion. When it is necessary to fill an open position, and no employees are willing to promote, the Company may assign the junior qualified employee to promote to the job classification.

(f) If no qualified regular full-time employee has been accepted following the posting procedure and consideration of requests for demotion, second consideration for non-technical job openings shall be given to part-time employees within the bargaining unit based on qualifications as determined by the Company. For technical job openings, the Company will give second consideration to part-time employees with a technical degree and/or technical expertise based on qualifications as determined by the Company. As a result of these determinations, if the top two or more part-time applicants have equal assessments, then the non-technical or technical job opening will be offered to the applicant with the greatest system seniority.

(g) Should the job opening not be filled after the posting procedure above, at the discretion of management, consideration may be given to requests for transfer which have been received from employees outside the bargaining unit or may be filled from outside the Company.

(h) If the particular job opening is not filled within 60 days from the expiration date of the bargaining unit-wide posting, the job opening will be reposted in accordance with the job posting procedure outlined above.

(i) The job posting procedure outlined above does not restrict the Company's right to cancel a job posting at any time.

(j) An employee shall not have seniority rights to bid on a demotion but may, in writing by letter or by submitting a bid for a posted job opening, request consideration for a demotion. However, if an employee's request for demotion is granted by the Company, any accumulated classified seniority will be forfeited in job classifications above the job to which he demotes.

(k) The Company and the Union agree that the job posting procedure will be waived for the employment of Co-ops, as probationary employees in job classifications represented by the bargaining unit, providing that the next opening in the same job classification and bidding area is posted and made available to employees within the bargaining unit. If such opening is not filled by a bargaining unit employee, openings in the same job classification and bidding areas will continue to be posted and made available to employees within the bargaining unit until such time that a bargaining unit employee fills one of the openings.

Section 3. (a) In the event of any layoffs or curtailments of employment, the Company will attempt to place the employee in a temporary assignment. Prior to making an assignment, the Company will discuss such assignment with the Union. If a temporary assignment is not available, rollbacks and layoffs shall be made in accordance with system seniority rights. When the Company reduces the number of employees in a job classification, the Company will use the following process to determine rollbacks and layoffs. Employees with the least amount of System Service seniority within the job classification that is targeted for a reduction will be assigned to vacant positions and/or replace full-time employees in the bidding area with the least amount of System Service seniority. Displaced employees must be qualified for the job classification to which they are assigned and the job classification must be within the same bidding area and below their former job classification. Displaced employees will be reclassified into the next lower job classification within their bidding area for which they are qualified, if there are employees in that job classification and they have less system seniority than the displaced employees. Displaced employees will have their wage rates red-circled for a period of 18 months. At the end of 18 months, their wage rates will be reduced to the maximum wage rate of the job classification to which they were reclassified. Displaced employees who are assigned to perform work in lower level job classifications, if qualified, will be reassigned to higher job classifications as they become available within the bidding area, until the displaced employees return to assignments within their former job classification; obtain a job within the bidding area at the same or higher wage level as their former job classification; or, obtain a job in another bidding area. Displaced employees will not be assigned to or be required to perform the duties of job classifications at levels higher than their former job classification. Any employees unable to be assigned to vacant positions and/or replace full-time employees in the bidding area will be subject to layoff.

Part-time Meter Readers will be laid off before any full-time Meter Readers are rolled back or laid off. The same holds true for part-time and full-time call-takers in the Call Center.

Where multiple part-time employees in a job classification at the same location are scheduled to work a total of 40 or more hours per week, a qualified displaced full-time employee in the same bidding area may replace the part-time employees by accepting a full-time job at that location, if the department can still schedule straight-time coverage for the required hours.

For those full-time displaced employees with at least 15 years of service and subject to layoff, including employees who have been placed in a temporary position in accordance with this subsection, an effort will be made by the Company to find another job at the same or lower wage level for which the employee is qualified. The Company will discuss the employee's reclassification with the Union prior to it going into effect. If there are multiple displaced employees, vacant positions will be offered by system seniority; an employee has the right to turn down one offered position. An employee who turns down a position and who is not currently in a temporary assignment, could be subject to immediate rollback or layoff in accordance with this Section or to rollback or layoff at the end of the temporary assignment if no job is available. If the Company identifies such a vacant position for which the employee is qualified, the Company may reassign and reclassify the employee without posting the position. If no positions are identified by the Company the displaced employee, if qualified, will be allowed to displace the employee with the least amount of system seniority outside of the displaced employee's bidding area.

An employee unable to be reassigned and subject to being rolled back to the Call Center or Meter Reading Departments, will have the option of accepting the assignment in the Call Center or Meter Reading, being laid off, or being offered a severance as outlined in Sidebar Letter A-70. A-70

Displaced employees unable to displace full-time employees and subject to layoff, if qualified, will be allowed to replace employees in part-time positions within their bidding area, by accepting the wage rate, benefits, work hours and other terms and conditions of employment of the part-time employee. The two exceptions are Meter Reading and Call Center, where these employees may retain their full-time status and accept the wage rate applicable to new full-time employees in these departments. Full-time employees within the Customer Relations bidding area, but outside the Call Center and Meter Reading Departments, may displace a maximum of four part-time employees in each department (i.e., Call Center and Meter Reading) within a 12-month period.

Employees who were rolled back prior to April 1, 2012 and whose wage rates are red-circled will continue to have their wage rates red-circled.

An employee will not have the right to recede to a position within his bidding area that he did not pass through before reaching his present position. For purposes of this section, if an employee is unable to exercise system seniority rights in lower job classifications within his department because he did not pass through those job classifications before reaching his present position, he will be credited with system seniority in all job classifications lower than his initial job within the bidding area which are in the same direct promotional sequence. Under no circumstances may an employee exercise seniority rights outside his own bidding area or in the selection of a specific job within a classification.

(b) In a department where there have been layoffs and a subsequent increase in employment exists within three years, the Company agrees to recall those employees in the department who have suffered a layoff because of lack of employment, in the reverse order of the dates of their layoffs. It is further agreed that the Company will notify the employee or employees, in writing by registered or certified mail, to report back to work. The Company agrees to send a copy of these letters to the Union at the time of the mailing of the original. If they do not report back to work within a 15-day period, the Company shall have the right to recall the next employee in line.

(c) It shall be the duty of all employees, including those on layoff status, to have their proper post office address and telephone number on file with their individual departments and the Human Resources Department of the Company.

(d) The Union may designate a witness to tests given in a departmental section, and shall have the right to review the results of these departmental tests upon request. This does not apply to standard tests given by the Staffing Services Division or by outside consultants. A-4

(e) The Company will make an effort to find another job classification for which an employee is qualified if his job is abolished. An employee who, because of this job abolishment, is assigned to a classification having a lower rate of pay, will maintain his existing level of pay until the maximum wage rate of the job classification to which he is assigned is equal to his existing wage rate. This provision does not affect the right of an employee to bid on a future posted job opening for which he may be qualified.

Section 4. (a) Temporary transfers from one department, district, or departmental section to another will not affect an employee's system service or seniority rank(s) and his record will remain posted in the department, district, or departmental section from which he was transferred.

(b) Permanent transfers from one department, district, or departmental section to another will not affect an employee's system service or classified seniority, which will be used to determine his system service and seniority rank in his new department, district, A-2 or departmental section.

(c) When an employee has successfully bid on a posted job and his move to the posted job is delayed, consideration shall be given to the proper adjustment of the employee's seniority rank so that the employee will not be penalized with respect to future promotions. The employee will receive a seniority date and the wage rate of the job on which he has been accepted no later than the beginning of the third week after the employee is notified that he has been accepted for the new job.

Section 5. All new employees shall be classed as probationary for a period of one year and shall have no system service or seniority rights. After one year's service as a probationary employee, they shall be reclassified and their system service and seniority record shall include their previous employment as a probationary employee.

The probationary period of any employee on an approved leave of absence lasting more than thirty days, will be extended by the duration of the leave of absence.

Section 6. Temporary employees shall be those hired for a specific job of a limited duration, not to exceed six months unless agreed upon by both parties, and shall not acquire system service or classified seniority rights. The Union shall be notified of the hiring of such employees. A-6

Section 7. (a) Part-time employees shall be those hired to perform a continuing specific work requirement that is temporary in nature or less than 40 hours per week. Part-time employees will only be used for part-time applications in order to supplement the regular full-time workforce, unless otherwise agreed. While the intention is for part-time employees, who are non-temporary in nature, to be regularly scheduled to work less than 32 hours per week, the actual hours worked may be greater due to temporary operational needs or trading of hours with other employees. The departments utilizing part-time employees will develop schedules to be worked by such personnel. However, schedules for part-time employees may at times vary according to work needs. These employees will work in bargaining unit positions and will be paid the minimum wage rate for the job classification or at a specially negotiated rate. They shall not acquire classified seniority rights. Part-time employees may be laid off for any reason without recall rights. Such layoffs shall not be subject to the grievance procedure. Benefits for part-time employees shall be on a prorated basis as agreed to by the parties. A-48 A-61

(b) Part-time employees may request consideration for other part-time openings and may submit applications for openings in regular full-time positions. When part-time employees become full-time employees, they shall be credited with system service for the length of time they were employed by the Company as a part-time employee on or after January 1, 1996. For part-time employees who become full-time employees after April 1, 2008 and who have been employed as part-time for at least 12 consecutive months prior to becoming full-time, the probationary period shall be reduced from one year to nine months.

(c) The overtime provisions of this Agreement, including meal compensation, will only apply to part-time employees when they work in excess of their regular scheduled hours per day or eight hours per day, whichever is greater. Part-time employees will not be called out for overtime assignments unless all full-time available employees have been called. The total number of part-time employees, excluding those in the Call Center and Meter Reading work groups and those hired to perform a continuing specific work requirement that is temporary in nature, will not exceed 5% of the total number of full-time employees performing work represented by the Union.

Section 8. Employees promoted to a job outside the bargaining unit and who return to the bargaining unit within six months, shall retain all classified and bargaining unit seniority accumulated up to the date of their promotion. If employees who were in a job outside the bargaining unit for more than six months return to the bargaining unit the will be placed in a starting job classification and receive a classified seniority date behind all employees but shall retain all bargaining unit seniority accumulated up to the date of their promotion out of the bargaining unit. No employee may return to a bargaining unit job classification if management does not approve, a position is not available or if as a result, an employee represented by the Union would be laid off.

ARTICLE VI

Section 1. The parties hereto recognizing the importance of safety projects and regulations for the protection of the health, life and limb of all employees, agree to make all reasonable efforts to maintain such rules and regulations conducive to the health and safety of all concerned. The Company will notify the Union leadership of any work related accident resulting in the hospital admission or death of any employee in the bargaining unit. A-83

ARTICLE VII

Section 1. Any dispute or disagreement arising between an employee and the Company or the Union and the Company involving wages, hours or work, conditions of employment, or otherwise of any nature arising out of this Agreement may become the subject of a grievance. However, with respect to any claim or dispute involving the application or interpretation of an employee welfare or pension (includes defined benefit and 401(k) plans) plan, the claim or dispute shall not be resolved under the grievance procedure outlined herein, but instead, shall be resolved in accordance with the terms and procedures set forth in the relevant plan document. Additionally, should the content of any communication relating to employee benefits conflict with the terms of the relevant plan document, the terms of the plan document shall govern. Recognizing the importance of resolving disputes or disagreements in a peaceful and timely manner and at the earliest stage possible, grievances shall be processed in accordance with the following procedure: A-18 A-32

1st Step

An employee must take up any grievance initially with the supervisor involved, within 20 days of its occurrence or 20 days from the time the employee or the Union became aware of the occurrence. The initial meeting shall be held between the supervisor(s), the employee involved and the elected union representative or delegate. Grievances in this step shall be answered verbally at the meeting or within 5 days of the conclusion of the meeting. The supervisor will also inform the Union of the appropriate management person to notify in the event that the Union wishes to pursue the grievance to the second step.

2nd Step

If the parties are unable to resolve the grievance following the first step, within 10 workdays of the first step response, the Union may submit a written grievance to the management of the department designated in the first step. Department management will schedule a meeting with a small committee representing the Union within 20 workdays after receipt of the written grievance. A written decision will be sent by email and/or US Mail to the President of the Local Union within 20 workdays of the Step 2 meeting.

3rd Step

If the parties are unable to resolve the grievance following the second step, within 20 workdays of the second step response, the Union may notify the Labor Relations Department in writing of its desire to advance the grievance to the third step of the grievance procedure. The Labor Relations Department will schedule a meeting with the appropriate management representatives and a small committee representing the Union within 20 workdays after receipt of the written request. The Labor Relations Department will render a written decision within 20 workdays of the date of the third-step meeting. The written response will be sent by email or US Mail to the President of the Local Union.

In the case of a discharge, the Union may bypass the first step of the grievance procedure and submit a written grievance requesting a second step grievance meeting, within 10 days following the date of discharge.

Arbitration

Section 2. (a) If the parties are unable to resolve the grievance following the third-step, the Union, within 30 workdays of receipt of the third step response, may notify the General Manager, Labor Relations in writing of its desire to advance the grievance to arbitration.

(b) Upon receipt of the Union's notification, the parties within ten workdays will petition the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS) for a panel of seven arbitrators and will cooperate to select promptly an arbitrator from that list. In the event that no acceptable arbitrator appears on the panel of arbitrators submitted by FMCS, either party may request an additional panel from FMCS.

(c) The arbitrator so selected shall hold a hearing as promptly as possible on a date satisfactory to the parties. If a stenographic record of the hearing is requested by either party, the initial copy of this record shall be made available for the sole use of the arbitrator. The cost of this initial copy and its own copy shall be borne by the requesting party, unless both parties desire a copy. If both parties desire a copy, they shall equally share the cost of the arbitrator's copy, and shall each bear the cost of any copies of the record they desire.

(d) After completion of the hearing and the submission of the post-hearing briefs, the arbitrator shall render a decision and submit to the parties written findings that will be binding on both parties to the Agreement.

(e) The arbitrators' and other joint expenses mutually agreed upon shall be borne equally by both parties.

(f) Any grievance that is not taken to the next step within the time limits specified will be deemed to have been withdrawn. If at any step in the grievance procedure, the Company does not answer within the designated time frame, the Union may notify the Company of its desire to advance the grievance to the next step of the grievance procedure. Any time limits may be extended by written agreement between the parties.

(g) The arbitrator shall have no authority to add to, detract from, alter, amend, or modify any provision of this Agreement. It is also mutually agreed that there shall be no work stoppage or lockouts pending the decision of the arbitrator or subsequent thereto.

ARTICLE VIII

(b) These wage rate increases shall not apply to the minimum wage rates of starting job classifications. Any changes to wage rates, including merit or general wage increases, will be applied beginning the first day of the pay period that includes the effective date of the increase.

(d) Manual employees shall be provided the higher of a $10.00 promotional increase above the maximum wage rate of the job classification from which they promote, or the minimum wage rate of the job classification to which they promote. Clerical and Technical employees shall be provided the higher of a $10.00 promotional increase or the minimum wage rate of the job classification to which they promote. This provision will not apply when the maximum wage rate of a job classification is not at least $10.00 above the maximum wage rate of the job classification from which it promotes.

(e) Whenever the difference between the minimum and maximum wage rates of a job classification is not divisible by $0.25, the intermediate wage rates will be by $0.25 steps, with the exception of the last step to the maximum wage rate of the job. In such case the increase to the maximum wage rate will include the $0.25 increment plus the odd amount necessary to equal the maximum wage rate, provided, however, that the total amount of this increase is less than $0.50. A-40

(f) Any employee in the Union who was on or below the maximum wage rate of his job classification as of the indicated dates of increase shall receive the increase applicable to the maximum wage rate of his job classification.

(g) The shift differentials and Sunday premium paid to employees on scheduled shifts on classified jobs will be as follows:

Name of Shift	Definition of Shift	Shift Differential Cents Per Hour May 6, 2019 – March 31, 2023
Day Shift	Where the majority of the scheduled hours worked are between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.	$0.00
Afternoon Shift	Where the majority of the scheduled hours worked are between 4:00 p.m. and 12:00 Midnight	$1.80

Night Shift	Where the majority of the scheduled hours worked are between 12:00 Midnight and 8:00 a.m.	$1.85

When the majority of the hours in a shift are on a Sunday, a Sunday premium will be paid to an employee for all scheduled straight time hours worked on that shift.

	As of May 6, 2019
Sunday Premium	$2.05

(h) The nature of the work involved under each payroll classification shall be defined, as nearly as possible, by the Company and occupational classifications and job descriptions shall be prepared by the Company and be subject to review by the Union. A-40

(i) The Job Evaluation Committee of the Company will be responsible for evaluating all new or revised job classifications. The evaluation established by this Committee will be used to determine the maximum wage rate for each new or revised job classification. Results of the evaluation will be communicated to the Union at least two weeks before the effective date of the new or revised job classification. A-21 A-38 A-40 A-41

(j) The Union shall appoint a Classification Committee consisting of not more than five members who may review the evaluation and wage rate of any new or revised classification. The Union's Committee may, by request, meet with the Company's Committee as soon as possible at a mutually agreeable time, but within 30 days after the Union has been notified by the Company of the proposed new or revised classification, for the purpose of presenting any information relative to the evaluation of a new or revised classification. The Union will be notified after the Company's Committee has reviewed the information presented by the Union. All wage rates so established shall be final and binding and not subject to the grievance and arbitration procedure. However, if any revised wage rates are reduced as a result of the evaluation(s), they will not be placed into effect until the Company and the Union have had an opportunity to negotiate them during full contract negotiations, even though the revised job classification will be in effect. Employees, presently in, or promoting to, such job classifications will continue to receive wage adjustments in accordance with the other provisions of the Agreement just as if the wage rate had remained at the same level until a new Agreement is reached.

(k) When the Union believes that a new or revised job description does not adequately describe the principal duties and minimum qualifications necessary to provide a sufficient basis for evaluating that job description, a letter outlining the Union's suggested changes may be sent to the management of the appropriate department for consideration. However, there will be no recourse to the grievance and arbitration procedure because of the language of a job description or the evaluation of a job classification.

(l) Where the Union deems an employee to be improperly classified, it will be considered as a grievance and shall be handled under the grievance procedure described elsewhere in this Agreement.

Section 2. (a) With the exception of shift differential premium, and a holiday occurring during an employee's vacation, it is agreed that under no circumstances shall any section of this Agreement be interpreted to provide the pyramiding of a benefit or premium payment to employees covered by this Agreement. For example, no employee may claim sick pay while receiving vacation pay or holiday pay while receiving sick pay.

(b) It is further agreed that there shall be no interruption in the payment of one benefit in order that employees may receive payment for another benefit. For example, employees may not interrupt vacation to begin sick leave or interrupt sick leave to include a holiday. The only exceptions to this provision are that an employee's sick pay may be interrupted to include vacation pay and that vacation pay may be interrupted to include death in family pay as set forth in the Agreement.

Section 3. Pay Checks will be directly deposited into one or more bank accounts employees shall designate and authorize. Direct Deposit advices will be mailed to the employee's home address if he/she has elected to receive a printed copy. For any employee who specifically declines to authorize direct deposit. a paper check will be mailed to the employee's home address.

1-5	10	Balance
6-10	15	Balance
11-14	20	Balance

(c) After an employee has been continuously disabled, subject to medical determination, and is unable to return to work for more than 27 consecutive weeks, and has exhausted Short-Term Disability benefits, the employee will receive Long-Term Disability benefits as described in the Company's Long-Term Disability Plan Description.

Section 2. Compensation will not be provided for illnesses resulting from such causes as: illegal use of drugs or alcohol, willful intention to injure oneself, the commission of a crime, elective or cosmetic procedures not covered by the medical plan, the employee's refusal to adopt such remedial measures as may be commensurate with the employee's disability or permit reasonable examinations by the Company. A-50

Section 3. It is also mutually understood and agreed that the Company shall have the right to investigate and determine for its own satisfaction the bona fide nature of any illness for which pay is requested as well as the duration thereof. In order to facilitate the scheduling of the work forces, employees who will be absent from work are expected to notify the Company as soon as possible, but not later than one hour after their regular starting times and in the case of shift workers, one hour before the start of their shifts. Unless an employee submits a legitimate excuse for not reporting the cause of absence before the end of the first hour of such absence, the employee's claim for sick leave pay shall not begin until such notice is received.

Section 4. When employees have received all of the disability pay to which they are entitled under this Agreement they shall be granted, upon written request on a form provided by the Company, a "leave of absence" and shall not be eligible for further disability pay benefits until they have returned to steady employment. However, in the event of an employee's death, the estate of the employee will be paid the unused portion of the employee's total vacation allotment for the current year. A-52

Employees returning from military service will receive vacations with pay in the calendar year in which they return as follows:

Month in which Employee Returns to Company's Employment	Amount of Vacation Based on System Service of Employee
Up to and including June	Full
July, August and September	One-Half
After September	None

(b) In order for an employee to qualify for a vacation, the employee must have been ready, willing and able to work as a full-time regular or probationary employee during the calendar year the vacation is taken.

(c) The anniversary of employment shall determine the employee's vacation status. Every effort will be made to grant vacations at a time suitable to the employee, but should the vacation of an employee handicap the operations of the Company in any way, the Company reserves the right to require the vacation be taken at another time. Normally, preference shall be granted in the selection of vacation dates on the basis of system service. A-1 A-8

(d) Employees with less than one year of service with the Company shall be entitled to one day of vacation for each month worked, with a maximum of 10 total days.

(e) Employees with one year of service with the Company shall be entitled to a vacation of two weeks.

(f) Employees with seven or more years of service with the Company shall be entitled to a vacation of three weeks. Should the amount of work or other working conditions be such that the operations of the Company would be handicapped by granting of the third week of an employee's vacation, the Company reserves the right to require an employee to take his third week of vacation at such time that does not interfere with the operations of the Company.

(g) Employees with 15 or more years of service with the Company shall be entitled to a fourth week of vacation or payment of one week's wages (40 hours) at straight time in lieu thereof. The Company may also require such employees to take the fourth week of their vacation at such time as does not interfere with the operations of the Company.

(h) Employees with 21 or more years of service with the Company shall be entitled to a fifth week of vacation or payment of one week's wages (40 hours) at straight time in lieu thereof. The Company may also require such employees to take the fifth week of their vacation at such time as does not interfere with the operations of the Company.

(i) Employees with 32 or more years of service with the Company shall be entitled to a sixth week of vacation or, if required to work by the Company, payment of one week's wages (40 hours) at straight time in lieu thereof. The Company may also require such employees to take the sixth week of their vacation at such time as does not interfere with the operations of the Company.

ARTICLE X

Section 1. Regular employees entering the armed services of the United States or employees who are conscripted by the United States Government during a period of national emergency shall continue to accumulate full system service and full seniority and may return to their former position or one of equal pay and rank, provided they report for work with a certificate of satisfactory completion of military or governmental service within 90 days after their release from active service.

(b) Company Group Life Insurance of employees returning to Company service within 90 days after their release from active service will be reinstated without physical examination or waiting period.

Section 3. None of the foregoing provisions in this Article shall apply to those employees who are not eligible for statutory re-employment rights.

ARTICLE XI

Section 1. (a) The following days are observed as regular holidays which will be recognized on the indicated dates. The Company may change the date for recognizing a holiday if the date indicated is changed by a legislative enactment or if the prevailing community practice is not consistent with the indicated date.

HOLIDAY	DATE RECOGNIZED
New Year's Day	January 1
Memorial Day	Last Monday – May
Independence Day	July 4
Labor Day	First Monday – September
Thanksgiving Day	Fourth Thursday – November
Day after Thanksgiving	Friday after Thanksgiving
Christmas Eve	December 24
Christmas Day	December 25

(b) If the recognized date of a holiday occurs on a Saturday or Sunday, the Company will have the option of either celebrating that holiday on another date which is consistent with community practice or paying eight hours of regular straight time holiday pay in lieu thereof for the holiday.

(c) Regular employees whose duties do not require them to work on holidays will be paid straight time. Regular employees who are scheduled to work on a recognized holiday will be paid at time and one-half for the first eight hours worked in addition to their straight time holiday pay. However, those employees who work less than the eight hours scheduled will have their straight time holiday pay correspondingly reduced.

(d) Regular employees who are called out to work on a recognized holiday for a period of four hours or less not contiguous with hours worked into or out of the holiday will be paid for four hours at time and one-half in addition to their straight time holiday pay. Employees who are called out to work on a recognized holiday for more than four hours not contiguous with hours worked into or out of the holiday but less than eight hours will be A-11 paid for eight hours at time and one-half in addition to their regular straight time holiday pay. Employees who are required to work more than eight hours on a recognized holiday will be paid at the rate of double time for all such work in excess of eight hours. An employee must work either his full scheduled day before, or his full scheduled day after a holiday to be entitled to receive holiday pay. An employee will not be compensated for travel time on a call-out which occurs on a regular holiday.

(e) When a holiday falls within an employee's vacation, the employee shall, at the discretion of the Company, either be allowed an additional vacation day at such time in the same year as shall be mutually agreed upon between the employee and his supervisor or shall receive eight hours additional pay to compensate for the loss of such holiday pay.

(f) An employee beginning a leave of absence will not receive holiday pay for holidays occurring after the last day worked except when the employee works the full calendar day immediately before a recognized holiday which is in the same pay period.

Section 2. (a) An employee who has completed six months of service with the Company shall be entitled to four compensated Personal days off and one compensated Diversity day off each calendar year. Requests for Personal/Diversity days should be made at least five calendar days prior to the date requested and must be approved by management. However, because of extenuating circumstances, a day off with less than a five calendar-day notification may be approved by an employee's supervisor; such approval will not be unreasonably denied. The Company reserves the right to limit the number of employees who can be off on a specific day. Individual departments will attempt to accommodate as many requests as possible to take a Personal/Diversity day or vacation day on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day, and/or Good Friday.

(b) If a Personal/Diversity day is not used during a year, it shall be lost and no additional compensation shall be granted. Any employee who resigns, retires or is discharged from the Company for any reason shall not receive compensation for any remaining Personal/Diversity days.

(c) Personal/Diversity days must be taken in full day increments. Paid Personal/Diversity days will not be considered as absences for purposes of an individual's attendance record.

ARTICLE XII

Section 1. (a) It is agreed that the present establishment of 40 hours per week of the Company will remain in effect, except in those divisions where longer or shorter hours are now being worked, and the Company guarantees employment of not less than 40 hours per week for 52 weeks of each year to all employees represented by the Union as bargaining agent, who are available and ready to work, and who are regular full-time employees of the Company, except those on a less than 40 hour basis now. No such employees shall be required to work more than 40 hours in any one week, consisting of seven days, nor more than eight hours in any one day except as hereinafter provided.

(b) Nothing in this section will affect in any manner the right of the Company to make temporary or permanent reductions in forces when considered necessary by the Company.

(c) Nothing in this Agreement shall be deemed to require the Company or the Union to commit an unfair labor practice or other act which is forbidden by, or is an offense under, existing or future laws affecting the relations of the Company with the employees bargained for by the Union.

Section 2. (a) The work week of an employee for payroll purposes and for determining off-days shall consist of seven consecutive days with a minimum of two scheduled off days and be from midnight Sunday to midnight the following Sunday. Employees working on a shift beginning two hours or less before midnight will be considered as having worked their hours following midnight. A-12 A-17

(b) Regular scheduled hours of work per day will be at straight time for regular scheduled work days, time and one-half for the employee's first scheduled off-day in the work week, double time for the employee's second scheduled off-day in the work week and time and one-half for any additional scheduled off-days in the work week. Any time in excess of the employee's regular scheduled hours per day will be paid at the rate of time and one-half except the employee's second scheduled off-day worked which will be paid at double time. A-71 A-76

(c) Employees required to work more than 16 consecutive hours will be paid double time for all time worked in excess of, and contiguous with, the 16 consecutive hours.

(d) Schedules for all employees will be based on the time prevailing in the City of Cincinnati.

(e) In no case will an employee be forced to take time off in lieu of overtime pay. The Company shall be the sole judge as to the necessity for overtime work, and the employee shall be obligated to work overtime when requested to do so. When overtime occurs in a group or department, where more employees are qualified and available to work than are necessary at the moment, the Company agrees to establish a system of selecting the employees who are to work, in a sincere effort to equalize overtime work. The employees will be notified in advance, whenever possible, when they are required to work overtime.

Section 3. (a) The Union recognizes the need for shift work and weekend work in order to provide for continuous operation, and overtime rates will apply as set forth in Article XII, Section 2.

(b) An employee who is transferred from his regular shift to another shift shall be notified of said transfer at least 24 hours prior thereto. A-13

Section 4. (a) Employees called out for other than planned overtime shall be paid a minimum of four hours at the appropriate overtime rate. Travel time of one-half hour each way will be allowed on a call-out when such call-out exceeds four hours of continuous work that is not contiguous with a regular scheduled shift. Employees will not be compensated for any travel time for planned overtime; or on a call-out when the employee is not released from work before his regularly scheduled shift; nor will travel time be allowed when overtime is worked continuously at the end of a regularly scheduled shift. A-74 A-78

(b) Planned overtime shall be defined as time worked upon notice to an employee given before leaving his headquarters or place of reporting, or in case of an off-day, during or before what would have been his scheduled hours on that day, that he is to report outside of his regular schedule on any succeeding day. Such time worked shall be paid for at the appropriate overtime rate but not for less than four hours unless such planned overtime extends into or directly follows the employee's regularly scheduled work day, when it shall be paid for at the appropriate overtime rate for the actual hours worked.

Section 5. (a) Employees working two hours or more in excess of their normal work day, shall receive a meal, or compensation in lieu thereof, and an additional meal, or compensation in lieu thereof, after each additional five hours of continuous overtime work over and above the original two hours mentioned above.

(b) Employees called out on either their scheduled off day, or four or more hours before his regularly scheduled starting time, shall be furnished a meal, or compensation in lieu thereof, for each contiguous five hour interval worked even though he works into his regularly scheduled work day.

(c) The meal compensation allowance referred to above shall be as follows:

Effective May 6, 2019 – March 31, 2023
$11.50

Section 6. It is further agreed by the Company that any manual employee temporarily advanced to a higher classification shall receive the minimum rate of pay applicable to that classification if such work is for four hours or more. If such work is for more than four hours the employee shall receive the minimum rate of pay applicable to that classification for the remainder of the normal day worked. In the administration of this section of the Agreement, a temporary assignment shall be construed to mean any job assignment which is not expected to continue for more than 90 consecutive days. A-46

Section 7. (a) Employees in this bargaining unit temporarily assigned to a supervisory position outside the bargaining unit for four hours or more, shall receive $1.50 per hour above the maximum rate of pay of either their job classification, or the highest rated job classification they supervise, whichever is greater. It is expressly understood that employees temporarily assigned to a supervisory position shall direct the flow of work and oversee the assignment and completion of work in accordance with applicable policies and procedures in the department. However, they shall not have any responsibility for making hiring decisions, issuing evaluations or discipline, or moving work currently performed by other bargaining unit members into or out of any department.

(b) Employees promoted to a job outside the bargaining unit and who return to the bargaining unit within six months, shall retain all classified seniority accumulated up to the date of their promotion. If employees who were in a job outside the bargaining unit for more than six months, return to the bargaining unit, they will be placed in a starting job classification and receive a classified seniority date behind all employees. No employee may return to a bargaining unit job classification if, as a result, an employee represented by the Union would be laid off.

ARTICLE XIII

Section 1. (a) The Company agrees that upon his or her return to work from illness or disability, consideration will be given to the employee's physical condition, and, if possible, a less vigorous type of work will be granted at no reduction in the employee's regular pay for a temporary period to be determined by the employee's and the Company's physicians.

(b) If an employee with 15 or more years of service becomes physically unable to satisfactorily and safely perform the regular duties of his classification, an effort will be made by the Company to find work of a less strenuous nature for which he is qualified and to which the employee will be retrogressed. The employee's wage rate will be reduced by an amount equal to the semi-annual merit increase for the employee's job classification at the time of the assignment to a job of a lower classification and at six months' periods will be reduced by an amount equal to the semi-annual merit increase for the employee's job classification until the employee's wage rate is equal to the maximum wage rate of the job classification to which he has been retrogressed.

(c) If an employee with 10 to 14 years of service becomes physically unable to satisfactorily and safely perform the regular duties of his job classification, he may request a demotion to a lower classification requiring work of a less strenuous nature for which he is qualified to perform. If such a demotion is granted by the Company, the employee will be assigned to a lower classification and will have his wage rate red-circled until it is equal to the maximum wage rate of the job classification to which he has been demoted. Employees whose wages have been red-circled and who subsequently achieve 15 years of service will become retrogressed in accordance with paragraph (b) above.

(d) If an employee with less than 10 years of service becomes physically unable to satisfactorily and safely perform the regular duties of his job classification, he may request a demotion to a lower classification requiring work of a less strenuous nature for which he is qualified to perform. If such a demotion is granted by the Company, the employee will be assigned to a lower classification and will have his wage rate established at the maximum wage rate of the job classification to which he has been demoted.

Section 2. Injured employees who are unable to work because of an industrial accident will be paid a supplement in an amount equal to one half of the difference between what he/she would have received at regular work and the amount received as compensation for such injury, for a period not to exceed 26 weeks. This supplemental industrial accident compensation will begin after the initial seven calendar day waiting period and will continue for not more than 26 weeks of continuous disability. If, however, an industrial accident disability continues for two or more weeks, the employee will receive this supplemental industrial accident compensation for the initial seven day waiting period.

Section 3. Upon the death of the designated relatives of an employee, the employee, upon request, may be entitled to the stipulated maximum number of calendar days off for which the employee is entitled to receive regular pay for not more than the indicated number of consecutive working days, including the day of the funeral. No pay will be granted for regular scheduled off days.

ARTICLE XIV

Section 1. The Company agrees to erect bulletin boards at locations to be selected by the Union and the Company. The use of these boards is restricted to the following: notices of Union meetings, notices of Union elections, notices of changes within the Union affecting its membership, and any other notices issued on the letterhead of the Union. There shall be no other general distribution or posting by the members of the Union of pamphlets, or political literature of any kind, except as herein provided.

ARTICLE XV

Section 1. Any member or members not to exceed three members elected or employed by the Union whose duties for the Union require their full time shall be granted a leave of absence by the Company for six months and additional six months' periods thereafter, provided that each member is from a different promotional sequence or that the Company has granted permission for two members to be from the same promotional sequence. On return to the employ of the Company, such employees shall be employed at their previous classification or other higher classification within this unit for which they may be qualified.

ARTICLE XVI

Section 1. (a) The Company agrees to notify the Union of the contemplated hiring of any outside contractors to do work normally performed by regular employees covered by this Agreement. Such notification will be given if it is contemplated that the work will be in excess of 2,000 man-hours.

(b) It is the sense of this provision that the Company will not contract/outsource any work which is ordinarily done by its regular employees if as a result thereof, it would become necessary to lay off any such employees.

Section 2. (a) Each employee shall have a specific headquarters for reporting for work. However, the right of the Company to effect transfers and reassignments to properly run its business is recognized.

(b) When it is necessary to temporarily assign employees to a headquarters other than their own or to a job site reporting location that is further from their home than their regular headquarters, these employees will be paid mileage at the prevailing rate based on the additional round-trip mileage employees are required to drive. No mileage compensation will be paid for the temporary assignment if the other reporting location is closer to the employee’s home. Employees reassigned (non-temporary assignment) to a different headquarters will be paid mileage compensation during the first fourteen calendar days of the reassignment. A-15

(c) When an entire work group is assigned to a new headquarters, paragraph (b) of this Article shall not apply.

(d) Job site reporting and other temporary assignments will be offered on a voluntary basis. If there is an insufficient number of volunteers, assignments will be made on a junior qualified basis. When assigning the junior qualified, unusual or extenuating circumstances will be taken into consideration.

(e) Employees may be assigned to drive Company vehicles from and to the job site from home or sites close to home. If Company vehicles are used in such a manner, the mileage provisions for job site reporting are not applicable. An option to the mileage provision is that employees may, during a job site reporting assignment, pick up and return a Company vehicle to their regular headquarters, provided travel is on their own time.

ARTICLE XVII

Section 1. Witness Fees. Regular pay and reasonable or required expenses will be allowed employees who may be summoned or requested to testify for the Company.

Section 2. (a) Employees required to serve on a jury shall be compensated on the basis of their regular salary. Employees must report to work during the working hours when they do not need to be present for jury duty.

(b) An employee working on either a night or afternoon shift at a time when he is scheduled for jury duty, who is unable to postpone the jury duty until a time when he will be working on a day shift, may request the Company to assign him to a day shift schedule. Such a request must be made at least seven working days before the jury duty service is scheduled to begin. When the term of jury duty for such an employee has ended, he shall return to his normal working schedule.

ARTICLE XVIII

Section 1. RETIREMENT INCOME PLAN: (a) Eligible Union employees hired or rehired before January 1, 2016 will participate, or continue to participate, in the existing Cinergy Corp. Union Employees' Retirement Income Plan (the "Retirement Income Plan"); provided, however, that effective January 1, 2009, the cash balance feature provided under the Retirement Income Plan shall be amended to provide that all future pay and interest credits provided thereunder to eligible Union employees will mirror the pay and interest credits provided as of the date of this Agreement under the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan (i.e., 4% - 7% depending on age and years of service), and as further amended under the terms set forth in the April 15, 2015 Letter Agreement titled "Amendment to A58 Retirement Plan Agreement. Employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2016 will not be eligible to participate in the Retirement Income Plan.

(b) It is agreed that the Company will not reduce the benefits and the Union will not request any change in the Retirement Income Plan until the expiration of the Agreement on April 1, 2019.

ARTICLE XIX

Section 1. Any insurance benefit plans under the Duke Energy Health & Welfare Benefit Plans not specifically referenced elsewhere in this Contract (i.e. life insurance, supplemental, accidental death and dismemberment and dependent life insurance) that the Company maintains and/or implements for the general non-unionized employee population shall also be provided to the bargaining unit employees at the same benefit levels, costs and plan design structure as for the non-unionized employees. The Company has the right to add, eliminate, and alter or to make any other changes to these insurance benefit plans or the employee costs for the plans, consistent with any changes it makes for the general, non-unionized employee populations.

ARTICLE XX

Section 1. HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL PLANS: (a) Health care coverage shall consist of the specially negotiated EPO Plan and shall remain in effect for the term of the 2008 – 2012 Contract. All terms of the specially negotiated EPO Plan, regarding plan design, covered services, premiums and other employee costs, shall be in accordance with the 2008 negotiations letter of agreement entitled “Health Care Benefits.” A-42 A42b

(b) Any other health care plans (medical or dental) that the Company unilaterally implements at its sole discretion for the general non-represented employee population shall also be provided to the bargaining unit employees at the same costs and plan design structure as for the non-represented employees. It is expressly understood that the right to add, eliminate, and alter or to make any other changes to these health care plans or to employee costs for the plans, is reserved to the Company.

(c) The Company's part of the premium will continue to be paid while an employee is receiving illness or accident compensation provided the employee was covered by such a contract immediately prior to their sickness or industrial accident.

ARTICLE XXI

Section 1. The level of benefit coverage within the medical, dental, flexible spending accounts, basic and additional life, long-term disability, and pension plans will remain substantially equivalent to the coverages mutually agreed upon during negotiations.

ARTICLE XXII

Section 1. (a) Eligible Union employees will participate or continue to participate in the existing Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan (the “RSP”); provided, however, that (i) for eligible Union employees in the Cinergy Traditional Formula under the Cinergy Corp. Union Employees’ Retirement Income Plan (Retirement Income Plan), the matching contribution formula (rate and definition of eligible compensation) under the RSP will continue to be the formula in effect prior to January 1, 2009 (i.e. 100% match on pre-tax and Roth 401(k) contributions up to 3% of the participant’s eligible pay, 50% match on the A-58 A-58a pre-tax and Roth 401(k) on next 2% of the participant's eligible pay, and an incentive match based on the attainment of corporate goals established by Duke Energy), (ii) for all other eligible Union employees, the matching contribution formula rate (rate and definition of eligible compensation) under the RSP will mirror the matching contribution formula provided under the RSP for all eligible union employees other than "Cinergy Traditional Employees" as of the date of this Agreement (i.e. 100% match on pre-tax and Roth 401(k) contributions up to 6% of the participants eligible compensation, with no incentive matching contribution opportunity), and (iii) for eligible Union employees who are not eligible for the Retirement Income Plan on or after January 1, 2016, the RSP shall provide the employer retirement contribution formula (rate and definition of total pay under the RSP that mirrors the employer retirement contribution formula provided for all participants who are not eligible to participate in a defined benefit pension plan (i.e.4% of total pay) as of the date of this Agreement.

(b) The RSP is contained in the existing Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan as amended and restated effective January 1, 2014 and as amended by an amendment dated December 19, 2014.

(c) The Company hopes and expects to continue the RSP indefinitely, but must reserve the right to alter it or discontinue Company contributions to it for a time. However, under no circumstances shall any part of the corpus or income held by the Trustee of the RSP be recoverable by the Company or be used for or diverted to any purposes other than for the exclusive benefit of the employee participants or their beneficiaries as provided in the RSP.

THE CINCINNATI GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

CINCINNATI, OHIO 45201

December 22, 1971

Mr. Charles J. Neuhaus
Chairman
Independent Utilities Union
P.O. Box 1757
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201

Dear Mr. Neuhaus:

Reference is made to our discussion at a meeting on November 30, 1971 and to your letter of December 1, 1971, concerning a uniform vacation selection procedure for employees represented by the Independent Utilities Union.

In accordance with our conversation, the Company will adopt the following vacation selection procedures effective January 1, 1972:

> Preference for the first two weeks of vacation to which an employee is entitled will be considered within a job classification at each particular work location on a system service basis. Employees entitled to more than a two week vacation may select that additional vacation on a system service basis after all eligible employees within the job classification at each particular work location have had an opportunity to select the dates for at least two weeks of their vacation.

It is emphasized that this procedure will in no way affect the Company's right to determine the number of employees who may take a vacation at any one time.

Please confirm that the procedure stated in this letter is satisfactory to the Union so that the various affected Company departments may be notified prior to January 1, 1972.

Very truly yours,

Robert E. Byrnes

July 16, 1974

Mr. Charles J. Neuhaus
Chairman
Independent Utilities Union
P.O. Box 1757
Cincinnati, Ohio 45202

Dear Mr. Neuhaus:

During the 1974-1977 negotiation meetings, the committees of the Company and the Independent Utilities Union discussed interdepartment transfers to different job classification and lateral bids and their effect on classified seniority. The following procedure has been implemented as a result of the negotiations and subsequent discussions with representatives of the Union.

Individuals who laterally bid or transfer from one bidding are to another will receive classified seniority dates based on the dates they enter the new job classifications in the new bidding area. However, when an employee's move is delayed, consideration will be given to the proper adjustment of the employee's classified seniority rank so that the employee will not be penalized with respect to future opening within the new department. When such employees bid on future openings in the new department, they will be ranked on the basis of their classified seniority date in that bidding area. Should these employees bid on an opening posted outside their immediate bidding area, their wage level seniority will be used in determining their ranking for consideration on the posting. In accordance with past practice, departmental personnel will be given first consideration on an initial I.U.U. wide posting.

The only exceptions to the above procedures are for the following employees in the Customer Services Division of the Customer and Public Relations Department: Douglas Ray Deaton, Patricia L. Lindsay, and Ronald Eugene May. These employees, as was agreed during the negotiations, will be ranked according to wage level date on all promotional bids after they acquire the minimum work experience required for a promotion.

The procedure described in this letter applies only to transfers and lateral bids across bidding areas. Wage level seniority will continue to govern on lateral bids within a bidding area where specific procedures have previously been established.

The Company believes that the described procedures will conform with the agreement reached during the discussions at the 1974 negotiation meetings and will eliminate the potential for employees who transfer or laterally bid into another bidding area from subsequently acquiring more seniority than incumbent employees within the same classification. If the Union concurs with these arrangements, please initial and return the attached copy of this letter.

Very truly yours,

Robert L. Byrnes Manager Industrial Relations

March 28, 1977

Mr. E. Edward Divine
Chairman
Independent Utilities Union
P.O. Box 1757
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201

Dear Mr. Devine:

During the 1977 negotiation meetings, the Company and the Union agreed to the introduction of a multiple posting system into the Property Department. This system is designed to speed up the process of filling job openings in the clerical and manual groups of the Department. For the purpose of posing job openings, accepting bids and selecting qualified applicants for job classifications bargained for by the Independent Utilities Union the existing northern, southern, eastern and western divisions of the Department will remain unchanged. Through multiple posting any known original job openings that the Company decides to fill will be listed on the posting. Any equal or lower level job that opens as a result of the original postings may be filled as a resultant available opening. In addition, any original job opening that becomes available during the posting period may also be filled as a resultant available opening. However, the Company must maintain the right to discontinue the filling of openings at any level of the procedure.

To clarify the procedures, the meaning of certain terms used herein are defined at follows:

A "posting" is the announcement of a job opening on the proper forms which are displayed on the bulletin boards of headquarters within the four divisions of the Property Department.

A "bid" is a written request of an employee on the proper form for consideration for an opening.

A "cross-bid" is a bid for an opening in the same job classification in another Division.

A "lateral bid" is a bid for an opening in a different job classification having the same maximum rate of pay.

A "promotional bid" is a bid for an opening in a job classification having a higher maximum rate of pay.

Any Property Department employee may submit a bid at any time. It is not necessary that a job opening be posted before a bid can be submitted. Only one promotional bid, one cross-bid or one lateral bid can be made on a single bid sheet. The bidder may also indicate on the bid sheet his preference for geographical division in numerical sequence. The bid sheet on file with the latest date as of the closing date of a particular posting will be used in processing that posting. It is imperative that the employee be continually aware of the bids he has on file, as well as his promotional opportunities. An employee accepted on a valid bid must accept the new job classification or new location.

To be valid, a bid must be made out in duplicate and signed by the bidder's supervisor on or prior to the closing date of a posting. One copy of the bid will be returned to the bidder and the other copy will be forwarded to the general office of the Property Department. All bids submitted in the beginning of a calendar year will be retained and used for processing all postings for the calendar year unless changed by the employee.

The acceptance of a bidder on a posting will invalidate all bids of that employee and the employee must submit new bids for consideration on future openings. Any individual bid can be invalidated (withdrawn) by submission of a similar bid with a later date or by the bidder submitting a bid sheet requesting cancellation of all previous bids. In addition, all bids become invalid on December 31 of any year. This will require new bids to be submitted on the first working day of each year or as soon thereafter as practical.

After a job posting has closed the ranking of applicants will be determined on the basis of qualifications, promotional sequences, and classified seniority. Bids will be considered in the following order:

1. Cross-bids
2. Lateral bids
3. Promotional bids

The successful applicant on lateral and promotional bids may be required to qualify by means of an examination if specified by the applicable job descriptions.

Requests for specific job assignments, locations, or shifts within a division may be made in writing to the supervisor in charge of that division. The supervisor will forward a copy of such request to the general office of the Property Department for filing. These requests will be considered by the division supervisor when an opening occurs and prior to the posting of such an opening. However, employees may not exercise their seniority to assure a particular job assignment, location or shift within a division. Requests for assignments will be retained in file until December 31 of any particular year and will be given consideration when job openings occur in the division in which the applicant presently works.

A "results of job opening" will be posted after all bids have been processed. This form will indicate the successful applicants, the headquarters, shift schedule, type of change and effective date. Any applicable payroll changes will be effective on the date which is designated on the multiple posting results sheet.

If, as the result of a job posting, an original opening or any resultant opening cannot be filled by an employee within the Property Department, that job may be posted Company wide.

In addition to permitting more than one cross-bid per posted opening, it is believed that this procedure will materially reduce the time required for the filling of job openings thereby expediting the promotion of employees. It is contemplated that this change in procedure in the Property Department will become effective on or about May 1, 1977.

Very truly yours,

Arthur R. Ehrnschwender

March 28, 1977

Mr. E. Edward Divine
Chairman
Independent Utilities Union
P.O. Box 1757
Cincinnati, Ohio 45201

Dear Mr. Divine:

During the 1977 negotiations, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the testing procedures which are utilized in many promotional sequences when employees promote.

In certain areas of the Company, an employee is tested on the basis of the job from which he promotes. In other instances, testing is based on the job into which an employee will progress and is given within a certain time interval before or after the employee is accepted. Further, the re-testing time interval for employees who do not successfully complete a promotional test varies in different departments. In certain areas of the Company, employees may be pre-tested for future promotional openings. The Union has requested that such advance testing be made available to employees for the next job in their promotional sequence even though an opening may not exist.

The Company is not opposed to advance testing in those situations where a supervisor agrees that such advance testing is in the best interest of all concerned. It must be realized, however, that in some areas of the Company, methods or technology often change so that advance testing is not practical, in such instances the material upon which an employee is tested may be altered substantially at the time an employee may ultimately be promoted. An employee who wishes to be considered for this advance testing should consult with his supervisor. The supervisor will appraise the employee if such testing is permissible and, if not, the supervisor will explain to the employee why his request may not be granted.

It is thought that this letter will clarify any misunderstanding that may have existed concerning advance testing.

Very truly yours,

Arthur R. Ehrnschwender

Re: Leaves of Absence

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During 2012 contract negotiations, the parties discussed Sidebar Letter A-5 dated April 10, 1986 regarding good cause for granting leaves of absence. The parties recognized that there have been significant legal developments since 1986, including but not limited to passage of the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA) and the Uniformed Service Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). Given these and other similar developments, the parties agreed to replace the April 10, 1086 Sidebar Letter as set forth herein.

The Company understands that employees may need to be away from the workplace at times for legitimate reasons. The Company further recognizes that time away from work is important to maintaining a healthy work-life balance. At the same time, the Company depends on a responsible and dependable workforce to serve its customers and meet its business goals.

To balance these interests, the Company provides leaves of absence for qualifying reasons, such as for new parents, medical issues (experienced by the employee or eligible family members), military service, caregivers, education, and other personal reasons deemed by the Company or its third party administrators to justify a leave of absence. Leaves of absence may be granted for up to a maximum of six (6) months, or as otherwise set forth in the applicable summary plan description.

All leaves of absence are provided in a manner consistent with applicable laws. To the extent that a leave of absence provided by the Company is over and above the employee's legal entitlement, it is recognized to be a privilege and not a right of the employee. Such leaves are granted at the discretion of the Company. While never desirable, an employee's absence in most situations can be tolerated more so during certain times of the year than other times.

It is difficult to enumerate the variable circumstances under which employees may be granted personal leaves of absence. The Company evaluates each request on an individual basis in light of the surrounding circumstances specific to such request. For example, leaves of absence will not be granted for individuals who are absent due to incarceration or for individuals who want to try full-time employment elsewhere.

Employees are expected to cooperate with providing supporting documentation in a timely and truthful manner as needed by the Company and/or its third party administrators to manage the leave process consistently. Employees also are expected to keep their management apprised of their return-to-work status and any work-related restrictions prior to returning to work. Advance notice of the employee's return-to-work date and of any work-related restrictions is necessary for business planning and to ensure compliance with applicable laws.

It is believed that this letter accurately describes the parties' agreement.

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1989 negotiations, the parties discussed the possibility of the Company notifying the Union of the initial employment of co-ops in two year Associate Degree programs.

As agreed during these negotiations, Department Managers will attempt to inform the Union delegates whenever a two year co-op is hired within their areas of responsibility.

It is thought that by proceeding in this manner, the concerns expressed by the Union during the negotiating meetings will be alleviated.

Re: Partial Day Vacation Administration

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During 2012 contract negotiations, the parties discussed the granting of vacations in less than one day increments.

As was agreed, department managers will review their individual work groups and where it will not disrupt normal operations, at their discretion, permit requests for partial day vacations in increments of one-half the employee's scheduled work day but not less than four hours. It was further agreed that requests for these partial days must be made at least seven calendar days prior to the date requested and must be approved by supervision. However, because of extenuating circumstances, a partial day off with less than a seven (7) calendar day notification may be approved by an employee's supervisor.

Currently there are some departments that allow, business needs permitting, employees to take partial vacation days in less than half day increments. It is agreed that individual departments will have the ability to grant vacation requests for less than half day increments at their discretion.

It is believed that this letter accurately describes the parties' agreement.

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1989 negotiation meetings, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the degree of discipline to be administered to employees who falsify or tamper with Company records.

Many employees represented by the Union are in positions of trust concerning Company records and accounts. The management depends upon the integrity of each employee in the performance of his or her various job duties and responsibilities. The importance of this reliance upon complete employee veracity cannot be overemphasized.

In many disciplinary situations, the Company adheres to a policy of progressive and constructive discipline in order to impress upon employees the nature of Company expectations. However, as mutually agreed upon during the negotiations, employees whose dishonest acts adversely affect the Company will be summarily discharged. For example, it has been a long established Company policy that all meter reading personnel will be terminated who curb readings, falsify records, or are guilty of defalcation; immediate discharge for these activities will continue.

Employees in various departments have access to Company and other accounting and business records and are confronted with situations where circumstances could allow indiscretions for their personal gain or the benefit of others without proper remuneration to the Company. Many positions of trustworthiness could be misdirected to a manipulation or falsification of Company records in a fraudulent, larcenous, or otherwise dishonest manner. As agreed, such activities will result in immediate termination of employment.

If the types of activities occur as described above, the Company will react in good faith upon a full, fair, and impartial investigation. The Company will take every precaution to evaluate particular incidents in full light of all circumstances in order to make certain that any summary termination is not undertaken in an arbitrary, capricious, or disparate manner.

Very truly yours,

Robert E. Byrnes

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1992 negotiation meetings, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the negotiated intent and the current administration of holiday call out provisions contained in Article XI, Section 1 (d) of the Agreement.

There was no dispute between the parties as to how an employee is compensated for any call out assignment where all the hours worked by the individual were entirely within the holiday (midnight to midnight). When such call out assignments are for four hours or less the employee receives four hours pay at the appropriate overtime rate and no travel pay. When such call outs are more than four hours but less than eight, the employee receives eight hours of pay at the appropriate overtime rate and no travel pay. When an employee works entirely within the holiday for more than eight hours, all hours worked after eight hours are compensated at the double time rate of pay with no travel pay. The area of dispute between the parties concerns those call out assignments which are worked contiguous to hours on the day before or the day after a holiday.

In order to completely resolve this matter, the Company is willing to compensate the employee for one hour of travel time at the appropriate rate of pay for call outs of four hours or more contiguous with hours worked into or out of a Company recognized holiday. However, the guarantee of eight hours pay for a call out that is more than four hours but less than eight that is contained in Article XI, Section 1 (d) will not apply to call outs that are contiguous with hours into or out of the holiday.

By proceeding in this manner, it is thought that a consistent and equitable manner of administering the holiday pay provisions of the Agreement can be attained.

Very truly yours,

Edward R. Schuette

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1992 negotiation meetings between the Company and the Union, the committees discussed the use of flextime.

As was discussed during these meetings, it is the policy of the Company to use flextime programs in those work groups where such scheduling is deemed appropriate by the Department Manager. Although the Company reserves the right to discontinue the use of flextime where appropriate, it will meet with the Union before proceeding.

It is thought that this will adequately describe the discussion concerning this matter.

During the 1992 negotiation meetings, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the change of schedule provision in Article XII, Section 3 (b).

Although the language in the current Agreement states that an employee will receive at least a 24-hour notice of a change in shift, the Company will attempt to give at least a five calendar day notice of such changes.

It is thought that this is a fair and equitable policy which will satisfy the interests of all concerned.

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1992 negotiations, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the reorganization of the Distribution Operations Division of the Electric Systems Operations Department.

As was agreed during these negotiations, the supervisory positions within this section will have the flexibility to perform bargaining unit work when an Operations Technician is unavailable to readily respond to a customer inquiry that needs immediate attention. On those occasions supervision will be able to investigate, resolve and recommend solutions to customers about their inquiries. They may also be setting test equipment and or preparing written recommendations for customers. It is anticipated that the performance of this bargaining unit work will be minimal. As stated during the negotiations, it is thought that supervisory employees will only perform these types of operations on an average of one per week. In the event that the Operations Technician, assigned to a specific area, is on vacation, that average may increase to approximately two to three per week. This agreement does not restrict supervisory employees from doing work they previously performed.

It is thought that this agreement will enable us to better serve our customers.

Dear Mr. Bradford:

During the 1992 negotiation meetings, representatives for the Company and the Union discussed the policies and procedures to be utilized when employees are required to work or train at out-of-town locations.

The mode of transportation to be utilized for all out-of-town trips will be determined by the Company. Commercial airlines will be used whenever possible. The Company will normally furnish roundtrip airline tickets (tourist or coach class) between the Greater Cincinnati Airport and the point of destination. If prior arrangements are made and the Company agrees, employees may drive to and from their destination and be reimbursed at the appropriate mileage rate but not exceeding the cost of the roundtrip airline ticket. Each individual request will be evaluated by the Company before determining if alternate transportation will be permitted. Employees utilizing the personal car option will not be granted additional time off from their regular scheduled work week in order to meet travel schedules not arranged by the Company. Nor will any other expenses such as personal auto repairs and insurance, extra meals or lodging be reimbursed by the Company.

Normally the Company will arrange for, and pay any living accommodation expenses. Occasionally, there will be times when employees will be responsible for direct payment prior to leaving the hotel/motel. In this case, the employees will receive advance payment for the applicable room rates and must reconcile their accounts personally. During most other out-of-town trips, prior arrangements may permit invoicing of applicable hotel/motel room costs directly to the Company. In this situation, involved employees will not receive any direct payments for room costs. Other types of accommodations will be handled on a case-by-case basis with methods of payment appropriate to the situation.

For extended trips, employees will be informed prior to leaving for the out-of-town assignment as to the number of return trips to Cincinnati they will be allotted. For these return trips, the Company will normally furnish transportation. In the event that visits home are granted and taken, the Company will reimburse each employee for roundtrip transportation costs only.

The Company may establish and pay an applicable per diem rate in advance for each out-of-town day and each travel day. This rate, which may vary between individual out-of-town locations, will include all other expenses, such as meals, laundry, telephone calls, tips, etc. Transportation and lodging will not be included in the daily per diem amount that each employee will receive. Any expenses incurred over and above the stipulated per diem amount for any given trip will be the responsibility of the employee. Alternately, the Company may elect to reimburse employees for the direct reasonable expenses for such items as meals, laundry, telephone calls, tips, etc. The Company will determine on a case-by-case basis whether a per diem arrangement or reimbursement for reasonable expenses is used for out-of-town assignments.

It is thought that this letter will clarify the Union's concerns about the policies and procedures to be utilized when employees are required to work or train at out-of-town locations.

Edward R. Schuette

Re: Four 10-Hour Day Guidelines

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2012 negotiations, the parties discussed Side bar Letters A-17 and A-47 regarding four 10-hour day workweeks. As a result of those discussions, the parties agreed to the following revised Guidelines for employees who are assigned to work four 10-hour days.

1. Off Days. Management will attempt to provide employees working a four 10-hour day workweek with three consecutive off days. However, employees in a particular work group may request or may be required to have two consecutive off days and another off day within the scheduled workweek. Supervision will give due consideration to such requests.

2. Overtime. Time and one-half will be paid for all overtime hours worked in any single workweek, with the exception of Sunday. All overtime hours worked on a Sunday will be paid at double time.

3. Vacation. One day vacations are for 10 hours. Weekly vacations are for 40 hours. Employees who are transitioning to or from a four 10-hour day workweek shall be entitled to all accrued vacation (i.e., if an employee returns to an five 8-hour day schedule with 10 hours remaining vacation, the employee will have one day and two hours of vacation to take in accordance with the contract).

4. Personal Days. Personal days must be taken in full days regardless of the employee's schedule, and cannot be taken in smaller increments. For employees on 10-hour shifts, personal days are paid for 10 hours. For employees on 8-hour shifts, personal days are paid for 8 hours.

5. Holidays. Employees working four 10-hour shifts convert to a five 8-hour day schedule during all workweeks that contain a holiday recognized by the Company in an effort to maintain consistency throughout the bargaining unit for employees to receive 40 hours of pay.

A-17

For any other alternate work hour schedule that may be developed, it is agreed that at least two off days will be consecutive. The two consecutive off day agreement does not apply to any currently established workweek or when changing from one schedule to another. Furthermore, the two consecutive off day requirement can be waived, but both supervision and the employee must mutually agree to such a schedule.

It is thought that this letter accurately describes the parties' agreement.

During the 1992 negotiation meetings the committees of the Company and the Union discussed the representation of employees by personal attorneys or outside agencies during the grievance and arbitration procedures.

As a result of these discussions, the parties agreed that the Union is the sole bargaining representative for its members and therefore no outside representation will be permitted during such meetings. Reference is made to our meeting on Tuesday, June 28, 1994 regarding the new job classification, Gas Operations Trainer, Job Code #827. In addition to you and I, Messrs. E. Schuette and D. Zanitsch representing the Company and Mr. D. Rosing representing the IUU were also in attendance.

As agreed, the new job classification of Gas Operations Trainer, Job Code #827 will be established at wage level 12. This new job classification was evaluated by the Company's Non-Manual Job Evaluation Committee as a wage level 11.

In return for the Company's willingness to establish this new job classification at wage level 12, the Union agreed that the Management of Gas Operations will select the individual they deem to be most qualified for this position in lieu of accepting the most senior qualified individual. The Union further agreed not to process any grievances related to the selection process for this position.

If future re-evaluations of this job classification increase the total number of points sufficient to increase the wage level to 12, this job classification will remain a wage level 12 and the selection process will revert to being conducted in accordance with the Union contract in effect at that time.

If you concur with this agreement, please sign and date a copy of this letter and return it to my office.

RE: Time Off For Union Duties/Business

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 - 2019 negotiations, the representatives of the Company and the Union clarified the administration of time off work and compensation for performing Union duties/business. Subject to legitimate business needs, the Company will grant compensated or non-compensated time off work in accordance with the following guidelines.

NEGOTIATIONS	Members of the Union negotiating committee and any other employee required to attend or prepare for negotiating meetings will be able to attend during working hours. These employees will not be compensated by the Company for time spent in and preparing for negotiations, unless previously agreed to by the parties.
GRIEVANCES & ARBITRATIONS	A reasonable number of employees will be able to prepare for and attend grievance and arbitration meetings. Union employees will not lose their straight-time wages while attending grievance meetings. The time spent by Union members in preparing for and attending all arbitration meetings is not compensable by the Company.
JOINT MEETINGS	A reasonable number of employees will be able to attend joint meetings between Union members and Company representatives. These employees will not lose their straight-time wages while attending or preparing for joint meetings.
UNION DUTIES/MEETINGS	A reasonable number of employees may be excused but not compensated by the Company for attending, preparing for or performing union duties/meetings. This includes items such as counting votes, regular Union meetings, General Board meetings, working on Union accounting records, or other union duties or meetings.

Sidebar Letter A32

MILEAGE EXPENSES

The Company will agree to reimburse the Union mileage expenses for up to two union representatives to attend Company scheduled meetings. This does not include grievance meetings, arbitrations, negotiations or meetings held at the request of the Union. The Company will agree to reimburse the Union mileage expense for one union representative to attend fact finding meetings. The Union will provide an itemized statement each month for this expense and the Company will reimburse the Union.

There may be occasions when exceptions to these guidelines may be granted. The parties will make every effort to accommodate each other in these matters. The Union agreed to give as much advance notice as possible to supervisors of employees who need to be off work for Union business.

The advancing of wages for non-compensable union business will continue, absent abuse of this process. If problems arise, management will meet with the Union in an attempt to correct the abuse. However, management must maintain the right to discontinue this arrangement, if a satisfactory resolution cannot be reached.

Dear Mr. Bradford,

As you are aware, a new job evaluation system, the BOGAR Job Evaluation System is being implemented for all job classifications represented by the IBEW, Local 1347, IUU and the USWA, Locals #12049 and #5541-06. The new system was designed by the ERT Sub-Committee II (Joint Union/Management Team) and approved for implementation by the ERT at its June 29, 1998 meeting. The BOGAR Job Evaluation System completely replaces the McIntyre system.

The McIntyre Evaluation break points for each grade level have been mathematically converted to new break points under the BOGAR System, therefore it is not necessary for job classifications to be reevaluated at this time. Only new job classifications or revised job classifications with significant changes since their last evaluation will be evaluated using the new system. Job classifications will retain their current wage rates/grade levels, but will be subject to change if they are revised and reevaluated as was the practice in the past.

Under the current agreement, a company job evaluation committee is responsible for evaluating all new or revised job classifications. (Article VIII, Section 1(I)). A key component of the new job evaluation system is the establishment of a new joint Union/Management job evaluation committee. The committee will consist of two management representatives from each business unit, two representatives from the IUU, IBEW and each USWA local and two representatives from the Corporate Center. Accordingly, there will be 16 total members with a maximum of 10 active during an evaluation. Operating guidelines for the committee are as follows:

- Unions will appoint their representatives and they will only participate in the evaluation of job classifications represented by their Union.
- Unaffected union representatives may be present, but will not participate at this time.
- No more than two of the four USWA representatives will participate in the evaluation of USWA job classifications.

- The participating union must have at least one representative available during the evaluation process.
- Consensus should be reached on each factor during the evaluation; absent consensus, majority rules.
- The participating Business Unit must have at least one representative available during the evaluation process.
- All job evaluation members should be informed it is a long term commitment.
- A quorum to have a meeting is six members.

A job evaluation coordinator from the Human Resources Department will also facilitate in the evaluation process and will not be a voting member. The ERT Sub-Committee II also established the pre-evaluation process, presentation guidelines, post evaluation process, training, a creditability check and employee communication and these will be implemented as presented to the ERT at the June 29 meeting.

This letter and accord modifies the terms of the 1996-2001 contract with respect to the job evaluation system and it is believed that this letter accurately describes the agreement the Company and Union have reached.

Subject: MANUAL, CLERICAL AND TECHNICAL JOB CLASSIFICATIONS

Date: December 29, 2000

Reply By:

CINERGY.

The purpose of this letter is to amend and update the Walter C. Beckjord letter of October 1, 1945, which has served as a preamble to the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company's job classification and evaluation system for Union represented job classifications.

In October 1945, after a careful and comprehensive study of the various kinds of work necessary to conduct the business of the Company in a safe, efficient and otherwise satisfactory manner, and the requirements of each job involved, the Company by agreement with the Unions representing the employees and with the approval of the National War Labor Board (Region V), placed into effect a schedule of job titles and descriptions for all manual, clerical and technical employees. Wage rate schedules were established and made effective in accordance with the Union agreements and the approval of the War Labor Board.

The job descriptions and wage rate schedules were designed to provide a fair and equitable means by which all the jobs, within the scope of the plan, being filled by manual, clerical and technical employees could be designated with uniformity and understanding throughout the Company system. The Company and the duly certified exclusive bargaining representatives of the bargaining units agreed to the basis used for defining jobs. It became the duty and responsibility of the supervisory force as the representatives of management to see that it was applied and maintained in a fair and consistent manner. It was also essential that employees clearly understood the duties and requirements of the jobs to which they were assigned. While the job descriptions were not intended to be all-inclusive, they were intended to cover such typical tasks necessary to provide a fair basis for evaluation.

The job classification and evaluation plan provided:

1. A set of job descriptions which prescribe typical duties and qualifications;

2. A set of promotional charts indicating the line of normal promotions in the respective departments;

3. A set of wage schedules containing maximum wage rates for all jobs and steps of progression to arrive at the maximum wage rates;

In September 1998, a new evaluation system (BOGAR) was implemented to evaluate all manual, clerical and technical job classifications represented by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local 1347; the United Steelworkers of America, Locals 12049 and 5541-06; and the Independent Utilities Union. A joint union/management committee designed the BOGAR Job Evaluation System. In addition to the items listed above, the BOGAR system requires a Job Evaluation Questionnaire to be completed and approved for each new or revised job classification.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS

Each job description consists of a statement of the nature of work involved in the job classification, in sufficient detail to identify the title and content to those familiar with the organization; also a statement of the minimum qualifications required to enter the job. Each job description is subdivided into two parts, "Duties" and "Qualifications" as follows:

DUTIES

This section is devoted to a description of the essential duties required in the classification itself, considered entirely apart from the individual who may occupy the position. A sufficient number of duties are listed to:

1. Indicate the character and grade of the work;

2. Indicate the variety of duties;

3. Distinguish each job classification from another.

The duties for each job description are those principal duties that are required to properly identify and evaluate each of the specific job classifications. These duties are not to be considered all-inclusive. Employees may be temporarily assigned, within their capabilities, duties of other classifications. When the temporarily assigned duties are those of a higher or lower rated job classification the employees should be paid the appropriate rate of pay in accordance with the Union agreement.

This section also indicates, as a general guide, the degree of supervision under which the employees are expected to be able to perform their work; that is under "Close," "Directive," or "General Directive" supervision. These terms are defined as follows:

1. The term "under close supervision" means that the employees perform only those tasks which they have been instructed to do and are observed and supervised most of the time while performing them.

   For example: A helper assisting a mechanic in performing assignments would ordinarily be under the "close" supervision of the mechanic.

2. The term "under directive supervision" means that the employees perform primarily those tasks and duties which they have been directed to do and then carry out such instructions under observation or checking from time to time.

   For example: A mechanic, working under the direction of a supervisor, assigned to a section of the work but observed or contacted periodically during the day, by the supervisor, would be considered as working under "directive" supervision.

3. The term "under general directive supervision" means that the employees under general instructions perform duties independently, but within the limitations of standard practices or procedure.

   For example: A Senior Lineperson operating in the field on scheduled assignments, in accordance with standard practices and procedures but without any supervision while in the field, whose production or performance would be the check on activities and quality of work, would be considered as working under "general directive" supervision.

QUALIFICATIONS

In this section of the job descriptions are listed those minimum qualifications which the individual is expected to bring to the job. Specifically included are such items as basic education, degree of skill, extent of experience, special knowledge, and other required qualifications.

Company Requirements as to General Qualifications

In addition to the duties and qualifications for each job classification as set forth in the job descriptions, each employee must meet the Company's requirements as to general qualifications, which include:

1. The physical and mental abilities to perform the essential functions of the job classification, with or without reasonable accommodations;

2. The willingness to follow instructions and cooperate with other employees;

3. The willingness to respond to calls outside of regular hours, when the need arises and in emergencies, to help in any department or phase of the Company's operations in which they are qualified to help;

4. The willingness to work a shift schedule and irregular hours where the nature of the work requires it;

5. The willingness to direct and instruct or train employees, of a lower job rating, assisting on the same work;

6. If required by assignment to drive automobile or trucks, must hold a valid State Bureau of Motor Vehicles Operators' license;

7. Compliance with the general rules and practices of the Company, with specific rules of the department in which they are employed, and with those of other departments with which their work must be coordinated;

8. Thorough familiarity with and strict observance of the Company's safety rules applicable to their job;

9. Have the characteristics of dependability, trustworthiness, and carefulness, and have a satisfactory previous record in these respects;

10. The willingness to submit to physical examinations by a licensed physician designated by the Company;

11. The willingness to supply the necessary employment records including, but not limited to, birth certificate, social security number, selective service record, military record, character and past employment records.

JOB EVALUATION QUESTIONNAIRE

Each questionnaire consists of questions related to the six factors used to evaluate a job classification under the BOGAR system. One or more employees in a job classification represented by the applicable Union must complete and sign one questionnaire. A departmental management representative must approve the completed questionnaire. The six factors and related sections of the questionnaire are as follows:

INTERNAL CORRESPONDENCE

Knowledge

Questions related to the amount of formal and informal education, training and experience.

Responsibility

Questions related to the amount of responsibility for such things as: Company funds; confidential information; safety, training and/or work direction of others; materials and equipment; etc.

Customer Contact

Questions related to the amount, importance and difficulty of contacts with internal and external customers.

Decision Making and Complexity of Duties

Questions related to the complexity of the work; the freedom employees have to make decisions; and, the impact their decisions may have on the Company.

Physical/Adverse Characteristics

Questions related to the amount, duration and frequency of: physical work (e.g., lifting, climbing and walking); and, work in adverse conditions (e.g., heat, cold, dust and noise).

Hazards

Questions related to the inherent dangers in the job which directly expose the employee to the possibility of accidents which may result in lost time accidents or death.

WAGE SCHEDULE

Starting Rates

When employees are first assigned to a job classification, they receive the starting/minimum rate indicated in the wage schedule for that job, except in cases where an employee is already receiving a rate equal to or in excess of the starting/minimum rate indicated. In such event when the employee is promoting into the job classification, the employee receives an increase as described in the applicable Union Agreement, but in no event in excess of the maximum wage rate for the job to which the employee is assigned.

INTERNAL CORRESPONDENCE

Progression Steps within a Wage Range

The wage range provides for progression steps leading up to the maximum evaluated rate of the job. Job progression steps are designed for the purpose of advancing an employee within the wage range. These progression steps are to be used as follows:

At intervals of six months, the supervisor shall make a review of the employee's development and progress on the assigned job. If progress, measured by demonstrated ability and performance, has been satisfactory, the scheduled progression step will be made effective on the first Monday following the expiration of that particular interval, until the employee's wage rate equals the maximum rate specified for the particular job classification.

When the performance review indicates that the employee has not made satisfactory progress in the job and an increase in pay is not warranted the employee is to be personally notified by the immediate supervisor that the progression step increase is being withheld. The notification must take place at least one month in advance of the date for the scheduled progression step. In addition, serious consideration should be given as to whether or not the employee should be demoted, transferred or released. The Union may request a review of such a decision. Such review is to be made by a representative or representatives of the Union and a representative or representatives of the Company.

For new employees the six-month interval will start from the hiring date, and for promoted employees, a new series of six-month intervals will start on the date of promotion.

CONCLUSION

Although this plan is set forth as clearly and explicitly as possible, questions may arise as to the intent or interpretation of some provisions. In such event, the matter should be discussed with a representative in the Labor Relations department.

Very Truly Yours,

Re: Disconnect Non-pay, Succession
And Special Meter Reads Agreement

Dear Ms. Harthun:

This letter documents our discussions and agreements related to disconnect non-pay (DNP) field credit activity and succession and special meter reading work.

In August 2002, the Company met with the leadership of each of the CG&E affiliated local unions to discuss the need to significantly increase the number of completed DNP's and to complete all succession/special meter reads at a competitive cost. As a result of those discussions, a team was formed, which included the leadership from each union and management representatives, to evaluate the business case for implementing necessary flexibilities and cost control measures to perform the identified work at a competitive cost. The team was charged with reaching a consensus on a plan to achieve the desired results.

It was recognized that residual union jurisdictional issues around the DNP work and the succession and special meter reading work had resulted in restrictive work practices across the multiple unions connected with these job functions. Since August of 2002, the joint union and management team has worked together on a regular basis to achieve compromise for the implementation of the following competitive alternatives to outsourcing these job functions. Pending agreement with the leadership of the four local unions involved in the discussions, the Company will implement the changes described below.

The Company will form a new centrally managed work group for the specific purpose of performing the DNP fieldwork. The Company will initially staff the new work group with 10 existing employees (Senior Representatives) represented by the UWUA currently performing DNP work. Additionally, 8 employees will be added in each of two entry-level job classifications, one represented by the USWA and the other by the IBEW, Local 1347. It is understood that if any of the aforementioned 10 employees represented by the UWUA vacate their position and the Company decides to backfill the position(s), it will be filled as an entry-level DNP worker represented by the USWA or IBEW. The Company assured the Union that the two clerical positions that provide support to the DNP work process would not be eliminated as a result of this reorganization.

The 16 new entry-level DNP worker job openings will be made available to other employees represented by their respective unions (i.e., USWA and IBEW). If all 16 openings are not filled by employees in their respective unions or by displaced employees in redeployment represented by the IBEW, the remaining openings will be made available to full-time meter readers and then part-time meter readers, in that order. If any full-time or part-time meter readers vacate their positions as a result of accepting any of the initial 16 DNP worker job openings represented by the IBEW and USWA, the Company will backfill those vacancies accordingly (i.e., part-time with part-time and full-time with full-time). These agreements only apply to the initial 16 DNP worker job openings.

If any of the 10 Senior Representatives in Revenue Collections are bumped by Senior Representatives with more seniority as a result of Company initiatives, it will not impact the number of positions being eliminated through attrition.

The succession and special meter reading duties will be primarily, but not exclusively, assigned to UWUA represented employees. As a result, 10 new full-time meter reader job openings will be filled. Management intends to assign work other than succession/special reads to DNP workers represented by the USWA and IBEW, whenever there is other productive work available for them to perform within their job classifications. However, this does not restrict management's right to assign those employees to perform such meter reads. The Company agreed to backfill part-time meter reader positions that are vacated as a result of part-time meter readers accepting any of the initial 10 new full-time meter reader positions.

This agreement is made between the parties without prejudice to the position of either party regarding the jurisdiction, assignment and contracting of work. However, the Union agrees that no grievances will be filed or pursued relating to the assignment of work as described above, for the duration of this agreement. To the extent that the Company has retained its rights with regard to making future changes to this, or any other work processes in the future, the Union retains its right to grieve in the event that management implements changes to the above-described terms for achieving the DNP, succession and special meter reading work. In this context, however, it is also understood that slight modifications to this overall business plan may be made, as long as the plan's basic design remains in effect.

The team of management and union leaders is commended for their commitment to meeting the present day business needs in a competitive manner. It is expected that all parties will benefit by this plan for achieving this work with company employees. Please sign where indicated below to indicate the Union's agreement to the above terms.

Re: Post-Retirement Medical Benefits

Dear Ms. Harthun:

On April 27, 2004, the Company met with union representatives from UWUA Local 600, USWA 5541-06 and 12049 and IBEW 1347 to continue the negotiations for providing a post-retirement health reimbursement account ("HRA") option (the "HRA Option") to our active employees. Prior to that meeting, in a letter dated March 2, 2004, the Company provided the unions (I) a written overview of the Company's proposed design for the HRA Option, and (II) written responses to certain related questions. This letter updates the Company's proposed design for the HRA Option.

I. OVERVIEW OF HRA OPTION

All current, full-time employees represented by UWUA, Local 600 will be able to make a one-time choice between continuing in the current traditional post-retirement medical option (the "Traditional Option") or electing to participate in the new HRA Option described below. Employees will be required to make this election by a specified election date in 2004. (Notwithstanding the foregoing, employees currently receiving long-term disability benefits or on a military leave of absence, will make this election when they return to active, full-time status. If they do not return to active, full-time status, they will default to the Traditional Option.) All employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2005 will participate in the HRA Option. Each employee who elects to participate in the HRA Option, and each employee hired on or after January 1, 2005, will be referred to as a "HRA Participant" herein.

Under the Traditional Option, eligible retirees (those who retire after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service, as defined in the applicable Pension Plan) are provided access to group medical coverage and a premium subsidy that varies based upon the retirees' service and classification (see detail regarding the various classifications and subsidy levels attached hereto).

Subject to any collective bargaining obligation, the Company reserves the right to amend, modify or terminate the Traditional Option and/or the HRA Option at any time. However, amounts already credited to a HRA Participant's account will not be reduced by amendment, except to the extent necessary or appropriate to comply with changes in the law.

The benefit under the HRA Option is based on a bookkeeping account that can grow like a savings account with service and interest credits as described below. An employee who elects the HRA Option will start with an opening balance that is equal to 1/12th of $1,000 for each prior calendar month in which the HRA Participant worked at least one day for the Company. In the future, the Company will credit eligible HRA Participants with an additional 1/12th of $1,000 for each calendar month in which the HRA Participant works at least one day for the Company. The Company will also credit each eligible HRA Participant's bookkeeping account with an annual interest credit. Interest will be credited at the same interest rate as the cash balance updates as determined in August of each year, except that for the term of the current labor agreement, the interest rate will not be less than 3.5%; for 2004, the rate is 5.31%. Except as discussed below, only HRA Participants who are active, full-time employees and work at least one day in the month are eligible for the monthly service credit. Like retirees in the Traditional Option, HRA Participants will have access to group medical coverage only if they retire after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), however, there will be no subsidy. Please note the following regarding the HRA Option:

a. If a HRA Participant retires after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), the amounts credited to the HRAs generally can be used for the qualified medical expenses, as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code, of the retiree and the retiree's spouse and eligible dependents (see IRS publication 502 for examples of qualified medical expenses). To the extent permitted by applicable law and as is otherwise practicable, the HRA option is intended to provide a tax-free benefit. Due to future law changes, however, there can be no assurance of favorable tax treatment.

b. Except as provided below, if the employment of a HRA Participant terminates prior to attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined under the applicable Pension Plan), the HRA Participant forfeits all amounts credited to the HRA Account.

c. If a HRA Participant dies while actively employed prior to attaining age 50 with five (5) years of service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), the HRA Participant forfeits all amounts credited to the HRA Account.

d. If a HRA Participant dies while actively employed after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service, his/her spouse and eligible dependents will be entitled to use amounts credited to the HRA to pay qualified medical expenses immediately.

e. In the event of disability or leave, the Company will continue monthly service credits for the first 12 months. The Company will continue interest credits while the HRA Participant is disabled or on leave (and prior to recovery or retirement). For HRA Participants on a military leave, service credits and interest credits will continue for the full qualified leave period.

f. If the employment of a HRA Participant is involuntarily terminated in connection with an involuntary reduction in force and such termination is in no way related to performance deficiencies, the HRA Participant will be eligible to maintain his/her HRA balance as of termination. The HRA Participant will be able to use amounts held in his/her HRA Account immediately following the termination.

g. For the term of the current Collective Bargaining Agreement, the Company will agree not to amend, modify or terminate retiree health care benefits for any active employees covered by the CBA. Amounts credited to a HRA Participant's account will not be reduced by amendment, except to the extent necessary or appropriate to comply with changes in the law.

II. QUESTIONS

Set forth below are responses to some of the questions regarding the HRA Option raised in previous meetings.

1. Will the Company offer choice to all employees?

   A: Yes. Presently, the Company plans to allow all current, full-time employees to elect to stay in the Traditional Option or switch to the HRA Option. After January 1, 2005, new hires and rehires will automatically participate in the HRA Option.

2. Will an employee be able to elect the HRA Option upon retirement?

   A: No. A one-time election will take place in 2004.

3. Can a HRA Participant withdraw amounts credited to his/her HRA account in cash upon retirement? Can the Company pay the amount out in a lump sum?

   A: Money may be withdrawn from the HRA account only for paying qualified medical expenses. The account will not be paid out in cash. Favorable tax treatment is available for a HRA only if the HRA reimburses medical expenses as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code. As stated below from IRS Notice 2002-45, any right to receive cash will disqualify the HRA from receiving favorable tax treatment.

   "An HRA does not qualify for the exclusion under § 105(b) if any person has the right to receive cash or any other taxable or non-taxable benefit under the arrangement other than the reimbursement of medical care expenses. If any person has such a right under an arrangement currently or for any future year, all distributions to all persons made from the arrangement in the current tax year are included in gross income, even amounts paid to reimburse medical care expenses. For example, if an arrangement pays a death benefit without regard to medical care expenses, no amounts paid under the arrangement to any person are reimbursements for medical care expenses excluded under § 105(b)... Arrangements formally outside the HRA that provide for the adjustment of an employee's compensation or an employee's receipt of any other benefit will be considered in determining whether the arrangement is an HRA and whether the benefits are eligible for the exclusions under §§ 106 and 105(b). If, for example, in the year an employee retires, the employee receives a bonus and the amount of the bonus is related to that employee's maximum reimbursement amount remaining in an HRA at the time of retirement, no amounts paid under the arrangement are reimbursements for medical care expenses for purposes of § 105(b)..."

4. What happens to the HRA balance upon disability or extended leave from the Company?

   A: See Section I(e).

5. What happens to the HRA balance in the event of a termination of employment?

   A: See Section I.

6. What happens to the HRA balance if I die while actively employed?

   A: See Sections I(c) and I(d). Currently, the spouse and eligible dependents of an employee who dies while actively employed with Cinergy can elect to become covered under the non-union medical plan and receive subsidized coverage at the active employee rate until death or a disqualifying event (for the spouse, this would include, but not be limited to, remarrying or becoming Medicare eligible; for an eligible dependent, it would include, but not be limited to, ceasing to qualify as an eligible dependent due to age).

7. Will the Company contributions be indexed in future years (e.g., indexed to the trend line for health care costs)?

   A: No. At this time, we do not plan to align our service credit or interest credit to any index. However, the Company will continue to evaluate its crediting levels. Subject to any collective bargaining obligations, the Company reserves the right to make adjustments, including increasing, decreasing or discontinuing credits unilaterally.

8. Will the opening HRA balances be calculated with retroactive interest crediting?

   A: No. Making retroactive interest credits would be cost prohibitive from the Company's perspective.

9. What are other companies doing with regards to post-retirement healthcare?

   A: See Hewitt survey previously provided (51% of survey respondents have a unionized workforce).

10. How can HRA Participants use amounts credited to the HRA?

    A: Money credited to a HRA can be used to reimburse the HRA Participant for medical expenses as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code. See IRS publication 502 for examples of qualified medical expenses.

11. Who will administer the HRA account balances?

    A: Hewitt Associates will track the HRA credits while HRA Participants are actively employed. The Company is reviewing proposals from third party administrators for post-retirement administration, but this will likely be Hewitt Associates.

12. Will the HRAs be protected/guaranteed?

    A: The benefit under the HRA option is based on a bookkeeping account and is not funded like a 401(k) plan. See Section I regarding the Company's ability to amend.

13. If the Company decides to eliminate the Traditional Option at a later date, would employees be allowed to get in the HRA?

    A: The Company periodically evaluates its benefit programs and would determine the appropriate course of action at that time.

14. Would interest on the HRA account continue to accrue after an employee retires?

    A: See Section I.

15. If two Cinergy employees are married, can they make different elections with respect to the HRA Option?

A: Yes, one could elect to remain in the Traditional Option, and the other could elect the HRA Option; if they remain married during retirement and so elect, they would receive subsidized coverage under the Traditional Option and have access to amounts credited to the HRA on behalf of the other spouse. Regardless, the elections are independent of each other.

Please note that the explanation set forth above merely summarizes the basic elements of our currently proposed design for the HRA Option. The Company is in the process of working out the details of the HRA proposal and necessarily reserves the right to work out those details. The Company also reserves the right to more fully document the HRA Option, which option will be governed and construed in accordance with the terms of the Plan as adopted by the Company.

What are other companies doing with regards to post-retirement healthcare? Hewitt Associates conducted a survey for the Henry J Kaiser Family Foundation between June and September 2003 to understand how large private-sector employers are handling retiree health benefits. The survey included responses from 45% of all Fortune 100 companies and 30% of all Fortune 500 companies. Among the companies surveyed this is what they had to say:

- 10% have terminated all subsidized health benefits for future retirees
- 20% say they are very likely to terminate all subsidized health benefits for future retirees
- 35% of the firms terminated benefits for future retirees and now provide access-only to health benefits with the retiree paying 100% of the cost
- 6% of employers shifted to a defined contribution approach
- 71% report having increased retiree contributions to premiums in the past year 53% report increases to plan design cost sharing
- 57% increased prescription drug co-payments
- 12% now require mandatory mail-order refills for maintenance drugs

Re: Amendment to Sidebar Letter A-42 Post-Retirement Medical Benefits

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During 2012 contract negotiations, the parties discussed Sidebar Letter A-42 dated June 10, 2004 regarding post-retirement medical benefits. As a result of those discussions, the parties agreed that Sidebar Letter A-42 will (i) continue to apply without modification for employees hired prior to January 1, 2013, and (ii) be amended to reflect that any employee hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2013 will not participate in the HRA Option or the Traditional Option (both as defined in Sidebar Letter A-42). It follows that Sidebar Letter A-42 is hereby amended as set forth below:

In the second full paragraph on page one of Sidebar Letter A-42, the fifth and sixth sentences are hereby deleted and replaced with the following:

- All employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2005 and before January 1, 2013 will participate in the HRA Option. No employee hired on or after January 1, 2013 will participate in the HRA Option or the Traditional Option.

- No employee rehired on or after January 1, 2013 will continue to participate in the HRA Option or the Traditional Option following such rehire date. Any such rehired employee who was participating in the HRA Option or the Traditional Option at the time of such employee's prior termination of employment:
  (i) shall be eligible for access to the HRA or premium subsidies, as applicable, only if he or she was eligible for such HRA access or premium subsidies at the time of such prior termination of employment, and
  (ii) shall not accrue additional benefits under either the HRA Option or the Traditional Option.

- Employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2013 who retire after attaining age 50 with at least five (5) years of service under the applicable Pension Plan are provided unsubsidized access to post-retirement medical coverage.

- Each employee who elected to participate in the HRA Option, and each employee hired on or after January 1, 2005 and before January 1, 2013 will be referred to as an 'HRA Participant' herein.

A-42a

Any provision of Sidebar Letter A-42 that is inconsistent with the above shall be deemed no longer in effect. Except as provided herein, the remaining provisions of Sidebar Letter A-42 continue in full force and effect.

It is believed that this letter accurately reflects the parties' agreement.

RE: Post-Retirement Healthcare

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 negotiations, the parties discussed post-retirement healthcare benefits. This letter amends the Post-Retirement Medical Benefits Sidebar Letter A-42 dated June 10, 2004 and A-42a dated April 13, 2012, and confirms these discussions and the resulting agreement.

Access to Post-Retirement Health Benefits

Employees who terminate on or after October 1, 2015 after attaining at least age 50 with at least 5 years of service will have unsubsidized access (i.e., no Company contributions) to post-retirement medical, dental, and vision coverage; provided, however, that beginning as soon as January 1. 2021. employees who do not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical. dental and vision coverage at the time of retirement or following the expiration of any COBRA continuation will not be permitted to enroll themselves or their eligible dependents at a future date. Coverage for retirees age 65 and older will be provided on an unsubsidized basis through a Medicare Coordinator. The Company shall provide a subsidy/contribution towards the cost of post-retirement health coverage only as provided below in this letter.

Subsidies/Company Contributions - Traditional Option

For employees who terminate on or after October 1, 2015, the "Traditional Option" is hereby amended to provide contributions towards the cost of post-retirement healthcare coverage, in the form of credits to a newly established Subsidy Health Reimbursement Account ("Subsidy HRA"), only for individuals who are under age 65 and who are:

- In a group eligible for a medical subsidy under the rules in effect prior to October 1, 2015, which is limited to those hired prior January 1, 2013; and
- At least age 55 with at least 1 O years of service at termination of employment.

The amount of the contributions will vary as follows:

- Eligible employees age 50 or older by October 1, 2015 will receive (during retirement) a pre- 65 contribution of $350 per month, plus $175 per month for their spouse/domestic partner, if any; and
- Eligible employees younger than age 50 as of October 1, 2015 will receive (during retirement) a pre-65 contribution of $250 per month, plus $125 per month for their spouse/domestic partner, if any.

Subsidies/Company Contributions - HRA Option

Effective October 1, 2015, the "HRA Option" is hereby amended such that:

- The Company will discontinue crediting 1 /12 of $1,000 each month to the health reimbursement accounts for those employees who have a health reimbursement account under the HRA Option, with interest credits continuing; and

- The Company will offer a choice window in 2015 to employees who have a health reimbursement account under the HRA Option to elect whether to continue In the HRA Option (modified as described in the above bullet) or to forego their rights to their modified health reimbursement accounts under the HRA Option in exchange for participation in the Traditional Option (modified to provide credits to a Subsidy HRA as described above).

Miscellaneous

The post-retirement health benefits described above will replace the post-retirement medical coverage options in effect prior to October 1, 2015, for employees who terminate on or after October 1, 2015, Including those described in Sidebar Letters A-42 and A-42a. These benefits will be governed by and construed in accordance with the applicable plan documents.

In all other respects, Sidebar Letters A-42 and 42a shall continue in accordance with their terms.

RE: Temporary Upgrading

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed temporarily upgrading employees in clerical and technical job classifications.

The Agreement provides that temporary upgrading shall only be available for manual employees. However, as a result of these discussions, the Company will agree, during the term of the 2019 – 2023 Agreement, to permit clerical and technical employees to be temporarily advanced to higher classifications. Employees will only be given consideration for temporary advancement when they actually replace another employee in a higher job classification for a full day or more; or supervision deems there is a need for an employee to fulfill the duties of a higher classified job for a full day or more. When employees are temporarily upgraded they will receive the minimum rate of the higher job classification or $10.00 per week more than their current wage rate, whichever is greater. When selecting the individual to be temporarily advanced, the management will give consideration to seniority and rotation among qualified employees. Such upgrading will not take place when the work duties of another employee are distributed among several other employees, or when employees perform duties of higher classified jobs for training purposes.

The Company voiced a serious concern about the potential for voluminous grievances if temporary upgrading is permitted for non-manual employees as described. As agreed, no grievances will be processed by the Union as a result of this limited exception to Article XII, Section 6 of the Agreement.

RE: Meter Reading

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed Meter Reading operations.

Job Classification, Meter Reader - New: As discussed, the Meter Reader - Full Time job classification will be retitled Meter Reader - New and the wage rate adjusted to the MR 3 wage level upon ratification of the new Agreement. Incumbent employees in this classification will have their hourly rate adjusted to the minimum rate of the MR 3 wage level and will be eligible for merit and general wage increases as outlined in the Agreement.

Part-time Meter Readers: Should part time employees be utilized in the future, they will be hired into the Meter Reader - New classification at the minimum rate of pay as outlined in the Agreement. All provisions of the Agreement regarding part-time employment would apply to these employees. Part-time Meter Readers will receive the appropriate compensation for overtime when they work in excess of 8-hours in a day or any other regularly scheduled shift that is longer than 8 hours.

Hours of Work: Core meter reading hours will be from 7:30 AM to 4:00 PM, subject to changes based on business needs and to any schedule arrangements approved by an employee's supervisor or manager. The normal work day will consist of 8.5 hours including a 30 minute unpaid meal break; however, based on business needs, employees may be assigned a straight eight hour shift with a paid fifteen minute break. The Company reserves the right to change these hours based on business needs in accordance with the Agreement. Employees working in excess of their scheduled work day will receive premium pay and meal compensation as provided for in the Agreement.

Transfers: Any future full-time openings in divisions offices will first be offered to voluntary transfers of current qualified full-time Meter Readers.

Re: Interplant Seniority Rights

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2005 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the interplant seniority rights for employees at the electric generating stations, in the event of a surplus situation.

As agreed, during the term of the 2005 - 2008 Agreement, should the Company declare a surplus at one of its electric generating stations and affected employees cannot be absorbed into the work force at the plant, all of the electric generating stations within the CG&E service territory will be considered one department for purposes of administering roll-backs. The intent is to provide the more senior employees at the station with a surplus situation, the ability to bump the less senior employees at the other stations. The wage rates of surplus employees will be red circled.

By proceeding in this manner, the Union's concern in this matter is alleviated.

Re: Treatment for Substance Abuse

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2005 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the compensation policy for employees who undertake treatment for substance abuse.

While the treatment of these conditions is specifically excepted from coverage under the sick leave provisions of the Agreement, the Company will, for the term of the 2005 – 2008 Agreement, continue the arrangement of providing short-term disability benefits (STD) to employees who obtain treatment at an appropriate detoxification facility under the direction of the Company or in coordination with the Company and the employee's personal physician. Available STD may only be used for the first continuous absence when an employee undertakes to correct a substance abuse problem through an approved program. If the initial rehabilitation effort at a treatment center is not successful, the employee will not be granted additional STD.

The Company is willing to extend this extra effort to help afflicted employees and their families, to eliminate the burden imposed upon fellow employees, and to minimize lost productivity and absenteeism caused by substance abuse. Employees who are unwilling to accept the responsibility for their own behavior or who refuse to participate in a necessary program will, as in the past, jeopardize their continued employment with the Company.

The Union is encouraged to make the Company aware of individuals thought to have substance abuse problems. With such assistance, fellow employees may be given a chance for which they may be forever grateful.

Re: Personal/Diversity Day Requests

Dear Mr. Anderson:

It was agreed that the individual departments would attempt to accommodate as many requests as possible to take a personal/Diversity or vacation day on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, Presidents' Day and/or Good Friday during the term of the 2005 - 2008 Agreement. All requests for a personal/Diversity or vacation day must be made by employees at least 7 days in advance. Days requested with the 7 day advance notice will not be considered as an absence for determining an individual attendance record.

It is thought that this agreement will be mutually beneficial for all involved.

RE: Vacation Carryover

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed carryover vacations.

It was agreed that henceforth employees entitled to a vacation may carryover up to a maximum of 80 hours of vacation into the next year. The amount of carryover vacation available in any calendar year may not exceed the 80 hour maximum. Use of vacation carried over may be taken any time during the following calendar year, subject to approval by supervision and the terms outlined in the Agreement for vacation use.

Re: Job Elimination Situations

CINERGY.
CG&E

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2005 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the possibility of employees bumping other employees with less system service seniority at the same wage level in other job classifications in the event of a job elimination situation.

During the discussions the Union wanted the Company to agree to allow senior employees at a given wage level within a bidding area, the right to bump junior employees in other job classifications at the same wage level within the same bidding area, even though the senior employees had never been in the job classification(s) occupied by the junior employees. Due to the potential for a significant loss in productivity, the Company could not agree to that arrangement. However, during the term of the 2005 – 2008 agreement, it was agreed that if such a situation should arise, the Company would work with the Union on a case-by-case basis, in an attempt to place such employees in other available job classifications at the same wage level within the same bidding area. It was further agreed that if the Company is unable to place such employees in job classifications at the same wage level within the bidding area and they have 25 or more years of system service, they will maintain their job titles and wage levels and be eligible for negotiated increases and bonuses. This only applies when such employees with more system service seniority are qualified, but cannot bump into a same wage level job within the bidding area, held by a junior system service seniority individual because they have not passed through the other job.

It was also agreed that should a job elimination situation occur during the term of this Agreement, at the request of the Union, the parties would meet to discuss the rollback procedure described in Article V, Section 3, which may be revised by mutual agreement of the parties.

This accurately reflects the agreements reached between the parties.

Very truly yours,

RE: Retirement Plan Agreement

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2008 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the UWUA, Local 600 (the "Union") discussed the Company's desire to migrate all employees to a common benefits program. The following outlines the agreement between the Company and the Union for providing the employees with options and protections for Retirement Plan participation that will remain in effect during the 2008 – 2012 Contract.

Traditional Retirement Program Frozen:

Participation in the Cinergy Traditional Retirement Program will be frozen as of January 1, 2013 for certain employees. Active employees on January 1, 2013 who are younger than age 50 (as of December 31, 2012) and anyone who is older than 50 but has fewer than 25 years of service (as of December 31, 2012), will automatically begin participating in the New Duke Retirement Program.

Voluntary Conversion Opportunities:

Active employees in the Traditional Retirement Program will be offered a voluntary window in 2008 to elect to remain in the Traditional Pension Program or elect the New Retirement Program. In 2012, a second voluntary window will be offered only to those active employees who remain in the Traditional Program and who are age 50 with 25 years or more of service as of December 31, 2012.

Voluntary Conversion to the New Retirement Program:

Part A Benefit (Part A): The pension plan benefit employees will earn under the Traditional Program will be based on their participation service as of the "day before conversion date" and their final average monthly pay at retirement (not the date of conversion).

AND

Part B Benefit (Part B): On the "conversion date," employees will start earning an additional pension plan benefit through a new formula that "mirrors" the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan.

The Company matching contributions for the 401(k) plan will be enhanced to mirror the Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan. As a result, employees will be eligible to receive higher matching contributions on a broader definition of pay. The higher amount is a dollar-for-dollar match on the first 6% of eligible pay (this includes base, overtime and annual incentive pay).

Employees will also begin participating in an annual incentive plan with greater award opportunities (up to 5%).

With Mandatory Conversion to the New Retirement Program:

1. Mandatory conversion will be effective January 1, 2013 for employees who have elected to remain in the Cinergy Traditional Retirement Program. Other terms applicable to the mandatory conversion are as follows:

   a. The final average monthly pay for retirement will be frozen at the time of conversion (no pay run up).

   b. Employees will have no choice between annuity and lump sum on Part A; only the current traditional program annuitant options will be available for Part A.

   c. Can still grow in to the 85 points.

   d. Employees will receive the enhanced 401(k) and enhanced incentive pay as described above once they mandatorily convert.

Employees Currently in the Cash Balance Plans:

Employees who previously selected one of the Cinergy cash balance plans (Balance or Investor) will automatically transition to the New Retirement Program as soon as administratively possible, but no later than January 1, 2009, to include participation in a cash balance pension plan that mirrors the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan and an enhanced 401(k) plan to mirror the Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan and an enhanced annual incentive plan as described below:

Annual Incentive Plan Summary Changes for those who elect or automatically move to the New Retirement Program:

In conjunction with the New Retirement Program, all participants who volunteer or upon mandatory conversion to the New Retirement Program will be eligible for up to a 5% maximum annual incentive pay (payable in 2010) based on the achievement of goals as set forth below:

NEW RETIREMENT PROGRAM – UEIP

Goal	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Company Financial Result	.75%	1.5%	3%
Safety	.5%	.75%	1%
Customer Satisfaction	.5%	.75%	1%
	1.75%	3.0%	5.0%

Annual Incentive Plan Summary Changes for those who do not elect the New Retirement Program:

Employees who elect to remain in the Cinergy Traditional Program, which provides benefits under the current final average pay formula, will not be eligible for the higher incentive payout, but will continue their eligibility for the current Cinergy 401(k) Plan formula and will begin participating in an annual incentive plan, with a maximum award of 2% based on the achievement of goals as set forth below:

TRADITIONAL RETIREMENT PLAN – UEIP

Goal	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3
Company Financial Result	.5%	.75%	1%
Safety	.25%	.375%	.5%
Customer Satisfaction	.25%	.375%	.5%
	1.0%	1.5%	2.0%

The Retirement Conversion Agreement Survives the 2008 – 2012 Contract:

The Company and the Union expressly understand and agreed that the Retirement Program conversion agreement shall continue in full force through January 1, 2013, surviving the termination of the 2008 – 2012 Contract, and shall continue in full force through succeeding contracts, or in the absence of succeeding contracts, unless changed by mutual agreement of the parties.

RE: Amendment to A-58 Retirement Plan Agreement

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 negotiations, the Company and the Union discussed changes to the Company's retirement programs. This letter sets forth the changes that were agreed to by the Company and the Union.

Retirement Benefits for New Hires

For employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2016, the Company will provide an annual contribution to the Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan ("RSP") in the amount of 4% of the employee's annual compensation (including base, overtime, and incentive compensation) in accordance with the RSP plan documents. Such newly hired or rehired employees also will be eligible for the Company-provided matching contribution equal to 100% of the before-tax (and Roth) contributions made up to 6% of eligible compensation in accordance with the RSP plan documents on the same basis as employees hired or rehired prior to January 1, 2016. Employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2016 will not be eligible to participate in the Cinergy Corp. Union Employees' Retirement Income Plan (the "Retirement Income Plan").

Cash Balance Interest Credit

The cash balance interest credit rate under the Retirement Income Plan for pay credits made on and after January 1, 2016 will be based on a 4% interest rate (0.327% monthly equivalent interest rate). For purposes of clarity, the cash balance interest credit rate applies to cash balance participants and the Part B benefit for participants who have a Part A (traditional) and Part B (cash balance) pension plan benefit. The Part A (traditional) portion of the participant's benefit will not be affected by this change.

Retirement Income Benefit for Long-Term Disability

A participant who starts receiving long-term disability benefits on or after July 1, 2016 will receive interest credits under the Retirement Income Plan's cash balance formula while disabled, but will not receive pay credits while long-term disabled, in accordance with the Retirement Income Plan documents. This change will not apply for any individual who starts receiving long-term disability benefits before July 1, 2016, or participants under the traditional formula, or for the Part A benefit for participants who have a Part A (traditional) and Part B (cash balance) pension plan benefit.

For purposes of clarity, as previously agreed, the Company may in its discretion merge the Retirement Income Plan into the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan or other defined benefit plan maintained by the Company. In accordance with applicable law, any such merger will not reduce participants' accrued benefits.

The complete provisions of the Company's retirement plans are set forth in the plan documents, as amended to make administrative changes, legally-required changes and/or technical changes that do not reduce the benefits formula. In the event of a conflict between any other communication and the plan documents themselves, the plan documents control.

It is thought that this letter accurately describes the agreement reached by the parties regarding amendments to Sidebar Letter A-58 relating to retirement plan agreements.

Sincerely,

Jay R. Alvaro

RE: Amendment to A-60 Letter Regarding the Union Employee Annual Incentive Plan (UEIP)

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the UWUA, Local 600 ("Union") discussed eligibility for the Union Employee Annual Incentive Plan ("UEIP"). As a result of those discussions, the parties agreed to amend Letter A-60 dated June 2, 2008 as set forth below.

Beginning with the 2015 calendar year performance period under the UEIP, the Company will provide a prorated UEIP payment (calculated as set forth below) to any eligible Union employee who meets the following criteria during a performance period: (i) works for at least six complete calendar months, and (ii) retires (as defined below).

Such prorated UEIP payments shall be paid in the first quarter of the calendar year immediately following the applicable performance period at the same time and on the same basis as other UEIP payments are made to other eligible Union employees, and any such prorated UEIP payment shall be calculated based on the eligible earnings of the retired Union employee during the applicable performance period and actual achievement relative to the pre-established goals set forth in Letter A-60.

For purposes of clarity, in no event will a Union employee who does not meet the criteria set forth in this letter be eligible for a prorated UEIP payment for a performance period if he or she isn't employed on December 31st of the performance period. For purposes of this Letter, "retire" means separate from employment with the Company after having attained at least age 55 and 10 years of service (as determined for purposes of access to Company sponsored retiree medical coverage).

In other respects, Sidebar Letter A-60 shall continue in full force and effect herein for the duration of the 2015 - 2019 Agreement, unless changed by mutual agreement of the parties.

Sincerely,

RE: Cincinnati Customer Care Center

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the UWUA, Local 600 (the "Union") discussed the Duke Energy Cincinnati Customer Care Center.

As agreed, the Cincinnati Customer Care Center organization will consist of Customer Service Representatives (CSR) and Service Installation (SI). The CSR group will consist of employees in the Cust Svc Rep-FT Regular, Customer Service Rep-Full Time New, and Cust Service Rep-Part Time New job classifications. The Service Installation group will consist of employees in the Order Processing and Customer Service Representative – Service Installation classifications.

The Cincinnati Customer Care Center wages and merit increases will be administered per the attached (Attachment A). The minimum wage rate for the Cust Svc Rep-FT Regular and Customer Service Rep-Full Time New classifications will be $14.50 per hour and the maximum hourly rate will be $16.00 per hour. Effective April 1, 2020 and for the remaining term of the 2019 – 2023 Agreement, the General Wage Increase (GWI) applicable to UWUA represented Clerical employees will be applied to the maximum hourly wage rate of $16.00 for the Cust Svc Rep-FT Regular and Customer Service Rep-Full Time New classifications. In addition, this increase will be applied to the individual hourly wage rates for employees in these classifications not to exceed the maximum rate of pay. The minimum rate of pay will not increase over the term of the Agreement.

Incentives in the Cincinnati Customer Care Center will be based on the achievement of established performance measures as determined by the Company. The Company will notify the Union of any changes and will meet to discuss if requested by the Union. Any request by the Union to meet for discussion will not delay the implementation of incentive measures. Any employee, who is serving in a non-call-taking role, will receive a bonus equal to the average bonus payout for call-takers, unless an alternative method is mutually agreed upon by management and union representatives. There will be a quarterly review by management and union representatives to ensure that bonus calculations are accurate. Assuming the union representatives involved in this review are in agreement with the calculations, the Union agrees not to support or process grievances related to the bonus calculations.

An incentive eligible employee, who leaves the Cincinnati Call Center, prior to the end of a quarter, will receive a prorated bonus for the time worked in the Cincinnati Call Center organization.

It is expected that representatives working evening, night, holiday or weekend shifts provide at least three hours' notice if they are going to be unable to report to work, whether due to illness or other factors. It is understood that there will be times when an emergency occurs within three hours of the start of an employee's shift.

Employees (including SI), who are called out for other than planned overtime, will be paid a minimum of four hours at the appropriate overtime rate except when they come in, relative to storms, less than four hours before their scheduled shift. In this case, they will only be paid at the applicable overtime rate for a minimum of two hours.

Employees (including SI), who are called out for other than planned overtime, will be paid a minimum of four hours at the appropriate overtime rate except when they come in, relative to storms, less than four hours before their scheduled shift. In this case, they will only be paid at the applicable overtime rate for a minimum of two hours.

The Call Center may elect to observe the actual holiday or the Company designated holiday based on business needs. Prior to December 31 of each year the Company will notify employees of the holiday schedule for the following year. Employees scheduled to work the holiday designated by the Call Center that are excused from work by the Company will receive holiday pay for the regularly scheduled hours they would have worked on the holiday. All other employees will receive eight hours of holiday pay. Twelve hour and nine hour employees working on the holiday designated by the Call Center will receive time and one-half pay for their scheduled hours. If the employee exceeds their scheduled hours, double time will be paid for those hours worked in excess of their schedule. In order to be eligible to receive holiday pay, full time Customer Service Representatives must work the last regularly scheduled workday prior to the holiday and the first regularly scheduled workday after the holiday.

The Union agrees to support the following:

Virtual Routing (Base Customer Care)

- The Union agrees to not grieve the routing of Duke Energy customer calls and other types of Call Center non-call work to available representatives within the Duke Energy Call Centers or outsourced center(s). The outsourced portion of this work is not subject to any related side-letter agreements.

Premium for Specialties

- Employees in developmental roles will receive $1.75 per hour in addition to the employee's normal hourly wage rate. These roles currently include the training of new employees and performing the duties of On Job Trainer. This premium may be applied to other roles as determined by the Company. Prior to applying this premium to other duties, the Union and Company will meet at least thirty days in advance to discuss.

- Full-time new and part-time representatives, within the Cincinnati Call Center, who demonstrate, through assessment, that they are fluent in Spanish, will be paid a premium of $1.00 per hour.

Applicable to Customer Care Operations (Base and SI)

- Virtual Agents. The use of Virtual Agents was discussed and it was agreed that the Company will have the ability to implement a Virtual Agent program based on business needs. The advantages to such a program include faster response for emergency/outage situations, a more efficient use of resources, and increased customer satisfaction. Eligibility will be based on an employee's performance including but not limited to:

  - Achieving or exceeding all performance metrics.
  - No corrective action within the past twelve months.
  - Minimal escalations or Resource Support Line (RSL) calls.
  - Participating employees who subsequently develop performance related issues may have their Virtual Agent privileges revoked.

The number of employees participating in the program is at the sole discretion of the Company. In the event that two or more employees' performance is equal as determined by the Company, seniority will be the deciding factor. Order Processing Representative and Customer Service Representative – Service Installation (CSR-SI) classifications will be combined when determining eligibility for the Service Installation work group. In addition, the program may be suspended or discontinued based on business needs by the Company in its sole discretion. Prior to making such a decision, the Company will meet with the Union for discussion.

- Emergency or Abnormal Operations. In order to ensure that our customers' needs are met during outage, abnormal, or emergency situations, it was agreed that a 33% response rate over a rolling twelve month period would apply to all Cincinnati Customer Care employees. Response is defined as reporting to work a call out associated with these types of situations. Any employee who has pre-approved vacation/personal time scheduled immediately prior to or after scheduled off days, or is beginning or ending a bereavement leave, will not have a non-response credited to them for the purposes of calculating the response rate. However, if an employee does respond in this situation a credit will be applied. Employees failing to meet the required rate are subject to corrective action.

- Vacation Availability. In the event that Workforce Management determines that additional vacation slots are available during the workday, employees will have the ability to make a request to take advantage of these slots.

Applicable to Base Customer Care Operations

Employees may be hired either as full time or part time based on business needs. In accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement new employees will be classified as probationary for a period of one year. Probationary CSRs will not be eligible to apply for other positions for a period of twelve months from the date of hire. Employees meeting the educational requirements for technical positions represented by the UWUA will be eligible to apply within the twelve month period.

Based on business needs there may be a requirement for part time CSRs. All part-time CSRs will receive part-time employee benefits, regardless of the number of hours they work. While the intention is for part-time CSRs to be scheduled for less than 32 hours per week, they may exceed this number of hours due to actual or expected peak call volumes, trading of hours between employees, etc.

In 2012 two new schedules were agreed to;

A) 3 twelve hour days and 1 four hour day.

B) 4 nine hour days and 1 four hour day.

The Company reserves the right to implement these and other schedules based on business needs. At least 30 days prior to implementation, the Union and Company will meet to discuss the schedule. The Company will make every attempt to notify effected employees within a reasonable amount of time when planned overtime is being cancelled.

The meal provision for twelve hour workers will be triggered when the employee works thirteen consecutive hours and fifteen consecutive hours with the employee receiving a meal, or compensation in lieu thereof. For employees on a nine hour schedule, a meal or compensation in lieu thereof, will be provided at eleven and fifteen consecutive hours respectively.

Personal days must be taken in full day increments regardless of the employee's schedule. Twelve hour shift workers will be entitled to three personal day and one diversity day and nine hour shift workers will be entitled to four personal days and one diversity day.

Applicable to Service Installation

Customer Service Representative – Service Installation (CSR-SI) within the Customer Relations bid area will have a minimum wage rate of $16.50 and a maximum wage rate of $19.00 per hour. Only full time employees will be considered for this position. The minimum and maximum wage rates are not subject to the negotiated annual wage increases. For the first 12 months after entry into the classification, and in accordance with the Patrick P. Gibson Letter, employees failing to meet performance standards may be demoted to the Full Time New job classification. Such demotion may take place prior to corrective action being taken. This does not preclude action being taken on more serious offenses such as but not limited to attendance, zero tolerance calls, or any dischargeable offense. Any demotion will not be subject to the grievance procedure. If such a demotion occurs, the employee's rate of pay will be reduced to the rate of pay at the time the employee promoted to the CSR-SI position plus any merit increase that the employee had received since their promotion, not to exceed the maximum wage rate for the CSR classification. If the employee is demoted, they will not be considered for promotion for an additional nine months, from the date of demotion or last corrective action. During the first six months, an employee can request to demote from CSR-SI. Employees who demote within six months will retain their classified seniority. Employees demoted after six months will receive an adjusted seniority date.

Employees in the CSR-SI classification will receive a $0.50 merit increase every six months in accordance with the December 29, 2000 Patrick P. Gibson Letter in lieu of the annual general wage increase until reaching the maximum rate of pay. Once an employee reaches the maximum rate of pay, they will receive an annual lump sum equal to the negotiated general wage increase for clerical employees.

Employees accepting a Customer Service Representative – Service Installation position will not be eligible to cross or laterally bid for a period of nine months from the date they enter the classification.

This letter will be in effect during the term of the 2019 – 2023 Agreement.

Sincerely,

Michael A. Ciccarella

RE: Revenue Services Representative

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2012 negotiations, the parties discussed consolidating the current three work groups within the Revenue Services Department into one newly created job classification titled "Revenue Services Representative" (RSR). Based on these discussions, the parties agreed to create the RSR position in accordance with this letter.

Specifically, Revenue Services currently is comprised of three work groups: (1) Billing, (2) Accounts Receivables, and (3) Payments. These three work groups' functions will be combined and performed by the newly created RSR position. The job description for the RSR position is Attachment A to this letter.

Wage Rate: The minimum rate of pay for the RSR position is established at $17.00 per hour and will not increase during the term of the contract. The maximum rate of pay is $19.50 per hour with the maximum increasing to $19.75 on April 1, 2021. The GWI will not increase the minimum or maximum rate of pay for this position. Any employee below the new minimum rate of pay will be increased to new minimum with next payroll following contract ratification.

Merit Increases: Employees in the RSR position may progress to the maximum wage rate through merit increases of $0.25 at six-month intervals. Employees will be eligible for $0.25 merit increases in accordance with the December 29, 2000 Patrick P. Gibson Letter. Employees at the maximum rate of pay will receive an annual merit increase in a lump sum amount equal to the negotiated general wage increase for clerical employees, which may be in the form of a percentage pay increase and/or lump sum amount.

Selection: The Company will give first consideration to full-time employees over part-time employees in the competency-based selection process for the RSR position when all other things are equal.

Incumbent Employees. Incumbent employees will perform all functions of the newly created job description but will be considered grandfathered in their existing classifications. Incumbent employees will continue to receive the negotiated general wage increases applicable to their current job classifications in accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement. In addition, these employees will retain all bid and rollback rights in the Customer Relations Bidding Area.

Tamper Theft and Switched Meter Work -The Company and the Union agree to establish a $1.75 per hour premium to be paid to employees in the RSR position when management assigns them to perform tamper theft and switched meter work. Management will assign full-time employees to perform specialty-type work as needed. Any employee who has received a verbal warning in the past six months, or a disciplinary letter or higher-level discipline in the past year will not be considered. Such employees are eligible for consideration once his or her record is free from a verbal warning for six months, and/or free from any disciplinary letter or higher-level discipline for one year. It is anticipated the number of employees performing this work will vary based on work load.

Should additional specialty type work be brought into these teams the company will meet with the Union, at their request, to determine whether the premium is applicable to the work. The Company reserves the right in its sole discretion to determine whether the premium is applicable.

Management will consider seniority as a tiebreaker to determine which equally qualified employees will be assigned to perform this work. No premium will be paid to employees while training or on paid time off. This letter shall not be construed as limiting management's rights under the terms of the applicable collective bargaining agreement.

Title	Wage Range	Merit Increase
Revenue Services Rep April 1, 2019 - March 31, 2020	$17.00 - $19. 50	$0.25 every 6 months
Revenue Services Rep April 1, 2021 - March 31, 2023	$17.00 - $19.75	$0.25 every 6 months

This letter will be in effect during the term of the 2019 - 2023 Agreement.

RE: Competency Based Selection

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2019 negotiations, the Company and Union discussed the ongoing implementation of a Competency Based Selection (CBS) Process for certain job classifications. Specifically, this process will be utilized when filling certain clerical jobs designated as Level NB and above and certain technical jobs designated as level T4 and above. This will ensure that the most qualified candidate is selected for the position and is more likely to succeed.

Job openings will be filled using the following Competency Based Selection process:

- Job applications/resumes will be screened to determine that the basic qualifications, as set forth in the job description are met. An employee's corrective action which is below Suspension will not affect consideration of the employee for any jobs that are posted externally.

- To supplement their application, Company employees may print copies of their training records, job history, or other similar documents relating to their employment from the Employee Center on the Company's portal, and provide such documents to interviewers during the interview process or as attachments to their electronic application. All such documents provided by employees will be considered by the Company.

- Candidates meeting the minimum qualifications will be evaluated based on the following factors: skills and qualifications, prior job performance and/or experience and, in certain positions, a Basic Skills Assessment.

- Absent unusual circumstances, candidates will be interviewed by a team of at least three qualified, interviewers as determined by the Company. When determined by the Company to be feasible, one of the interviewers will be from a department outside of the department posting the position. Human Resources and/or Labor Relations will continue to provide guidance as appropriate.

- Company employees will be provided with advantage points in the process that will not be provided to external applicants. Specifically, the advantage points will be calculated as follows:

- One point will be provided for existing UWUA members; and

- One point will be provided for existing UWUA members who are full-time employees.

  Accordingly, a part-time UWUA member would be provided with one advantage point and full- time UWUA members would be provided with two advantage points.

- Seniority will be the deciding factor if there are two full-time, internal candidates who are equally qualified as determined by the Company. (
- Unsuccessful candidates under this process will be provided with additional interview training and/or assistance with resume preparation upon their written request to their HR Business Partner.

The process, as outlined above, will be used for the following job classifications:

CLERICAL	TECHNICAL
Gas Operations Administrator	System Integrity Technician Associate
Administrative Office Clerk	System Integrity Technician
Electric Operations Clerk	Sr System Integrity Technician
Order Processing Representative	Gas Technician
Sourcing/Purchasing Associate	Control Technician III
Customer Relations Representative B	Technician
Gas Document Specialist	Control Technician II
Customer Relations Clerk B	Gas Layout Technician
Office Coordinator	T&D Support Technician
Revenue Services Representative	Control Technician I
Service Installation Representative	Sr Gas Layout Technician
Customer Experience Support	GIS Technologist II
Senior Work Management Specialist	GIS Technologist I
Land Analyst	GIS Technologist III
Gas Office Coordinator	LIT Support Agent II
Gas Operations Support Specialist	LIT Support Agent I
Customer Relations Representative C	T&D Design Technician
Customer Relations Clerk C	Design Technician
Engineering Office Clerk	Operations Technician
Administrative Office Clerk - IT	Sr Substation Design Technician
	Sr T&D Design Technician
	Distribution Technician
	Substation Design Technician

	Engineering Specialist I

The selection process for Customer Projects Resource Specialist, Customer Project Coordinator and the Gas Operations Trainer, will remain as outlined in the applicable side bar letters.

Re: Overtime Provisions

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During 2012 contract negotiations, the parties discussed providing employees' flexibility in certain situations to work overtime assignments at a time mutually agreeable to the individual employee and his or her management, when consistent with business needs.

Per our discussion regarding overtime scheduling, the parties have agreed to the following in order to provide flexibility to employees. If an employee volunteers or is required to work overtime and the employee requests to work the overtime on their second scheduled off-day in lieu of working the overtime on a different scheduled off-day, management may approve the employee's request if it meets business needs as determined by the Company. When such employee requests are granted by the Company, the overtime worked will be paid at the rate of time and one-half, instead of double time.

Similarly, if an employee requests to work overtime at a date and/or time of his or her choice and the supervisor approves the request as consistent with business needs as determined by the Company, the Company will pay the overtime at the time and one-half rate.

This in no manner restricts the right of the Company to schedule overtime based on business and operational needs. Such assignments may be mandatory and employees are expected to work such mandatory assignments, and the applicable overtime and meal provisions would apply as stated in the Agreement.

It is believed that this letter accurately describes the parties' agreement.

Re: Outsourcing Affecting Job Elimination

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2012 negotiations, the parties discussed the issue of outsourcing and its impact on bargaining unit members. The parties agreed that the 2005 Labor Management Executive Committee (LMEC) process was outdated, and should be replaced as set forth herein.

The parties will continue to engage in a collaborative process where Labor Relations professionals, management, and union representatives exchange data, perspectives, and ideas so that outsourcing decisions affecting job elimination can be made in an open and candid environment.

As a first step, once the Company has determined that outsourcing is feasible based on proposals received from a potential vendor(s) and that outsourcing will likely result in job elimination, the Company will notify the Utility Workers Union of America, IUU Local 600 ("Union"). Upon receiving this notice, the Union can request information from the Company and/or propose how it would be more advantageous for unionized employees to retain the work at issue.

If requested by the Union, a meeting will be held to discuss the most competitive bid. During the meeting, the Company will provide the Union the key criteria used to evaluate the bid. The meeting should include the following representatives:

- Management representative of the outsourcing department;
- Union leadership;
- A representative from Labor Relations

The Company is fully aware of any legal responsibilities it may have, including the legal duty to share information and bargain in good faith, and will comply with those responsibilities. The Union understands that information shared between the parties while utilizing the process described in this letter is subject to legal protections, and the information shall remain confidential to this process and to the Company.

The parties recognize that each outsourcing proposal should be evaluated on a case-by-case basis, with consideration of factors including but not limited to the overall operating costs, relative labor costs (including the applicable loading rates such as benefits, pension, payroll taxes, etc.), any applicable regulatory requirements, equipment, technological developments, job process improvements, special expertise, efficiency, safety, availability of skilled labor and supervision, scalability, and any other factors that may impact the merits of outsourcing.

The parties further recognize and agree that neither party shall cause unreasonable delay during the process. It is the intent of the parties that this process will occur during approximately two months following the notice provided to the Union referred to in Paragraph 3 hereinabove and/or the parties' first meeting on the issue, if later than the notice. No provision of this letter shall be construed to eliminate or otherwise modify any applicable provision of the parties' collective bargaining agreement relating to outsourcing.

It is agreed that this letter accurately reflects the parties' agreement.

Based on skill level, the majority of these assignments will fall within the LIT Support Agent I classification. When such assignments are made Sidebar Letter A-15 will prevail.

Emergency Overtime Callouts

There may be occasions when employees are called out to respond to information technology issues that require an immediate response to ensure continuity of operations. In such cases, employees will be permitted to respond from locations other than a Duke Energy facility. In such case, the minimum call out of four hours will apply. If a second call out is required within four hours of the first call out it will be considered a continuation of that call out. Promotions to the Support Agent I classification will be based on business need only.

This letter describes the establishment of the above mentioned classifications, wage rates, and initial staffing. Except where specifically abridged by this letter, all provisions of the 2008 – 2012 Collective Bargaining Agreement apply. In addition, the rights retained by the Company under Article I, Section 2 (c) of the Agreement remain unchanged. This letter in no manner represents a commitment on behalf of the Company in regard to staffing levels. The Company reserves the right to change or modify these job descriptions in accordance with the Agreement. I believe that this letter adequately describes our discussion regarding this matter. If the Union is in agreement with this proposal please return a signed copy of this letter to me at your earliest convenience.

RE: On Call Rotation – Local IT Support

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Per our recent discussion, the Company is establishing an on call rotation for employees in the Local Information Technology job progression. As we discussed, the employee in the LIT I classification is excluded from this rotation due to business needs at this time. However, it is acknowledged and agreed that the Company has the sole discretion to include employee(s) in the LIT I classification in the rotation if business requirements change in the future.

While on call, employees will be compensated at the rate of $16.50 per day. In addition, the minimum call out will be two hours. RE: Separation of Delivery Operations and Gas Operations

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 negotiations, the parties discussed the separation of Midwest Delivery Operations and Gas Operations relating to clerical functions performed by Office Coordinators, Customer Projects Recourse Specialists, and employees assigned to the Order Completion role.

As discussed, the work being performed by the above referenced classifications is being divided between the Midwest Delivery Operations (Electric) and Gas Operations (Gas) business units. As such, two new positions are being established in the Gas Operations Clerical Bid Area, Gas Office Coordinator (Gas QC) and Gas Operations Support Specialist (GOSS). Employees in the Office Coordinator classification currently assigned to Gas Operations will be reclassified as Gas Office Coordinators. The Customer Projects Resource Specialists (CPRS) currently assigned to Gas Operations will be re-classified into the new Gas Operations Support Specialist position. Employees currently performing the Order Completion role will remain in their respective classifications in the Customer Relations Bid Area.

The wage levels for the new positions remains the same as the existing Office Coordinator and CPRS classifications. The Company maintains all rights provided under the Collective Bargaining Agreement and applicable sidebar letters to revise job descriptions and/or discontinue filling these job classifications based on future business needs. Should such material revisions occur to the job descriptions, UWUA Local 600 may request a re-evaluation by the Job Evaluation Committee as provided for in the Agreement.

In order to give incumbent employees a final opportunity to move between the electric and gas bidding areas, the next three vacancies in either bidding area for an OC or a Gas QC will be filled by cross bidding (hand raising) as a combined area. The process for each vacancy will continue until the original posting is filled. This same process will also apply for the next CPRS or GOSS vacancy. Once this commitment is fulfilled, vacancies will be filled using the Competency Based Selection process in accordance with Sidebar Letters A21 (CPRS) and A65 and hand raising will apply only within the individual bid area.

In the event of a work force reduction, the Office Coordinator and Gas Office Coordinator classifications will be combined for the purpose of determining any rollbacks or layoffs. The same will apply for the CPRS and Gas Operations Support Specialist classifications.

RE: Global Positioning Satellite (GPS)

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 contract negotiations, the parties discussed the use of Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) system and other types of technology being contemplated for use in Company vehicles.

The primary purpose of the GPS and similar technology is to allow the Company the ability to more efficiently manage and assign work and to enhance safety by allowing us to locate a vehicle in the event we have lost contact with someone or a vehicle has been stolen. As discussed, it is not the Company's intent to constantly monitor employee's whereabouts using the GPS or other technology for the purpose of issuing corrective action.

Although its primary use is for managing work, the Company may review and rely on technology and/or the information obtained through its use to aid in an investigation where there is reason to believe an employee may have violated a Company policy or work rule, and the violation may be substantiated or disproven by such a review. To the extent the Company does rely on such information, the Company will treat similarly-situated employees in the same manner. Any such information, upon which the Company relies for purpose of imposing corrective action, will be provided upon request by the Union in accordance with applicable law.

In accordance with the March 29, 2007 GPS Letter, the Company is providing notice to the Union that the amount of history maintained in these systems may be longer than 30 days.

RE: Engineering Specialist Progression

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

During the 2015 and 2019 negotiations, the parties discussed the Company's decision to establish an Engineering Specialist Job Progression in the Customer Projects Bidding Area and the Transmission & Distribution Bidding Area. This progression will consist of the Engineering Specialist I, II, and III classifications. The wage levels for these newly created positions will be as follows:

Job Classification	Wage Level	Maximum Hourly Rate as of 3/31/19
Engineering Specialist III	T9	$37.89
Engineering Specialist II	T8	$36.83
Engineering Specialist I	T4	$30.39

Wage progression will be as outlined in Article VIII of the Agreement and Sidebar Letter A40, with selections determined by the Company in accordance with Sidebar Letter A65. Employees are required to successfully complete all training programs required by the Company and to promote to the Engineering Specialist II position in a timely manner. Employees successfully completing the requirements for the Engineering Specialist III position will automatically promote to that position. In addition, the Company maintains all rights provided under the Collective Bargaining Agreement and applicable sidebar letters, including but not limited to the right to revise the Engineering Specialist job descriptions based on future business needs. Should such material revisions occur, UWUA Local 600 may request a re-evaluation by the Job Evaluation Committee as provided for in the Agreement.

Employees in the Engineering Specialist I classification may be assigned to a specific headquarters for training purposes as determined by the Company. Employees in the Engineering Specialist I classification will receive all training necessary as identified by the Company to safely perform assigned duties and meet all requirements to promote to the Engineering Specialist II position.

Due to a restructuring of how work is performed by the Company, the Company does not anticipate any future postings for Customer Project Apprentice positions. Incumbent employees will be grandfathered under their existing job description, and will be eligible to continue to receive the negotiated wage increase applicable to employees in the Technical Unit. Existing employees in the progression not at the maximum rate of pay will be eligible to continue receive merit increases as outlined in the December 28, 2012 letter regarding this subject. Also, incumbent employees in the Customer Project Associate and Customer Project Apprentice classifications must continue to meet all Company expectations as previously required, including but not limited to the requirement to progress.

As agreed, when the Company fills a position in the "Engineering Specialist II" classification, the senior qualified Technician in good standing will be promoted to T&D Design Technician. Furthermore, when the Company fills a position in the "Engineering Specialist III" classification, the senior qualified T&D Design Technician in good standing will be promoted to Senior T&D Design Technician. In all cases, employees must be in qualified and in good standing to be eligible for a promotion. This process will continue until all incumbents in the following classifications: Technical Apprentice, Design Technician, Technician, and, T&D Design Technician as of the date the Collective Bargaining Agreement is ratified until all eligible employees have had the opportunity to progress to the Sr. T&D Design Technician position. The T&D progression will be closed to Technical Apprentices and Technicians hired after April 15, 2015. It is the intent of the Distribution Design organization to utilize the Engineering Specialist progression for all such future hires.

For the purposes of "hand-raising" (bidding on headquarters or location) within the Customer Projects Bid Area, the Customer Projects Coordinator and the Engineering Specialist III classifications will be combined. In the event of a work force reduction, the Engineering Specialist progressions in the Customer Projects Bid Area and the Transmission & Distribution Bidding Area will be combined.

Additionally, the Company would use this process to fill any newly created job classifications that are at or above the NB or T4 wage level (or its equivalent). The selection process for Customer Projects Resource Specialist, Customer Project Coordinator and the Gas Operations Trainer, will remain as outlined in the applicable side bar letters.

RE: Customer Relations Representative/Clerk C Positions

Dear Mr. Anderson:

During the 2015 negotiations, the parties discussed the filling of future vacancies in the Customer Relations Representative C and the Customer Relations Clerk C classifications.

Based on these discussions, the parties have agreed that future openings in the Customer Relations Representative C and Customer Relations Clerk C classifications will be filled by the Company using the Competency Based Selection process.

The first three (3) positions will be filled using the Competency Based Selection process among the incumbent Order Processing Representatives in good standing. Should there only be one Order Processing Representative apply for each of the first three positions and he or she meets the minimum qualifications and is in good standing they will be the successful candidate. Order Processing Representatives selected by the Company for the first 3 opportunities will have their rate of pay reduced to the maximum wage rate of the Customer Relations Representative/Clerk C classification. In the event that no Order Processing Representative in good standing applies for one or more of the first three positions, the Company may fill the vacancy by a Union wide posting using the Competency Based Selection process.

Sincerely,

Jay R. Alvaro

RE: Inclement Weather

Dear Mr. Kowolonek:

At Duke Energy, our goal is a zero injury and illness safety culture for our employees and the communities we serve. In order to address the UWUA Local 600's concerns regarding inclement weather, when the Company determines there is a safety concern during periods of heavy or continuous storms or excessive cold weather, the Company will not require employees to perform construction or maintenance work in exposed locations outdoors, unless such work is necessary to protect life, property, or continuity of service. Employees are encouraged to communicate with their supervisors or managers to report and discuss any weather situations they believe may be unsafe. It is expressly understood and agreed that the services to be performed by the employees covered by this Contract pertain to and are essential to the operation of a public utility and to the welfare of the public.

RE: Alternate Schedule

Dear Mr. Anderson:

I am writing in regard to our conversations regarding an alternate work schedule consisting of 4 nine hour days and one 4 hour day. As discussed, this schedule will be administered as follows;

- The four hour day will be determined by business needs and may not necessarily be a Monday or Friday.
- Meal compensation will remain at ten hours as outlined in the Collective Bargaining Agreement including the four hour day.
- Where possible, seniority will be used in the selection of schedules absent business needs as determined by the Company. Should it be necessary to deviate from seniority, the Company will notify the Union the reason for the deviation and afford the Union an opportunity to offer alternatives.
- The double-time day will be Sunday.
- Personal/diversity days must be taken in full days regardless of the employee's schedule and cannot be taken in smaller increments.
- Employees working this schedule will revert to an eight hour schedule during all workweeks that contain a holiday recognized by the Company in an effort to maintain consistency throughout the bargaining unit.

The availability of this schedule to various workgroups and employees within those groups will be based on business needs. The Company retains all rights under the Agreement and applicable sidebar letters including the right to discontinue this schedule. I believe that this letter accurately describes our conversations regarding this issue. If you are in agreement, please sign and return this letter to me.

Sincerely,

RE: Gas Marketing Progression

Dear Mr. Anderson:

The Gas Marketing progression, consisting of the Gas Marketing Specialist and Senior Gas Marketing Specialist classifications, was established in 2015 in order to assist in the expansion of Duke Energy's commercial gas operations. Since that time, the roles have evolved to the extent that the Company has determined that combining the classifications will provide the maximum flexibility in meeting customer needs.

Per our conversation, the existing classifications will be combined into one classification. Current educational requirements for the Gas Marketing Specialist call for a minimum of 45 credit hours with an Associate's Degree obtained within three years. The requirement for the revised job description will be a minimum of 45 credit hours with an Associate's Degree in engineering, technology, construction management, or business obtained within eighteen months of entry into the classification. Absent extenuating circumstances as solely determined by the Company, employees who fail to obtain the required degree within the eighteen month time frame are subject to discharge. The Company retains all rights under the Collective Bargaining Agreement to modify the duties and qualifications including acceptable degree requirements. Should the Company contemplate such revisions, notice will be given to the Union prior to any changes being made.

The wage rate for employees entering the classification will be the T7 minimum hourly rate. As outlined in the Patrick P. Gibson letter (Sidebar Letter A40) employees will be granted a merit increase in accordance with the Collective Bargaining Agreement if progress, measured by demonstrated ability and performance, has been satisfactory after six months. After one year, and again based on satisfactory performance, the employee's wage rate will be adjusted to the T8 minimum hourly rate provided that all educational requirements are met. For those employees not meeting the educational requirement at the twelve month mark, the wage adjustment will be made when the employee completes the requirement. As stated above, this must occur within eighteen months of entering the classification.

Incumbent Gas Marketing Specialists with more than one year of classified seniority and meeting all qualifications of the revised job description will have their wage rate adjusted to the T8 minimum hourly rate. Any current Gas Marketing Specialist not meeting the educational requirement of the revised job description will continue to have three years from entry into the classification to meet the requirement. Upon meeting the education requirement and all other qualifications, the employee will have their wage rate adjusted to the T8 minimum hourly rate. Employees in this category will maintain their seniority.

As stated previously, the Company maintains all rights provided under the Collective Bargaining Agreement and applicable sidebar letters to revise or discontinue job descriptions, including this one, based on future business needs. Should such material revisions occur to the job description, UWUA Local 600 may request a re-evaluation by the Job Evaluation Committee as provided for in the Agreement.

In addition, UWUA Local 600 agrees to withdraw Grievance #399 pertaining to the establishment of the Gas Marketing progression.

I believe that this accurately describes our conversation regarding this matter. If you are in agreement, please sign and return a copy of this letter to me.

Sincerely,

RE: Lighting Specialist Progression

Dear Mr. Anderson:

I am writing in regard to our conversations regarding the establishment of the Lighting Specialist progression. As discussed, this will be a separate bid area consisting of the Lighting Specialist I (Wage Level T5) and Lighting Specialist II (Wage Level T8) job classifications. All applicable provisions of the Collective Bargaining Agreement, including Sidebar Letter A65 - Competency Based Selection, will apply to these positions.

The initial posting will be for two Lighting Specialists IIs and be restricted to qualified employees in the Distribution Design OH/KY and the Distribution Design (Subdivision) departments. Should the successful candidate be in a classification with a wage level higher than T8, then they will be grandfathered in their current classification and be eligible for contractual wage increases applicable to that classification. For all other purposes under the Collective Bargaining Agreement these grandfathered employees will be considered as Lighting Specialists IIs. As such, they will have no rollback rights within their former work groups. Conversely, these employees would not be included in any surplus/rollback scenario within their prior work group. The ability of employees with more than fifteen years of service to displace employees outside of their bidding area is not impacted. Employees in the Technician or T&D Design Technician classifications accepting a Lighting Specialist position will not be eligible to promote as outlined in Sidebar Letter A81.

The Company maintains all rights provided under the Collective Bargaining Agreement and applicable sidebar letters to revise or discontinue job descriptions, including these, based on future business needs. Should such material revisions occur to the job description, UWUA Local 600 may request a re-evaluation by the Job Evaluation Committee as provided for in the Agreement.

I believe that this letter accurately describes our conversations regarding this issue. If you are in agreement, please sign and return this letter to me.

In this connection, it is the expressed intention of the parties that for the purpose of making this cancellation provision effective without affecting the other sections of the Contract, this Contract is to be considered a severable Contract. Should the automatic cancellation of this section occur, it is the intention and agreement of the parties that all other sections and provisions of the Contract remain in full force and effect as therein provided.

(i) The Union shall indemnify and save the Company harmless against any and all claims, demands, law suits, or other forms of liability that may arise out of or by reason of action taken by or not taken by the Company in reliance upon any check-off authorization cards signed by the individual employees and furnished to the Company by the Union for the purpose of complying with any of the provisions of this Section.

(c) The hourly wage rate increases referred to herein shall not apply to the minimum hourly wage rates of starting job classifications.

(d) Employees shall be provided the higher of a 25¢ promotional increase above the maximum wage rate of the job classification from which they promote, or the minimum wage rate of the job classification to which they promote. This provision will not apply when the maximum wage rate of a job is not at least 25¢ above the maximum wage rate of the job classification from which it promotes.

(e) Whenever the difference between the minimum and maximum wage rates of any hourly rated job classification is not divisible by ten, the hourly wage rates will be by 10¢ steps, with the exception of the last step to the maximum hourly wage rate of the job classification. In such case the increase to the maximum hourly wage rate will include the 10¢ increment plus the odd amount necessary to equal the maximum hourly wage rate, provided, however, that the total amount of the increase is less than 20¢.

(h) The Company shall prepare occupational classifications and job descriptions which will define, as nearly as possible, the nature of the work involved under each classification. All required changes in job classifications or promotional sequences will be initiated by the Company.

(i) When a job description has been revised by the management, a representative of employees will be given an opportunity to suggest changes to the revised job description before it is submitted to the Company's Job Evaluation Committee. After the management has reviewed the changes to the job description, if any, suggested by the Union representative, the job description will be submitted to the Company's Evaluation Committee. The Union representative shall have an opportunity to submit written comments regarding the duties of the job to the Company's Evaluation Committee. There will be no recourse to the grievance and arbitration procedure because of the language of a job description or the evaluation of a job classification.

(j) The Job Evaluation Committee of the Company will be responsible for evaluating all new or revised job classifications. Prior to the evaluation of revised job descriptions, the representative of the Union may accompany the management representative to explain his written comments to the Committee. The evaluation established by this Committee will be used to determine a proposed maximum wage rate for each new or revised job classification. The wage rate resulting from this evaluation will be communicated to the Union as far in advance as possible, but not less than 30 days, of the proposed effective date for the installation of the new or revised classification.

(k) The Union shall maintain a Classification Committee consisting of not more than five members who may review the evaluation and wage rate of any new or revised classification. The Union's Committee may, by request, meet with the Company's Committee as soon as possible at a mutually convenient time, but within 30 days, after the Union has been notified by the Company of the proposed new or revised classification for the purpose of presenting any information relevant to the evaluation of the new or revised classification, which has been included in the previous written comments of the Union representative. The Union will be notified after the Company's Committee has reviewed the information presented by the Union. All wage rates so established shall be final and binding and not subject to the grievance and arbitration procedure. However, if any revised wage rates are reduced as a result of the evaluation(s), they will not be placed into effect until the Company and the Union have had an opportunity to negotiate them during full contract negotiations, even though the revised job classification will be in effect. Employees, presently in, or promoting to, such job classifications will continue to receive wage adjustments in accordance with the other provisions of the Agreement just as if the wage rate had remained at the same level until a new Agreement is reached.

It is understood that the right to maintain, revise or abolish any job classification or to create new classifications is the exclusive right of management.

(l) Where the Union deems an employee, or employees, to be improperly classified, it may file a grievance which shall be handled under the grievance procedure of this Contract.

(m) Members of the Union's Committee and a reasonable number of witnesses shall not suffer a loss of pay when engaged in meetings during their working hours with the Company's Job Evaluation Committee.

Section 2. (a) No employee shall regularly be called upon to perform work beyond the scope of his classification or training. Employees temporarily advanced to a higher classification for four hours or more in any one day shall receive either the minimum rate of pay applicable to that classification or 25¢ per hour above the maximum wage rate of their job classification, whichever is greater, but no more than the maximum wage rate of the job to which the employee is upgraded. Employees temporarily assigned to a job scaled at a lower rate of pay than their own shall not suffer financially through such a transfer.

(b) When a temporary assignment in a job classification within the bargaining unit exceeds 90 consecutive days, the assignment being temporarily filled shall be considered a vacancy and filled permanently in accordance with the posting procedure.

(c) When an employee covered by this Contract voluntarily accepts a temporary assignment to a supervisory position, he shall be paid the same rate of his classified assignment at the time of the temporary assignment. A-62

(d) An employee, when permanently promoted to a job classification and qualifying in all respects with the exception of time spent in the preceding classification as required in the qualification section of the job description, shall be considered as having the equivalent of such required time.

ARTICLE VI – SENIORITY

Section 1. (a) System Service shall date from the time an employee first earns compensation in the employ of the Company, except as such system service may be lost in accordance with Section 6 of this Article.

(b) Classified Seniority shall date from the time an employee is permanently employed in a specific job classification. Whenever employees are accepted for job postings and their promotion is delayed by no more than 30 days or when a delay beyond 30 days is caused solely by the Company, their new classified seniority date will be adjusted to place them in their proper seniority position in relation to other employees who promoted as a result of the same posting.

(c) In the event that two or more employees achieve classified seniority on the same date, the respective seniority rank of such employees shall be determined by the Union. The Union shall promptly notify the Company in writing of its determination.

(d) Nothing in this Contract shall be construed in such a way that would enable an employee to use classified seniority for the selection of a particular job assignment. In justifiable cases, however, when requested by an employee, a supervisor will give consideration in making job assignments to the requirements of the job to be done, the physical condition, the qualifications and the classified seniority of the employee.

(e) All new employees and all employees transferring from other bargaining units into a job classification represented by the Union shall be classed as probationary employees for a period of one year and shall have no system service and seniority rights during that period. After one year of continuous service as probationary employees, such employees shall be classified as regular employees and their system service and seniority record shall include their previous employment as probationary employees. The Company shall have the right to lay off or discharge probationary employees and there shall be no responsibility for reemployment of such employees after they are discharged or laid off during the probationary period. No unqualified probationary employee shall act as a second employee in any two-employee crew in the Field Operations or Systems Operations Sections.

(f) In order to avoid possible grievances, the Company will discuss in advance with the representatives of the Union, demotions, layoffs, and recalls from layoffs.

Section 2. (a) Classified seniority shall be administered separately in the following Departments, Divisions, and Sections: A-87

(b) In the cases of promotions, within each District as described above, the Union agrees that the strict classified seniority interpretations may be waived when a specific employee is unqualified for a particular promotion but in such event the Company and the Union shall discuss the matter fully and come to agreement first.

(c) The classified seniority status of employees permanently assigned from one District to another District shall be fixed without delay by discussion between the Company and the Union Grievance Committee.

(d) For a period of six months following a promotion, when an employee who has been assigned to a job classification not bargained for by the Union returns to a job classification in which they have classified seniority, their seniority will be adjusted to a date that is one day less than the classified seniority date of the employee with the least classified seniority in the job classification within the bargaining unit to which the employee is assigned. If the employee returns to the bargaining unit greater than six months from said promotion, they shall be placed at the minimum wage rate in a job classification no higher than Service Mechanic B, Meter Specialist II, Mechanic Operator II, Gas Systems Operations Mechanic II and Gas Plant Operator II. For purposes of bidding and downbidding, all previous seniority is lost and the employee will be ranked in seniority as a newly hired employee. No employee may return to a bargaining unit job classification if, as a direct result, an employee represented by the Union would be laid off.

Section 3. (a) An employee who has accepted a new position, will be given the first 10 working days of training, to evaluate the new position. It at the end of such period, the employee requests, they shall be restored to their previous position and previous classified seniority rank. This provision does not apply to employees who are in positions of automatic progression. An employee who has satisfactorily met all the requirements for entrance into a job classification shall be given a period of 30 days in which to master the new assignment. If, at the end of such period, the employee is unable to fulfill the assignment; he shall be restored to his previous position and previous classified seniority rank. A-27

(b) The Company shall have the right to require examinations, either oral, written or practical, to determine the fitness of employees for promotions. When such examinations are deemed necessary by the Company, the equipment and facilities necessary for such examinations will be provided by the Company. The Company agrees that the employee shall have the right to review the results of departmental tests upon request. If an employee indicates, within five days after receiving the results of a departmental examination, that he feels the examination was not fairly administered, the Company agrees to reexamine the employee. A Union designated witness may be present only during the practical portion of the retest. The employee, upon request, shall receive counseling based upon tests administered by the Staffing Services area of the Company or by outside consultants. In the case of a downbid, an employee who does not pass an examination shall be required to retake that examination after three months. An employee who does not pass the examination a second time will not be eligible for reexamination for 12 months and for subsequent two year intervals thereafter and will not be eligible to bid on other bargaining unit positions until they have successfully passed the examination. After three unsuccessful attempts to pass the test, the employee can elect to forfeit the bid. A-61

(c) When a permanent promotion is to be made to a job classification bargained for by the Union, a notice of the opening shall be posted by the Company on all bulletin boards for two weeks. A copy of these notices will be mailed to the Presidents of the Local A-80

Unions. The period of posting may be reduced to seven days, provided that any employees with greater classified seniority who may be off duty during the entire seven-day posting period are notified of the posting by a copy of the posting notice mailed by registered or certified mail to their home address on record in Human Resources.

(d) All bids related to posted openings should be made in duplicate and presented to the responsible supervisor who will sign both copies, retain one and return the duplicate to the employee for the record of the Local Union.

(e) When a posted opening occurs in a job classification, employees already in that job classification within the Seniority District may exercise their classified seniority rights to cross bid for the opening if the opening exists at another headquarters. The most senior employee already in the job classification within the Seniority District who cross bids and can qualify will be selected. Only one cross bid will be accepted for each posting. Resultant openings, which the Company desires to fill, will be filled by promotion of qualified employees from the next lower job classification or other qualified employees in the same promotional sequence in the Seniority District where the resultant opening exists.

(f) When a posted opening cannot be filled from among the qualified employees in the Seniority District in which the opening exists, the opening will be filled from qualified employees from other Seniority Districts within the Section. When the opening cannot be filled from within the Section, the opening will be filled in accordance with the appropriate provisions of this Contract.

(g) Subject to the approval of the Company and the Union, any employee may waive his right to promotion if such waiver does not prevent other employees from acquiring experience in the job classification held by him. Such waiver must be submitted to the Company and the Union in writing.

(h) When an employee waives his right to an opening in a job classification, the next employee shall be entitled to such opening, on a classified seniority and sufficient qualification basis, and so on until the position is filled.

(i) An employee waiving his right under this provision cannot later claim that particular job opening as a classified seniority right; however, the employee making such waiver shall not prejudice his right to accept future vacancies or positions that may occur, on a basis of his classified seniority and qualifications.

(j) An employee permanently established in a job classification under the provisions of this section of the Contract shall not be replaced later by an employee who may have developed sufficient classified seniority or qualifications.

Section 4. (a) The Company will post at least semi-annually and will maintain lists at locations mutually agreeable to the Company and the Union showing the system service and classified seniority of each employee. If exception is not taken to the list as posted within 30 days from the date of posting, the list shall be considered as correct. Copies of these lists shall be forwarded to the Local Union President and Recording Secretary.

(b) The Company will furnish annually, upon request, to the Financial Secretary of the Local Union a complete mailing list of all employees in the bargaining unit.

Section 5. An employee's classified seniority and system service standing shall not be jeopardized due to time off for injury, sickness or leave of absence.

Section 6. An employee will lose his system service and classified seniority who:

(1) Quits of his own accord.

(2) Is discharged for just cause.

(3) Employees who leave the Company involuntarily shall not lose accrued system service or classified seniority if, upon recall, they respond within six days, provided it is not obligatory on the Company to issue such a call after two years after the date of layoff. Notification of recall will be sent by registered or certified mail.

Section 7. (a) Layoffs and demotions shall be made on the basis of classified seniority. Reassignments shall also be made on the basis of classified seniority and sufficient qualifications. In case of layoff, an employee shall have the right to be returned to any job classification previously held by him in the course of his employment with the Company if his classified seniority is sufficient to qualify him for such job. An employee, however, shall not have the right to be demoted or assigned to any job classification which he has not previously held but will be given consideration by the Company for a Mechanic III position, at the maximum rate, before new employees are hired. Such an employee's classified seniority as a Mechanic III would be the same as the employee's system service.

(b) Every effort shall be made to continue the present policy of avoiding seasonal layoffs by finding other work for any employees likely to be thus affected, should such occasion arise.

Section 8. Any employee who may make application to the Staffing Office for transfer to a starting job not represented by the Union, for which he may be qualified, will be given preference for consideration before a new employee is hired for the job.

ARTICLE VII – HOURS OF WORK

Section 1. (a) Eight or 10 consecutive hours, exclusive of lunch time, shall constitute a working day, and four or five such days, totaling 40 hours, shall constitute a working week. Regular employees available and able to work, shall be assured of a 40 hour work week. It is understood that this provision will not affect in any manner the right of the Company to make temporary or permanent reductions in forces when considered necessary by the Company. A-4

(b) It is recognized that shift work is essential for employee groups covered by this Contract, in order to provide for continuous operation and service. However, insofar as A-8 A-52 A-81 A-88 possible, day work shall prevail. Where shift work is necessary, the Union and the Company shall cooperate in providing the necessary manpower, with the required ability, to fill day, afternoon, and night as well as weekend work schedules.

(c) Except when changing schedules or agreed otherwise, employees shall have consecutive off days, but not necessarily in the same work week.

(d) The work week of an employee for payroll purposes shall be from midnight Sunday to midnight the following Sunday. Employees working on a shift beginning two hours or less before midnight will be considered as having worked their hours following midnight. Employees working on a shift ending two hours or less after midnight will be considered as having worked their hours before midnight.

(e) The work week of an employee for purposes of determining off-days shall begin on midnight Sunday and consist of seven consecutive days in which the employee is scheduled to work five days and be off two days or scheduled to work four days and be off three days.

(f) Schedules for all employees will be based on the time prevailing in the City of Cincinnati.

(g) The first eight hours of work per day will be at straight time for regular scheduled work days, time and one-half for the employee's first scheduled off-day in the work week and double time for the employee's second scheduled off-day in the work week. Any time in excess of eight hours per day will be paid at the rate of time and one-half, except the employee's second scheduled off-day worked, which will be paid at double time. For employees who work a four day-10 hour schedule, the first 10 hours of work per day will be at straight time for regular scheduled work days, double time for the employee's second consecutive scheduled off-day and time and one-half for all other scheduled off-days. Any time in excess of 10 hours per day will be paid at the rate of time and one-half except the employee's second consecutive scheduled off-day worked which will be paid at double time. A-89

(h) In no case will an employee be forced to take time off in lieu of time worked outside his Regular Scheduled Work Day, but should an employee elect not to work during his Regular Scheduled Work Day he shall not receive pay for such time.

(i) Employees required to work more than 16 consecutive hours will be paid double time for all time worked in excess of, and continuous with, the 16 consecutive hours.

(j) When overtime occurs within a job classification where more employees are qualified and available to work than are necessary at the moment, the Company and Union have agreed to maintain a system of selecting the employees within the job classification at each headquarters who are to work, in a sincere effort to equalize overtime work, through a set of overtime guidelines that have been established and are contained in a separate document. The employees will be notified in advance, whenever possible, when they are required to work overtime. In the event the available overtime is not offered to the entitled employee(s) under the established overtime guidelines, the A-18 A-63 A-64

Company will offer the affected employee(s) make-up overtime. All make-up overtime must be offered and worked by the employee within six months of the time the disparity occurred.

(k) Overtime lists shall be posted weekly, in each headquarters, showing the overtime hours worked or waived during the previous week by each employee at the headquarters. Probationary employees shall not be included in the overtime lists.

(l) A call-out shall be defined as notice to report for unscheduled work given to an employee by telephone or messenger after he has left his headquarters or place of reporting or in case of an off-day, after what would have been his scheduled hours on that day.

(m) Employees called out for overtime work, other than for planned overtime, shall be paid a minimum of four hours at the appropriate overtime rate. A-60

(n) Travel time of one-half hour each way, at the appropriate overtime rate of pay, will be allowed on a call-out when such call-out exceeds four hours of continuous work that is not contiguous with a regularly scheduled shift. Employees will not be compensated for any travel time on a call-out which occurs on a regular holiday or when the employee is not released from work before his regularly scheduled shift, nor will travel time be allowed when overtime is worked continuously at the end of a regularly scheduled shift.

(o) Planned overtime shall be defined as time worked upon notice to an employee given before leaving his headquarters or place of reporting, or in case of an off-day, during or before what would have been his scheduled hours on that day, that he is to report outside of his regular schedule on any succeeding day. Such time worked shall be paid for at the appropriate overtime rate but not for less than four hours unless such planned overtime extends into or directly follows the employee's regularly scheduled work day, when it shall be paid for at the appropriate overtime rate for the actual hours worked.

ARTICLE VIII – WORKING CONDITIONS

Section 1. CHANGE IN SCHEDULE: (a) Each employee shall have a specific hour for reporting for work, and shall be entitled to not less than 24 hours notice of any change. Employees, whose schedules are changed to include an off day on the next succeeding day, shall receive such notification within 15 minutes prior to or after the start of their regularly scheduled hours of work on the day previous to such a change.

(b) If an employee is required to commence working on a schedule which was changed without 24 hours notice, he shall receive the appropriate premium pay for all consecutive hours worked. Employees, who are not notified within 15 minutes prior to or after the start of their regularly scheduled hours of work of a schedule change that includes an off day on the next succeeding day, shall receive the appropriate premium pay for all hours worked during their next scheduled work day.

Section 2. TRANSFERS AND REASSIGNMENTS: (a) Each employee shall have a specific headquarters for reporting for work. There shall be no unreasonable, A-54 disciplinary or discriminatory transfers, but the right of the Company to effect transfers, reassignments and logical site reporting to properly run its business is recognized. The Company will discuss transfers, reassignments and logical site reporting in advance with representatives of the Union except in instances where the employees with the least classified seniority are selected or where the employees volunteer. Employees may be assigned to report to a logical site reporting location for any assignment expected to be a minimum of three days.

(b) Transfers which are for periods of 14 consecutive calendar days or less will be considered temporary transfers. Transfers of 15 consecutive calendar days or more to either permanent or temporary headquarters, planned in advance, will be considered reassignments. Notification of availability of a reassignment will be posted at least 2 weeks in advance of the requirement. Eligible employees may request a preference for the reassignment. If there are no voluntary requests, the qualified individuals lowest on the classified seniority list will be assigned.

(c) During periods of temporary transfers or reassignments, the employees will report to and work out of the new headquarters. Such employees will be paid one hour's pay at the straight time rate and mileage at the prevailing rate based on the round trip distance between the employee's regular headquarters and temporary headquarters for each day of a temporary transfer and for the first 14 consecutive calendar days of a reassignment to a temporary headquarters. If a temporary reassignment exceeds three months, the employee will be paid in a similar manner when they return to their regular headquarters. Neither the one hour's pay nor the mileage applies for temporary transfers or reassignments of employees whose normal assignment is to home site report.

When it is necessary to temporarily assign probationary employees to a headquarters other than their own or to a job site reporting location that is farther from their regular headquarters, such employees will be paid mileage at the amount per mile approved by the Internal Revenue Service, based on the additional round trip mileage the employee is required to drive. No mileage compensation will be paid for the temporary assignment if the other reporting location is closer to the employee's home.

(d) When it is necessary to temporarily assign employees to a logical site reporting location that is further from their home than their regular headquarters, such employees will be paid mileage at the prevailing rate based on the additional round trip mileage employees are required to drive. No mileage compensation will be paid for the temporary assignment if the other reporting location is closer to the employee's home.

(e) Logical site reporting will be offered on a voluntary basis. If there is an insufficient number of volunteers, assignments will be made on a junior qualified basis. When assigning the junior qualified, unusual or extenuating circumstances will be taken into consideration.

(f) Employees may be assigned to drive Company vehicles from and to the job site from home or sites close to home. If Company vehicles are used in such a manner, the mileage provisions for logical site reporting are not applicable. An option to the mileage provision is that employees may, during a logical site reporting assignment, A-82 pick up and return a Company vehicle to their regular headquarters, provided travel is on their own time.

Section 3. FOREMEN'S DUTIES: Foremen's duties shall be restricted to direct supervision except for Foremen's and employees' training, in cases of emergency, or for such incidental work as may occasionally be required.

Section 4. SAFETY AND HEALTH: (a) The Company shall make all reasonable provisions for the safety and health of the employees. A suitable number of raincoats, hats, boots, gloves and water facilities and any other safety equipment required by the Company shall be provided on the job. Adequate locker, toilet and shower facilities shall be provided at all permanent headquarters from which the men operate or in the shop where they are employed. A reasonable effort will be made to provide similar facilities at temporary headquarters.

(b) Employees shall be held responsible for the equipment assigned to them.

(c) In order to promote health and safety among the Company's employees, the Company and the Union agree that a Joint Safety Advisory Committee will be established. This Committee shall meet quarterly upon the Union's request to the chairman of the committee, who shall be the Safety Director of the Company. The purpose of the Joint Safety Advisory Committee is to give consideration to those general accident prevention programs and policies that affect the safety and health of the employees represented by the Union. The Joint Safety Advisory Committee shall not deal with individual or group grievances. It is agreed that the administration of the accident prevention and medical policies, programs and procedures are vested in and reserved to Management. It is further agreed that employees engaged in the Joint Safety Advisory Committee meetings during working hours shall suffer no loss of pay for such time.

(d) The Company agrees that an employee is authorized to call for assistance if, in the employee's judgment, his safety is endangered.

Section 5. CONTRACTING OUT: (a) No employee shall be deprived of work through contracting with outside parties. When it is necessary to use private equipment, such equipment shall be manned and operated by employees, provided qualified employees are available and said equipment can be obtained on this basis. A-13

(b) In order to meet the unusual amount of work due to deferred maintenance and an abnormal expansion of new construction, the Company contemplates that it will be necessary to continue to contract for some of this work. This is believed necessary in order to avoid the building up of a large temporary force to meet an unusual condition. If such a force were built up it would either be necessary to lay off the additional employees hired when the work was caught up, or it might become impossible to assure 40 hours work per week for 52 weeks per year for regular employees as provided for under this Contract. A-36

(c) It will continue to be the policy of the Company, when contracting for work, not to contract for any work which is ordinarily done by its regular employees if contracting for the work would result in the layoff of any regular employees.

(d) In deciding what work shall be contracted by outside forces the Company will take into consideration the necessity of meeting the completion requirements of the work in order that the service needs of the customers may be met. The Company will make reasonable efforts to utilize our normal working force where possible to do this work.

(e) The question of what proportion of this work will be done on an overtime basis will depend on the urgency of the work, weather conditions, volume and nature of the work and the availability of the working force.

Section 6. MEAL COMPENSATION: Employees working extra time shall be entitled to a suitable lunch or compensation therefore at the conclusion of two hours in excess of eight working hours; similar lunch or money at each five-hour interval thereafter until released from duty. Employees who work a four day-10 hour schedule shall be entitled to a suitable lunch or compensation in lieu thereof, whenever they work one hour or more in excess of their normal workday; similar lunch or money at each five hour interval thereafter until released from duty. On call-out of employees for emergency work on an off-day, such employees called out to work shall be furnished a suitable lunch or compensation in lieu thereof after each five hour interval until released from duty. The meal compensation allowance shall be as follows:

Current	Effective First Day of Pay Period Following Ratification	Effective
		5/15/2017	5/15/2018	5/15/2019	5/15/2020
$10.75	$11.25	$11.25	$11.50	$11.50	$11.50

Section 7. TRANSPORTATION: Except when employees are engaged in a logical site reporting assignment, all transportation of employees from shop to job or job to job, or job to shop shall be provided by the Company when same is required in the line of duty.

Section 8. WITNESSING FOR COMPANY: Regular pay and reasonable or required expenses will be allowed employees who may be summoned or requested to testify for the Company. A-1

Section 9. JURY DUTY: Employees required to serve on a jury shall be compensated on the basis of their regular wage.

Section 10. PAYDAYS: Paydays shall continue as at present, i.e., one every other calendar week. Paychecks will be mailed to the employee's home address. Employees on a volunteer basis may elect direct deposit. Employees hired on or after January 1, 2006 will be required to use direct deposit. Checks will be directly deposited into one or more bank accounts employees shall designate and authorize. Direct Deposit advices will be mailed to the employee's home address if she/she has elected to receive a printed copy.

Section 11. RETROGRESSION: Should an employee, who has given long service to the Company, become physically unable to satisfactorily and safely perform the regular duties of his job classification, an effort will be made by the Company to find work of a less strenuous nature for which he is qualified. The employee's hourly rate will be red-circled at the time of his assignment to a job of a lower classification until his hourly rate is equal to the maximum hourly wage rate of the job classification to which he has been assigned.

Section 12. JOB ABOLISHMENT: Should an employee have his job abolished, an effort will be made by the Company to find another job classification for which the employee is qualified. An employee assigned to a job of a lower classification as a result of his job being abolished will maintain his present hourly rate until the maximum hourly wage rate for the job classification to which he has been assigned is equal to the employee's present hourly rate or until he qualifies and receives a promotion. A-90

Section 13. GENERAL ILLNESS: (a) Regular employees who are actively working on January 1, regular employees who return to work from an authorized extended absence on or after January 1, probationary employees who become regular employees on or after January 1, shall be paid as gross wages, for absent time due to bona fide illness or injury, a maximum annual amount equal to 40 hours at their regular Straight Time Pay. Such payment shall be made by the Company on the nearest practicable regular pay day following the date such employee becomes eligible. A-5 A-9

(b) After an employee has been continuously disabled, subject to medical determination, and unable to return to work for more than seven consecutive calendar days, the employee will receive Short-Term Disability consisting of up to 26 weeks of pay per incidence with payment based on the schedule below or until the employee is able to return to work, whichever comes first. During the seven consecutive calendar day waiting period, it is intended that no employee will incur a loss of more than five scheduled days of straight time pay.

The administration of short-term disability compensation will be as follows:

Years of Service	Maximum Weeks at 100% Pay per Occurrence	Weeks at 66 2/3% Pay
0-1	None	All
1-5	10	Balance
6-10	15	Balance
11-14	20	Balance
15 or more	26	N/A

(c) After an employee has been continuously disabled, subject to medical determination, and is unable to return to work for more than 27 consecutive weeks, and has exhausted Short-Term Disability Benefits, the employee will receive Long-Term Disability benefits as described in the Company's Long-Term Disability Plan Description.

(d) Compensation will not be provided for illnesses resulting from such causes as: illegal use of drugs or alcohol, willful intention to injure oneself, the commission of a crime, elective or cosmetic procedures not covered by the medical plan, the employee's refusal to adopt such remedial measures as may be commensurate with his disability, or permit reasonable examination by the Company.

(e) In order to facilitate the scheduling of the work forces, an employee who will be absent from work shall notify the Company within a reasonable period of time before his scheduled shift if possible and shall likewise give the Company reasonable advance notice of his return to work. Unless an employee notifies the Company concerning the cause of his absence before the end of the first scheduled working day of such absence, his waiting period and subsequent claim for sick leave pay shall not begin until such notice is received.

(f) Failure to present a certificate from a physician licensed to practice medicine prior to the end of the fifth scheduled working day or failure to provide a legitimate excuse will cause the employee's Short-Term Disability to be denied until the time such certificate is received.

(g) If an employee requests work of a less strenuous nature for a temporary period following an illness or disability, the Company will make an effort to find such work providing the employee's physical condition is satisfactory and is approved by the Company physician.

Section 14. HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL PLANS: (a) Any health care plans (medical or dental) that the Company unilaterally implements at its sole discretion for the general non-represented employee population shall also be provided to the bargaining unit employees at the same costs and plan design structure as for the non-represented employees. It is expressly understood that the right to add, eliminate, and alter or to make any other changes to these health care plans or to employee costs for the plans, is reserved to the Company. A-14 A-78

(b) The Company's part of the monthly premiums for the health care plans will continue to be paid while an employee is receiving illness or accident compensation, provided the employee was covered by such plan immediately prior to the employee's sickness or industrial accident.

(c) For the term of this Contract, post-retirement health care under the health care plans sponsored by Duke Energy Corporation will be made available to all union Employees hired prior to January 1, 2012 in accordance with the terms of the letter from the Company to the Union dated April 4, 2005, Sidebar Letter A-71 dated August 1, 2007, Sidebar Letter A-71a dated June 3, 2011 and the "2016-2021 Post Retirement Health Care Letter" dated June 2, 2016. Section 15. INSURANCE, HEALTH & WELFARE BENEFITS: Any insurance, health and welfare benefit plans under the Duke Energy Active Health & Welfare Benefit A-68

Plans not specifically referenced elsewhere in this Contract (e.g. life insurance, supplemental, accidental death and dismemberment, long term disability, and dependent life insurance) that the Company maintains and/or implements for the general non-unionized employee population shall also be provided to the bargaining unit employees at the same benefit levels, costs, and plan design structure as for the non-unionized employees. The Company has the right to add, eliminate, and alter or to make any other changes to these insurance, health and welfare benefit plans or to the employee costs for the plans, consistent with any changes it makes for the general, non-unionized employee population.

Section 16. INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS: An injured employee who is unable to work because of an industrial accident will be paid a supplement in an amount equal to one half of the difference between what he/she would have received at regular work and the amount received as compensation for such injury, for a period not to exceed 26 weeks. This supplemental industrial accident compensation will begin after an initial seven calendar day waiting period and will continue for not more than 26 weeks of continuous disability. However, if an industrial accident disability continues for 14 or more calendar days, the employee will receive this supplemental industrial accident compensation for the initial seven-day waiting period.

Section 17. INCLEMENT WEATHER: The Company will not require employees to work out of doors in heavy or continuous storms or excessively cold temperatures in exposed locations, unless such work is necessary to conform to the law or applicable regulations, to protect life, property, or to guarantee service to the customers. Employees covered by this Contract shall not be required to lose time due to such weather conditions, but the Company may provide work indoors or under adequate shelter at their regular rate of pay. If prior arrangements are made, an employee may include a maximum of one day following the funeral as one of the consecutive working days off, and in the case of a spouse, child, mother, father, brother or sister, two days following the funeral. No pay will be granted for regular scheduled off days.

For example, an employee may take time off on the day of the death, return to work and then take off additional time to attend the funeral. If an employee has worked four hours or more and is notified of a death in his family, and leaves the job, the day will not be charged as one of the consecutive working days. If, however, he has not worked four hours, the day will be charged as one of the consecutive working days for which he is entitled to receive regular pay.

Section 19. BULLETIN BOARDS: The Company agrees to furnish bulletin boards at all division headquarters. The use of these boards is restricted to the following: notices of Union meetings, notices of Union election, notice of changes within the Union affecting its membership, or any other official notices issued on the stationery of the Union and signed by the Regional Director or any duly elected or appointed official of the Local Union. Section 20. UNION OFFICE: (a) Members of the Union selected for full time office shall be entitled to unpaid leaves of absence without prejudice or loss of seniority. Such leaves of absence shall be limited to a period of one year, and shall be renewed at the conclusion thereof, if necessary. At no time shall the operations of the Company be interfered with by such leaves of absence. All requests for such leaves of absence shall be in writing and submitted at least one week in advance.

However, because of extenuating circumstances, a day off with less than a seven calendar day notification may be approved by an employee's supervisor. Arrangements for all personal days must be made with supervision on or before November 1 of each year or it shall be lost. The Company reserves the right to limit the number of employees who can be off on a specific day. If a personal day is not used during a year, it shall be lost and no additional compensation shall be granted.

(b) An employee who has completed six months of continuous service shall be entitled to one compensated Diversity Day off each calendar year. Performance of special functions and duties within the team is voluntary. The teams will not be involved in any issue or take any action or make any decision which will subordinate the interests and viability of the Union. The teams will not engage in collective bargaining or deal with management over bargainable issues, as all parties recognize this to be the exclusive role of the Union. A-40

ARTICLE X – ARBITRATION

Section 1. (a) If the parties are unable to resolve the grievance following the third step, the Union, within 30 workdays of receipt of the third-step response, may notify Labor Relations in writing of its desire to advance the grievance to arbitration.

(b) Upon receipt of the Union's notification the parties will promptly petition the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS) for a panel of seven arbitrators and an arbitrator will be selected by the parties. In the event that no acceptable arbitrator appears on the panel of arbitrators submitted by FMCS either party may request an additional panel from FMCS.

(c) The arbitrator so selected shall hold a hearing as promptly as possible on a date satisfactory to the parties. If a stenographic record of the hearing is requested by either party, the initial copy of this record shall be made available for the use of the arbitrator and the party requesting the records. The cost of this initial copy and its own copy shall be borne by the requesting party, unless both parties desire a copy. If both parties desire a copy they shall equally share the cost of the arbitrator's copy, and shall each bear the cost of any copies of the record they desire.

(d) After completion of the hearing and the submission of the post-hearing briefs, the arbitrator shall render a decision and submit to the parties written findings that will be binding on both parties to the Agreement.

(e) The arbitrators' and other joint expenses mutually agreed upon shall be borne equally by both parties.

(f) The arbitrator shall have no authority to add to, detract from, alter, amend, or modify any provision of this Agreement. It is also mutually agreed that there shall be no work stoppage or lockouts pending the decision of the arbitrator or subsequent thereto.

ARTICLE XI – DISCIPLINE AND DISCHARGE

(b) Appeal from discharge must be taken within five working days in the form of a written notice from the Union to the Company. The Company and the Union shall strive to reach a just decision within 10 days following the appeal. Failing therein, the matter shall be submitted to arbitration as provided above.

(c) This Section shall not apply to disciplinary action taken in accordance with Article I, Section 2, of this Contract.

ARTICLE XII – HOLIDAYS

Section 1. (a) The following days are observed as regular holidays which will be recognized on the indicated dates. The Company may change the date for recognizing a holiday if the date indicated is changed by a legislative enactment or if the prevailing community practice is not consistent with the indicated date. A-10 A-16 A-17

Holiday	Date Recognized
New Year's Day	January 1
Memorial Day	Last Monday - May
Independence Day	July 4
Labor Day	First Monday - September
Thanksgiving Day	Fourth Thursday - November
Day after Thanksgiving	Friday after Thanksgiving
Christmas Eve	December 24
Christmas Day	December 25

(b) If the recognized date of a holiday occurs on a Saturday or Sunday the Company will have the option of observing that holiday on another date which the Company determines to be consistent with the community practice or paying eight hours of regular straight time pay in lieu thereof for the holiday.

(c) Regular employees whose duties do not require them to work on holidays will be paid eight hours straight time holiday pay provided the employees have worked their scheduled day before, or his scheduled day after the holiday. Employees who are on a four day-10 hour schedule will receive 10 hours of straight time pay if a holiday falls within their regular scheduled work week but they are not required to work the holiday, provided the employees have worked their scheduled day before, or their scheduled day after the holiday. Employees whose regular scheduled work week does not include the paid holiday will receive eight hours of straight time holiday pay. Regular employees who are scheduled to work on a recognized holiday will be paid at time and one-half for the first eight hours worked in addition to their straight time holiday pay.

(d) An employee called out to work on a recognized holiday for a period of four hours or less will be paid for four hours at time and one-half in addition to his straight time holiday pay. An employee called out to work on a recognized holiday for a period of more than four hours but less than eight hours will be paid for eight hours at time and one-half in addition to his regular straight time holiday pay.

(e) Employees who are required to work more than eight hours on a recognized holiday will be paid at the rate of double time for all such work in excess of eight hours.

(f) When necessary, employees will be granted a reasonable time off with pay to vote in a national, state or local election.

(g) Excluding planned projects and appointments prompted by customer requests, no field construction, field maintenance or routine customer service work shall be performed on the actual calendar holidays for Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day, except that which is necessary to protect life, property or continuity of service.

ARTICLE XIII – VACATIONS

Section 1. (a) Every effort will be made to grant vacations at a time suitable to the employee, but should the number leaving on vacation in any one period handicap the operations of the Company, the Company reserves the right to limit the number receiving vacations. Preference for vacations shall be granted within a classification at a headquarters on a system service basis.

(b) Vacations for employees will be granted with pay during the calendar year in which they complete the specified number of years of continuous service on the following basis:

(1) Employees with less than one year of continuous service with the Company shall be entitled to one day of vacation for each month worked, with a maximum of 10 days total.

(2) Employees with one year of continuous service with the Company shall be entitled to a vacation of two weeks.

(3) Employees with seven or more years of continuous service with the Company shall be entitled to a vacation of three weeks.

(4) Employees with 15 or more years of continuous service with the Company shall be entitled to a four week vacation or, if required to work by the Company, payment of one week's wages (40 hours at straight time) in lieu thereof for the fourth week.

(5) Employees with 21 or more years of continuous service with the Company shall be entitled to a five week vacation or, if required to work by the Company, payment of one week's wages (40 hours at straight time) in lieu thereof for the fifth week.

(6) Employees with 32 or more years of service with the Company shall be entitled to a six week vacation or, if required to work by the Company, payment of one week's wages (40 hours at straight time) in lieu thereof for the sixth week.

(c) An employee accrues entitlement of 1/12 of their current year's vacation for each full month the employee is employed during the current calendar year or is on STD, or leave of absence. Any employee leaving the Company's service during any calendar year shall receive payment for any unused portion of accrued vacation for that current year. However, in the event of an employee's death, the estate of the employee will be paid the unused portion of the employee's total vacation allotment for the current year.

(d) The anniversary of employment shall determine the employee's vacation status.

(e) In order for an employee to qualify for a vacation, the employee must have been on the Company payroll as a full-time regular or probationary employee on the last day in the calendar year previous to the vacation, and must have been available whenever necessary for the Company medical examinations and reports.

(f) An employee who is eligible for more than a three week vacation may be required to take the vacation in excess of three weeks outside the preferred vacation period, which is the period from June 1 to September 30.

(g) An employee who meets all the qualifications for vacation, and is on a Leave of Absence for illness on the last day in the calendar year previous to the vacation, will be entitled to vacation.

(h) When a holiday falls within an employee's vacation such employee shall receive either an additional day's pay to compensate for the loss of such holiday or the paid vacation period shall be extended for one day, at the discretion of the Company.

(i) Vacations must be selected for full weeks. However, an employee entitled to two or more weeks of vacation in a calendar year may arrange to take five days of that vacation in one day increments. Requests for these days must be made at least seven calendar days prior to the date requested and must be approved by supervision. However, because of extenuating circumstances, a day off with less than a seven calendar day notification may be approved by an employee's supervisor. An employee entitled to four or more weeks of vacation in a calendar year may arrange to take an additional five days of that vacation in one day increments. Requests for these additional five days must be made seven or more calendar days prior to the date requested and must be approved by supervision. The decision to grant or not grant a one day vacation by supervision shall not be subject to the grievance and arbitration procedure. The Company reserves the right to limit the number of employees who can be off on a specific day and may, but cannot be required to, grant a one day increment on a work day preceding or following a holiday or other vacation. Such one day increments must be utilized before an employee's scheduled vacation in a particular year is exhausted.

(j) An employee's vacation (full week) will start when the employee is released from duty on his last regularly scheduled working day prior to the scheduled vacation, and shall end at the start of his first regularly scheduled working day following the scheduled vacation. However, prior to the beginning of his scheduled vacation, an employee may indicate, in writing to his supervisor that he desires to be considered for work on what would have been normal off days at the beginning or end of his scheduled vacation.

ARTICLE XIV – NATIONAL DEFENSE

Section 1. (a) Employees who volunteer for or are drafted in the armed services of the United States, or are conscripted by the United States Government, shall retain all rights and privileges under this Contract, including seniority standing and shall be entitled to vacation pay due.

(b) The Company in recognition of service rendered to the Nation, agrees to restore all employees to their former positions, except those dishonorably discharged, who notify the Company within the time specified by applicable legislation of their desire to return to work. An employee who leaves the Service ill, injured or unable to work shall retain all rights of his former job until he is able to work. An injured, weakened or partially disabled employee shall be offered light duty, if he is physically able to perform such work. All Company sponsored life and AD&D insurance coverage for employees starting an approved military leave of absence will be continued for a period of up to six months with the same cost sharing as before the leave began.

(c) The foregoing provisions shall apply only to employees who are eligible for statutory re-employment rights.

ARTICLE XV – DEPARTMENT STEWARDS

The Union shall furnish the Company with a list of Department Stewards and this list shall be kept current. It is further agreed that only regular employees of the Company who are covered by this Contract shall be designated as Stewards.

ARTICLE XVI – RETIREMENT BENEFITS

Section 1. RETIREMENT INCOME PLAN: (a) Eligible employees represented by the Union hired or rehired before January 1, 2017, will participate or continue to participate in the existing Cinergy Corp. Union Employees' Retirement Income Plan (hereinafter called the "Retirement Income Plan") as amended and restated effective January 1, 2014 and subsequently amended to make legally-required changes as required by appropriate federal legislation and regulation governing such plans or technical changes, under the terms set forth in the "Amendment to A-71 Retirement Plan and HRA Conversion Agreement" dated June 2, 2016. Employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2017 will not be eligible to participate in the Retirement Income Plan.

(b) In consideration of the additional benefits incorporated in the Retirement Income Plan, the parties to this Contract agree that the Company will not reduce the benefits and the Union will not request any change in the Retirement Income Plan until the expiration of the Contract in effect on May 15, 2021.

Section 2. RETIREMENT SAVINGS PLAN: (a) The Company agrees to establish and maintain an employee savings plan, subject to the provisions of the appropriate federal legislation and regulation governing such plans, to be known as the "Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan", hereinafter called the "Retirement Savings Plan."

(b) The Retirement Savings Plan is described in the Company's publication the "Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan", Summary Plan Description and Prospectus.

(c) The Company hopes and expects to continue the Retirement Savings Plan indefinitely but it must reserve the right to alter or amend it or merge it into any other Savings Plan at any time. Any reduction or discontinuance of Company contributions during the term of the Contract will be subject to collective bargaining. However, under no circumstances shall any part of the corpus or income held by the Trustee of the Retirement Savings Plan be recoverable by the Company or be used for or diverted to any purposes other than for the exclusive benefit of the employee participants or their beneficiaries as provided in the Retirement Savings Plan.

ARTICLE XVII – INTERRUPTION OR PYRAMIDING BENEFITS

Section 1. (a) With the exception of shift differential premium, and a holiday occurring during an employee's vacation, it is agreed that under no circumstances shall any Section of this Contract be interpreted to provide the pyramiding of a benefit or premium payment to employees covered by this Contract. For example, no employee may claim sick pay while receiving vacation pay or holiday pay while receiving sick pay.

(b) It is further agreed that there shall be no interruption in the payment of one benefit in order that the employee may receive payment for another benefit. For example, no employee may interrupt his vacation to begin sick leave or interrupt his sick leave to include a holiday. The only exceptions to the provision are that an employee's sick pay may be interrupted to include vacation pay and that vacation pay may be interrupted to include death in family pay as set forth in the Contract. In the event of a death of a relative as defined in Article VIII, Section 18 occurs after the start of an employee's vacation, any compensable bereavement time off under the Contract would interrupt the vacation and replace the unused planned vacation days. The rescheduling of the unused vacation days interrupted by the death must be approved in advance by supervision and shall not impact normal administration of vacation in one-day increments as provided in Article XIII, Section 1(i).

ARTICLE XVIII – DURATION

Section 1. (a) The Contract shall become effective as of May 15, 2016, and all the provisions thereof shall continue in full force and effect until May 15, 2021, and thereafter for successive three year periods unless one of the parties hereto on or before the 60th day next preceding any contract anniversary date shall notify the other party hereto, in writing, of its desire to modify or terminate the same.

(b) Joint conferences between representatives of the Company and the Union shall be promptly started following any of the above notifications for the purpose of reaching a mutually satisfactory agreement.

(c) On or before May 15, 2021, this Contract may be extended by mutual agreement of the parties for a specific number of calendar days. If a tentative agreement on the terms of a new Contract has been reached on or before May 15, thereafter the Union shall have one-half of the specified number of days in which to submit the Contract to its membership for ratification and in case of failure to ratify, in order that the Company shall have the remaining one-half of the specified number of days as notice before a work stoppage occurs.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the United Steel, Paper and Forestry, Rubber, Manufacturing, Energy, Allied Industrial and Service Workers International Union (USW), AFL-CIO-CLC, on behalf of Local Unions 12049 and 5541-06, and Duke Energy Ohio, Inc. and Duke Energy Kentucky, Inc., do hereby, by their duly authorized agents, in the premises, execute and sign this 2016 – 2021 Contract in duplicate this 7th day of July 2016.

Dear Mr. Billingsley:

During the 1973 negotiations the committees of the Company and the Union discussed the Company's policy concerning allowing an employee, who is subpoenaed, to be off work to testify in a court proceeding which does not directly involve the Company.

Employees who are continually in contact with the public may occasionally witness acts which could lead to criminal arrests or observe personal injury or property damages which could result in litigation. In most instances, the actions observed by employees while within the scope of their employment can be recorded through written statements, affidavits, or in limited situations, depositions. Such gathering of factual information would not ordinarily involve absence from work.

In a very small proportion of cases, employees could be subpoenaed to testify in court proceedings. In criminal litigation the governmental body for whom an employee is subpoenaed may be unable to make the employee entirely whole for his lost earnings during the time of his testimony. However, in civil litigation, it is not uncommon for the party who causes the witness to be subpoenaed to reimburse the witness for resulting lost earnings and expenses.

Employees are not encouraged to go out of their way to make themselves available as witnesses to any incident which could ultimately be litigated. On the other hand, the Company does not want to penalize an employee who may be called upon to testify in the very unfrequent situations when he is not reimbursed for his expenses and loss of regular pay by the party who subpoenaed him. The Company will evaluate such cases on an individual basis to determine whether such civic minded and responsible employees should receive their regular pay when they are off work to testify.

Very truly yours,

Arthur R. Ehrnschwender

Dear Mr. Billingsley:

During the 1973 negotiations the committees of the Company and the Union discussed the possibility of allowing Servicemen in the Customer Service Section of the Gas Operating Department to choose their routes on a seniority basis.

Upon the acceptance of the 1973-76 Contract, the department management and a committee of the Union will meet in an effort to draw up guidelines for the implementation of such a system. Providing a mutually agreeable set of guidelines is reached, the Company is willing to allow the assignment of routes on the basis of seniority for a trial period of one year. If this trial period proves satisfactory to the Company, the procedure will be continued during the term of the 1973-76 Contract.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1979 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the allocation of overtime assignments.

The Company intends that overtime shall continue to be assigned in accordance with the long and well-established procedures of equalization within classifications at individual divisions or headquarters. While the low employee on the overtime list may not be called for a particular overtime occasion, the Company expects overtime to be relatively equalized over a period of time. Normally, it is not important to the Company which person in a designated classification performs an assignment as long as the individual is qualified. While a specific individual with certain skills may occasionally be necessary to perform a particular assignment, the occasions where that is required are limited. It is also understandable that employees who begin a particular overtime assignment may, for purposes of continuity, finish that work, even if the completion occurs at another time.

In making overtime assignments, all employees must understand the Company's needs. However, personal commitments of the employees involved also warrant serious consideration. Supervisors should attempt to avoid overtime assignments to individuals who have made previous personal commitments if others are readily available. It is understandable that individuals and families develop appointments and social obligations of importance. Although employees have a responsibility to be available for overtime assignments, supervisors should give recognition, when feasible, to employees' personal commitments. If operating needs require an individual to break his personal appointment, the least the responsible supervisors can do is to explain the reasons for this infringement to the individual.

In those areas where overtime scheduling has functioned most effectively, supervisors and employees have developed a mutual interest and pride in meeting the operational needs of the Company while giving maximum recognition to the personal interests of the employees. Supervisors attempt to notify employees of the need for overtime as far in advance as possible. Employees frequently suggest schedules or volunteer for planned assignments. Employees often trade assignments with supervisors' permission. This type of cooperative effort can provide the basis for a healthy and productive atmosphere in any headquarters. With such a cooperative atmosphere, incidents of disciplinary action because an employee is excessively absent from overtime assignments will be minimized.

It is thought that this letter will clarify the Company's policy concerning overtime assignments.

Very truly yours,

Arthur R. Ehrnschwender

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1979 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the compensation policy for employees who undertake treatment for alcoholism.

While sick compensation has not previously been granted for the treatment of alcoholic conditions, the Company will alter that arrangement when an employee obtains treatment at an appropriate detoxification facility under the direction of the Company Medical Director or in coordination with the Medical Director and the employee's personal physician. Available sick pay may hereafter be used for the first continuous absence when an employee undertakes to correct an alcoholic problem through an approved program. If the initial rehabilitation effort at a treatment center is not successful, the employee will not be granted additional available sick pay.

The Company is willing to extend this extra effort to help afflicted employees and their families, to eliminate the burden imposed upon the fellow employees, and to minimize lost productivity and absenteeism caused by alcoholism. An employee who is unwilling to accept the responsibility for his own behavior or who refuses to participate in a necessary program will, as in the past, jeopardize his continued employment with the Company.

The Union is encouraged to make the Company Medical Director aware of individuals thought to have alcoholism problems. With such assistance, fellow employees may be given a chance for which they may be forever grateful.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1979 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union attempted to clarify the inclement weather policy applicable to employees in the Construction & Maintenance Division of the Gas Operating Department. As has always been the case, any or all employees will be expected to work without regard to weather conditions when it is necessary to protect life, property, or continuity of service.

Employees will not be required to perform normal work when the headquarter's thermometer reads five degrees or less. However, after considering the current and anticipated weather conditions, crews will leave their headquarters and proceed to their assigned job sites. When the temperature is six degrees and rising and the wind is calm or light, all crews will begin working. If the temperature is ten degrees or less and the wind is strong and gusty, the crews at the job sites will not be required to perform normal work. Whenever the temperature reaches 11 degrees, employees will begin working regardless of wind conditions. The Company will make an effort to provide indoor duties, conduct training or provide outdoor work under protective conditions during inclement weather conditions for the remaining individuals.

During conditions of dry or light snow, employees will be required to continue to work unless storm conditions develop that are too severe to permit a job assignment to be completed safely. During conditions of drizzle or light rain employees will be required to continue working unless the precipitation is great enough to soak their clothes. During periods of moderate or heavy rain, crews will be dispatched or assigned duties as stated above for cold weather conditions. Every effort will be made by the Area Supervisor to assign work at locations suitable to existing weather conditions where an assignment may be safely performed. When a crew arrives at a job site, the crew leader will evaluate the weather conditions. Unless the weather conforms to the long established Company definition of inclement (unmerciful, severe, harsh, tempestuous, rough, stormy, boisterous, or otherwise hard to bear) the work will be performed as assigned. If weather conditions become inclement according to the above definitions at any time after work has been under way, the crew leader may stop operations, seek shelter in Company equipment, and communicate this fact to the Construction & Maintenance Dispatcher. The crew's supervisor will thereafter determine if the weather is inclement. In all cases the supervisor's evaluation will prevail. The Gas Operating departmental management will continually counsel with supervisors in an effort to assure fairness and continuity of judgment regarding inclement weather.

A-7

With the exception of the newly established temperature minimums, the management in the Gas Operating Department does not intend to amend the administration of the inclement weather provisions. These procedures were described in the recent arbitration decision and award resulting from a hearing on January 10, 1978 and were explained to employees at group meetings at the various headquarters earlier this year. The past administration clearly reflects that no employees have been required to jeopardize their health or safety because of the requirement to perform normal work during adverse weather conditions. In fact, statistical information reflects that the proportion of total non-productive time attributed to inclement weather increased in recent years. The continued good judgment of crew leaders and cooperation with supervisory personnel will avoid future misunderstandings about inclement weather.

Very truly yours,

Arthur R. Ehrnschwender

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1982 negotiations, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the possibility of implementing a new bargaining unit job classification. As a result of these discussions, the Company will agree to write a job description for a new job classification of Inspecting Mechanic during the first year of the 1982-1985 Contract. This job classification will be evaluated in the normal manner but the maximum wage rate resulting from such evaluation will not be subject to arbitration.

This new job classification will ultimately be responsible for performing the inspecting duties currently being accomplished by exempt employees. These exempt employees will continue to accomplish the inspecting duties they are now performing. When the Company determines that there is a need for additional or replacement personnel to perform these inspecting duties, the new bargaining unit job classification will be posted and filled through the established bidding procedure.

Employees who will subsequently fill this job classification will not be permitted to demote in accordance with the agreement in my letter dated May 17, 1982. Employees in this job classification will not take part in the Mechanic Operator shift rotation.

It is understood that this proposal will satisfy the Union's request to the mutual benefit of both parties.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1985 negotiation meetings between the Company and Local Unions 12049 and 14214 the committees discussed Article VIII, Section 13(g) of the Contract concerning the requirement that employees' notify the Company that they will be tardy or absent from work.

As discussed, the Company expects employees who will be late or absent from work to notify the Company before the beginning of a scheduled shift to indicate their contemplated absence from work. This notification by an employee allows supervision an opportunity to make last minute scheduling adjustments with full knowledge about which employees will be absent and which employees have been delayed in reporting to work.

The Company and the Union agreed that it is the employees' responsibility to provide such advance notification about their work intentions. Furthermore, the Union assured the Company that it would encourage its members to so notify the Company of their work intentions. Supervisors will counsel with those employees on an individual basis who continuously report absences after the start of a work schedule to determine the reasons that such notification was not given earlier. Employees who disregard their obligation to report their absences from work prior to the beginning of their work schedule will continue to subject themselves to disciplinary action.

It is thought that this letter adequately describes the concern expressed by the Company during these negotiations and will clarify the understanding of the parties concerning Article VIII, Section 13(g).

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1991 negotiation meetings, the committees of the Company and the Union discussed the work practices of contractors and employees.

The Union voiced a concern that contractors are not in compliance with the safety standards applied to employees, especially while working side by side on the same job. The Company has a continuing concern for the safety and well being of its employees and is constantly monitoring work areas, conditions and procedures. During these negotiation meetings, the Company assured the Union that its supervision will strictly monitor the construction practices of contractors in order to assure compliance with the appropriate safety rules and work habits.

Safety on the job must be a continuous activity, not only for supervision of the Company but for every employee. It is only through cooperation of our employees that we are able to maintain our outstanding safety record. The Company will continue to strive to conduct its operations in a safe and efficient manner.

These assurances by the Company should alleviate the concerns of the Union in this matter.

During the 1991 negotiation meetings, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed eliminating the need for management to confer with the Union in the event that a health care provider is replaced by other medical coverage.

During these discussions, the Company and the Union shared concer over the astronomical increase in medical costs that occurred in the past three years. As a result of these discussions concerning the elimination of Article VIII, Section 14 (b) of the Contract, the Union assured the Company that it would cooperate and objectively evaluate any health care carriers that the Company suggested as a substitute for existing health care providers.

During the 1991 negotiation meetings the committees of the Company and the Union discussed the representation of employees by personal attorneys or outside agencies during the grievance and arbitration procedures.

During the 1991 negotiations, the committees of the Company and the Union discussed employees taking vacations which include a Company recognized holiday.

In order for the Company to effectively and efficiently direct the work force, it must maintain its right to make the determination as to whether an employee will receive either eight hours additional pay or one additional vacation day when an employee schedules a vacation which includes a holiday. During the 1991 negotiation meetings, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the scheduling of make-up overtime assignments.

During these meetings, the Union voiced a concern regarding the delayed granting of make-up overtime assignments as a result of heavy periods of regular overtime assignments.

However, the Company assured the Union that it would make every attempt to schedule make-up overtime assignments which are determined by supervision to be appropriate at the earliest practicable time. Additionally, the Company agreed that employees will be scheduled for make-up overtime assignments within six (6) months from the date granted by supervision.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1994 negotiation meetings, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the implementation of time limits within the various steps of the grievance procedure.

The Company believes that the objective of the grievance procedure, to mutually and equitably resolve differences that may arise in the administration and interpretation of the Agreement, can be most favorably fulfilled without the imposition of mandatory time limits.

However, as a result of these discussions, the Company did give its assurance that it will strive to respond to all grievances as expeditiously as possible.

It is understood that unavoidable delays by both parties may occur for various legitimate reasons. Any such circumstances must necessarily be accommodated without prejudice to the position of any party to the grievance.

It was also agreed that if, in the future, the Union believes that grievances are not being resolved in a timely manner, the Company would be willing to meet with the Union in order to resolve this issue.

It is anticipated that, with this accord, the interval in processing grievances will be reduced.

Very truly yours,

Edward R. Schuette

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1994 negotiation meetings, the parties discussed the administration of the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA).

During the discussions, the Company assured the Union that its administration of the FMLA does not reduce the employee benefits provided for by the Contract. Furthermore, the Company assured the Union of its continued commitment to considering the particular circumstances involved with individual employees, who may be experiencing hardship and whose circumstances may warrant leave in addition to the FMLA annual allotment.

It is believed that the above commitment by the Company alleviates the Union's concerns in this matter.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1994 negotiation meetings, the committees for the Company and the Union discussed the revision of the Construction Assistant job description.

As discussed, the job description of the Construction Assistant will be revised so that employees, who are assigned to that job classification, may also be trained to perform other duties commensurate with their skills and abilities, within their medical limitations. However, employees in the Construction Assistant job classifications will not perform work of job classifications at higher wage levels than their previous job.

As stated during these negotiations, at some point in time, as determined by the Company, the number of Construction Assistants may reach a saturation point. As discussed, we are rapidly approaching that saturation point. If such a saturation point is reached, the Company will discontinue placing people in that job classification.

In addition, the Company assured the Union that if problems are detected as a result of the administration of the Construction Assistant job duties, the Company would be willing to meet with the Union to discuss this issue at that time. Furthermore, as stated during these negotiations, and in accordance with the original intent of the parties when the Construction Assistant job classification was established, only employees with 15 or more years of service will be red-circled when demoted to the Construction Assistant job classification. Employees with less than 15 years of service, when demoted to the Construction Assistant job classification, will be placed at the maximum wage rate of that job.

It is believed that this correspondence should alleviate the concerns of the Union in this matter.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

As discussed during the 1994 negotiation meetings, there are presently 15 Inspecting Mechanics in Gas Operations. These employees are performing the following functions: locating facilities, preparing permit drawings, inspecting exposed pipelines on bridges, inspecting pipelines and locating and plotting gas facilities as a result of Ohio House Bill 538. These Inspecting Mechanics are located throughout our system, but primarily at Monfort Heights, Dana Avenue and Todhunter Road.

As discussed, during the term of the 1994-1997 Contract, Inspecting Mechanics will be paid fifty-five cents (.55¢) above the maximum wage rate of their job classification.

Inspecting Mechanics will also protect facilities by their presence and direction of contractors working around gas facilities. This Inspecting Mechanic job will not be submitted for re-evaluation since the job description adequately defines the duties required in performing House Bill and system protection work. There will be two (2) Inspecting Mechanics performing House Bill work. They are John Fagaly located at Fairfield and Mose Barrett located at Dana. These two individuals will continue performing this work. Mr. Fagaly will perform work only in the Northern local and Mr. Barrett will perform work anywhere in Local 12049's service territory. At this time we do not anticipate a change of headquarters. The Company will train the remaining Inspecting Mechanics to perform House Bill work. The number of Inspecting Mechanics performing House Bill work may increase or decrease at any time due to work needs. The remaining incumbent Inspecting Mechanics will be assigned to specific geographic areas and duties for the purposes of work assignment. If the House Bill work load decreases, the Inspecting Mechanics performing that work will be assigned to perform any activity within their job description.

The Inspecting Mechanic will locate underground facilities for contractors performing work for the Company. This includes marking gas facilities for contractors installing and replacing gas mains and services.

Inspecting Mechanics will be required to work in any geographical area assigned, i.e., Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, except across Union Locals. Back-up Inspecting Mechanics will only be used as determined by business needs.

Future openings or replacements in the Inspecting Mechanics job classification when deemed necessary by the Company, will be filled by qualified employees from the Mechanic Operator I job classification, in accordance with the contractual posting procedure, within Local 12049 or within Local 14214. Also, the Company reserves the right to determine the headquarters as to where the replacements or openings will be filled, in Local 12049 or in Local 14214.

It is believed that this correspondence addresses our discussion at the negotiations.

Dear Mr. Spurlock:

During the 1994 negotiations, representatives of the Company and the Union discussed the possibilities of a training program for the members of the Union job evaluation committee.

The procedures for establishing, revising, and evaluating job classifications is clearly set forth in Article V, Section 1 of the current Contract. As indicated, the Union may submit written comments regarding the duties of a revised job description to the Company's evaluation committee and may review the evaluation and wage rate of any new or revised classification considered by the Company's committee.

At the negotiation meetings, the Union expressed concern about its understanding of the job evaluation process. To understand the procedures, the Company will agree to provide a training program for members of the Union committee who may be unfamiliar with how the job evaluation system works. In addition, if the chairman of the Union's classification committee periodically requests information concerning which factor points were changed when its committee is scheduled to meet with the Company's committee to review the evaluation of a job, the Company official responsible for the administration of the wage and salary program will provide the designated Union representative with such information.

It is thought that proceeding as outlined in this letter will satisfy the Union's request about training in the job evaluation procedure during the term of the 1994-1997 Contract.

Re: Mechanic III

Dear Gentlemen:

Reference is made to the discussion between the parties pertaining to changes to the Mechanic III job responsibilities, rate of pay and line of promotion.

As agreed, the specially negotiated wage rate for a Mechanic III job classification will be revised. Effective January 1, 2015, any employee moving into that job classification, will be paid at the starting rate of $18.50 per hour. At intervals of six months, if progress, measured by demonstrated ability and performance, has been satisfactory, the employee will be eligible for a $0.25 merit increase until reaching the maximum pay rate of $19.50 per hour.

In addition, all employees entering into a Mechanic III position on or after May 15, 2016, will be employed with the understanding that they must be able to successfully promote to the Meter Specialist II, Gas Systems Operations Mechanic II, Gas Plant Operator II, Mechanic Operator II or Service Mechanic B within the timeframes outlined within the qualifications of the respective job descriptions. At a minimum, failure to qualify for this purpose would include situations where two successive written examinations or two successive practical demonstrations were not passed. Employees will be allowed a maximum time period of three months between the two successive examinations and/or demonstrations. Employees will not be permitted to request waiver of their rights to promotion.

The employment of any individual who does not successfully meet the requirements to promote from a Mechanic III position to a Meter Specialist II, Gas Systems Operations Mechanic II, Gas Plant Operator II, Mechanic Operator II or Service Mechanic B, will be terminated.

Employees will be promoted on the first day of the pay period following successful completion of the timeframes outlined in the respective job descriptions unless deemed not qualified or sooner, as determined by the Company. If a promotion is delayed due to the Company, the effective date of the promotion will be back dated to the first day of the pay period following successful completion of the timeframes outlined in the respective job description. If a promotion is delayed because an employee is deemed not qualified or has been unable to successfully complete a promotional exam, the effective date of the promotion will be the first day of the pay period following successful promotion.

Based on the foregoing, this letter supersedes any prior letters or agreements among the parties relating to this matter including current sidebar letter A-35 (Mechanic III Pay Rate and Work CG&E Wide).

It is thought that the above adequately describes the parties agreement on this matter.

Sincerely,

Re: Inspecting Mechanic Agreement - AMRP

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions and agreements related to employees in the Inspecting Mechanic classification and the impacts on work and this job that are expected to occur towards the end of and after the Accelerated Main Replacement Program (AMRP).

In the fall of 2000, the Company met with the leadership of each of the Duke affiliated local unions to discuss the need to significantly increase the number of Inspecting Mechanics to enhance the inspection program for an Accelerated Main Replacement Program. During those discussions, several items were agreed upon to successfully implement and complete the Program. All items to date have been successfully implemented by both parties. This document is to memorialize those items necessary to wind down the Program and implement post AMRP activities.

If it is necessary to "Roll Back" any Inspecting Mechanics, that person will return to a Mechanic Operator I (MOI) position at the district from which they were promoted. Roll Backs will occur by low classified Inspecting Mechanic seniority. If the district headquarters is no longer maintained, the person will be assigned to the district that absorbed the territory of the discontinued district. They are listed as follows:

Little Miami absorbed by Eastworks
Glendale absorbed by Monfort
Dana absorbed by Eastworks
19th Street absorbed by Erlanger
Florence absorbed by Erlanger

As discussed in 2000, during presentations and during discussions with the successful candidates, Inspecting Mechanics will maintain their current accrued seniority if a roll back to the MOI position is necessary. In addition, Inspecting Mechanics would have their pay redlined until the MOI wage rate increased to the point of surpassing the Inspecting Mechanic pay. At that time, the person would receive a wage increase up to the max rate of pay for a MOI.

As part of the original agreements, Inspecting Mechanics were to maintain their CDL license. A valid medical card is required to perform the MOI duties. Employees rolling back under this Letter will be given 6 months to obtain their medical card. If employees cannot obtain their medical cards in six months, the Company's Job Adjustment and Workplace Modification Program (JAWM) will be triggered. The JAWM Program is a two-tiered program for the Company to engage in an interactive dialogue with employees who may require job adjustments or workplace modifications due to a physical or mental health issue that impacts an employee's work.

Management will make every effort to project the resource needs for the following year and avoid roll backs in the middle of the year. This will allow a smooth transition for the employee to be placed on the shift schedule. However, there may be those occasions when a roll back may occur in the middle of the year. When this occurs, management will not rework the schedule for the current year. Management will fill a vacancy in the shift schedule with the rolled back employee up to two times in that calendar year but, not two consecutive times. All other vacancies will be filled using the established Schedule Replacement Guidelines. If there is more than one rolled back employee in a district, they will alternate shift coverage until they have exhausted their obligation to work two scheduled vacancies for that calendar year. For rolled back employees who scheduled their vacation in advance, the Company will follow existing guidelines for filling shift vacancies. After the Company schedules a rolled back employee for a shift vacancy, the Company will not grant vacation for the employee's shift during the vacancy the employee is scheduled to work.

If a temporary Inspecting Mechanic is needed in the future, trained and qualified Mechanic Operator I's will be upgraded based on classified Mechanic Operator I seniority. The Company will pay temporarily upgraded "rolled back inspectors" at the top of the Inspecting Mechanic pay grade until the assignment is complete. After the temporary upgrade is over, the employee will return to their pay rate prior to being upgraded. The employee also will be provided with any promotional opportunities they would have received in the MOI position. If a Mechanic Operator I is upgraded and he/she did not previously hold the classification of Inspecting Mechanic, normal temporary upgrade guidelines will apply (Article V, Section 2).

Employees who are scheduled for shift work during a temporary upgrade assignment lasting 30-days or less will not be eligible for the upgrade and the next senior, qualified person will be selected. If the temporary upgrade assignment will last 31-days or more, upon completion of the scheduled shift, the most senior person will replace the more junior person on the upgrade assignment. Employees must pass an inspecting test to be temporarily upgraded to an Inspecting Mechanic role.

It is believed that the procedures outlined in this letter properly describe the agreement reached between the parties concerning this issue.

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 1996 discussions concerning work flexibility and employment security, the Company and the Union discussed the continuation of participative management teams.

During these discussions, the parties agreed that together we face a changing regulatory environment, aggressive competitive forces and rising customer expectations.

To meet these challenges and to ensure both the Company and the Union's continued mutual success and security, the parties commit to achieving maximum customer, employee and shareholder productivity and quality of our work and its environment.

In making this commitment, the parties recognize a need for the Company, the Union and all employees to support and strive for a more cooperative atmosphere of increasing openness, trust and mutual respect, where all employees can fully utilize their creativity, talents and initiative in a safe and fulfilling work environment.

The parties agreed during these negotiations to continue the use of the participative team process to further these goals. It is also agreed that the following jointly developed guidelines will continue to be used for the participative team process:

> When any team is formed to address an issue, individuals should be told that membership on the team is voluntary. Persons selected should be respected by their co-workers. Before the team begins its work, members must be informed that it is their responsibility to honor the collective bargaining agreements.

When forming a team to address non-contractual issues, team members should be selected objectively based on the issues and subjects to be addressed by the group.

When contractual issues arise after the start of the process, bargaining unit leaders and the Employee Relations and Safety Department must be notified as soon as it is apparent that a contractual issue is involved. Team membership should be reviewed to see if changes need to be made because of the new contractual issue.

The Company and the Union officers will select team members from their respective units to develop recommendations concerning contractual issues. The Employee Relations and Safety Department will be notified when a team is being formed in order to determine its level of involvement. Any recommendations made by the teams that would change or modify the collective bargaining contract will be subject to negotiations between the parties.

These commitments made by both the Company and the Union will enable both parties to be successful in our endeavor to reach our goals in serving our customers, employees and shareholders.

Dear Gentlemen:

Reference is made to our 1996 discussions concerning employment security and work flexibility. During these discussions the parties discussed the issue of Union Recognition in a changing business environment to meet future competitiveness in our industry.

During the discussions, the Company confirmed its commitment to recognize the Union as the sole and exclusive collective bargaining agent for those employees who are employed in jobs currently under its jurisdiction. The Company also assured the Union of its ongoing commitment to honor any agreements it may enter into with the Union. The parties also discussed the need for new and innovative ways to meet future business needs in order to remain viable within a competitive environment. These new ways of conducting business may not only require significant changes within the current organization, but may also result in the Company's expansion into other business ventures.

During the discussions, the Company gave assurance to the Union that in the event of such future expansions of our business, should the Union attempt to represent or organize employees outside of its current jurisdiction, the Company will not interfere with such legitimate activity and will encourage a policy of neutrality among its supervisory/managerial workforce. However, the Company must maintain its right to respond to employee inquires in an honest and open manner.

Hopefully, as a result of the discussion on this subject, the Union's concerns in this area have been resolved.

Re: Downbidding to Entry-Level Jobs

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the downbidding process and the desire to make starting level job opportunities available in the various divisions of the Gas Operations and Service Delivery areas to qualified employees who desire to change their type of work. This letter replaces the previous letter of agreement titled "Downbidding to Entry-Level Jobs Second Amendment" which was last revised December 23, 2013 and all earlier versions as well as the downbidding process described in the "Disconnect Non-pay, Succession and Special Meter Reads Agreement" letter dated May 14, 2003.

For the duration of the 2016 – 2021 Contract, the Company will permit any employee with eight (8) or more years of service and classified as a Meter Specialist II, Mechanic Operator II, Gas Systems Operations Mechanic II, Gas Plant Operator II, Welder II or any higher job classification in these sequences, to submit their name for consideration through the established bidding procedure when job openings occur within the established rotation sequence in the Service Mechanic "B", Gas Systems Operations Mechanic III, or Gas Plant Operator III job classifications. Additionally, any employee with eight (8) or more years of service and classified as a Service Mechanic "B" or any higher job classification in this sequence, to submit their name for consideration through the established bidding procedure when job openings occur within the established rotation sequence in the Gas Systems Operations Mechanic III or Gas Plant Operator III job classification.

The Company will consider employee requests for a posted opening in the established rotation sequence, on the basis of the system service within the seniority district. These employees will be required to successfully complete the departmental training program, and all required tests, before they are re-classified as a Service Mechanic "B", Gas Systems Operation Mechanic III or Gas Plant Operator III. Upon implementation of this letter in June, 2011, the Company filled the first posted eligible job from qualified downbid applicants before considering applicants seeking to promote under the existing promotional sequence within the seniority district. After that first posted job, the Company has alternated between the downbid process and the promotional sequence process to fill Service Mechanic "B", Gas Systems Operations Mechanic III or Gas Plant Operator III postings. Effective with postings filled after May 15, 2016, the selected employees will have their classified seniority adjusted such that the downbids on the posting will be the most senior ahead of those promoting.

In addition, the Company agreed to allow employees in Local 12049 with eight (8) or more years of service and classified as a Mechanic Operator II, Gas Systems Operations Mechanic II, Gas Plant Operator II, Welder II, Service Mechanic "B" or any higher job classification in these sequences to downbid to the Meter Specialist III job classification through the downbidding procedure as described in this letter. When eligible employees submit such downbids to the Meter Specialist III classification, the Company will fill the position based on USW system service seniority within the seniority district.

In all situations described in this letter, the following applies:

1. Employees who are accepted for the vacant position shall retain their present salary until they successfully pass the test for the new position. At that time, they will be demoted to the maximum wage rate of the job for which they have been accepted. However, employees who demote in accordance with this agreement with 15 or more years of service will have their wage rates red-circled.

2. If the acceptable candidates fail to qualify for the position, they will return to their original headquarters without loss of seniority.

3. While in training, the employees will retain the salary and job title of their current position.

4. The Company will post opportunities for the Service Mechanic B, Tool Repair Specialist, Meter Specialist III, or Gas Systems Operations Mechanic III on the current rotation and will fill the first posting following the date of this Letter with any downbids for Gas Plant Operator III as described above. For the second posting following the date of this Letter, the Company will use the promotional sequence within the Gas Plant Operator III classification, and will alternate between the downbid process and the promotional sequence for future postings per the current process within the other classifications mentioned above. If a posting is not filled by the designated sequence and/or there are no downbids, the turn will be forfeited. This will be tracked by each job classification and each local.

5. Prior to the first downbid opportunity as described above, management will post a one-time opportunity for existing Premise Mechanics to promote to Service Mechanic B. If eligible employees choose not to pursue this promotional opportunity, the one-time opportunity will be forfeited. The Company reserves the right to cancel any postings not filled under this Paragraph. This has been completed but will remain in this letter for historical purposes.

It is acknowledged that the Company must maintain the right to limit the number of such individuals in any job at any one time, in order to make certain that the promotional sequence does not become blocked in any way.

It is anticipated that the procedures outlined in this letter properly describe the accord reached between the parties concerning this issue, for the term of this Contract.

Re: Work Hours

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed work hours of bargaining unit employees in both local unions. This correspondence cancels and supersedes correspondence from Messrs. Morgan and Randolph of June 4, 2001 to Messrs. McAlpin and Helsinger and the letter of October 7, 1996 from K. Williams to D. Turner on this subject.

Based on discussions for the 2002 – 2007 labor agreement, work schedules will be implemented as follows.

Construction & Maintenance

Accept as specified below, the Construction & Maintenance Group will use both the 4-day 10-hour schedule and the 5-day 8-hour schedule. On or about May 1 of each year, that work group will commence a 4-day 10-hour schedule. It is believed that working the 4-10's during the prime construction season allows for the most efficient means to carryout that type of work. The shorter workweek and fewer trips to/from jobs will lessen the environmental impact from driving during summer months when environmental issues are at a peak. It will also save on fuel costs during the summer season when the cost for fuel is at a maximum. Additionally, the fact that school will be out will lessen disruptions to setting up job sites prior to 8:00 a.m. Employees, who value the third off day each week, will continue to be able to benefit from that schedule during the summer time season. The 4-10 work hours will remain from 7:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. at this time.

On or about November 1 of each year, the Construction & Maintenance Group will be scheduled to work the 5-day 8-hour schedule, with work hours of 7:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. For the reduced amount of construction projects during the winter months, the 5-day 8-hour work schedule is more conducive for achieving the maintenance type work that tends to be done during the colder months season. Additionally, the shorter work day during the winter months will allow for employees to arrive at home at an earlier time each day to tend to personal business. Management will continuously monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the 8-hour schedules including the start time for work hours and maintains the right to adjust the work hours as deemed necessary to meet business needs.

For business needs, the new gas service inspecting group (spotters) will be an exception to the seasonal schedule. Visual inspecting work must be accomplished on a 5-day 8-hour work schedule in order to meet the daily demands for those jobs, which have to be carried out within two days of a request. The four-day workweek has caused the need to take employees from Construction & Maintenance to assist in performing visual inspecting work on a regular basis, thus impacting the number of employees dedicated to construction and maintenance work on any one day.

Gas Production, Systems Operations and Corrosion Control

For the same reasons discussed above, and for the need to provide support for the construction & maintenance crews, Gas Systems Operations employees' work schedules will be the same as listed for Construction & Maintenance above and will also change on the referenced seasonal basis. The 5-8's schedule during the winter months allows for better coverage for cold weather related system adjustments and the need to implement the rotating shift during the winter season.

Contractor Construction Management

The Inspecting Mechanics will remain assigned to a 5-day 8-hour schedule year round. That work schedule maximizes our ability to provide inspecting services to the contractor work force. The 5-8's will enhance the availability of the inspecting work force at reduced overtime costs and at a minimum disruption to the Construction & Maintenance Group.

Service Delivery, Meter Operations, Gas Measurement Center

Employees in these work groups will continue to work their current work schedules at this time, as long as business needs are being accomplished.

It is believed that the work schedules as outlined above are a reflection of the consideration given to the Unions' input and employee comments while implementing work schedules that will help improve the organization's overall effectiveness. It must be noted, however, that the Company must maintain its right to make other work schedule adjustments in the future to meet business needs.

Re: Voluntary Transfers Between Headquarters

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions and agreements related to employees in the same job classification being permitted to voluntarily transfer between headquarters.

As was agreed, employees will be permitted to submit transfer requests to be assigned to another headquarters. On an annual basis, during the first week of August, a notice will be posted advising those employees who wish to change headquarters to submit a transfer request, in writing, to the Labor Relations Department. All such requests must be submitted on or before August 31st of each year. These requests for transfer will be evaluated in the same manner as cross bids for posted job openings. Reassignments between headquarters will be made as soon as determined practical by Management but no later than January 7th. The provisions of Article VI, Section 2 will govern the classified seniority of all employees who are transferred. These reassignments are not subject to the grievance and arbitration procedure. Once a reassignment between headquarters is made, the transferred employee will assume the work assignments, vehicle assignments and holiday and other schedules that were assigned to the employee with whom the trade is made. Both employees must be actively employed at the time of the move in order for the transfer to occur.

This procedure in no way alters the contractually provided right of the Company to unilaterally effect transfers and reassignments and to effectively conduct its business. Additionally, this procedure does not alter the long established practice of assigning new employees in the starting level job, Mechanic III, to the various headquarters of Gas Operations.

It was also agreed that the provisions of Article VIII, Section 2 will not apply to these transfers. It must be understood that a transferred employee's scheduled vacation may have to be changed, if, during that period, the number of employees leaving on vacation from an individual's new headquarters handicaps the operation of the department.

It is believed that this letter properly describes the agreement reached between the parties concerning this matter.

Sincerely,

Lisa A. Gregory

Re: Compensation for Non-industrial Medical Appointments

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the compensation of employees performing limited duty work, while attending necessary medical appointments during working hours for non-industrial illness or injury.

It was agreed that when such appointments cannot be made outside of the normal working hours, employees will be paid sick pay for time away from the job for verifiable appointments. However, such compensation will only be granted after an employee has met the applicable sick pay waiting period for the same condition as necessitates such follow-up appointments.

It was also agreed that employees will make every effort to schedule such appointments during off duty hours. If this is not possible, such appointments should be made either at the beginning or at the end of their shifts. In addition, it was agreed that employees would only be eligible to receive sick pay for time lost to these appointments if they present verification that they attended them.

It is believed that this adequately describes the accord reached above for the 2002 – 2007 Contract regarding sick pay for doctor visits during normal working hours.

Re: Paid Lunch Periods

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the continuation of the paid lunch periods for bargaining unit employees.

The Company and Union agreed that the paid lunch periods would continue at this time. The Company, however, expressed concern about increased costs and loss of productivity that could result from employees not carrying out the "eat on the run" concept as it was intended.

During the discussions, it was agreed that the "eat on the run" concept was the basis upon which the parties agreed to implement the paid lunch periods in 1996. Under that concept, it is expected that employees should have their lunch provisions available prior to leaving the headquarters each working day. When necessary, stopping during the working day to purchase lunch is permissible, but must occur only in transit between job sites and the time spent doing so should be held to a minimum. Lunch is to be consumed at or between job sites during the working day in an approximate 15-minute time period.

As a result of the discussions, the Company committed to re-emphasizing with the work force the above expectations of employees. In turn, the Union agreed it would reinforce with employees the importance of obtaining lunch before leaving the work headquarters in order to maximize productivity during the working day.

The Company agreed to discuss with the Union issues pertaining to the paid lunch periods on a quarterly basis in an attempt to identify and resolve any problems associated with this practice.

It is believed that the above adequately describes the agreement reached during the discussions on the subject of lunch periods.

Re: Martin Luther King, Jr. Day

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the Union's proposal to add Martin Luther King, Jr. Day as a holiday.

As was agreed during these meetings, an additional holiday will not be added. As a result of the discussions at these meetings, however, it was agreed that the Company would give consideration to allowing as many employees as practicable to take their personal day off with pay on Martin Luther King, Jr. Day, during the term of the 2002 – 2007 Contract. All requests for a personal day must be made by employees at least 7 days prior to this date. In the event that more employees request a personal day on that date than the Department can permit off, system service will be utilized in determining which employees at a specific work location will be granted the time off from work. It was further agreed that the number of personnel to be permitted off on that day will be determined by the department so as to insure safe and efficient operations.

By proceeding in this manner it is thought that the concerns of the Union in this area will be met.

Re: Call Out Pay

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the issue of multiple call outs within one four-hour period.

An employee who is called out for an overtime assignment will receive four hours' pay at the appropriate overtime rate. However, the Company clarified with the Union that employees called out more than one time within the same four-hour time period are not entitled to the payment of a second four-hour callout minimum. In those instances employees are paid additional overtime for any overtime worked beyond the initial four-hour period.

In most cases, if employees complete the overtime assignment within the four-hour period the Company will continue to release employees to return home rather than requiring them to remain at the headquarters for the entire four-hour period. However, employees are expected to remain available for the remainder of the four-hour period for additional assignments. If they are called out again during the initial four-hour period, it will be considered a continuation of the initial overtime assignment.

Re: Promotional Retraining

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2002 – 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the guidelines for promotional retraining of employees within the bargaining unit.

As agreed, an employee who does not pass a promotional examination shall be given the opportunity to meet with a trainer, on his or her own time, for remedial training.

In addition, for the term of the 2002 – 2007 Contract, the Safety and Technical Training area of the Regulated Business Unit will provide a one-time retraining opportunity, upon the employee's request, if a minimum of 12 months has transpired since the first re-test or 15 months from the original test. There must be an available posted opening and a scheduled training class. Travel pay will be provided as specified within the Contract.

Retesting will cover all of the material in the training program. Promotions will then become effective, after successful completion of the test, in accordance with the current posted job opening.

It is believed that this correspondence adequately describes the accord reached by the parties concerning this subject.

RE: Supervisory Upgrades

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the Union's concerns relative to the use of bargaining unit employees to fill in as temporary supervisors during non-core hours.

The Union stated that, under normal conditions on the day shift, certain issues are created when employees from the bargaining unit are put in the position of performing supervisory duties. However, the Union expressed even greater concern over the potential for more serious issues if employees are upgraded and placed in a temporary supervisor role during non-core hours, such as the night shift, when no other management resources are available on the premises.

Based on the Union's concerns, the Company stated its intent to avoid, when possible, using employees in the temporary supervisor role under circumstances where no other management resources are readily available. While management must maintain its right to assign work as needed, when making temporary supervisory assignments in the future, consideration will be given to the scope of duties assigned during non-core hours if other management resources are not available.

Overtime Guidelines - Field and Systems Operations, Contractor Construction, Corrosion, Gas Production and the Measurement Center, USW's 12049 & 5541-06

1. When overtime occurs within a job classification, the Company agrees to maintain a system of selecting the employees within the job classification, in a sincere effort to equalize overtime work. The Company will make a documented attempt to contact the available low overtime employee by telephone, as indicated by the overtime list, to offer the overtime work. Each employee is responsible for providing supervision with a single telephone number (land line or cell) for the Company to use when making the calls.

2. Overtime Headquarters:

Monfort Heights	Erlanger	Queensgate
Todhunter	Valley View
Erlanger Gas Plant	Eastern Avenue

3. Each Headquarters will maintain a separate overtime list for the assigned personnel. Accumulated overtime shall consist of all overtime, casual, scheduled, call out and waived.

4. Crew Leaders (MOI, GPOI, GSOI and MSOI) and Helpers will be shown on one overtime list. Once a Crew Leader has been acquired, based on low overtime, then management will follow the low overtime order to contact and acquire the appropriate low overtime person to complete the task at hand.

5. All overtime listings revert to zero (0) hours during the first pay period of each year, and shall be accumulated on an annual basis.

6. At the first of each year, employees will be placed in the order of their seniority by job classification on one list. Other groups such as Welders, Inspecting Mechanics, etc. will be on separate list.

    a. The classified seniority standing of MOI's, MOII's, MOIII's, etc. (from highest classification to lowest classification) will be used to place the employees in order of call-out priority, most senior first.

b. The new overtime list will be posted on Wednesday of the first full week of the year, and each Wednesday thereafter recording the overtime worked or waived the previous week.

7. Employees will not be contacted to work overtime (scheduled or call-out) when they are on one (1) or more weeks' vacation, off due to illness, voluntary, or death in the family. Employees on less than one week vacation and/or personal days will be eligible for call-out on the day(s) they are off at the end of the regular shift. Employees taking a week or more of vacation must notify their immediate supervisor in writing prior to that start of vacation of their desire to work scheduled overtime during the vacation week.

8. When calling out a crew or a single employee, the existing low overtime list shall be used. A sincere effort will be made to follow the overtime list in order, however, in emergency situations, as determined by the Supervisor, only the first five (5) employees will be called before choosing someone. Any employee that supervision makes the documented attempt to reach by phone, or those who are contacted and turn down the overtime assignment, shall be waived the amount of overtime worked by the employee that replaces him or her. If no employee agrees to work the required overtime, the lowest qualified employee on the overtime list will be required to work. If, for some reason, no attempt is made to contact the low overtime person for a particular overtime assignment, that employee shall be provided the appropriate amount of make-up overtime.

   Employees who do not wish to be considered for overtime opportunities may submit to their supervisor a written waiver to that effect. Under normal circumstances no effort will be made to call those employees and they shall be waived the appropriate amount of overtime in each instance attempts to contact them would otherwise have occurred. However, such a waiver in no way limits management's right to require the employee to report for overtime when circumstances are deemed necessary by supervision. Nor does the waiver provide the employee the right to refuse to report when required. In addition, management may limit the number of employees who can submit waivers at a headquarters if its business needs are impeded. Except as stated above, employees who submit a waiver will not be called for overtime opportunities for the remainder of the calendar year in which the waiver has been submitted. Employees must submit a new waiver at the beginning of each calendar year to be removed from the overtime call out list.

9. Employees, who are working overtime, may be required to respond to emergency situations in other headquarters. However, in the case where a crew works in excess of four hours of overtime in the other headquarter area, the Company shall provide make-up overtime in the appropriate amount to the employee(s) within that area who was low on the overtime list.

   The make-up overtime shall be the amount of time worked in the other headquarter area. The four hour period commences at the time the crew is dispatched to the other headquarter area.

   This language applies only to shift work and call-outs and does not apply to casual overtime.

10. Up to four hours per day of casual overtime may be worked by employees represented by USW 12049 working in other headquarters within the 12049 local territory.

    In addition, up to four hours per day of casual overtime may be worked by employees represented by USW 12049 and 5541-06 working within the Gas Service area regardless of Union boundaries. Management will use the least senior available employees, represented by USW 5541-06, in USW 12049's local territory, when practical. The arrangement provided for in this paragraph will be reviewed on a semi-annual basis. If any party elects to withdraw for just cause from this four hour casual overtime arrangement, a six-month written notice will be provided, by the party withdrawing, to the remaining parties that have agreed to this arrangement. Six months following written notice, the parties will revert back to the two hour casual overtime agreement, for the term the Contract.

11. If the need to work casual overtime becomes known before the end of the shift, the Supervisor is not required to ask the low overtime person.

    Supervisor discretion and consideration of overtime will be used in the assignment.

12. Employees transferred from one headquarters to another, as a permanent assignment, will be assigned at the average overtime for that classification.

    Temporary Reassignments: Overtime will be posted and worked at the temporary headquarters (the employee's actual overtime hours should travel with them.)

13. When posting for volunteers for scheduled overtime, all employees shall be charged for overtime waived.

14. Any employee voluntarily transferring from one seniority district to another district will be placed at one (1) hour more than the highest overtime in that classification at the new location. If the employee is forced to the new district, they will be averaged as in #11 above.

15. When scheduled or call-out overtime is needed, management will follow the low overtime order to contact and acquire the appropriate low overtime person to complete the task at hand.

16. Newly hired employees will not be eligible for call-outs or the schedule until they have worked for six (6) months after they have been trained, tested and fully qualified. After their release from training, they will be permitted to work their first off day when all other qualified employees have been given an opportunity. They are permitted to work casual overtime during the six month period.

17. If overtime is required to fill a shift vacancy or to add additional personnel the overtime list shall be used.

18. When planned overtime occurs employees will need to comply with current D.O.T requirements for hours of rest between shifts in order to be eligible

19. When scheduled or call-out overtime for welders is required, the following procedure will be used. The Northern local welder overtime list should be used for the northern area. The Kentucky overtime list should be used for Kentucky. The Central overtime list should be used for the central area. Central area will backup the north and south, and vise versa.

SERVICE DELIVERY
USW OVERTIME GUIDELINES
June 2, 2016

1) Gas Operations Work Management Support is the primary resource for maintaining, logging, tracking, obtaining, and reporting Gas Service Delivery Worker overtime. Occasionally, the Gas Operations Field Services Supervisor will request personnel to work overtime. When this occurs, it is the Gas Operations Field Services Supervisor's responsibility to forward the required information; i.e., personnel who will work the overtime, personnel who waived the overtime, etc. to Gas Operations Work Management Support.

2) Each Work Area (North, South, and Central) will have a separate, single overtime list containing the names of the Workers in low overtime order (lowest being first on the list), the call-out contact telephone number provided by the employee, and associated prior week and year-to-date accumulated overtime hours. All overtime listings revert to zero (0) hours during the first pay period of each year, and shall be accumulated on an annual basis.

3) All overtime worked and waived, with the exception of overtime hours worked by employees normally scheduled to work on holidays, will be accumulated and reported on the overtime list(s) on a weekly basis (Wednesday of each week). Overtime hours worked will be determined from the prior week's time reporting data. Overtime hours waived will be determined from annotations on the previous week's overtime report. Employees who are informed of their need to work an overtime assignment will be charged waived overtime for instances when they are contacted in person (or in person by phone), or by a system generated message (ARCOS) and are allowed to waive the overtime assignment. The number of compensated hours earned by the individual(s) who accepted that overtime assignment will determine the number of hours waived. If one individual is required to work an overtime assignment, the number of hours waived will be equal to the hours worked during that individual assignment. If more than one individual is required to work an overtime assignment, the number of hours waived will be equal to the average number of hours between the highest individual's and lowest individual's number of hours worked during that overtime assignment. (Example: Five employees are required to work an overtime assignment with employee A working 9.0 hours, employee B working 7.0 hours, employees C & D working 4.0 hours and employee E working 2.0 hours; the waived overtime would be calculated: 9 hours + 2 hours = 11 hours / 2 = 5.5 hours). Tenths of a hour will be rolled-up to the nearest 5/10 of an hour. Waived hours will be included in the accumulated overtime hours listed for those employees who waived the particular overtime assignment.

4) All overtime, worked and waived, will be accumulated on an hour per hour basis. Hours of compensated overtime plus hours of waived overtime will be combined and will reflect the total overtime hours for each employee on the overtime listing(s).

5) When it is determined that additional personnel are needed to work overtime for routine work, employees in the work area (North, South, or Central) where the overtime is needed will be offered the opportunity to work the overtime, beginning with the lowest overtime, qualified, available employee and continuing down the list, in low overtime order, until the required number of employees are obtained. Please note that if the overtime is necessary to fill a shift vacated due to illness or other unplanned absence of an employee, the back filling of that shift will be offered to USW personnel within the work area of the vacated shift. For example, the USW employee who is assigned to cover the City area on 2nd shift calls in sick and the Dispatcher determines that the work load is sufficiently heavy enough to warrant filling that vacancy. In this case, the overtime to fill this vacancy must come from within the USW personnel in the Central work area.

6) When it is determined that additional personnel are needed to work overtime for gas trouble, only employees in the work area (North, South, or Central) who are qualified to work that type of gas trouble will be offered the opportunity to work the overtime. The overtime will be offered in low overtime order, until the required number of employees is obtained.

7) If the Dispatcher or other person contacting employees to work overtime is unable to obtain the required number of employees after going through the entire overtime list for that Work Area (North, South, or Central), employees in the next logical geographic work area will be offered the overtime, in low overtime order, until the required number of employees is obtained, based on the following chart:

   a) Overtime list in North exhausted; contact employees in Central, then South.
   b) Overtime list in South exhausted, contact employees in Central, then North.
   c) Overtime list in Central exhausted; contact employees in South, then North.

8) Qualified, available employees may work or be waived overtime seven days per week. A sincere effort will be made, however, to avoid working an employee more than 16 hours on any given day. As agreed with the USW, a sincere effort will also be made to avoid working any USW employee "back-to-back" 16-hour days.

9) If it is determined by management that the need exists for all employees at a headquarters to work a day of overtime in a particular week, all employees at that headquarters will be provided the opportunity to work on their first scheduled day off.

10) Employees who may be absent from work for extended periods of time will have no adjustment made to their hours on the overtime listing. The only exception to this would be if the employee's absence occurred during the beginning of the year, when the uniform reduction in overtime hours shown for all employees would occur.

11) With the implementation of the Mobile Work Management System (MWMS)/Service Suite and Home Based Reporting in each Work Area, additional "start-of-shift" and "end-of-shift" overtime guidelines are necessary. Employees who are contacted prior to the start of, or after their shift has ended, for communication purposes only will be compensated as follows:

a) If they have not yet left home, or are traveling toward their geo-grid prior to the start of their shift and are contacted momentarily by supervision, but are not required to begin working at that time, overtime pay at the appropriate rate for the amount of time such contact is made will be paid. This amount of time will also be added to the employees "worked overtime" accumulation for that day.

b) Employees who are on their way home and are contacted after their normal shift has ended for communication purposes only, but are not required to resume working will receive overtime pay at the appropriate rate for the amount of time such contact is made. This amount of time will also be added to the employees "worked overtime" accumulation for that day.

c) Employees who are contacted by supervision and given a job assignment within fifteen minutes of their scheduled start time will be paid overtime at the appropriate rate for the amount of time preceding their start of shift. Employees contacted by supervision and given a job assignment prior to fifteen minutes before the start of their scheduled shift will be paid overtime at the appropriate call-out rate.

d) Employees who are contacted by supervision and given a job assignment after they have confirmed their 10-7 with the dispatch office and after the end of their scheduled shift will be paid overtime at the appropriate call-out rate.

12) Overtime hours worked for "call-out" overtime for employees who home Base Report will be considered the total hours (minimum of 4 hours) elapsed from the time the employee leaves his or her home until his or her return home from that assignment when those hours are not contiguous with their normally scheduled shift

RE: Inclement Weather – Service Delivery

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed issues with unusually harsh weather conditions and the need of the Service Delivery Department to meet customer service expectations.

It is understood that the July 5, 1979 negotiations letter pertaining to inclement weather is applicable solely to the working forces in the Construction & Maintenance Division of Gas Operations. However, the Union expressed concern about work assigned to the Service Delivery employees during periods of extremely frigid temperatures. The Union wanted assurance from the Company that employees in Service Delivery would not be assigned work that would require them to endure extended periods of exposure to such weather conditions.

The Union was assured that management of Service Delivery has no intention of requiring employees to remain outdoors in frigid temperatures for prolonged periods to complete work that is not necessary to conform to law or applicable regulations, to protect life, property, or to guarantee service to the customers. However, some of the work performed routinely at customers' residences may require employees to be outdoors for short periods of time. Fortunately, under normal circumstances, employees are able to warm themselves in their vehicles or in the customers' residences as needed to avoid any risk of overexposure.

Of concern to the Company is the fact that much of the customer work routinely performed at customers' residences is on the basis of pre-arranged appointments. Customers often make special arrangements themselves in order to be home at the times of those appointments. Therefore, the Company must sometimes make reasonable strides, even under some adverse conditions, to avoid missing or cancelling its promised appointments with little or no notice.

The Company gave assurance to the Union that Service Delivery will continue its efforts to anticipate extreme weather events and to make adjustments as circumstances may allow for minimizing the need for employees to work outdoors for extended periods in extremely cold weather.

RE: Union Employees' Annual Incentive Program (UEIP)

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2011 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed that the payout for the incentive bonuses for employees will be modified to incorporate goals relative to Safety and the Company's financial results.

Beginning with the goals established by the Company for 2012, the UEIP payout (payable beginning in 2013) will be administered as follows:

Annual Incentive Plan Summary for those who participate in the New Retirement Program:

In conjunction with the New Retirement Program, under the Pension Plan, all participants will be eligible for up to a 5% maximum (1.75% minimum, 3% target, 5% maximum) annual incentive opportunity. Beginning in 2012 through 2013, 20% of the annual incentive opportunity will be based on safety goals as determined and established by the Company (i.e., number of recordables, preventable vehicular accidents, etc.) and 80% will be based on the Company's financial goals (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.) as determined and established by the Company. Beginning in 2014, 33% of the annual incentive opportunity will be based on safety goals as determined and established by the Company (i.e., number of recordables, preventable vehicular accidents, etc.) and 67% will be based on the Company's financial goals (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.) as determined and established by the Company.

Annual Incentive Plan Summary for those who participate in the Traditional Retirement Program:

Employees who remain in the Traditional Program, under the Pension Plan, which provides benefits under the current final average pay formula, will be eligible for up to a 2% maximum (.75% minimum, 1.25% target, 2% maximum) annual incentive opportunity. Beginning in 2012 through 2013, 20% of the annual incentive opportunity will be based on safety goals as determined and established by the Company (i.e., number of recordables, preventable vehicular accidents, etc.) and 80% will be based on the Company's financial goals (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.) as determined and established by the Company. Beginning in 2014, 33% of the annual incentive opportunity will be based on safety goals as determined and established by the Company (i.e., number of recordables, preventable vehicular accidents, etc.) and 67% will be based on the Company's financial goals (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.) as determined and established by the Company.

Re: Amendment to A-67 Letter Regarding the Union Employee Annual Incentive Program (UEIP)

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW, Locals 12049 and 5541-06 ("Union") discussed eligibility for the Union Employee Annual Incentive Program ("UEIP"). As a result of those discussions, the parties agreed to amend Letter A-67 dated June 3, 2011 as set forth below.

Beginning with the 2017 calendar year performance period under the UEIP, the Company will provide a prorated UEIP payment (calculated as set forth below) to any eligible Union employee who meets the following criteria during a performance period: (i) works for at least six complete calendar months, and (ii) retires (as defined below).

Such prorated UEIP payments shall be paid in the first quarter of the calendar year immediately following the applicable performance period at the same time and on the same basis as other UEIP payments are made to other eligible Union employees, and any such prorated UEIP payment shall be calculated based on the eligible earnings of the retired Union employee during the applicable performance period and actual achievement relative to the pre-established goals set forth in Letter A-67.

For purposes of clarity, in no event will a Union employee who does not meet the criteria set forth in this letter be eligible for a prorated UEIP payment for a performance period if he or she isn't employed on December 31st of the performance period. For purposes of this Letter, "retire" means separate from employment with the Company after having attained at least age 55 and 10 years of service (as determined for purposes of access to Company-sponsored retiree medical coverage).

In other respects, Sidebar Letter A-67 shall continue in full force and effect herein for the duration of the 2016-2021 Agreement, unless changed by mutual agreement of the parties.

Sincerely,

Lisa A. Gregory

RE: Sabbatical Vacation Bank and Vacation Credit Programs

Dear Gentlemen:

Attachment A

REVISIONS TO THE SABBATICAL VACATION BANK AND VACATION CREDIT PROGRAMS FOR USW 12049 & 5541-06 LEGACY CINERGY EMPLOYEES

Effective January 1, 2008, the Vacation Bank and Service Credit programs will be phased out over a four year period for employees who are eligible for them as of December 31, 2011. As a reminder, employees are eligible to bank vacation if they are at least 47 years old, and are eligible to receive "vacation credits" if they are at least 51 years old.

The Changes:

Sabbatical Vacation Program:

- The sabbatical banking program will be eliminated for employees who are younger than 47 years old as of December 31, 2007.
- Employees who are 47 years old or older as of December 31, 2007 will be eligible to continue banking vacation until December 31, 2011, up to the limits described on the chart below.
- Employees who have already banked more than the maximum amount of vacation based on the schedule below (including any vacation credits) cannot bank more after January 1, 2008, but will be grandfathered with the amount they have banked.
- No additional banking will be permitted after January 1, 2012. Therefore, the last opportunity to bank vacation will be in December 2011 because banking is done at the end of the year.
- Banked vacation will be paid out at the final rate of pay at retirement.

Vacation Credit Program:

- The vacation credit program will be modified for employees who are younger than 51 years old as of December 31, 2011. For those employees hired prior to January 1, 1997 and who are age 50 or older at the time they leave the Company, they will continue to receive vacation credits up to the amount of vacation time they were eligible for as of January 1, 2006.
- Employees who are at least 51 years old as of December 31, 2011 will continue to receive vacation credits up to the lesser of their annual vacation entitlement or the schedule below.
- Vacation credits will be paid out at the final rate of pay at retirement.

Service Credit Program:

- Employees will continue to receive one week of service credit added to their vacation bank in years 32 and 33 of employment in lieu of time off until December 31, 2011. Effective January 1, 2012, employees will be granted a 6th week of vacation time off during their 32nd year of employment in lieu of a week of service credit.

The Schedule:

Age as of 12/31/2007	Maximum Banked Vacation Weeks (including vacation and service credits)	Maximum Vacation Credits (not to exceed annual vacation eligibility)	Service Credits (granted at 32 and 33 years of service in lieu of time off)

RE: Sale of Assets

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2011 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed employment security for bargaining unit employees. The Company and the Union reached the following agreement:

I. Divestiture Issues

The utility industry is in the midst of major restructuring. It may become necessary or prudent, in the Company's sole judgment, to sell, divest, transfer or swap its gas assets or operations to a third party or to transfer gas assets or operations to a subsidiary, a joint venture, or other business combination. Employees who accept employment with the Buyer will be covered by the collective bargaining agreement with the Buyer. Employees who are offered employment by the Buyer will have their employment at the Company terminated on the transfer date and will have no future rights under the Labor Agreement between the Company and the Union. The Labor Agreement must be interpreted to require no other result.

A-70

II. The Company and Union have conducted bargaining regarding potential divestiture, sale or transfer of assets.

A. As a condition of divestiture (e.g., sale, transfer or swap of assets as defined above), the Company will:

1. Require the Buyer to offer equivalent employment to any Union employee whose job is eliminated as a result of the Buyer's acquisition or purchase, including employees absent from active service due to illness or leave of absence, whether paid or unpaid but excluding employees on long-term disability as of the closing date. (However, employees who are on "own occupation" long-term disability and return to work within one year of the transfer of ownership of the asset, will be offered employment by the Buyer.) In the event that not all jobs of employees in a bidding area are eliminated, the Company will initially solicit volunteers, with the most senior employees getting the first opportunity to elect to stay at the Company or fill the vacant positions with the Buyer. If there are insufficient volunteers to fill all vacancies, the Buyer will offer the remaining positions to the least senior employees.

2. Subject to paragraph II B, require the Buyer to recognize the Union as the collective bargaining agent for bargaining unit employees the Buyer employs, and assume provisions identical to provisions of the Labor Agreement applicable to those bargaining unit employees.

3. Subject to paragraph II B, require the Buyer to provide employees with full credit for service with the Company, including retention of seniority under the provisions of the Labor Agreement.

4. Require the Buyer to agree that, prior to the expiration of the Labor Agreement, should Buyer transfer, sell or divest to any other business entity (regardless of relationship to the Buyer) the corporate gas assets or operations formerly owned by the Company, the Buyer will require the third party to assume the conditions set forth in paragraphs II A 1-3.

5. This Agreement satisfies any Company duty to bargain over the decision or effects of a transfer or sale of assets.

6. If any regulatory agency requires the Company to offer severance or other benefits to affected employees, the employees may accept those benefits or the benefits provided under this Agreement, but not both.

B. Employee Benefits

The Company will require the Buyer to provide to affected bargaining unit employees' benefits that are substantially equivalent to the Company's benefits under the Labor Agreement. In doing so, the Buyer may use different providers and establish new benefit plans or use its existing plans. There will be no duplication of coverage. Subject to items 1 through 5 below, the Buyer must recognize service with the Company for calculating eligibility, vesting, and benefits in any benefit plan, program, or fringe-benefit arrangement, provided it does not result in duplication of benefits. The Buyer can substitute a different benefit package if the Union agrees.

1. With respect to the Cinergy Corp. Union Employees' Retirement Income Plan ("Pension Plan"), the Company will coordinate with the Buyer to enable the Buyer to provide employees no less than the pension benefit they would have received had they remained at the Company. The Company will require the Buyer to agree to credit all past service with the Company (subject to the Company's Pension Plan provisions) for eligibility for participation, vesting, early retirement subsidies, and benefit accrual service, provided it does not result in duplication of benefits. The Company will be responsible for its employees' benefits accrued through the date of closing. After the date of closing, the Buyer will be responsible for benefits accrued during the remainder of the Labor Agreement by its employees. The Buyer's plan may offset the benefit it pays by any benefit paid by the Company's plan.

2. For purposes of medical and dental coverage, the Company will require the Buyer to waive all limitations regarding pre-existing-condition exclusions, actively-at-work exclusions and waiting periods for employees who become employees of the Buyer. Further, for the calendar year in which closing occurs, all expenses incurred by bargaining unit employees that count towards any deductible or out-of-pocket limit under the Company's health plans shall also count towards any deductible or out-of-pocket limit under the Buyer's health plans.

3. The Buyer will be required to give affected bargaining unit employees full credit for all vacation, short-term disability, or FMLA benefits accrued but unused as of the transfer of ownership.

4. With respect to the Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan for Legacy Cinergy Union Employees (Midwest), the Buyer must establish a 401(k) plan or add bargaining unit employees to its existing 401(k) plan provided that the employees' deferral options and employer match (except that matching contributions will not be made in Duke Energy stock) are no less favorable than those provided under the Company's plan. The Buyer must accept rollovers from other qualified plans. The Buyer may offer investment funds different than those offered under the Company's plan. Consistent with applicable law, employees hired by the Buyer will have the option of leaving their account balance in the Company's 401(k) plan, rolling the amount into the Buyer's plan or an individual retirement account, or cashing in the account balance subject to any tax withholding and penalties.

5. Employees offered employment by any Buyer shall not be eligible for severance pay or any other termination benefits from the Company, unless required by law.

C. Transfer of Assets

Bargaining unit employees offered employment by the Buyer will cease to be employees of the Company upon the transfer of ownership of the assets and will have no further bidding, recall or other rights for positions in the Company. Upon transfer of ownership, the Company is relieved of obligations and liabilities under the Labor Agreement or otherwise to all affected bargaining unit employees or employees of the Buyer.

D. Legal, Administrative or Legislative Proceedings

The Union will support and it will not oppose or in any way support or encourage opposition to the Company's position before regulatory or administrative agencies, in legislatures or in court, regarding any rate proceedings, plant or gas pipeline siting proceedings, mergers, acquisitions, divestitures or similar transactions announced or begun during the term of the Labor Agreement or the Company's effort to seek approval from any applicable regulatory agency for its recovery of stranded costs or asset swap or sale. In addition, the Union will support agreements (including settlements) between parties involved in the Company's stranded-cost determinations as reasonable and support the Company's position that the stranded costs it has identified are reasonable in amount and fully recoverable from customers. The Company will provide the Union as much timely information as is reasonably practicable about its regulatory and legislative proposals. The agreement set forth in this paragraph is not intended to limit legislative or regulatory actions on matters not reasonably related to the Company's restructuring and stranded-cost proposals.

E. Notwithstanding any provision of this letter to the contrary, the Company will satisfy all of its obligations under Sections II(A)(1)-(5) and II(B)(1)-(4) of this Letter so long as it uses reasonable efforts to require the Buyer to provide the items described therein.

III. Transition Assistance Plan

A. The Company will offer certain benefits to employees who lose employment as a result of a divestiture (e.g., sale, transfer or swap of assets) that results in a loss of employment for employees not located at the asset that was divested. Employees offered employment with the new owner will not be eligible. These benefits are contingent on the employee signing a waiver of all claims and release of liability for the Company and affiliates and will include:

1. Severance Benefit. A lump sum cash benefit for eligible employees equal to two weeks' base pay for each full year of service, with a minimum of eight weeks' and a maximum of one hundred four weeks' pay per eligible employee.

2. Deferred Pension Benefit. If over age 50 and would be eligible for unreduced pension benefits at age 55 (due to 85 points provision), may defer receipt of pension benefits until age 55 and receive unreduced pension benefits.

3. Medical and Dental Benefit. Union employees who voluntarily sever may elect to continue insurance coverage for a period of one month for each year of service up to a maximum of 18 months by paying premiums applicable to active employees. Coverage for medical and dental benefits under the Company's welfare benefits program generally ends on the last day of the month in which employment with the Company ends. Eligible employees generally can continue health coverage (i) if they are eligible for post-retirement health benefits or (ii) for 18 months under the Federal Law "COBRA" by paying 102% of the full premium.

4. Group Outplacement Assistance.

5. Educational Expense Reimbursement. The Company will reimburse eligible employees for up to $2,600 for educational expenses that they incur within two years of the date they terminate employment with the Company.

IV. Resolution of Disputes

A. Resolution of Disputes Between the Company and the Union

1. Any and all disputes between the Company and the Union regarding the Company's and the Union's interpretation or application of the terms of this Agreement shall be resolved exclusively through the grievance-arbitration procedures set forth in Articles IX and X of the Labor Agreement.

B. Resolution of Disputes Between Buyer and Union

1. Any and all disputes between the Buyer and the Union regarding the Buyer's and the Union's interpretation or application of the terms of this Agreement or regarding any other agreement between the Buyer and the Union, shall be resolved exclusively through whatever dispute resolution process and procedure to which the Buyer and the Union agree, if any.

This Agreement satisfies any obligations to bargain over the decision or effects of utility industry restructuring or divestiture of assets. This Agreement is hereby incorporated into the Labor Agreement and is made a part hereof, Unless otherwise expressly agreed in writing by the Company and the Union, any extension or termination of the Labor Agreement also shall apply to the terms and provisions of this Agreement.

RE: Retirement Plan and HRA Conversion Agreement

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2007 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the Company's desire to migrate all employees to a common benefits program. The following outlines the agreement between the Company and the Union for providing the employees with options and protections for Retirement Plan participation and post-retirement health care benefit that will remain in effect beyond the 2007 – 2011 Contract.

Traditional Retirement Program Frozen:

Participation in the Cinergy Traditional Retirement Program will be frozen as of January 1, 2012 for certain employees. Active employees on January 1, 2012 who are younger than age 50 (as of December 31, 2011) and anyone who is older than 50 but has fewer than 25 years of service (as of December 31, 2011), will automatically begin participating in the New Duke Retirement Program.

Voluntary Conversion Opportunities:

Active employees in the Traditional Retirement Program will be offered a voluntary window in 2007 to elect to remain in the Traditional Pension Program or elect the New Retirement Program. In 2011, a second voluntary window will be offered only to those active employees who remain in the Traditional Program and who are age 50 with 25 years or more of service as of December 31, 2011.

Voluntary Conversion to the New Retirement Program:

Part A Benefit (Part A): The pension plan benefit employees will earn under the Traditional Program will be based on their participation service as of the "day before conversion date" and their final average monthly pay at retirement (not the date of conversion).

AND

Part B Benefit (Part B): On the "conversion date," employees will start earning an additional pension plan benefit through a new formula that "mirrors" the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan.

The Company matching contributions for the 401(k) plan will be enhanced to mirror the Duke Energy 401(k) Plan. As a result, employees will be eligible to receive higher matching contributions on a broader definition of pay. The higher amount is a dollar-for-dollar match on the first 6% of eligible pay (this includes base, overtime and annual incentive pay).

Employees will also begin participating in an annual incentive plan with greater award opportunities (up to 5%).

With Mandatory Conversion to the New Retirement Program:

1. Mandatory conversion will be effective January 1, 2012 for employees who are younger than 50 years old and anyone who is older than 50 but has fewer than 25 years of service, as of December 31, 2011. Other terms applicable to the mandatory conversion are as follows:

   a. The final average monthly pay for retirement will be frozen at the time of conversion (no pay run up).

   b. Employees will have no choice between annuity and lump sum on Part A; only the current traditional program annuitant options will be available for Part A.

   c. Can still grow in to the 85 points.

   d. Employees will receive the enhanced 401(k) and enhanced incentive pay as described above once they mandatorily convert.

Employees Currently in the Cash Balance Plans:

Employees who previously selected one of the Cinergy cash balance plans (Balance or Investor) will automatically transition to the New Retirement Program as soon as administratively possible, but no later than January 1, 2008, to include participation in a cash balance pension plan that mirrors the Duke Cash Balance Plan, an enhanced 401(k) plan to mirror the Duke Energy 401(k) Plan and enhanced annual incentive plan, as described below.

Annual Incentive Plan Summary Changes for those who elect or automatically move to the New Retirement Program:

In conjunction with the New Retirement Program, all participants who volunteer or upon mandatory conversion to the New Retirement Program will be eligible for up to a 5% maximum (1.25% minimum, 2.5% target, 5% maximum) annual incentive pay based solely on the Company's financial results (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.).

Annual Incentive Plan Summary Changes for those who do not elect the New Retirement Program:

Employees who elect to remain in the Cinergy Traditional Program, which provides benefits under the current final average pay formula, will not be eligible for the higher incentive payout, but will continue their eligibility for the current Cinergy 401(k) Plan formula and will begin participating in an annual incentive plan, with a maximum award of 2% (.5% minimum, 1% target, 2% maximum) based solely on the Company's financial results (i.e., earnings per share, net income, etc.).

Post-Retirement Health Care Subsidy Discontinued:

In 2007, the Company will offer employees enrolled in the Post-Retirement Health Care subsidy program a voluntary window to either stay in the current Post-Retirement subsidy program or to convert to the Post-Retirement Health Reimbursement Account (HRA) at $1,000/Year of Service. In 2011, any employee who is age 50 with 20 years or more of service as of December 31, 2011 will be offered another voluntary choice to convert to the HRA. Effective January 1, 2012, any employees remaining in the subsidy program younger than 50 years old or age 50 with less than 20 years of service, as of December 31, 2011, will be automatically converted to the Post-Retirement HRA.

The Retirement and HRA Conversion Agreement Survives the 2007-2011 Contract:

The Company and the Union expressly understand and agreed that the Retirement Program and HRA conversion agreement shall continue in full force through January 1, 2012, surviving the termination of the 2007 – 2011 Contract, and shall continue in force through succeeding contracts, or in the absence of succeeding contracts, unless changed by mutual agreement of the parties.

Re: Amendment to August 1, 2007 Sidebar Letter A-71

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2011 contract negotiations, the Company and the Union discussed post-retirement health care. As a result of those discussions, the parties agreed to amend the Sidebar Letter A-71 dated August 1, 2007 entitled, "Retirement Plan and HRA Conversion Agreement."

Specifically, in consideration of the Union's agreement to modify Article VIII, Section 14(d) of the Contract to eliminate the post-retirement HRA Option for employees hired on or after January 1, 2012, the Company has agreed to amend the section titled "Post-Retirement Health Care Subsidy Discontinued" on page three of the August 1, 2007 letter effective as of the date of this letter, such that:

(i) Employees hired prior to January 1, 2006 will be offered a voluntary choice in 2011 to convert to an HRA if they are not already in the HRA Program, regardless of the employees' age or years of service (i.e., the provision requiring that an employee has attained age 50 with at least 20 years of service as of December 31, 2011 in order to participate in the second voluntary window has been deleted); and

(ii) Employees who choose to remain in the Traditional Program will not be forced into the HRA Program by the Company during the term of this Contract (i.e., the provision requiring that employees remaining in the subsidy program who have not attained age 50 with at least 20 years of service as of December 31, 2011 will be automatically converted to the Post-Retirement HRA has been deleted).

Except as provided above, the August 1, 2007 Sidebar Letter A-71 shall remain in full force and effect through the 2011-2016 Contract, and continue in force in any succeeding contracts unless changed by mutual agreement of the parties.

Re: Benefit Claims Disputes

Dear Mr. McLean:

During the benefits opener discussions for 2005, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers of America and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the process for employees to resolve disputes over claims or application of welfare and pension plan benefits.

With respect to any claim or dispute involving the application or interpretation of any employee welfare or pension plan, initially the employee and the Union will make a good faith effort to resolve those disputes in accordance with the terms and procedures set forth in the relevant plan document. Additionally, it is understood that, should the content of any communication relating to employee benefits conflict with the terms of the relevant plan document, the terms of the plan document shall govern. The plan documents will be modified to reflect changes agreed to during collective bargaining.

Disputes over any of the benefits provided in the Voluntary Benefits Program will not be subject to the grievance procedure.

RE: Clothing Allowance

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016-2021 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the clothing allowance for eligible employees in Gas Operations – Field & Systems Operation and Customer Operation organizations.

The Company agreed that for calendar years 2016, 2017 and 2018 eligible employees will continue to receive the annual clothing allowance of $275.00. Effective January 1, 2019 and for the remainder of the 2016-2021 Contract, eligible employees will be eligible to receive an annual clothing allowance of $300.00.

It is the Company's expectation that this clothing allowance will provide employees with Duke Energy identified clothing to be worn daily on the job. Employees must continue to be in compliance with established appearance guidelines and dress policies.

Re: Post-Retirement Medical Benefits

Dear Mr. Gentlemen:

During the benefits opener discussion in 2005, representatives of the Company and the United Steelworkers of America and the Locals 12049 and 5541-06 ("the Union") discussed post-retirement healthcare benefits, including providing the Union members a post-retirement health reimbursement account ("HRA") option (the "HRA Option"). As a result of these discussions the parties agreed to the post-retirement Healthcare benefits set forth below.

I. OVERVIEW OF HRA OPTION

All current, full-time employees represented by USWA, Local 12049 and Local 5541-06 will be able to make a one-time choice during one of two windows between continuing in the current traditional post-retirement medical option (the "Traditional Option") or electing to participate in the new HRA Option described below. Employees will be required to make this election by a specified election date in 2005 or 2006. (Notwithstanding the foregoing, employees currently receiving long-term disability benefits or on a military leave of absence, will make this election when they return to active, full-time status. If they do not return to active, full-time status, they will default to the Traditional Option.) All employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2006 will participate in the HRA Option. Each employee who elects to participate in the HRA Option, and each employee hired on or after January 1, 2006, will be referred to as a "HRA Participant" herein.

Under the Traditional Option, eligible retirees (those who retire after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service, as defined in the applicable Pension Plan) are provided access to group medical coverage and a premium subsidy that varies based upon the retirees' service and classification (see detail regarding the subsidy levels attached hereto as Attachment A).

Subject to any collective bargaining obligation, the Company reserves the right to amend, modify or terminate the Traditional Option and/or the HRA Option at any time. However, amounts already credited to a HRA Participant's account will not be reduced by amendment, except to the extent necessary or appropriate to comply with changes in the law.

The benefit under the HRA Option is based on a bookkeeping account that can grow like a savings account with service and interest credits as described below. An employee who elects the HRA Option will start with an opening balance that is equal to 1/12th of $1,000 for each prior calendar month in which the HRA Participant worked at least one day for the Company. In the future, the Company will credit eligible HRA Participants with an additional 1/12th of $1,000 for each calendar month in which the HRA Participant works at least one day for the Company. The Company will also credit each eligible HRA Participant's bookkeeping account with an annual interest credit. Interest will be credited at the same interest rate as the cash balance updates as determined in August of each year, except that for the term of the current labor agreement, the interest rate will not be less than 3.5%; for 2005, the rate is 5.06%. Except as discussed below, only HRA Participants who are active, full-time employees and work at least one day in the month are eligible for the monthly service credit. Like retirees in the Traditional Option, HRA Participants will have access to group medical coverage only if they retire after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), however, there will be no subsidy. Please note the following regarding the HRA Option:

a. If a HRA Participant retires after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), the amounts credited to the HRAs generally can be used for the qualified medical expenses, as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code, of the retiree and the retiree's spouse and eligible dependents See IRS publication 502 (Attachment B) for examples of qualified medical expenses. To the extent permitted by applicable law and as is otherwise practicable, the HRA option is intended to provide a tax-free benefit. Due to future law changes, however, there can be no assurance of favorable tax treatment.

b. Except as provided below, if the employment of a HRA Participant terminates prior to attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service (as defined under the applicable Pension Plan), the HRA Participant forfeits all amounts credited to the HRA Account.

c. If a HRA Participant dies while actively employed prior to attaining age 50 with five (5) years of service (as defined in the applicable Pension Plan), the HRA Participant forfeits all amounts credited to the HRA Account.

d. If a HRA Participant dies while actively employed after attaining age 50 with five (5) years of Service, his/her spouse and eligible dependents will be entitled to use amounts credited to the HRA to pay qualified medical expenses immediately.

e. In the event of disability or leave, the Company will continue monthly service credits for the first 12 months. The Company will continue interest credits while the HRA Participant is disabled or on leave (and prior to recovery or retirement). For HRA Participants on a military leave, service credits and interest credits will continue for the full qualified leave period.

f. If the employment of a HRA Participant is involuntarily terminated in connection with an involuntary reduction in force and such termination is in no way related to performance deficiencies, the HRA Participant will be eligible to maintain his/her HRA balance as of termination. The HRA Participant will be able to use amounts held in his/her HRA Account immediately following the termination.

g. For the term of the current Collective Bargaining Agreement, the Company will agree not to amend, modify or terminate retiree health care benefits for any active employees covered by the CBA. Amounts credited to a HRA Participant's account will not be reduced by amendment, except to the extent necessary or appropriate to comply with changes in the law.

II. QUESTIONS

Set forth below are responses to some of the questions regarding the HRA Option raised in previous meetings.

1. Will the Company offer choice to all USWA employees?

A: Yes. The Company will allow all current, full-time employees to elect to stay in the Traditional Option or switch to the HRA Option. After January 1, 2006, new hires and rehires will automatically participate in the HRA Option.

2. Will an employee be able to elect the HRA Option upon retirement?

A: No. Employees will be able to make a one-time election in 2005 or 2006. Current employees will have one affirmative choice during one of two open windows, the first in 2005 with the choice to be effective 1/1/06 or one in 2006 to be effective 1/1/07.

3. Can a HRA Participant withdraw amounts credited to his/her HRA account in cash upon retirement? Can the Company pay the amount out in a lump sum?

A: Money may be withdrawn from the HRA account only for paying qualified medical expenses. The account will not be paid out in cash. Favorable tax treatment is available for a HRA only if the HRA reimburses medical expenses as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code. As stated below from IRS Notice 2002-45, any right to receive cash will disqualify the HRA from receiving favorable tax treatment.

"An HRA does not qualify for the exclusion under § 105(b) if any person has the right to receive cash or any other taxable or non-taxable benefit under the arrangement other than the reimbursement of medical care expenses. If any person has such a right under an arrangement currently or for any future year, all distributions to all persons made from the arrangement in the current tax year are included in gross income, even amounts paid to reimburse medical care expenses. For example, if an arrangement pays a death benefit without regard to medical care expenses, no amounts paid under the arrangement to any person are reimbursements for medical care expenses excluded under § 105(b)... Arrangements formally outside the HRA that provide for the adjustment of an employee's compensation or an employee's receipt of any other benefit will be considered in determining whether the arrangement is an HRA and whether the benefits are eligible for the exclusions under §§ 106 and 105(b). If, for example, in the year an employee retires, the employee receives a bonus and the amount of the bonus is related to that employee's maximum reimbursement amount remaining in an HRA at the time of retirement, no amounts paid under the arrangement are reimbursements for medical care expenses for purposes of § 105(b)..."

4. What happens to the HRA balance upon disability or extended leave from the Company?

   A: See Section I(e).

5. What happens to the HRA balance in the event of a termination of employment?

   A: See Section I.

6. What happens to the HRA balance if I die while actively employed?

   A: See Sections I(c) and I(d). Currently, the spouse and eligible dependents of an employee who dies while actively employed with Cinergy can elect to become covered under the non-union medical plan and receive subsidized coverage at the active employee rate until death or a disqualifying event (for the spouse, this would include, but not be limited to, remarrying or becoming Medicare eligible; for an eligible dependent, it would include, but not be limited to, ceasing to qualify as an eligible dependent due to age).

7. Will the Company contributions be indexed in future years (e.g., indexed to the trend line for health care costs)?

A: No. At this time, we do not plan to align our service credit or interest credit to any index. However, the Company will continue to evaluate its crediting levels. Subject to any collective bargaining obligations, the Company reserves the right to make adjustments, including increasing, decreasing or discontinuing credits unilaterally.

8. Will the opening HRA balances be calculated with retroactive interest crediting?

A: No. Making retroactive interest credits would be cost prohibitive from the Company's perspective.

9. What are other companies doing with regards to post-retirement healthcare?

A: See Hewitt survey (Attachment C) (51% of survey respondents have a unionized workforce).

10. How can HRA Participants use amounts credited to the HRA?

A: Money credited to a HRA can be used to reimburse the HRA Participant for medical expenses as defined in Section 213(d) of the Internal Revenue Code. See IRS publication 502 for examples of qualified medical expenses.

11. Who will administer the HRA account balances?

A: Hewitt Associates will track the HRA credits while HRA Participants are actively employed. The Company is reviewing proposals from third party administrators for post-retirement administration, but this will likely be Hewitt Associates.

12. Will the HRAs be protected/guaranteed?

A: The benefit under the HRA option is based on a bookkeeping account and is not funded like a 401(k) plan. See Section I regarding the Company's ability to amend.

13. If the Company decides to eliminate the Traditional Option at a later date, would employees be allowed to get in the HRA?

A: The Company periodically evaluates its benefit programs and would determine the appropriate course of action at that time.

14. Would interest on the HRA account continue to accrue after an employee retires?

A: See Section I.

15. If two Cinergy employees are married, can they make different elections with respect to the HRA Option?

A: Yes, one could elect to remain in the Traditional Option, and the other could elect the HRA Option; if they remain married during retirement and so elect, they would receive subsidized coverage under the Traditional Option and have access to amounts credited to the HRA on behalf of the other spouse. Regardless, the elections are independent of each other.

Please note that the explanation set forth above merely summarizes the basic elements of the HRA Option. The Company has fully documented the Health Reimbursement Account Program in the "Cinergy Corp. Post-Retirement Health Reimbursement Account Program" which governs the terms of the Plan as adopted by the Company.

RE: Special Union Wide Lump Sum Opportunity

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 contract negotiations, the parties discussed a special union wide lump sum opportunity for the Union's participation in the Accelerated Service Replacement Program (ASRP). It was agreed that employees will be eligible for a 0.5% lump sum bonus based on achieving the ASRP completion targets established each year by the Company for 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020 and 2021, with the payout to be issued in the following calendar year.

The opportunity for this payout begins in 2018 for 2017 calendar year performance, continues in 2018, 2019, 2020 and concludes in 2022 for 2021 calendar year performance. The Company will determine any appropriate payout for each year. The payout amount will be calculated based on all straight time and overtime earnings for the applicable year, and will be paid as a lump sum, less applicable taxes.

In the event the ASRP does not receive utility commission approval or the Program is completed prior to 2021, the Company will continue to provide the special union wide lump sum opportunity for the remainder of the existing labor agreement, provided the Union participates in all Company sponsored programs.

Re: Health Care Security

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2011 contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the USW and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the "Union") discussed the issue of health care security for bargaining unit employees.

As a result of those discussions, the Company understands the Union's concerns over health care uncertainty, particularly given recent health care reform legislation and the potential impact of the Company's planned merger with Progress Energy. In turn, it is hoped that the Union recognizes the high value that the Company places on safety, wellness, and the overall well-being of all employees. We are making investments in educating and engaging our employees in improving and managing their health. The Union should be assured that providing quality health care coverage options for all employees aligns with our health and wellness strategy and promotes safety in the workplace. In addition to its value to safety and wellness, health care coverage also adds great value to our recruitment and retention of high quality employees.

Assuming the merger is completed with Progress Energy later this year, the combined company is expected to have more than 25,000 employees across the country. As a Fortune 500 company and the soon-to-be largest investor-owned utility in the United States, the Company takes its responsibilities to its employees and their families very seriously. Given the level of importance of health care to the Company's priorities and brand, the Company intends to ensure that employees have access to comprehensive healthcare coverage options now and in the future.

The Company also plans to continue its annual review of health care options to determine if any revisions are appropriate given our demographics, legislative and regulatory developments, and any changes in the marketplace. Any material changes determined by the Company will be planned to take effect on January 1 of a calendar year. The Company recognizes that it would be administratively burdensome to increase the frequency of such reviews, and the Company has no current plans to make material changes to health care coverage options or benefit levels that are effective other than on January 1 of a calendar year.

It is unlikely that the Company would feel compelled to completely discontinue offering company-sponsored health care coverage options under the current laws. Because the impact of the planned government-sponsored health care exchanges and other possible legal developments are unknown at this time, in the unlikely event that the Company's current intent changes regarding the discontinuation of all company-sponsored health care coverage, the Company will notify the Union in advance and bargain over the complete elimination of company-sponsored health care coverage, even though the company-sponsored coverage likely would be replaced by government-sponsored coverage or USW-sponsored coverage. In that event, if the Union believes that the USW-sponsored plans are more competitive or would offer greater benefits desired by the membership, the Company would be willing to negotiate with the Union over a potential move for USW members to the USW-sponsored plans. The Company also will notify the Union in advance in the unlikely event that the Company changes its current intent to make material changes to health care coverage options effective on a date other than January 1 of a calendar year so that the parties can discuss the issue and any concerns. Again, the Company views health care coverage as vital to the success of its business due to its impact on safety, wellness, recruitment, retention, our image and reputation, and the overall well-being of our employees and their families.

The Company understands the Union's concerns with respect to health care coverage for its members. This letter shall apply for the duration of the 2011- 2016 collective bargaining agreement between the Company and the Union. It is the intent of this letter to demonstrate the Company's willingness to consider and discuss those concerns.

Re: Gas Operations Promotional Sequences and New Position

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2011 – 2016 Contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and United Steelworkers and its Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the Union) discussed revisions to progression sequences with Gas Operations, and the creation of a new entry level job classification. As a result of these discussions, the revised "Gas Operations Promotional Chart" ("Chart") is attached.

Under the new Chart, the Mechanic III entry level position will have direct bidding rights to three different lines of progression: Meter Specialist III (Local 12049 only), Gas Systems Operations Mechanic III, and/or Gas Plant Operator III. Mechanic IIIs may apply for other positions in the Company, but shall not have direct bidding rights to any position other than as set forth in this Letter.

Similarly, DNP Workers will have direct bidding rights to the Premise Mechanic progression or the Meter Specialist III progression (Local 12049 only). In the event that the Company is unable to fill Premise Mechanic or Meter Specialist III positions with DNP Workers, the Company reserves the right to fill those positions as entry level positions. DNP Workers may bid on other positions in the Company, but will not have direct bidding rights to any other position other than as set forth in this Letter.

For the Mechanic Operator III progression, the Company will create a new entry level position for "Apprentice Mechanic Operator III (AMO3)". The Company and the Union will negotiate a special wage rate for the newly created AMO3 position. In the event agreement cannot be reached, the AMO3 will be evaluated pursuant to Article V, Section 1, (h)-(m) of the Contract. The newly created AMO3 position will have direct bidding rights to the Mechanic Operator III progression exclusively.

The parties recognize and acknowledge that the former positions for Mechanic (6931) and Senior Mechanic (7890) are no longer in use and therefore eliminated from the Chart.

Very truly yours,

Lisa A. Gregory
Human Resources Principal

Re: Apprentice Mechanic Operator III

Dear Gentlemen:

Reference is made to the committee efforts and discussions between the parties pertaining to the new Apprentice Mechanic Operator III position.

As agreed to in the 2011-2016 negotiations, this newly created position is the starting position for the Mechanic Operator line of progression. The attached job description outlines the duties and qualifications of the position. The parties have agreed that the job will be set at a wage level VI in lieu of using the formal job evaluation process as is outlined in the contract (Article V, Section 1, (h)-(m).

All employees entering into the Apprentice Mechanic Operator III position will be employed with the understanding that they must successfully promote to the Mechanic Operator II position within the timeframes outlined. Specifically, it is expected that employees entering into the Apprentice Mechanic Operator III position, will have successfully completed all the training and received the necessary licenses and/or certifications to be able to qualify to promote to the Mechanic Operator III position within a period of 12 months. At a minimum, failure to qualify for this purpose would include situations where two successive written examinations or two successive practical demonstrations were not passed. Employees will be allowed a maximum time period of three months between the two successive examinations and/or demonstrations.

In addition, it is expected that employees entering into the Mechanic Operator III position, will have successfully completed all the training and received the necessary licenses and/or certifications to be able to qualify to promote to the Mechanic Operator II position within a period of 24 months. At a minimum, failure to qualify in this case would include situations where two successive written examinations or two successive practical demonstrations were not passed. Employees will be allowed a maximum time period of three months between the two successive examinations and/or demonstrations.

If an employee is not able to complete the required training within the timeframes outlined above due to the Company not being able to schedule the appropriate classes, the Company will accommodate those delays by extending the time period to promote by the time the start of the class was delayed.

The employment of any individual who does not successfully meet the requirements to promote to the Mechanic Operator III or Mechanic Operator II position will be terminated.

Re: Separation of Gas and Electric Customer Premise Work

Gentlemen:

In late 2013, the Company and the Unions resumed discussions concerning the separation of the workforce that performs combination gas and electric duties on customer premises.

As soon as practical and except as provided below, Service Delivery employees represented by IBEW Local 1347 will not be assigned to perform gas customer premise work, including but not limited to, disconnection of gas service for failure to pay. Further, Gas Operations employees represented by USW Locals 12049 and 5541-06 will not perform electric customer premise work, including but not limited to, disconnection of electric service for failure to pay. While the Company will determine the effective date of this agreement, separation will occur simultaneously for Gas and Electric employees.

However, the Company reserves the right to assign gas and electric customer premise work to the first responder who is qualified to safely perform the work, regardless of the department or union affiliation of the first responder, when such work is necessary to protect life, property or continuity of service.

The separation of the gas and electric customer premise work will not cause wage levels to be re-evaluated at this time for employees assigned to perform gas or electric customer premise work. Employees will continue to be expected to comply with regulations and department work rules as determined by management, including but not limited to, home site reporting expectations.

Based on the foregoing, this letter supersedes any prior letters or agreements among the parties relating to this matter. It is thought that the above adequately describes the parties' agreement on this matter.

Sincerely,

Jay R. Alvaro

Re: Safety Shoe Policy

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 negotiations, the Company and the Union agreed to memorialize the Safety Shoe Policy rolled out in 2014 for eligible employees in the Gas Operations – Field & Systems Operation and Customer Operation organizations describing appropriate footwear to be worn by employees and an annual reimbursement amount.

Eligible employees, as determined by the Company, will be reimbursed up to $150.00 for the purchase of one pair of safety shoes per year that comply with the Company standards. Newly hired employees into one of the above referenced organizations also will be eligible for this reimbursement. Employees will not be eligible for this reimbursement if they were previously provided reimbursement by the Company for safety shoes under this or another program to ensure that there is no duplication or stacking of benefits for this purpose.

Employees will be expected to purchase and wear footwear that meets the requirements for the type of work they are required to perform. The protective footwear must comply with the following standards: over the ankle foot support, a reinforced toe cap (when performing certain job duties) and a well-defined heel. Footwear must meet an impact resistance rating of 75 pounds and have a compression resistance rating of 75 or 2,500 pounds. Shoes can be purchased at a vendor of the employee's choosing. Prior to reimbursement, the employee is required to provide a copy of the receipt and also proof that the boots meet the safety standards. Employees who damage their boots during normal work activities, should contact their Supervisor immediately, to discuss boot replacement options. Violations of this footwear policy could result in corrective action up to and including discharge.

Re: Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) Technology

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions and agreement concerning the use of Global Positioning Satellite (GPS) system and other similar types of technology being contemplated for use within Gas Operations.

The primary purpose of the GPS and similar technology is to allow the Company the ability to more efficiently manage and assign work and to enhance safety by allowing us to locate a vehicle in the event we have lost contact with someone or a vehicle has been stolen. As discussed, it is not the Company's intent to constantly monitor employee's whereabouts using the GPS or other technology for purposes of issuing corrective action.

Although its primary use is for managing work, the Company may review and rely on technology and/or the information obtained through its use to aid in an investigation where there is reason to believe an employee may have violated a Company policy or work rule, and the violation may be substantiated or disproven by such a review. To the extent the Company does rely on such information, the Company will treat similarly-situated employees in the same manner. Any such information, upon which the Company relies for purposes of imposing corrective action, will be provided upon request by the Union in accordance with applicable law.

The Company will endeavor to limit the history used in these systems to a maximum of 90 days for any type of disciplinary action.

This letter will be interpreted and applied to comply with all laws. To the extent that this letter conflicts with any applicable law, the law will prevail.

Sincerely,

Gary J. Hebbeler

Re: Seniority Departments

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 – 2021 Contract negotiations, representatives of the Company and the United Steelworkers and it's Locals 12049 and 5541-06 (the Union) discussed changes to certain seniority Departments, Divisions and Sections. This letter documents our discussions and agreements.

As was agreed, effective June 1, 2016, the Departments, Divisions and Sections for Local Union 12049 will be modified such that Field Operations will consist of a combined Ohio/Kentucky Seniority District. Similarly Service Delivery will be modified to consist of a combined Ohio/Kentucky Seniority District.

As of the date of this letter, employees currently in the Field Operations Kentucky seniority district or the Service Delivery Kentucky seniority district in the Mechanic Operator II, Mechanic Operator I, Inspecting Mechanic, Service Mechanic B, or Service Mechanic A job classification, will remain in the respective Kentucky seniority district (see attached list). In addition, the employees in the Service Delivery Kentucky seniority district, will continue to maintain seniority for the purpose of assigning work (i.e. bidding routes) over employees in the newly combined Service Delivery Ohio/Kentucky seniority district.

Employees in the Mechanic Operator II and Service Mechanic B job classifications, will have exclusive rights to the next promotional bid in the Kentucky district within their job hierarchy. For example, a Mechanic Operator II in the Kentucky seniority district, will have seniority for the next Mechanic Operator I opportunity in the Kentucky seniority district.

Should those employees remaining in the Kentucky seniority district within Field Operations or Service Delivery elect to change their current job (i.e. downbid) they will be placed in the appropriate combined department and seniority list.

Any employees bidding or downbidding into Kentucky, in Field Operations or Service Delivery, after June 1, 2016, will be placed in the combined Field Operations (Ohio/Kentucky) or Service Delivery (Ohio/Kentucky) department and seniority unit.

Any future job openings within the Inspecting Mechanic job classification in Kentucky will be filled based on the combined seniority list of all qualified employees in the Field Operations (Ohio/Kentucky) seniority unit.

Effective June 1, 2016, one seniority list will be maintained within Local 12049 for the Field Operations (Ohio/Kentucky) Department and one list for the Service Delivery (Ohio/Kentucky) Department for all future job opportunities.

In the event of a surplus in Kentucky, Denny Caple, Hans Butsch and Craig Rittinger will retain their original classified seniority date as indicated below:

Denny Caple 4/01/2002
Hans Butsch 5/27/2002
Craig Rittinger 5/22/2008

It is believed that this letter properly describes the agreement reached between the parties concerning this matter.

Re: Work Hours Beyond Normal Scheduled Shift

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions related to rest periods allowed by employees after they have worked extended hours due to Company needs.

Pursuant to previous Company Protocol Group guidelines, as revised in 1999, the Company will continue to follow the guideline stating that any employee required to work as a result of an emergency callout, will be permitted six (6) hours rest, which includes travel time, before being required to report to their next scheduled shift. This guideline does not establish start or release times or limit managements right to hold employees over during emergency situations.

It is believed that this letter properly describes the agreement reached between the parties concerning this matter.

Re: Emergency Work Outside of Ohio/Kentucky Service Territory

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions and agreement concerning emergency work performed outside of the Ohio/Kentucky service territory. The following guidelines will apply when employees represented by USW 12049 or 5541-06, are called upon to work outside of the Ohio/Kentucky service territory in emergency situations.

For continuous emergency work performed at any location or facility owned and/or operated by the Company, or its parent and related subsidiaries/affiliates, that requires a lodging stay away from home, on the first day of the assignment the straight time rate will be paid during regular working hours and the time and one-half rate will be paid for hours of continuous work over the regularly scheduled hours. Beginning with the second day of such an assignment, the rate of time and one-half will be paid for all hours worked.

Time and one-half shall be paid for all emergency time worked for other utilities at their respective operating locations.

Compensation Guidelines:

- Compensation when traveling begins when the employee begins driving toward their destination and ends when the employee arrives at the final destination of the day.

- When employees reach their destination and are to begin work, compensation will begin when the employee leaves the host Company staging area. If the staging area is away from the place of lodging and crews have to be transported to the staging area, then time begins when the employee leaves the place of lodging.
- Compensation ends for the work day when the employee returns to the host Company's staging area. If the staging area is away from the place of lodging and crews have to be transported, then the time will stop when the employee returns to the place of lodging.
- Employees required to work ten consecutive hours or more, shall be furnished a meal or compensation in lieu thereof (in accordance with the Contract), and an additional meal or compensation in lieu thereof, for each contiguous five hour interval worked thereafter until released from duty.
- Employees are not eligible to receive a daily per diem allowance.
- After 16 consecutive hours of work, Article VII, Section 1(i) will continue to apply.

Crew Assignments:

- The duration of the each employee's deployment will be for no longer than two weeks. It is the intention of the Company to rotate crews in and out of deployments. Employees deployed for an initial time period may become eligible for a second deployment after serving at least one rotation back at their regularly assigned location or if there are no other volunteers.
- Management will determine which Districts will be eligible to participate in a deployment, and the number of employees and crews from each of the Districts. Management will post a sign-up sheet, if time allows, at each eligible District for employees to volunteer no later than the deadline communicated or attempt to contact employees by low overtime to solicit volunteers, if time does not allow. Management will determine the appropriate make-up of the crew.
- If there are excess volunteers, the Company will select employees to be deployed based on low overtime. In the event of an insufficient number of volunteers, the Company will assign employees to the deployment based on low overtime but will consider extenuating circumstances.
- If an employee is on a rotating shift schedule, as determined by the Company, at the start of a deployment period, the employee will not be eligible to participate in the deployment, either voluntarily or by assignment.
- An employee will not be eligible for this opportunity if there are disciplinary issues.
- During their deployment, employees are expected to comply with the Duke Energy Code of Business Ethics and related policies and procedures.

This letter will be interpreted and applied to comply with all laws. To the extent that this letter conflicts with any applicable law, the law will prevail. The current Contract will remain in effect for issues not addressed herein.

Re: Welders Returning to C&M

Dear Gentlemen:

This letter documents our discussions and agreements related to employees in the Welder job classification who are returned to Construction & Maintenance.

If the Company determines that it is necessary for a Welder to return to Construction and Maintenance, that person will return to the Mechanic Operator position that they vacated at the District from which they were promoted/down bid or its replacement. Welders will maintain all of their current accrued seniority as a Welder, if they are returned to a Mechanic Operator position.

In addition, Welders being returned to a Mechanic Operator position, will return at their current rate of pay. If the employee's current rate of pay exceeds the maximum for the job classification they are returning to, the employee will have their pay redlined, until the Mechanic Operator I or II wage rate increases to the point of surpassing the Welder pay. At that time, the person would again be eligible to receive a wage increase up to the maximum rate of pay for the Mechanic Operator I or II.

It is believed that the procedures outlined in this letter properly describe the agreement reached between the parties concerning this issue.

Sincerely,

Lisa A. Gregory

RE: 2016-2021 Post Retirement Healthcare Letter

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 negotiations, the parties discussed post-retirement healthcare benefits. This letter amends the Retirement Plan and HRA Conversion Sidebar Letter A-71 dated August 1, 2007, as amended by Sidebar Letter A-71a dated June 3, 2011, and the Post Retirement Medical Benefit Sidebar Letter A-76 dated April 4, 2005, and confirms these discussions and the resulting agreement.

Access to Post-Retirement Health Benefits

Employees who terminate on or after November 1, 2016 after attaining at least age 50 with at least 5 years of service will have unsubsidized access (i.e., no Company contributions) to post-retirement medical, dental, and vision coverage. Coverage for retirees age 65 and older will be provided on an unsubsidized basis through a Medicare Coordinator. The Company shall provide a subsidy/contribution towards the cost of post-retirement health coverage only as provided below in this letter.

Subsidies/Company Contributions - Traditional Option

For employees who terminate on or after November 1, 2016, the "Traditional Option" is hereby amended to provide contributions towards the cost of post-retirement healthcare coverage, in the form of credits to a newly established Subsidy Health Reimbursement Account ("Subsidy HRA") only for individuals who are under age 65 and who are:

- In a group eligible for a medical subsidy under the rules in effect prior to November 1, 2016, which is limited to those hired prior to January 1, 2012; and
- At least age 55 with at least 10 years of service at termination of employment.

The amount of the contributions will vary as follows:

- Eligible employees age 50 or older by November 1, 2016 will receive (during retirement) a pre-65 contribution of $350 per month, plus $175 per month for their spouse/domestic partner, if any; and

- Eligible employees younger than age 50 as of November 1, 2016 will receive (during retirement) a pre-65 contribution of $250 per month, plus $125 per month for their spouse/domestic partner, if any.

Subsidies/Company Contributions - HRA Option

Effective November 1, 2016, the "HRA Option" is hereby amended such that:

- The Company will discontinue crediting 1/12 of $1,000 each month to the health reimbursement accounts for those employees who have a health reimbursement account under the HRA Option, with interest credits continuing; and

- The Company will offer a choice window in 2016 to employees who have a health reimbursement account under the HRA Option to elect whether to continue in the HRA Option (modified as described in the above bullet) or to forego their rights to their modified health reimbursement accounts under the HRA Option in exchange for participation in the Traditional Option (modified to provide credits to a Subsidy HRA as described above).

Miscellaneous

The post-retirement health benefits described above will replace the post-retirement medical coverage options in effect prior to November 1, 2016, for employees who terminate on or after November 1, 2016, including those described in Sidebar Letters A-71, 71a, and 76. These benefits will be governed by and construed in accordance with the applicable plan documents.

In all other respects, Sidebar Letters A-71,71a, and 76 shall continue in accordance with their terms.

Sincerely,

Lisa A. Gregory

RE: Amendment to A-71 "Retirement Plan and HRA Conversion Agreement"

Dear Gentlemen:

During the 2016 negotiations, the Company and the Union discussed changes to the Company's retirement programs. This letter sets forth the changes that were agreed to by the Company and the Union.

Retirement Benefits for New Hires and Rehires

For employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2017, the Company will provide an annual Employer Retirement Contribution to the Duke Energy Retirement Savings Plan ("RSP") in the amount of 4% of the employee's annual compensation (including base, overtime, and incentive compensation) in accordance with the RSP plan documents. Such newly hired or rehired employees also will be eligible for the Company-provided matching contribution equal to 100% of the before-tax (and Roth) contributions made up to 6% of eligible compensation in accordance with the RSP plan documents on the same basis as employees hired or rehired prior to January 1, 2017 who are eligible for that matching contribution formula. Employees hired or rehired on or after January 1, 2017 will not be eligible to participate in the Cinergy Corp. Union Employees' Retirement Income Plan (the "Retirement Income Plan").

Cash Balance Interest Credit

The cash balance interest credit rate under the Retirement Income Plan for pay credits made on and after January 1, 2017 will be based on a 4% interest rate (0.327% monthly equivalent interest rate). For purposes of clarity, the cash balance interest credit rate applies to cash balance participants and the Part B benefit for participants who have a Part A (traditional) and Part B (cash balance) pension plan benefit. The Part A (traditional) portion of the participant's benefit will not be affected by this change.

Retirement Income Benefit for Long-Term Disability

A participant who starts receiving long-term disability benefits on or after July 1, 2017 will receive interest credits under the Retirement Income Plan's cash balance formula while disabled, but will not receive pay credits while long-term disabled, in accordance with the Retirement Income Plan documents. This change will not apply for any individual who starts receiving long-term disability benefits before July 1, 2017, or participants under the traditional formula, or for the Part A benefit for participants who have a Part A (traditional) and Part B (cash balance) pension plan benefit.

For purposes of clarity, as previously agreed, the Company may in its discretion merge the Retirement Income Plan into the Duke Energy Retirement Cash Balance Plan or other defined benefit plan maintained by the Company. In accordance with applicable law, any such merger will not reduce participants' accrued benefits.

The complete provisions of the Company's retirement plans are set forth in the plan documents, as amended to make administrative changes, legally-required changes and/or technical changes that do not reduce the benefits formula. In the event of a conflict between any other communication and the plan documents themselves, the plan documents control.

It is thought that this letter accurately describes the agreement reached by the parties regarding amendments to Sidebar Letter A-71 relating to retirement plan agreements.

Sincerely,

Lisa A. Gregory

Non-Union Employees:

For non-union employees, market data is reviewed and used to determine annual wage increase recommendations. Each year, these increases are effective the first day of the pay period that contains March 1. The chart below depicts the annual market adjustments reported in surveys utilized by Duke Energy as compared to Duke Energy's historical overall wage increase budgets for the corresponding years. The full 2024/2025 World at Work Salary Budget Survey Results and The Conference Board's U.S. Salary Increase Budgets Survey Results can be found in STAFF-DR-01-037 Confidential Attachments 1 and 2. Duke Energy's actual salary increase for 2025 is included below; however, survey data reflecting 2025 actual data from industry peers is not yet available. Likewise, 2026 survey data is not yet available.

*Industry data based on surveys utilized by Duke Energy [Δ]2025 industry results are not yet available

It should be noted that employees' individual increases may vary relative to the budget to allow for individual differentiators based on performance and current pay levels relative to the market. The increase awarded to each employee, if any, is based on a combination of factors, including his/her individual performance rating, his/her performance relative to his/her peers, the position of his/her salary within the salary range for his/her job and the size of the merit budget.

The forecasted test period assumes labor increases for exempt and non-exempt non-union employees of 3.5 percent which includes merit increases of 3.0 percent and an allowance for promotions of 0.5 percent.

Union Employees:

The general wage increases awarded to union employees may be referenced in the labor union contracts in Attachments SAC-2(a) and (b) of Shannon A. Caldwell's direct testimony.

The Medical Plan includes medical, surgical, hospitalization, prescription drug, wellness and disease management benefits, as well as expert medical opinions and certain onsite health care services.

There are various Medical Plan coverage options available, such as high-deductible health plan (HDHP) and preferred provider organization (PPO) options. If you do not have adequate access to network providers, you may qualify for an out-of-area (OOA) option. All of the Medical Plan options are designed to help you pay for health care expenses.

Eligibility

Eligible Employees

Generally, you are eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan on your first day of active work as an eligible employee (provided you enroll within 31 calendar days of the date you become an eligible employee).

To be an eligible employee, you must satisfy each of the following requirements:

- you are identified in and paid through Duke Energy's payroll system as an employee of Duke Energy or an affiliated Duke Energy company that is participating in the Medical Plan (individually or collectively referred to with Duke Energy as the Company, as appropriate); and

- you are classified by your Company as either a regular employee or a fixed-term employee.

Generally, you are a regular employee if you fill a regular position that is typically longer than 180 days in duration, and you are a fixed-term employee if you are hired for a position for a specifically defined time frame, duration of a project (usually one year or less), until services are no longer needed, or until the work goes away.

You are not eligible to participate in the Medical Plan if you are:

- a non-resident alien with no U.S. source income;
- not on a U.S. payroll of the Company;
- covered by a collective bargaining agreement, unless the collective bargaining agreement in effect expressly provides for participation in the Medical Plan (a copy of your applicable collective bargaining agreement can be obtained from your union steward, union hall, Duke Energy Labor Relations contact or immediate supervisor);

- an individual who has waived eligibility through any means, including an individual whose employment is governed by a written agreement (including an offer letter setting forth terms and conditions of employment) that provides the individual is not eligible for benefits (a general statement in the agreement, offer letter or other communication stating that the individual is not eligible for benefits is construed to mean that the individual is not eligible to participate in the Medical Plan); or
- a temporary employee, a seasonal employee or any other employee who is not a regular employee or fixed-term employee.

In some circumstances, an individual who provides services to the Company under an agreement that identifies the individual as an independent contractor or through a third party (such as a contracting services firm, temporary agency or leasing organization) may be considered a Company "employee" for certain purposes under the law, such as tax withholding. Such an individual is not paid through the Company's payroll system and is not eligible for the Medical Plan.

Eligible Dependents

When you enroll for certain coverage, you may elect to cover your eligible dependents, which may include:

- your eligible spouse
- your eligible domestic partner
- your eligible child(ren)

Spouse Eligibility

Your spouse, eligible for coverage as a dependent, is a person to whom you are legally married under applicable law, which may include "common law marriage" and "same-sex marriage."

Generally, for health coverage of a taxpayer's spouse to be tax-free to the taxpayer, the spouse must be recognized as such under applicable state law and any related federal guidance, which may include "common law marriage" and "same-sex marriage."

By enrolling your spouse in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your spouse is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your spouse from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your spouse's eligibility.

You must immediately report any spouse who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your spouse's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible spouse, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your spouse after your spouse ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your spouse's eligibility.

Domestic Partner Eligibility

If you are enrolled in Medical Plan coverage, you can elect coverage for your eligible same- or opposite-sex domestic partner. You and your domestic partner must continuously:

- be each other's sole domestic partner, and intend to remain so indefinitely;
- be at least 18 years of age and mentally competent to enter into a legal contract;
- have lived together in a common household for the immediately preceding 6 consecutive months;
- share financial obligations of, and be jointly responsible for, the common household;
- not be legally married to or legally separated from anyone else, nor in a domestic partnership with anyone else; and
- not be related by blood or marriage to a degree of closeness that would prohibit marriage to one another in your current state of residence.

Generally, for medical coverage of a taxpayer's domestic partner to be tax-free to the taxpayer, the domestic partner must qualify as the taxpayer's tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, as defined by Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code. See Cost of Coverage below for additional information regarding the tax treatment of your domestic partner's medical coverage.

By enrolling your domestic partner in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your domestic partner is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your domestic partner from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your domestic partner's eligibility.

You must immediately report any domestic partner who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your domestic partner's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible domestic partner, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your domestic partner after your domestic partner ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your domestic partner's eligibility.

Child Eligibility

Your child is:

- your biological child, up to age 26; or
- your legally adopted child, including a child placed in your home for legal adoption by you as long as the child remains in your home and the adoption procedure has not been terminated, and whether or not the adoption has become final, up to age 26; or
- your stepchild, up to age 26; or
- your foster child, up to age 26; or
- your domestic partner's biological child, legally adopted child (including a child placed in your home for legal adoption by your domestic partner as long as the child remains in your home and the adoption procedure has not been terminated, whether or not the adoption has become final), stepchild or foster child, who is primarily dependent on you for support, whom you claim as a dependent for federal income tax purposes and with whom you have a regular parent-child relationship, up to age 26; or

- any other child for whom you, your spouse or your domestic partner has legal guardianship, full or joint legal custody or managing conservatorship under a valid court decree, who is primarily dependent on you for support, whom you claim as a dependent for federal income tax purposes and with whom you have a regular parent-child relationship, up to age 26.

In addition, your child may be covered at any age if:

- he or she became physically or mentally incapable of self-support while enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan and before reaching the applicable limiting age of 26 and continuously remains incapacitated and enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan; or
- he or she was physically or mentally incapable of self-support on your date of employment with the Company, was enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan as of your employment date and continuously remains incapacitated and enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan.

By enrolling a dependent child in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that the child is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your child from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your child's eligibility.

You must immediately report any dependent child who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your dependent child's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible dependent child, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your child after your child ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your child's eligibility.

An eligible child only can be covered by one Company employee or retiree.

Surviving Spouse, Domestic Partner and Child Eligibility

If you die while you and your spouse/domestic partner are covered under the Medical Plan, your surviving spouse/domestic partner may continue Medical Plan coverage by making contribution payment arrangements with the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. This coverage can be continued until the earliest of your spouse's remarriage, your domestic partner's establishment of a new domestic partner relationship, the death of your spouse/domestic partner and the date that your spouse/domestic partner becomes eligible for other coverage (e.g., through an employer's plan or Medicare).

If you are survived by dependent children, their medical coverage may continue for as long as they:

- continue to meet the definition of eligible dependents; and
- make required payments for coverage. Payment arrangements should be coordinated with the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

This provision applies even if your spouse/domestic partner dies or loses coverage after you.

Your surviving spouse/domestic partner and/or dependent children will be charged for their component of the contribution for coverage.

If your spouse/domestic partner and/or dependent children elect survivor coverage, they may drop their survivor coverage at any time during the calendar year, regardless of whether they experience a work/life event for which mid-year changes are allowed. See Mid-Year Changes for additional information about work/life events for which mid-year changes are allowed.

If coverage under the Medical Plan is declined or ends, your covered dependents may be eligible for continued coverage under COBRA for up to 36 months in certain situations.

Your spouse/domestic partner must immediately report any dependents who should be dropped from survivor coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your dependent's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for ineligible dependents, your spouse/domestic partner should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for a dependent after the dependent ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of the dependent's eligibility.

See Termination of Coverage for Non-Payment for a description of what happens when required payments for coverage are not made.

If you are covered under the Medical Plan and your spouse/domestic partner is an eligible retiree who is covered as your dependent, your spouse/domestic partner may continue coverage under the Medical Plan following your death as the survivor of an active employee.

Please note: Under the enrollment requirements for Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree health coverage, if you are an eligible retiree and you do not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage within 31 days of your retirement date (or within 31 days after your COBRA continuation coverage under the Medical Plan ends), or if you decline or drop Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage at any point thereafter, you cannot enroll yourself or your eligible dependents in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical, dental or vision coverage at any future date. This means that if your spouse/domestic partner who is an eligible retiree continues Medical Plan coverage as the survivor of an active employee, and does not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage within 31 days of retiring, your spouse/domestic partner will not be able to enroll in pre-65 retiree medical, dental or vision coverage at any future date.

Please refer to the Summary Plan Descriptions for the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan, the Duke Energy Retiree Dental Plan and the Duke Energy Retiree Vision Plan for additional information.

Employee and Retiree Couples

No one may be considered as a dependent of more than one employee or more than one retiree.

Verification of Dependent Status

By enrolling your dependent in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your dependent is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. You will be required to provide evidence of dependent eligibility, such as, but not limited to, tax returns, marriage license, birth certificate, court order, adoption papers or proof of joint residency within 30 calendar days following the date of enrollment. If you fail to provide proper evidence of dependent eligibility in a timely manner, coverage for your dependent generally will end 45 calendar days following the date of enrollment. See Claims Determination Procedures for a description of how to file an eligibility or enrollment claim if your dependent's Medical Plan coverage ends due to a failure to timely provide evidence of dependent eligibility. If your claim or appeal is granted, coverage for your dependent may be reinstated retroactively to the date coverage for your dependent was dropped.

To continue coverage beyond age 26 for a child who is physically or mentally incapable of self-support, you must provide evidence of your child's incapacity to the Medical Plan Claims Administrator. The application can be obtained by contacting the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. You may be required periodically to provide evidence of the child's continuing incapacity.

If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible

If a covered spouse, domestic partner or dependent child becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, if your child reaches age 26), the individual(s) who become(s) ineligible for coverage will be dropped from your coverage.

You must immediately report any dependents who should be dropped from coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. When you report a dependent's loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility:

- the dependent's coverage ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage; and

- changes to your contribution amounts will be made as soon as administratively practicable after the date on which you notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center that your dependent is no longer eligible.

If you do not inform the Duke Energy myHR Service Center of a covered dependent's ineligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility:

- the dependent's coverage ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage;

- no changes to your coverage level, if applicable, may be made until the next annual enrollment period or, if earlier, the date you experience another work/life event which allows you to change your Medical Plan election (this means that you must continue to pay for the dependent's coverage through the end of the year in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage even though he or she is no longer covered, unless you experience another work/life event which allows you to change your Medical Plan election);

- the coverage provided while your dependent is ineligible will be considered as part of the individual's COBRA coverage period (this period begins on the first day of the month following the month in which eligibility is lost); and

- COBRA contributions (102% of the total cost) will be required to pay for the coverage received since the end of the month in which eligibility was lost if the individual elects continuation of coverage under COBRA.

To drop coverage for ineligible dependents, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

The Company reserves the right to seek recovery of any benefits paid under the Medical Plan to your ineligible dependents.

Enrolling in the Medical Plan

When You Are First Eligible

When you are eligible to enroll, you will make your Medical Plan election using an online enrollment tool. You will receive additional information about the online enrollment tool when you become eligible.

If you have questions or need assistance in making your Medical Plan election, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

When you enroll in the Medical Plan as an eligible employee, based on the dependent(s) that you elect to cover, if any, your coverage level will be one of the following:

- Individual Only
- Individual + Spouse/Domestic Partner
- Individual + Child(ren)
- Individual + Family (Spouse/Domestic Partner and Child(ren))

You must make your election within 31 calendar days of becoming eligible for coverage in order for coverage to begin on the date you become an eligible employee. If you do not make your election within 31 calendar days of becoming eligible, your next opportunity to enroll will be during a subsequent annual enrollment period or within 31 calendar days of a work/life event for which mid-year changes are allowed.

By accessing the enrollment tool or calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center and making your coverage election when you are first eligible, you are affirmatively representing that all information provided during enrollment including, but not limited to, the eligibility of any dependents for coverage and/or your non-tobacco user status (and that of your spouse/domestic partner, as applicable) is true and correct. If Duke Energy discovers that any information you provide during enrollment is incorrect or inaccurate, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to recover Medical Plan benefits paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of Medical Plan coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

You also may decline coverage altogether.

During Annual Enrollment

Each fall you will have the opportunity to change your Medical Plan election for the following plan year, including changing your coverage option or electing to drop or add eligible dependents. This process is referred to as “annual enrollment.” You will receive information and instructions each fall about annual enrollment.

By accessing the enrollment tool or calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center and making (or not changing, as applicable) your coverage election during annual enrollment, you are affirmatively representing that all information provided during annual enrollment including, but not limited to, the eligibility of any dependents for coverage, your completion of any wellness program initiatives and/or your non-tobacco user status (and that of your spouse/domestic partner, as applicable) is true and correct. If Duke Energy discovers that any information you provide during annual enrollment is incorrect or inaccurate, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to recover Medical Plan benefits paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of Medical Plan coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

Other Opportunities to Enroll

Under the provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), you can enroll yourself and your eligible dependents for coverage under the Medical Plan during the year if:

- you or your dependent had other coverage under another health plan or health insurance at the time the Medical Plan was previously offered to you; and
- you did not enroll in the Medical Plan; and
- you or your dependents lose such other coverage and are otherwise eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan.

To enroll for Medical Plan coverage in such a circumstance, the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The other coverage was:
  - Under a federal continuation provision (COBRA) and the continuation period for the other coverage was exhausted. (COBRA coverage is considered exhausted when it ceases for any reason other than either failure of the individuals to pay contributions on a timely basis or for cause (fraudulent or intentional misrepresentation).)
  - Not under COBRA and the other coverage terminated as a result of (1) loss of eligibility (such as loss of eligibility due to legal separation, divorce, death, termination of employment or reduction in the number of hours of employment), or (2) employer contributions toward the other coverage end.

In any case, the other coverage must not have terminated because you failed to pay timely contributions, or for cause (such as filing fraudulent claims).

HIPAA also allows you to enroll yourself, your eligible spouse and/or your newly eligible child if you acquire an eligible dependent through marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption.

If you need to enroll for coverage under the Medical Plan as a result of one of these events (such as loss of other coverage, or because you acquire an eligible dependent through marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption) you must enroll within 31 calendar days of the event. Otherwise, unless a subsequent work/life event giving rise to a mid-year change occurs (see Mid-Year Changes), you must wait until the next annual enrollment.

HIPAA also allows you to enroll yourself and your eligible dependents for coverage under the Medical Plan during the year if:

- you or your eligible dependents lose Medicaid or Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) coverage because you or your eligible dependents, as applicable, are no longer eligible; or
- you or your eligible dependents become eligible for premium assistance under a Medical Plan option through a state's premium assistance program under Medicaid or CHIP.

If you need to enroll for coverage under the Medical Plan as a result of one of these two events, you must enroll within 60 calendar days of the event. Otherwise, unless a subsequent work/life event giving rise to a mid-year change occurs (see Mid-Year Changes), you must wait until the next annual enrollment.

If You Are Rehired

If your Medical Plan coverage ends due to your termination of employment with the Company or layoff and you are reemployed by the Company as an active employee within 31 calendar days and within the same plan year, you will be automatically reenrolled in the Medical Plan (in the previous coverage option and at the previous coverage level). If you have experienced a work/life event for which you can make a change in your Medical Plan election (such as marriage, divorce or birth), you can add and/or drop coverage for your eligible dependent(s), as applicable, within 31 calendar days of the date you again become an eligible employee. If you are reemployed more than 31 calendar days after your termination or in a subsequent plan year, you must reenroll as a new employee.

If you retire from the Company as an eligible retiree and are later rehired as an eligible active employee, you will be eligible for coverage as an active employee. When your employment subsequently terminates, you may be able to reelect retiree coverage under the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan or individual coverage through an insurance exchange if you are not yet age 65 at that time, or you may be able to elect individual coverage through a Medicare exchange if you are age 65 or older at that time.

Cost of Coverage

You and the Company share in the cost of medical coverage for yourself and your covered dependents. Your contribution amount is based on the Medical Plan coverage option that you elect and the eligible dependent(s) you choose to cover. Information about contribution amounts is available through the myHR website.

Your contributions for medical coverage while an employee are deducted from your pay on a pre-tax basis each pay period. Because your contributions are taken as deductions on a pre-tax basis, they are not subject to federal income, Social Security and most states' income taxes.

Even though you reduce your income for tax purposes through pre-tax contributions for medical coverage, you are not reducing the value of your other Company pay-related benefits, such as life insurance, disability insurance and retirement benefits. These benefits are based on your pay before contributions for medical coverage are deducted.

If you elect coverage for a domestic partner, you will need to confirm whether your covered domestic partner is your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, as defined by Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code. If your covered domestic partner is your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, contributions for your domestic partner's coverage will be deducted from your pay on a pre-tax basis each pay period. If your covered domestic partner is not your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, the portion of your contribution required to cover the domestic partner under the Medical Plan is deducted on a pre-tax basis and the value of the coverage associated with the benefits you elected under the Medical Plan for your domestic partner will appear as imputed income on your pay advice statements and is subject to applicable taxes. As a result, please make sure to indicate your domestic partner's tax dependent status when you enroll to ensure proper tax treatment for your coverage. Please note that the Company does not provide tax advice, and you should consult with your tax advisor for information about the tax consequences of electing coverage for a domestic partner.

Duke Energy WellPower Rewards

Under Duke Energy WellPower Rewards (WellPower Rewards), you and your spouse/domestic partner may be eligible to earn rewards that will be applied to reduce your contributions for coverage under the Medical Plan during the following calendar year. For example, if you complete the WellPower Rewards biometric screening during an applicable year's program cycle, or if your spouse/domestic partner completes a WellPower Rewards Health Assessment during an applicable year's program cycle, the rewards you and your spouse/domestic partner earn for completing these activities may be applied to reduce your contributions for medical coverage each pay period throughout the following year on a pro-rated basis (i.e., applied evenly to reduce the contribution you make toward the cost of medical coverage each payroll period during the following year).

Eligibility and Redeeming Rewards

Information about the eligibility requirements for participating in WellPower Rewards and redeeming any rewards you earn is included in the WellPower Rewards materials sent to you throughout the year. This information also is available on the Duke Energy Portal.

Duke Energy WellPower Rewards Activities

The activities that you and/or your spouse/domestic partner must complete to receive rewards may vary with each program cycle. Review the WellPower Rewards materials sent to you throughout the year for additional information on the program cycle's activities and requirements.

The Medical Plan is committed to helping you achieve your best health. Rewards for participating in WellPower Rewards are generally available to all eligible employees. If you think you might be unable to meet a standard for a reward under WellPower Rewards, you might qualify for an opportunity to earn the same reward by different means. Contact a Vitality Customer Service Specialist at 866-567-0705 and a representative will work with you (and, if you wish, your doctor) to find activities with the same reward that are right for you in light of your health status.

Non-Tobacco User Discount

A non-tobacco user discount also is available to reduce the cost of coverage under the Medical Plan coverage options. To qualify for the applicable non-tobacco user discount, you (and your spouse/domestic partner) must:

- be tobacco free (including smokeless tobacco and electronic cigarettes);
- have been tobacco-free (including smokeless tobacco and electronic cigarettes) during the 12 months preceding the effective date of your coverage (or during such other period as may be communicated to you in your annual enrollment materials); and
- remain tobacco free (including smokeless tobacco and electronic cigarettes) during the coverage period.

In order to receive the non-tobacco user discount for you and/or your spouse/domestic partner you must complete:

- a non-tobacco user attestation (Attestation) when you enroll in the Medical Plan using the online enrollment tool or through the Duke Energy myHR Service Center, and
- if you attest to being a tobacco user, the Quit For Life Tobacco Cessation Program (Tobacco Cessation Program) described below by the specified deadline.[1]

If you do not complete the Attestation during enrollment, or, if you complete the Attestation and attest to being a tobacco user but you either (1) do not enroll in the Tobacco Cessation Program as described below by the applicable deadline or (2) do not complete the Tobacco Cessation Program described below by the applicable deadline, you (and your spouse/domestic partner) will not receive the non-tobacco user discount for Medical Plan coverage. Tobacco user status does not carry over from year to year for Medical Plan coverage.

By completing the Attestation in the online enrollment tool or through the Duke Energy myHR Service Center, you are affirmatively representing your (and your spouse's/domestic partner's) tobacco user status and if you (and your spouse/domestic partner) are tobacco-free, your eligibility for the non-tobacco user discount under the Medical Plan. If you complete the Attestation as a non-tobacco user during enrollment and you (or your spouse/domestic partner) become a tobacco user during the period of coverage, you must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 calendar days of the date that you (or your spouse/domestic partner) become a tobacco user. Changes to your contribution amounts will be made as soon as administratively practicable after the date on which you provide notice.

If you misrepresent your tobacco user status (or the tobacco user status of your spouse/domestic partner) in the Attestation, or if you (or your spouse/domestic partner) become a tobacco user after completing the Attestation as a non-tobacco user and you do not notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center of the change in tobacco user status, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to recover Medical Plan benefits paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of Medical Plan coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

Non-Tobacco User Discount – Tobacco Cessation Program for Active Employees

The Medical Plan is committed to helping you (and your spouse/domestic partner) achieve your best health. The non-tobacco user discount is available to all covered employees (and their covered spouses/domestic partners). If you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) do not qualify for the non-tobacco user discount because you are not currently tobacco free, have not been tobacco free for the 12 months preceding the effective date of your coverage (or during such other period as may be communicated to you in your annual enrollment materials) or intend to use tobacco during the coverage period, you may still qualify for the discount if you satisfy one of the following requirements.

[1]We will work with you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) and, if you wish, with your doctor and/or your spouse's/domestic partner's doctor, to find an alternative that provides the same non-tobacco user discount that is right for you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) in light of your (and/or your spouse's/domestic partner's) health status.

- If you are enrolling as a newly eligible employee (and/or a newly eligible spouse/domestic partner), you must:
    - indicate at enrollment that you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) are a tobacco user, and
    - indicate at enrollment that you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) intend to complete the Tobacco Cessation Program, which includes agreeing to enrollment with Quit For Life and completing your enrollment within 31 days of the date that you make your new hire coverage elections, and
    - complete the Tobacco Cessation Program within seven months of the date that you make your new hire coverage elections[2] – or –
- If you are enrolling during annual enrollment, you must:
    - indicate at enrollment that you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) are a tobacco user, and
    - indicate at enrollment that you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) intend to complete the Tobacco Cessation Program, which includes agreeing to enrollment with Quit For Life and completing your enrollment by Dec. 31, and
    - complete the Tobacco Cessation Program on or before the following June 30.

To complete the Tobacco Cessation Program, you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) must have a minimum of five interactions with a coach.

You may contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center if you have questions about the Tobacco Cessation Program.

If you are enrolling as a newly eligible employee (and/or a newly eligible spouse/domestic partner), you must call Quit For Life and complete your enrollment within 31 days of the date that you make your new hire coverage elections. If you are enrolling during annual enrollment, you must call Quit For Life by December 31 to help you complete your enrollment in the Tobacco Cessation Program. It is your responsibility to complete your enrollment in the Tobacco Cessation Program by the applicable deadline.

[2] If you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) enrolled in the Tobacco Cessation Program and you properly attested while enrolling in benefits as a newly eligible employee that you (and/or your covered spouse/domestic partner) would timely complete the Tobacco Cessation Program, but you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) have not yet reached your seven month completion deadline for the Tobacco Cessation Program by the annual enrollment deadline, you will qualify for the non-tobacco user discount if you also properly attest during annual enrollment that you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) will complete the Tobacco Cessation Program by the original seven month completion deadline and you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) complete the Tobacco Cessation Program by the original seven month completion deadline.

You (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) will not be required to pay for the cost of the Tobacco Cessation Program. Please note that the Tobacco Cessation Program takes up to six months to complete. You can begin the Tobacco Cessation Program as soon as you complete your enrollment. After your (and/or your spouse's/domestic partner's) initial year of claiming the discount in accordance with this procedure, in order to continue the non-tobacco user discount under the Tobacco Cessation Program in any future year, you will be required to again complete the Tobacco Cessation Program process described above.

If You Do Not Successfully Complete the Tobacco Cessation Program

Duke Energy will audit your (and/or your spouse's/domestic partner's) completion of the Tobacco Cessation Program. If you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) certify that you will complete the Tobacco Cessation Program and you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) do not complete the Tobacco Cessation Program by the applicable deadline, changes to your contribution amounts will be made as soon as administratively practicable after the Company learns that you (and/or your spouse/domestic partner) did not complete the Tobacco Cessation Program by the applicable deadline.

If You Misrepresent Information Related to the Non-Tobacco User Discount and/or the Tobacco Cessation Program

If you misrepresent any information related to the non-tobacco user discount and/or the Tobacco Cessation Program, including, but not limited to, your enrollment with Quit For Life, or if you do not complete the Tobacco Cessation Program by the applicable deadline, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of health and insurance coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

Termination of Coverage for Non-Payment

Your coverage under the Medical Plan (and all other Duke Energy-sponsored plans in which you are enrolled and for which payments are required) will be terminated for non-payment if:

- you do not make the required payment in full for two months; or
- you call the Duke Energy myHR Service Center to indicate the payment is being sent, but it does not arrive by the due date.

If your coverage is terminated for non-payment, you will receive a Confirmation of Coverage statement indicating that your coverage has been cancelled.

Except in cases of termination of COBRA coverage for non-payment, reinstatement after non-payment is possible if you contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center no later than three months from the date printed on the Confirmation of Coverage statement. However, past due contributions for your coverage under the Medical Plan (and any other Duke Energy-sponsored plans under which you want to continue coverage) must be paid in full to reinstate coverage. Reinstatement after non-payment will be allowed only one time. If your coverage under the Medical Plan is reinstated under this provision and then subsequently terminated again for non-payment, you will not be entitled to reinstatement of your coverage under the Medical Plan, or under any other Duke Energy-sponsored plan for which payments are required, at any later date. If COBRA coverage is terminated for non-payment, reinstatement is not available. Any amounts owed in arrears at the time of a death or coverage change will continue to be billed and must be paid.

Note: If your Medical Plan coverage is terminated for non-payment while you are on an approved leave of absence, the termination of your Medical Plan coverage will be treated as an affirmative drop of Medical Plan coverage, rather than as a termination of Medical Plan coverage due to non-payment. This means that if you return to active employment with the Company, you may be eligible to have your Medical Plan coverage reinstated (in the previous coverage option and at the previous coverage level) on the date of your return to active employment.

When Coverage and Contributions Begin

When you make your Medical Plan election as a newly eligible employee, coverage begins on the date you become eligible (assuming that you make your election within 31 calendar days of becoming eligible). Deductions for your contributions begin as soon as administratively practicable following the date that you make your election.

When you make your coverage elections during annual enrollment, coverage begins on January 1 of the following calendar year. Deductions for your contributions begin the first pay period of the following calendar year.

Mid-Year Changes

Once you have made your Medical Plan election for the year, you may not change it during that year unless you have a work or life event for which a mid-year election change is permitted and the work or life event results in the gain or loss of eligibility for coverage. Specific information about these "work/life" events and allowable mid-year election changes is available through the myHR website located on the Duke Energy Portal or by contacting the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. A "mid-year election change" refers to any change made to your coverage during a calendar year due to a work or life event that results in the gain or loss of eligibility for coverage.

If you experience a work/life event for which mid-year election changes are allowed, you have 31 calendar days from the date of the event (for example, your marriage date) to change your election. Otherwise, unless a subsequent work/life event giving rise to a mid-year election change occurs, you cannot change your Medical Plan election until annual enrollment.

If you are eligible to make changes, the election you make must be consistent with and on account of the work/life event.

Below is a list of some work/life events for which mid-year election changes are allowed:

- Your legal marital status changes
  - you get married
  - you get divorced or have your marriage annulled
  - you get legally separated and lose coverage under your spouse's employer plan
  - your spouse dies
- Your domestic partner status changes

  - your domestic partner becomes eligible for coverage
  - your domestic partner relationship ends
  - your domestic partner dies
- The number of your eligible children changes
  - you have, or adopt, a child
  - you become the legal guardian of a child
  - your child gains or loses eligibility for coverage under the Medical Plan (for example, your dependent child reaches age 26)
  - a Qualified Medical Child Support Order (QMCSO) is received[3]
  - your child dies
- Your dependent's benefits coverage changes because:
  - he or she gains or loses coverage due to a change in eligibility as a result of a change in employment status or work schedule
  - his or her period of coverage and annual enrollment window is different from yours
- Your or your dependent's COBRA coverage from another employer expires
- You enroll in a qualified health plan through a federal or state Marketplace during the Marketplace's annual enrollment period or during a special enrollment period available in the Marketplace
- You or your dependent becomes entitled to or loses Medicare or Medicaid[4]
- You or your dependent loses or gains coverage under a group health plan
- There is a significant increase or decrease in the cost of coverage under the employer plan in which your dependent participates
- You die

When Your Dependent Is No Longer Eligible

If a covered dependent ceases to be eligible for benefits, your dependent's coverage ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage. If you notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility, changes to your contribution amounts will be made as soon as administratively practicable after the date on which you provide notice. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for information about the consequences of failing to notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 calendar days of a loss of eligibility.

[3] If a Qualified Medical Child Support Order is issued requiring medical coverage for your child, you may change your medical coverage election to provide coverage for your child. You also may make an election change to cancel medical coverage for the child if the order requires the child's other parent to provide coverage.

[4] Entitlement to Medicare or Medicaid. If you, your spouse or any dependent child is enrolled in the Medical Plan and subsequently become entitled to coverage in Part A or Part B of Medicare or in Medicaid, you may make an election to cancel Medical Plan coverage for that individual.

When You Enroll a Dependent Mid-Year

If your change is to add a dependent to your Medical Plan coverage, and your dependent's eligibility for Medical Plan coverage has not previously been verified, you will be required to provide evidence of dependent eligibility, such as, but not limited to, tax returns, marriage license, birth certificate, court order, adoption papers or proof of joint residency within 30 calendar days following the date of enrollment. If you fail to provide proper evidence of dependent eligibility in a timely manner, coverage for your dependent generally will end 45 calendar days following the date of enrollment. See Claims Determination Procedures for a description of how to file an eligibility or enrollment claim if your dependent's Medical Plan coverage ends due to a failure to timely provide evidence of dependent eligibility. If your claim or appeal is granted, coverage for your dependent may be reinstated retroactively to the date coverage for your dependent was dropped.

When Mid-Year Coverage and Contribution Changes Are Effective

This section outlines the timing of coverage and contribution changes when you (i) elect to start or increase coverage due to a work/life event, (ii) elect to decrease or terminate coverage due to a work/life event or (iii) stop or decrease coverage due to a covered individual becoming ineligible for coverage (e.g., divorce or child reaches age 26).

- Start or Increase Coverage. If you elect to start or increase your coverage due to a work/life event, your coverage changes on the day the work/life event occurred. In order for the change to take effect on the day the work/life event occurred, you must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 calendar days of the work/life event. Changes to your contribution amounts are effective as soon as administratively practicable after you submit your election changes.

- Elective Decrease or Termination of Coverage. If you elect to decrease or terminate coverage due to a work/life event, your coverage changes on the first day of the month after you submit your election changes. You must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 calendar days of the work/life event in order for the change to become effective on the first day of the month after you submit your election changes. Changes to your contribution amounts are effective as soon as administratively practicable after you submit your election changes.

- Decrease or Termination of Coverage Due to Loss of Eligibility. Coverage for individuals who are no longer eligible ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the individual loses eligibility for coverage. Changes to your contribution amounts generally are effective as soon as administratively practicable after you submit your election changes provided that you notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 31 days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible above for the consequences of failing to notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center of a covered individual's ineligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. Note that in the event of your death, coverage for you and your dependents ends on the date of your death. See Surviving Spouse, Domestic Partner and Child Eligibility above for information about coverage available to your spouse/domestic partner and/or child if you die while they are covered under the Medical Plan.

Situations Impacting Your Eligibility for Coverage

If You Are on an Authorized Leave of Absence

While you are on an authorized leave of absence, you may be eligible to continue your coverage under the Medical Plan. Contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center for additional information regarding your ability to continue coverage under the Medical Plan during an authorized leave of absence. If your authorized leave of absence is unpaid such that you begin to be billed directly for the monthly contribution for your medical coverage, see Termination of Coverage for Non-Payment for a description of what happens when required payments for coverage are not made.

If You Become Disabled

If you begin receiving disability benefits under the Duke Energy Short Term Disability Plan or the Duke Energy Long Term Disability Plan, you may be eligible for continued coverage under the Medical Plan. Contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center for additional information regarding your ability to continue coverage under the Medical Plan if you begin receiving disability benefits. If you begin to be billed directly for the monthly contribution for your medical coverage, see Termination of Coverage for Non-Payment for a description of what happens when required payments for coverage are not made.

When You Reach Age 65

If you continue to work past age 65, Medical Plan coverage for you and your covered dependents will continue as long as you remain an eligible employee, your covered dependents remain eligible dependents and you pay any required contributions. If you continue to work past age 65, your Medical Plan coverage will be primary to Medicare for you and any covered dependents over age 65, except in certain situations related to an end stage renal disease diagnosis.

If You Become Entitled to Medicare

If you are "not actively at work" and you become entitled to Medicare, you can elect to continue your coverage under the Medical Plan or enroll in individual coverage through a Medicare exchange. If you wish to continue your enrollment in Duke Energy-sponsored coverage, you will be required to enroll in a Medical Plan option that coordinates with Medicare Part B (note that there is no coordination of benefits between the Medical Plan's prescription drug coverage and Medicare Part D). For these purposes, you are considered to be "not actively at work" if you are not actively working as an employee or you have been receiving long-term disability benefits for six months or longer. Contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center for additional information regarding the options available to you when you become entitled to Medicare.

If you elect to terminate your coverage under the Medical Plan when you become entitled to Medicare, any of your eligible dependents who are covered under the Medical Plan and are not eligible for Medicare may continue coverage under the Medical Plan until reaching age 65.

If you are "not actively at work" because you have been receiving long-term disability benefits for six months or longer and you and/or a covered dependent enroll in a Medicare prescription drug plan for a calendar year, you and/or your covered dependent will not be eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan for that calendar year. Therefore, Medical Plan coverage ends for a calendar year for individuals who enroll in a Medicare prescription drug plan mid-year. Such individuals may be able to enroll for Medical Plan coverage at the next annual enrollment if Medicare prescription drug coverage is dropped for the following calendar year.

Termination of Coverage

When Coverage Ends

Your coverage under the Medical Plan will cease on the earliest of the following dates:

- the last day of the month in which your employment ends, unless you elect to continue coverage under COBRA;
- the last day of the month in which you cease to be an eligible employee or dependent or otherwise cease to be eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan;
- the last day of the month in which a work stoppage begins;
- the end of the period for which your last required contribution was made;
- the date of your death; or
- the date the Medical Plan is discontinued.

Your dependent's coverage will end when your coverage ends, at the end of the period for which your last required contribution was made, on the last day of the month in which you elect not to cover the dependent, or on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility, unless he or she continues his or her coverage under COBRA or through survivor coverage, as applicable. Medical Plan coverage actually will terminate, but it will be reinstated retroactive to the coverage termination date if the COBRA enrollment is properly received and processed. COBRA enrollment forms generally must be completed and received within 60 days of the event or notification, whichever is later. See COBRA Continuation Coverage below for additional information about the timing of COBRA elections.

If You Become Divorced or Your Domestic Partner Relationship Ends

If you cover a spouse/domestic partner under the Medical Plan and you become divorced or your domestic partner relationship ends, you must drop coverage for your former spouse/domestic partner within 31 calendar days of the divorce or the date on which your domestic partner relationship ends. Your former spouse/domestic partner will then be notified that he or she may continue coverage through COBRA by contacting the COBRA administrator, generally within 60 days of the qualifying event. See COBRA Continuation Coverage below for additional information about the timing of COBRA elections.

See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens when you either do or do not report your divorce or the end of your domestic partner relationship within 31 calendar days.

To drop coverage for your former spouse/domestic partner, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

If You Leave the Company

If your employment with the Company terminates, your coverage under the Medical Plan will end on the last day of the month in which your employment terminates, unless you elect to continue coverage under COBRA.

See If You Are Rehired for a description of what happens if you are reemployed by the Company after your termination of employment.

If You Retire

If you are an eligible retiree, you may elect retiree coverage under the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan or individual coverage through an insurance exchange if you have not reached age 65 when you retire, or individual coverage through a Medicare exchange if you are age 65 or older when you retire. Additional information about your coverage options will be provided to you when you retire.

Please note: Under the enrollment requirements for Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree health coverage, if you are an eligible retiree and you do not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage within 31 days of your retirement date (or within 31 days after your COBRA continuation coverage under the Medical Plan ends), or if you decline or drop Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage at any point thereafter, you cannot enroll yourself or your eligible dependents in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical, dental or vision coverage at any future date. Please refer to the Summary Plan Descriptions for the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan, the Duke Energy Retiree Dental Plan and the Duke Energy Retiree Vision Plan for additional information.

COBRA Continuation Coverage

Under COBRA (Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act), you, your spouse and eligible dependent children may elect to continue Medical Plan coverage if certain qualifying events occur. Although domestic partners are not entitled to continuation coverage under COBRA, the Company will apply the same rules to a domestic partner as to a spouse.

There also may be other coverage options available to you and your family if you experience a qualifying event. For example, you'll be able to buy coverage through the Health Insurance Marketplace. In the Marketplace, you could be eligible for a tax credit that lowers your monthly premiums right away, and you can see what your premium, deductibles and out-of-pocket costs will be before you make a decision to enroll. Being eligible for COBRA does not limit your eligibility for coverage or a tax credit through the Marketplace.

Continued Coverage for You

You may continue coverage for yourself and your covered eligible dependents under the Medical Plan for up to 18 months if you lose coverage under the Medical Plan due to:

- termination of your employment (for reasons other than gross misconduct); or
- a reduction of your work hours.

Continued Coverage for Your Dependents

Your covered dependents may continue their coverage under the Medical Plan for up to 36 months if they lose coverage as a result of your:

- death;
- divorce;
- termination of domestic partner status; or
- dependent child ceasing to be a dependent as defined by the Medical Plan.

Newborn and Adopted Children

If you give birth or adopt a child while you are on COBRA continuation coverage, you may enroll your new child for COBRA coverage within 31 calendar days following the date of the birth or adoption. Your newborn or adopted child will be a "qualified beneficiary." This means that your child will have independent election rights and multiple qualifying event rights. (Refer to Multiple Qualifying Events.)

In Case of Disability

You and your covered dependents may be eligible for up to 29 months of continued coverage if you or your dependents receive a determination from the Social Security Administration stating that you or your dependents were disabled at the time you elected COBRA coverage or at any time during the first 60 days of COBRA coverage, provided the disability lasts at least until the end of the 18-month period of continuation coverage.

You must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center of any Social Security Administration disability determination in writing within the initial 18-month coverage period and within 60 days of the determination. Your verbal notice is not binding until confirmed in writing and the Duke Energy myHR Service Center receives a copy of the Social Security disability determination. You also must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 30 days of the date you are determined by the Social Security Administration to no longer be disabled.

If You Become Covered by Medicare

If you become entitled to Medicare while you are an active employee and you later experience a qualifying event (e.g., a termination of employment), you and your dependents may be eligible for continued coverage when the qualifying event occurs. If COBRA is elected, coverage for your covered dependents will extend 36 months from the date you first became covered by Medicare or the maximum coverage period for the qualifying event (18 months in the case of termination of employment or reduction in hours) whichever is later.

For example, suppose you are actively employed on January 1, 2025, when you reach age 65 and become covered under Medicare. If you terminate your employment (a qualifying event) 12 months later on January 1, 2026, your eligible dependents would be eligible for continued coverage until the later of:

- 36 months following the date you become covered for Medicare – January 1, 2028; or

- 18 months following your termination of employment – July 1, 2027

In this case, your eligible dependents would be eligible for continued coverage until January 1, 2028 if COBRA continuation coverage is elected.

Multiple Qualifying Events

If your dependents experience more than one qualifying event while COBRA coverage is active, they may be eligible for an additional period of continued coverage not to exceed 36 months from the date of the first qualifying event.

For example, if you terminate employment, you and your dependents may be eligible for 18 months of continued coverage. During this 18-month period, if your dependent child ceases to be a dependent under the Medical Plan (a second qualifying event), your child may be eligible for an additional period of continued coverage. This period would not exceed a total of 36 months from the date of the loss of your coverage due to your termination (the first qualifying event).

Procedures to Obtain Continued Coverage

Both you and the Company have responsibilities if qualifying events occur that make you or your covered dependents eligible for continued coverage.

You or your covered dependents must notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 60 days when one of these qualifying events occurs:

- you become divorced;
- your domestic partner relationship ends;
- your dependent child is no longer considered an eligible dependent as defined by the Medical Plan; or
- you or an eligible dependent is determined to be disabled by the Social Security Administration.

If these procedures are not followed, or if notice is not provided to the Duke Energy myHR Service Center during the 60-day notice period, then your covered dependents will lose their rights to elect COBRA coverage.

For other qualifying events, such as your death, termination of employment or reduction in work hours, it is the Company's responsibility to notify the COBRA administrator.

Election Period

The Company's COBRA administrator will notify you or your covered dependents of your right to elect continued coverage. Each qualified beneficiary has independent election rights and has 60 days to elect coverage, beginning on the later of:

- the date coverage terminates by reason of the qualifying event, or
- the date notification of the right to elect continued coverage is mailed to you and your covered dependents.

Type of Coverage

If you choose continued coverage, you will initially have the same medical coverage you had on the day before your qualifying event. During your COBRA continuation period, any changes to the medical coverage of similarly situated active employees also will apply to your medical coverage as a COBRA qualified beneficiary. In addition, if your COBRA continuation period extends into a future plan year, you will be able to change your Medical Plan COBRA election for the following plan year during annual enrollment to the same extent that similarly situated active employees are able to change their Medical Plan elections for the following plan year during annual enrollment.

Cost

You and your covered dependents will be required to pay 102% of the full group cost for your continued coverage. The 2% is intended to cover administrative fees. The contributions are paid on an after-tax basis.

You will be asked to pay for coverage in monthly installments. Your first payment will be retroactive to the date of your qualifying event and will be due no later than 45 days after the date you elected continued coverage. Coverage will be effective once the initial premium is paid. Once payment is received, notification of coverage will be passed on to the applicable Claims Administrator. You may refile claims that may have been denied between your benefits termination and your election to continue coverage. You will be required to make monthly payments thereafter, with a 30-day grace period. If the cost or benefits change in the future for active employees, the changes also will affect continued coverage under COBRA. You will be notified of any changes in the cost or benefits associated with your coverage.

Termination of Continued Coverage

COBRA coverage automatically ends if any of the following occurs:

- the COBRA participant fails to make the required contribution on time;
- the Company terminates the Medical Plan for all employees; or
- the COBRA participant becomes covered under another group medical plan (as an employee or otherwise) after the election of COBRA coverage.

Conversion Privilege

The Medical Plan has no conversion privilege. This means that you are not able to convert your coverage under the Medical Plan to an individual policy upon your termination from the Company or when coverage ends.

Qualified Medical Child Support Orders (QMCSOs)

If the Company receives notification that, as a result of a QMCSO, you are required to provide Medical Plan coverage for a dependent child, the Company will:

- notify you (and any other person named in the order) of receipt of the order; and

- within a reasonable period of time (up to 30 days), determine if the child is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan and notify you in writing of the decision.

As appropriate to the court order, the child will be enrolled for medical coverage, unless there are legal proceedings that dispute the determination. If the court order is disputed, claims processing will be delayed until the dispute is resolved.

If the child's covered expenses are paid by a custodial parent or legal guardian who is not a participant in the Medical Plan, reimbursement of these expenses will be made directly to the custodial parent or legal guardian if required by the order. Custodial parents and legal guardians also may sign claim forms and assign benefits to providers. The Claims Administrator will send notification of payment of providers to the custodial parent.

If you do not comply with the procedures required by the order, the Company may change your coverage status to that required by the court order and deduct the appropriate contributions from your pay at the direction of the court.

Your Role

As a participant in the Medical Plan, please follow the guidelines below.

- File accurate claims. If someone else (other than the provider) files a claim on your behalf, you must review the form before you sign it.
- Review the explanation of benefits when it is returned to you. Make sure that benefits have been paid correctly based on your knowledge of the expenses incurred and the services rendered.
- Never allow another person to seek medical treatment under your identity.
- Provide complete and accurate information on claim forms and any other forms; answer all questions to the best of your knowledge.

You must notify the applicable Claims Administrator if a provider:

- bills you for services or treatment that you have never received;
- asks you to sign a blank claim form; or
- asks you to undergo tests that you feel are not needed.

Any covered person who knowingly intends to defraud the Medical Plan will be considered guilty of fraud. If you are concerned about any of the charges that appear on a bill or explanation of benefits form or if you know of or suspect any illegal activity, call the applicable Claims Administrator at the toll-free number on your I.D. card. All calls are strictly confidential.

Claims Determination Procedures

There are two different types of claims that may be made under the Medical Plan…Claims for Medical Plan Benefits and Eligibility or Enrollment Claims.

A Claim for Medical Plan Benefits is a claim for Medical Plan benefits made in accordance with the Medical Plan's procedures for filing benefit claims.

An Eligibility or Enrollment Claim is a claim as to whether an individual is eligible to participate in or obtain coverage under, or whether an eligible individual is enrolled for participation in or coverage under, the Medical Plan or applicable Medical Plan option made in accordance with the Medical Plan's procedures for filing eligibility or enrollment claims. An Eligibility or Enrollment Claim does not include (i) requests to change your Medical Plan coverage level and/or coverage option due to your failure to take action during the applicable enrollment period, (ii) requests to change your Medical Plan coverage level and/or coverage option based solely on a change in your preferred coverage level and/or coverage option, (iii) disputes regarding the cost of your Medical Plan coverage and/or requests to change your Medical Plan coverage level and/or coverage option due to disputes regarding the cost of your Medical Plan coverage, (iv) requests for reinstatement of Medical Plan coverage if your coverage is terminated for non-payment and you have already exhausted your one-time reinstatement opportunity, (v) requests to change your tobacco user status, which includes requests to complete the Tobacco Cessation Program after the communicated deadline or (vi) requests for the Company to record/count wellness activities completed after the communicated deadline.

Claims for Medical Plan Benefits

The Claims Administrators for your Medical Plan options have the authority to decide initial Claims for Medical Plan Benefits, as the Initial Claim Administrators, and denied Claims for Medical Plan Benefits on review, as the Denied Claim Reviewers. The Company has no discretionary authority with respect to Claims for Medical Plan Benefits.

Claims submission procedures for your Medical Plan benefits are described in the Medical Plan booklets for the Medical Plan options in which you participate. You also can obtain additional information by calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. To file a valid Claim for Medical Plan Benefits, you (or your authorized representative) must follow the claim submission procedures for the Medical Plan as described in the Medical Plan booklets applicable to the Medical Plan options in which you participate and any updating materials.

Eligibility or Enrollment Claims

The Benefits Committee has appointed Duke Energy Human Resources to decide Eligibility or Enrollment Claims as the Initial Claim Administrator. Duke Energy Human Resources has delegated its authority to decide Eligibility or Enrollment Claims to Alight Solutions Claims and Appeals Management.

The Benefits Committee has appointed the Claims Committee to perform the fair and impartial review of denied Eligibility or Enrollment Claims on appeal as the Denied Claim Reviewer. The Company has no discretionary authority with respect to the Claims Committee's final determinations regarding Eligibility or Enrollment Claims on appeal.

To file a valid Eligibility or Enrollment Claim, you (or your authorized representative) must follow the claim submission procedures for the Medical Plan as described in this General Information booklet and any updating materials.

Initial Claim

If you have an Eligibility or Enrollment Claim, you (or your authorized representative) must submit a claim initiation form. This form can be obtained by calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

The claim form must be submitted in writing to the address on the form and include:

- a statement that the claim is a "Claim for Eligibility/Enrollment" and identification of the Medical Plan;
- your name, Social Security number, mailing address and daytime telephone number;
- a complete description of the claim, including the eligibility/enrollment issue presented;
- dependent information, if applicable; and

- any additional information you want considered.

A "Claim for Eligibility/Enrollment" must be received by Claims and Appeals Management within 12 months after the date on which you are claiming eligibility/enrollment should have occurred. If your claim is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

Claims and Appeals Management will notify you or your representative of the determination within 30 days after receiving the request. However, if more time is needed to make a determination due to matters beyond Claims and Appeals Management's control, it will notify you or your representative within 30 days after receiving the request. The extension notice will include a description of the circumstances requiring the extension and the date a determination can be expected, which will be no more than 45 days after receipt of the request.

If more time is needed because necessary information is missing from the request, the notice also will specify what information is needed. The determination period will be suspended on the date Claims and Appeals Management sends such a notice of missing information, and the determination period will resume on the date you or your representative responds to the notice. You will have at least 45 days to respond to the request for information.

In the case of an Eligibility or Enrollment Claim relating to your failure to enroll your newborn or newly adopted child in Medical Plan coverage within 31 calendar days of your child's date of birth or adoption, Claims and Appeals Management will approve the Eligibility or Enrollment Claim notwithstanding your failure to timely enroll your child in Medical Plan coverage, but only if (1) you contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center within 60 calendar days of your child's date of birth or adoption to enroll your child in Medical Plan coverage and (2) you submit a claim initiation form and all other required documentation, in accordance with the instructions specified on the claim initiation form, within 75 calendar days of your child's date of birth or adoption. If Claims and Appeals Management approves your Eligibility or Enrollment Claim, your child's Medical Plan coverage will be effective retroactive to your child's date of birth if a newborn or date of adoption for a newly adopted child. If Claims and Appeals Management denies your Eligibility or Enrollment Claim, you (or your authorized representative) will be notified of the adverse determination in writing as described below.

Adverse Determination

In the event of an adverse eligibility or enrollment determination, in whole or in part, you (or your authorized representative) will be notified of the adverse determination in writing.

An adverse determination notification for an Eligibility or Enrollment Claim will contain:

- the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination;
- specific references to the pertinent Medical Plan provisions on which the adverse determination is based;
- a description of any additional information or material necessary to perfect the claim and an explanation of why such information or material is needed;
- an explanation of the claims review process and the time limits applicable to such process, including a statement of your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse determination on review and any time limits for filing such a civil action;

- if an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon in making the adverse determination, a statement that such a rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon in making the adverse determination and that a copy of such rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion is available free of charge upon request;
- if denial of the claim is based on medical necessity or experimental treatment, or a similar exclusion or limitation, a statement that the Plan Administrator or its designee will, upon request, provide you, free of charge, an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment, applying the terms of the Medical Plan to your medical circumstances; and
- only to the extent required under applicable federal regulations:
  - information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
  - notification of the opportunity to request the diagnosis and treatment codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
  - a description of the Medical Plan's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an external appeal; and
  - contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals process.

In addition, any such denial notification will be provided in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner to the extent required by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and any applicable implementing regulations or other federal agency guidance issued thereunder.

Appeal of Adverse Determination

If you disagree with an adverse eligibility or enrollment determination, you (or your authorized representative) can request a review of the initial determination by submitting a written request to the Claims Committee within 180 calendar days after receipt of the adverse determination. If your appeal is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

A request to the Claims Committee must be submitted in writing to:

Claims Committee
Duke Energy Corporation
525 South Tryon Street – DEP14C
Charlotte, NC 28202

You may request to examine and receive copies of all documents, records and other information relevant to the claim. The Claims Committee will review the appeal without granting any deference to the initial decision regarding the claim. Also, no reviewer may be a person that was involved in making the initial decision regarding the claim, or a subordinate to that person. In addition, if the claim was based in whole or in part on a medical judgment, the Claims Committee will consult with a health care professional who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment. This person will not be a person (or a subordinate of a person) consulted by Claims and Appeals Management in deciding the initial claim. When reviewing an adverse determination that has been appealed, any new information that you provide that was not available or utilized when the initial determination was made will be considered.

You will be allowed to review the claim file and to provide evidence and testimony as part of the internal claims and appeals process. The Claims Committee will provide you, free of charge, with any new or additional evidence considered, relied upon or generated by the Medical Plan (or at the direction of the Medical Plan) in connection with your appeal as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date. In addition, if the denial of your appeal is based on a new or additional rationale, the Claims Committee will provide you, free of charge, with the new or additional rationale as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date. You will be notified regarding the decision on your appeal within 60 days after receipt of the appeal.

The determination of your appeal will be in writing and, if adverse, will contain:

- the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination;
- specific references to the pertinent Medical Plan provisions on which the adverse determination is based;
- a statement that you are entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records, and other information relevant to the claim;
- a statement about your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA and any time limits for filing such a civil action;
- if an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon in making the adverse determination, a statement that such a rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied upon in making the adverse determination and that a copy of such rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion is available free of charge upon request;
- if denial of the claim is based on medical necessity or experimental treatment, or a similar exclusion or limitation, a statement that the Plan Administrator or its designee will, upon request, provide you, free of charge, an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment, applying the terms of the Medical Plan to your medical circumstances;
- the following statement: 'You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local U.S. Department of Labor Office and your state insurance regulatory agency'; and
- only to the extent required under applicable federal regulations:
    - information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
    - notification of the opportunity to request the diagnosis and treatment codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
    - a description of the Medical Plan's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an external appeal; and

- contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals process.

In addition, any such denial notification will be provided in a culturally and linguistically appropriate manner to the extent required by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and any applicable implementing regulations or other federal agency guidance issued thereunder. Also, upon request, the Claims Committee will provide you with a statement identifying those medical or vocational experts whose advice was obtained in connection with the appeal.

For additional information on filing an Eligibility or Enrollment Claim or filing an appeal of an adverse determination, you should contact the Claims Committee.

Voluntary External Review Program

Once you have exhausted the internal claims and appeals process, you may be able to file an appeal with an independent review organization (IRO) that is accredited to conduct external review. External review is available only after internal appeals are exhausted and only for certain types of adverse benefit determinations, as defined by federal regulations.

If your claim is eligible for external review under applicable federal regulations and you wish to file a request for external review, you must submit your request within four months of the date of your receipt of the Claims Committee's final internal adverse determination on your appeal. If your request for external review is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it. Contact the Claims Committee for more information on how to file a request for external review of your appeal.

The Claims Committee will determine if your appeal is eligible for the voluntary external review program and will provide you with a written notice of its determination. If your request is complete but not eligible for external review, the notice will include the reason or reasons for the denial and contact information for the Employee Benefits Security Administration. If your request is not complete, the notice will describe the information or materials needed to make the request complete, and, in order to pursue an external review, you must provide the required information within the four-month filing period or within the 48-hour period following receipt of the notification, whichever is later. If you fail to provide the required information by the applicable deadline, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

If your claim is eligible for external review, the Claims Committee will assign your claim to an IRO. The IRO will notify you of the acceptance of your claim for external review, and this notice will include a statement that you may submit to the IRO in writing within 10 business days following receipt of the notice any additional information the IRO should consider in conducting the external review.

The IRO will review all of the information and documents it receives in a timely manner as outlined in federal regulations and other applicable guidance. You will receive written notice of the final external review decision within 45 days after the IRO receives the request for external review. The notice will include the following:

- a general description of the reason for the request for external review, including information sufficient to identify the claim;

- the date the IRO received the assignment to conduct the external review and the date of the IRO decision;
- references to the evidence or documentation, including the specific coverage provisions and evidence-based standards, considered in reaching its decision;
- a discussion of the principal reason or reasons for its decision, including the rationale for its decision and any evidence-based standards that were relied on in making its decision;
- a statement that the determination is binding except to the extent that other remedies may be available under state or federal law to you or the Medical Plan;
- a statement that judicial review may be available to you; and
- current contact information, including phone number, for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman.

The external review program is completely voluntary, so you only have to exhaust your internal claim and appeal administrative review rights under the Medical Plan in order to bring a civil action against the Medical Plan. Contact the Claims Committee for more information about the Medical Plan's external review procedures.

Legal Action

You have the right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA if you are not satisfied with the outcome of the internal claim and appeal procedure. You may not initiate a legal action against the Claims Administrators, the Medical Plan, the Company, or the Plan Administrator until you have completed the internal appeal processes. No legal action may be brought more than one year following a final decision on the claim under the appeal processes. If a civil action is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

Discretionary Authority

Authority to decide initial claims (including claims for Medical Plan benefits) under the Medical Plan and denied claims on review (including denied claims for Medical Plan benefits on review) under the Medical Plan includes the full power and discretion to interpret Medical Plan provisions and to make factual determinations, with the Initial Claim Administrators' and the Denied Claim Reviewers' decisions, interpretations and factual determinations controlling. Requests for information regarding individual claims, or a review of a denied claim, are to be directed in writing and properly addressed to the particular entity identified as having the authority to decide the initial claim, or to decide the denied claim on review, as applicable.

Right to Change or Terminate the Medical Plan

Duke Energy Corporation reserves the right to amend or terminate the Medical Plan in any respect and at any time. For example, the Medical Plan may be discontinued in part or in its entirety, or what the Medical Plan or Medical Plan option covers or what benefits it provides may be changed. Cost sharing between the Company and covered individuals also is subject to change, which may include initiating or increasing contributions required of employees, retirees, other former employees and their dependents.

The amendment or termination of the Medical Plan may affect the benefits or benefit coverage not only of active employees (and their dependents), but also of former active employees who retired (and their dependents), became disabled, died or whose Company employment has otherwise terminated (and their dependents), and also of any covered person who began receiving benefit coverage or payments prior to the amendment or termination. If such a termination or amendment occurs, affected participants will be notified. The right to amend or terminate the Medical Plan may be exercised by Duke Energy Corporation, or its authorized delegates, and any amendment shall be in writing.

Statement of Rights

As a participant in the Medical Plan you are entitled to certain rights and protections under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). ERISA provides that all Medical Plan participants shall be entitled to:

Receive Information About Your Plan and Benefits

- examine, without charge, at the Plan Administrator's office and at other specified locations, such as worksites and union halls, all documents governing the Medical Plan, including collective bargaining agreements and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) filed by the Medical Plan with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.
- obtain, upon written request to the Plan Administrator, copies of documents governing the Medical Plan, including collective bargaining agreements, and a copy of the latest annual report (Form 5500 Series) and updated summary plan description. The Plan Administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.
- receive a summary of the Medical Plan's annual financial report. The Plan Administrator is required by law to furnish each participant in the Medical Plan with a copy of this summary financial report.
- obtain a copy of the Medical Plan's procedures for determining a Qualified Medical Child Support Order (QMCSO).

Continue Group Health Plan Coverage

- continue health care coverage for yourself, your spouse[5] or dependents if there is a loss of coverage under the Medical Plan as a result of a qualifying event. You or your dependents may have to pay for such coverage. Review this General Information Booklet and the other documents governing the Medical Plan on the rules governing your federal continuation coverage rights.

Prudent Actions by Plan Fiduciaries

In addition to creating rights for plan participants, ERISA imposes duties upon the people responsible for the operation of the Medical Plan. The people who operate your Medical Plan, called "fiduciaries" of the Medical Plan, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other Medical Plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including the Company, your union, or any other person may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a welfare benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

[5] Additionally, the Company extends continuation of coverage under COBRA to covered domestic partners if they lose eligibility for coverage in certain situations.

Enforce Your Rights

If your claim for a welfare benefit is denied or ignored, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules.

Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request a copy of Medical Plan documents or the latest annual report from the Medical Plan and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a federal court. In such a case, the court may require the Plan Administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the Plan Administrator. If you have a claim for benefits which is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or federal court once you have exhausted the Medical Plan's internal claims procedures.

In addition, if you disagree with the Medical Plan's decision or lack thereof concerning the qualified status of a medical child support order, you may file suit in federal court. If it should happen that plan fiduciaries misuse the Medical Plan's money, or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example if it finds your claim is frivolous.

Assistance with Your Questions

If you have any questions about the Medical Plan, you should contact the Plan Administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the Plan Administrator, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. You also may obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

Keep Us Informed

It is your responsibility to make sure that your benefits records are correct and that the personal information needed to administer your benefits is current. Promptly review any confirmation and other benefit statements carefully, and immediately advise the Duke Energy myHR Service Center if you believe there is an error. If you move, marry, divorce, or gain a new child, or if your child is no longer an eligible dependent, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center as soon as possible.

A Final Note

Although this General Information Booklet and the other documents that comprise the SPD describe the principal features of the Medical Plan, the SPD is only a summary. The complete provisions of the Medical Plan are set forth in the plan documents, which are available upon request from Duke Energy Human Resources. An SPD is an overview and is written to be read in its entirety. Descriptions of Medical Plan features should not be taken out of context. Inquiries about specific situations should be directed in writing to Duke Energy Human Resources. Changes to the Medical Plan, pending revision of the SPD, will be communicated in benefit newsletters, letters, Duke Energy Portal announcements and/or enrollment materials. In the event of a conflict between this SPD or any other communication regarding the Medical Plan and the plan documents themselves, the plan documents control. Remember, the Medical Plan may not be amended by oral or written communications.

The Medical Plan, this SPD and your Medical Plan participation are not employment contracts, and do not give any employee the right to continue to be employed by the Company. Employees may resign and are subject to discipline, discharge or layoff as if the SPD had never been published and the Medical Plan had never gone into effect.

Duke Energy is pleased to provide you with this Benefit Booklet, which describes the health Benefits available to you and your covered family members under the Duke Energy Active Medical Plan's Health Savings Plan 1 Option. It includes summaries of:

- services that are covered, called Covered Health Services;
- services that are not covered, called Exclusions and Limitations;
- how Benefits are paid; and
- your rights and responsibilities under the Plan.

UnitedHealthcare is a private healthcare claims administrator. UnitedHealthcare's goal is to give you the tools you need to make wise healthcare decisions. UnitedHealthcare also helps your employer to administer claims. Although UnitedHealthcare will assist you in many ways, it does not guarantee any Benefits. Duke Energy is solely responsible for paying Benefits described in this Benefit Booklet.

IMPORTANT
The healthcare service, supply or pharmaceutical product is only a Covered Health Service if it is Medically Necessary. (See definitions of Medically Necessary and Covered Health Service in Section 12, Glossary.) The fact that a Physician or other provider has performed or prescribed a procedure or treatment, or the fact that it may be the only available treatment for a Sickness, Injury, Mental Illness, substance-related and addictive disorder, disease or its symptoms does not mean that the procedure or treatment is a Covered Health Service under the Plan.

Please read this Benefit Booklet thoroughly to learn how the Duke Energy Active Medical Plan's Health Savings Plan 1 Option works. If you have questions call the number on your ID card.

How To Use This Benefit Booklet

- Read the entire Benefit Booklet (including the benefit booklet describing the prescription drug benefit), as well as the General Information Booklet and share them with your family. Together, the General Information Booklet and the Benefit Booklets comprise the Summary Plan Description (SPD) for the Plan's Health Savings Plan 1 Option. Keep these documents in a safe place for future reference.
- Many of the sections of this Benefit Booklet are related to other sections. You may not have all the information you need by reading just one section.
- You can find or request printed copies of your SPD at http://digital.alight.com/duke-energy or by contacting the Duke Energy myHR™ Service Center at (888) 465-1300.
- Capitalized words in the Benefit Booklet have special meanings and are defined in Section 12, Glossary.
- If eligible for coverage, the words "you" and "your" refer to Covered Persons as defined in Section 12, Glossary.
- Duke Energy and its affiliated companies which are participating in the Plan are also referred to as the Company.

SECTION 2 - HOW THE PLAN WORKS

What this section includes:

- Accessing Benefits;
- Eligible Expenses;
- Annual Deductible;
- Coinsurance; and
- Out-of-Pocket Maximum.

Accessing Benefits

As a participant in this Plan, you have the freedom to choose the Physician or health care professional you prefer each time you need to receive Covered Health Services. The choices you make affect the amounts you pay, as well as the level of Benefits you receive and any benefit limitations that may apply.

You are eligible for the Network level of Benefits under this Plan when you receive Covered Health Services from Physicians and other health care professionals who have contracted with UnitedHealthcare to provide those services.

You can choose to receive Designated Network Benefits, Network Benefits or Non-Network Benefits.

Designated Network Benefits apply to Covered Health Services that are provided by a Network Physician or other provider that is identified as a Designated Provider. Only certain Physicians and providers have been identified as a Designated Provider. Designated Network Benefits are available only for specific Covered Health Services as identified in Section 4, Plan Highlights. When Designated Network Benefits apply, they are included in and subject to the same Annual Deductible and Out-of-Pocket Maximum requirements as all other Covered Health Services provided by Network providers.

Network Benefits apply to Covered Health Services that are provided by a Network Physician or other Network provider. You are not required to select a Primary Physician in order to obtain Network Benefits. In general health care terminology, a Primary Physician may also be referred to as a Primary Care Physician or PCP.

Non-Network Benefits apply to Covered Health Services that are provided by a non-Network Physician or other non-Network provider, or Covered Health Services that are provided at a non-Network facility. In general health care terminology, Non-Network Benefits may also be referred to as out-of-Network Benefits.

Emergency Health Services provided by a non-Network provider will be reimbursed as set forth under Eligible Expenses as described at the end of this section.

Covered Health Services provided at certain Network facilities by a non-Network Physician, when not Emergency Health Services, will be reimbursed as set forth under Eligible Expenses as described at the end of this section. For these Covered Health Services, "certain Network facility" is limited to a hospital (as defined in Section 1861(e) of the Social Security Act), a hospital outpatient department, a critical access hospital (as defined in Section 1861(mm)(1) of the Social Security Act), an ambulatory surgical center as described in Section 1833(i)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act, and any other facility specified by the Secretary.

Air Ambulance transport provided by a non-Network provider will be reimbursed as set forth under Eligible Expenses as described at the end of this section.

Ground Ambulance transport provided by a non-Network provider will be reimbursed as set forth under Eligible Expenses as described at the end of this section.

You must show your identification card (ID card) every time you request health care services from a Network provider. If you do not show your ID card, Network providers have no way of knowing that you are enrolled under the Plan. As a result, they may bill you for the entire cost of the services you receive.

Generally, when you receive Covered Health Services from a Network provider, you pay less than you would if you receive the same care from a non-Network provider. Therefore, in most instances, your out-of-pocket expenses will be less if you use a Network provider.

If you choose to seek care outside the Network, the Plan generally pays Benefits at a lower level. You are required to pay the amount that exceeds the Eligible Expense. The amount in excess of the Eligible Expense could be significant, and this amount does not apply to the Out-of-Pocket Maximum. You may want to ask the non-Network provider about their billed charges before you receive care.

Health Services from Non-Network Providers Paid as Network Benefits

If specific Covered Health Services are not available from a Network provider, you may be eligible to receive Network Benefits when Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider. In this situation, your Network Physician will notify UnitedHealthcare, and if UnitedHealthcare confirms that care is not available from a Network provider, UnitedHealthcare will work with you and your Network Physician to coordinate care through a non-Network provider.

Looking for a Network Provider?
In addition to other helpful information, www.myuhc.com, UnitedHealthcare's consumer website, contains a directory of health care professionals and facilities in UnitedHealthcare's Network. While Network status may change from time to time, www.myuhc.com has the most current source of Network information. Use www.myuhc.com to search for Physicians available in your Plan.

Network Providers

UnitedHealthcare or its affiliates arrange for health care providers to participate in a Network. At your request, UnitedHealthcare will send you a directory of Network providers free of charge. Keep in mind, a provider's Network status may change. To verify a provider's status or request a provider directory, you can call UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card or log onto www.myuhc.com.

Network providers are independent practitioners and are not employees of the Company or UnitedHealthcare.

UnitedHealthcare's credentialing process confirms public information about the providers' licenses and other credentials but does not assure the quality of the services provided.

Before obtaining services, you should always verify the Network status of a provider. A provider's status may change. You can verify the provider's status by calling UnitedHealthcare. A directory of providers is available online at www.myuhc.com or by calling the number on your ID card to request a copy. If you receive a Covered Health Service from a non-Network provider and were informed incorrectly prior to receipt of the Covered Health Service that the provider was a Network provider, either through a database, provider directory, or in a response to your request for such information (via telephone, electronic, web-based or internet-based means), you may be eligible for Network Benefits.

It is possible that you might not be able to obtain services from a particular Network provider. The Network of providers is subject to change. Or you might find that a particular Network provider may not be accepting new patients. If a provider leaves the Network or is otherwise not available to you, you must choose another Network provider to get Network Benefits. However, in certain circumstances if you are currently receiving treatment for Covered Health Services from a provider or health care facility whose network status changes from Network to non-Network during such treatment due to expiration or nonrenewal of the provider's or health care facility's contract, you may be eligible to request continued care from your current provider or health care facility at the Network Benefit level for specified conditions and timeframes up to 90 days. This provision applies if you are undergoing a course of treatment for a serious and complex condition from the provider or health care facility, undergoing a course of institutional or in-patient care from the provider or health care facility, scheduled to undergo nonelective surgery from the provider, including receipt of postoperative care from such provider or health care facility with respect to such a surgery, pregnant and undergoing a course of treatment for pregnancy from the provider or determined to be terminally ill (as defined in Section 1861(dd)(3)(A) of the Social Security Act) and receiving treatment for such illness from the provider or health care facility. This provision does not apply to provider contract terminations for failure to meet applicable quality standards or for fraud. If you would like help to find out if you are eligible for continuity of care Benefits, please call the telephone number on your ID card.

If you are currently undergoing a course of treatment utilizing a non-Network Physician or health care facility, you may be eligible to receive transition of care Benefits. This transition period is available for specific medical services and for limited periods of time. If you have questions regarding this transition of care reimbursement policy or would like help determining whether you are eligible for transition of care Benefits, please contact UnitedHealthcare at the telephone number on your ID card.

Do not assume that a Network provider's agreement includes all Covered Health Services. Some Network providers contract with UnitedHealthcare to provide only certain Covered Health Services, but not all Covered Health Services. Some Network providers choose to be a Network provider for only some of UnitedHealthcare's products. Refer to your provider directory or contact UnitedHealthcare for assistance.

Non-Network Benefits Exception

You may be eligible to receive Benefits for certain non-Network Covered Health Services paid at the Network level if you do not have access to a Network provider within a 30 mile radius of your home zip code.

You can check a provider's Network status by visiting www.myuhc.com or by calling UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card. UnitedHealthcare must approve any Benefits payable under this exception before you receive care.

Designated Providers

If you have a medical condition that UnitedHealthcare believes needs special services, UnitedHealthcare may direct you to a Designated Provider chosen by UnitedHealthcare. If you require certain complex Covered Health Services for which expertise is limited, UnitedHealthcare may direct you to a Network facility or provider that is outside your local geographic area. If you are required to travel to obtain such Covered Health Services from a Designated Provider, UnitedHealthcare may reimburse certain travel expenses at UnitedHealthcare's discretion.

In both cases, Network Benefits will only be paid if your Covered Health Services for that condition are provided by or arranged by the Designated Provider, or other provider chosen by UnitedHealthcare.

You or your Network Physician must notify UnitedHealthcare of special service needs (such as transplants or cancer treatment) that might warrant referral to a Designated Provider If you do not notify UnitedHealthcare in advance, and if you receive services from a non-Network facility (regardless of whether it is a Designated Provider) or other non-Network provider, Network Benefits will not be paid. Non-Network Benefits may be available if the special needs services you receive are Covered Health Services for which Benefits are provided under the Plan.

Limitations on Selection of Providers

If UnitedHealthcare determines that you are using health care services in a harmful or abusive manner, or with harmful frequency, your selection of Network providers may be limited. If this happens, UnitedHealthcare may require you to select a single Network Physician to provide and coordinate all future Covered Health Services. If you don't make a selection within 31 days of the date UnitedHealthcare notifies you, UnitedHealthcare will select a single Network Physician for you. If you fail to use the selected Network Physician, Covered Health Services will be paid as Non-Network Benefits.

Eligible Expenses

Duke Energy has delegated to the Claims Administrator the discretion and authority to decide whether a treatment or supply is a Covered Health Service and how the Eligible Expenses will be determined and otherwise covered under the Plan.

Eligible Expenses are the amount the Claims Administrator determines that the Plan will pay for Benefits.

- For Designated Network Benefits and Network Benefits for Covered Health Services provided by a Network provider, except for your cost sharing obligations, you are not responsible for any difference between Eligible Expenses and the amount the provider bills.
- For Non-Network Benefits, except as described below, you are responsible for paying, directly to the non-Network provider, any difference between the amount the provider bills you and the amount the Claims Administrator will pay for Eligible Expenses.
  - For Covered Health Services that are Ancillary Services received at certain Network facilities on a non-Emergency basis from non-Network Physicians, you are not responsible, and the non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in this SPD.
  - For Covered Health Services that are non-Ancillary Services received at certain Network facilities on a non-Emergency basis from non-Network Physicians who have not satisfied the notice and consent criteria or for unforeseen or urgent medical needs that arise at the time a non-Ancillary Service is provided for which notice and consent has been satisfied as described below, you are not responsible, and the non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in the SPD.
  - For Covered Health Services that are Emergency Health Services provided by a non-Network provider, you are not responsible, and the non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in this SPD.
  - For Covered Health Services that are Air Ambulance services provided by a non-Network provider, you are not responsible, and the non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the rates that would apply if the service was provided by a Network provider which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in the SPD.

  Eligible Expenses are determined in accordance with the Claims Administrator's reimbursement policy guidelines or as required by law, as described in the SPD.

Designated Network Benefits and Network Benefits

Eligible Expenses are based on the following:

- When Covered Health Services are received from a Designated Provider or Network provider, Eligible Expenses are our contracted fee(s) with that provider.
- When Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider as arranged by the Claims Administrator, including when there is no Network provider who is reasonably accessible or available to provide Covered Health Services, Eligible Expenses are an amount negotiated by the Claims Administrator or an amount permitted by law. Please contact the Claims Administrator if you are billed for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance, or any Annual Deductible. The Plan will not pay excessive charges or amounts you are not legally obligated to pay.

Non-Network Benefits

When Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider as described below, Eligible Expenses are determined as follows:

- For non-Emergency Covered Health Services received at certain Network facilities from non-Network Physicians when such services are either Ancillary Services, or non-Ancillary Services that have not satisfied the notice and consent criteria of Section 2799B-2(d) of the Public Health Service Act with respect to a visit as defined by the Secretary (including non-Ancillary Services that have satisfied the notice and consent criteria but unforeseen urgent medical needs arise at the time the services are provided), the Eligible Expense is based on one of the following in the order listed below as applicable:
  - The reimbursement rate as determined by a state All Payer Model Agreement.
  - The reimbursement rate as determined by state law.
  - The initial payment made by the Claims Administrator, or the amount subsequently agreed to by the non-Network provider and the Claims Administrator.
  - The amount determined by Independent Dispute Resolution (IDR).

  For the purpose of this provision, "certain Network facilities" are limited to a hospital (as defined in Section 1861(e) of the Social Security Act), a hospital outpatient department, a critical access hospital (as defined in Section 1861(mm)(1) of the Social Security Act), an ambulatory surgical center as described in Section 1833(i)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act, and any other facility specified by the Secretary.

  IMPORTANT NOTICE: For Ancillary Services, non-Ancillary Services provided without notice and consent, and non-Ancillary Services for unforeseen or urgent medical needs that arise at the time a service is provided for which notice and consent has been satisfied, you are not responsible, and a non-Network Physician may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in the SPD.

- For Emergency Health Services provided by a non-Network provider, the Eligible Expense is based on one of the following in the order listed below as applicable:
  - The reimbursement rate as determined by a state All Payer Model Agreement.
  - The reimbursement rate as determined by state law.
  - The initial payment made by the Claims Administrator, or the amount subsequently agreed to by the non-Network provider and the Claims Administrator.
  - The amount determined by Independent Dispute Resolution (IDR).

  IMPORTANT NOTICE: You are not responsible, and a non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in the SPD.

- For Air Ambulance transportation provided by a non-Network provider, the Eligible Expense is based on one of the following in the order listed below as applicable:
  - The reimbursement rate as determined by a state All Payer Model Agreement.

- The reimbursement rate as determined by state law.
- The initial payment made by the Claims Administrator, or the amount subsequently agreed to by the non-Network provider and the Claims Administrator.
- The amount determined by Independent Dispute Resolution (IDR).

IMPORTANT NOTICE: You are not responsible, and a non-Network provider may not bill you, for amounts in excess of your Coinsurance or Annual Deductible which is based on the rates that would apply if the service was provided by a Network provider which is based on the Recognized Amount as defined in the SPD.

- For Emergency ground ambulance transportation provided by a non-Network provider, the Eligible Expense, which includes mileage, is a rate agreed upon by the non-Network provider or, unless a different amount is required by applicable law, determined based upon the median amount negotiated with Network providers for the same or similar service.

  IMPORTANT NOTICE: Non-Network providers may bill you for any difference between the provider's billed charges and the Eligible Expense described here.

When Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider, except as described above, Eligible Expenses are determined as follows: (i) an amount negotiated by the Claims Administrator, (ii) a specific amount required by law (when required by law), or (iii) an amount the Claims Administrator has determined is typically accepted by a healthcare provider for the same or similar service. The Plan will not pay excessive charges. You are responsible for paying, directly to the non-Network provider, the applicable Coinsurance, or any Deductible. Please contact the Claims Administrator if you are billed for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance, or any Deductible to access the Advocacy Services as described below. Following the conclusion of the Advocacy Services described below, any responsibility to pay more than the Eligible Expense (which includes your Coinsurance, and Deductible) is yours.

Advocacy Services

The Plan has contracted with the Claims Administrator to provide advocacy services on your behalf with respect to non-Network providers that have questions about the Eligible Expenses and how the Claims Administrator determined those amounts. Please call the Claims Administrator at the number on your ID card to access these advocacy services if you are billed for amounts in excess of your applicable Coinsurance or Deductible.

When Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider in the following cases:

- non-Ancillary Services received at certain Network facilities on a non-Emergency basis from non-Network Physicians who have satisfied the notice and consent criteria as described below; and
- Emergency ground ambulance transportation provided by a non-Network provider;

then, in such circumstances, if the Claims Administrator, or its designee, reasonably concludes that the particular facts and circumstances related to a claim provide justification for reimbursement greater than that which would result from the application of the Eligible

Expense, and the Claims Administrator, or its designee, determines that it would serve the best interests of the Plan and its Covered Persons (including interests in avoiding costs and expenses of disputes over payment of claims), the Claims Administrator, or its designee, may use its sole discretion to increase the Eligible Expense for that particular claim.

When Covered Health Services are received from a non-Network provider that are not:

- Ancillary Services received at certain Network facilities on a non-Emergency basis;
- non-Ancillary Services received at certain Network facilities on a non-Emergency basis;
- Emergency Health Services;
- Air Ambulance services; or
- Emergency ground ambulance transportation;

then, in such circumstances, the Claims Administrator, or its designee, will either work with the provider on your behalf, or provide you with tools and support for you to work with the provider, to attempt to reduce the amount you owe beyond your Coinsurance, and Deductible.

Don't Forget Your ID Card
Remember to show your ID card every time you receive health care services from a provider. If you do not show your ID card, a provider has no way of knowing that you are enrolled under the Plan.

Annual Deductible

The Annual Deductible is the amount of Eligible Expenses, or the Recognized Amount when applicable, you must pay each calendar year for Covered Health Services before you are eligible to begin receiving Benefits (other than Benefits for Network preventive care services). The amounts you pay toward your Annual Deductible accumulate over the course of the calendar year.

The Annual Deductible applies to almost all Covered Health Services under the Plan, including Covered Health Services provided through the prescription drug program for Network Benefits only. The only Covered Health Services under the Plan to which the Annual Deductible does not apply are Network preventive care services and certain preventive medications and vaccines which are covered at 100% by the Plan even before you meet your Annual Deductible.

When a Covered Person was previously covered under a benefit plan that was replaced by the Plan, any amount already applied to that annual deductible provision of the prior plan will apply to the Annual Deductible provision under this Plan.

Eligible Expenses charged by both Network and non-Network providers apply towards both the Network individual and family Deductibles and the non-Network individual and family Deductibles.

If more than one person in a family is covered under the Plan's Health Savings Plan 1 Option, the individual coverage Deductible stated in Section 4, Plan Highlights does not apply. Instead, the family Deductible applies and no one in the family is eligible to receive Benefits (other than Benefits for Network preventive care services and certain preventive medications and vaccines) until the family Deductible is satisfied.

Coinsurance

Coinsurance is the percentage of Eligible Expenses that you are responsible for paying. Coinsurance is a fixed percentage that applies to certain Covered Health Services after you meet the Annual Deductible.

Coinsurance - Example
Let's assume that you receive Plan Benefits for outpatient surgery from a Network provider. Since the Plan pays 80% after you meet the Annual Deductible, you are responsible for paying the other 20%. This 20% is your Coinsurance.

Out-of-Pocket Maximum

The annual Out-of-Pocket Maximum is the most you pay each calendar year for Covered Health Services. If your eligible out-of-pocket expenses in a calendar year exceed the applicable annual maximum, the Plan pays 100% of additional Eligible Expenses you incur for Covered Health Services through the end of the calendar year.

The Out-of-Pocket Maximum applies to all Covered Health Services under the Plan, including Covered Health Services provided through the prescription drug component of the Plan administered by CVS Caremark for Network Benefits only.

Eligible Expenses charged by both Network and non-Network providers apply toward both the Network individual and family Out-of-Pocket Maximums and the non-Network individual and family Out-of-Pocket Maximums.

The following table identifies what does and does not apply toward your applicable Network and non-Network Out-of-Pocket Maximum:

Plan Features	Applies to the Network Out-of-Pocket Maximum?	Applies to the Non-Network Out-of-Pocket Maximum?
Payments toward the Annual Deductible	Yes	Yes
Coinsurance Payments	Yes	Yes
Charges for non-Covered Health Services	No	No

Plan Features	Applies to the Network Out-of-Pocket Maximum?	Applies to the Non-Network Out-of-Pocket Maximum?
The amounts of any reductions in Benefits you incur by not obtaining prior authorization as required	No	No
Charges that exceed Eligible Expenses, or the Recognized Amount when applicable.	No	No

Amounts that do not apply toward your Out-of-Pocket Maximum are always your responsibility to pay, even after you reach your Out-of-Pocket Maximum.

Travel and Lodging (For Travel and Lodging related to complex medical conditions see Section 7: Clinical Programs And Resources)

The Plan provides a Covered Person with a travel and lodging allowance related to the Covered Health Service provided by a Network provider that is not available in the Covered Person's state of residence due to law or regulation when such Covered Health Services are received in another state, as legally permissible.

Travel and Lodging provides support for the Covered Person under the Plan. The Plan provides an allowance for reasonable travel and lodging expenses for a Covered Person and travel companion when the Covered Person must travel at least 50 miles from their home address, as reflected in our records, to receive the Covered Health Services.

This Plan provides an allowance for incurred reasonable travel and lodging expenses only and is independent of any existing medical coverage available for the Covered Person. An allowance of up to $2,000 per Covered Person per year, will be provided for travel and lodging expenses incurred as a part of the Covered Health Service. Lodging expenses are further limited to $50 per night for the Covered Person, or $100 per night for the Covered Person with a travel companion.

Please remember to save travel and lodging receipts to submit for reimbursement. If you would like additional information regarding Travel and Lodging, you may contact us at www.myuhc.com or the telephone number on your ID card.

SECTION 3 - PERSONAL HEALTH SUPPORT AND PRIOR AUTHORIZATION

What this section includes:

- An overview of the Personal Health Support Program.
- Covered Health Services which Require Prior Authorization.

Care Management

When you seek prior authorization as required, the Claims Administrator will work with you to implement the care management process and to provide you with information about additional services that are available to you, such as disease management programs, health education and patient advocacy.

UnitedHealthcare provides a program called Personal Health Support designed to encourage personalized, efficient care for you and your covered Dependents.

Personal Health Support Nurses center their efforts on prevention, education, and closing any gaps in your care. The goal of the program is to ensure you receive the most appropriate and cost-effective services available. A Personal Health Support Nurse is notified when you or your provider calls the number on your ID card regarding an upcoming treatment or service.

If you are living with a chronic condition or dealing with complex health care needs, UnitedHealthcare may assign to you a primary nurse, referred to as a Personal Health Support Nurse to guide you through your treatment. This assigned nurse will answer questions, explain options, identify your needs, and may refer you to specialized care programs. The Personal Health Support Nurse will provide you with their telephone number so you can call them with questions about your conditions, or your overall health and well-being.

Personal Health Support Nurses will provide a variety of different services to help you and your covered family members receive appropriate medical care. Program components are subject to change without notice. As of the publication of this Benefit Booklet, the Personal Health Support program includes:

- Admission counseling - Nurse Advocates are available to help you prepare for a successful surgical admission and recovery. Call the number on your ID card.
- Inpatient care management - If you are hospitalized, a nurse will work with your Physician to make sure you are getting the care you need and that your Physician's treatment plan is being carried out effectively.
- Readmission Management - This program serves as a bridge between the Hospital and your home if you are at high risk of being readmitted. After leaving the Hospital, if you have a certain chronic or complex condition, you may receive a phone call from a Personal Health Support Nurse to confirm that medications, needed equipment, or follow-up services are in place. The Personal Health Support Nurse will also share important health care information, reiterate and reinforce discharge instructions, and support a safe transition home.

- Risk Management - Designed for participants with certain chronic or complex conditions, this program addresses such health care needs as access to medical specialists, medication information, and coordination of equipment and supplies. Participants may receive a phone call from a Personal Health Support Nurse to discuss and share important health care information related to the participant's specific chronic or complex condition.
- Cancer Management - You have the opportunity to engage with a nurse that specializes in cancer and can provide, education and guidance throughout your care path.
- Kidney Management - You have the opportunity to engage with a nurse that specializes in kidney disease and can provide education and guidance with chronic kidney disease (CKD) stage 4/5 or end stage renal disease (ESRD) throughout your care path.

If you do not receive a call from a Personal Health Support Nurse but feel you could benefit from any of these programs, please call the number on your ID card.

Prior Authorization

UnitedHealthcare requires prior authorization for certain Covered Health Services. Network Primary Physicians and other Network providers are responsible for obtaining prior authorization before they provide these services to you.

Network providers are responsible for obtaining prior authorization from the Claims Administrator before they provide certain services to you.

It is recommended that you confirm with the Claims Administrator that prior authorization has been obtained for all Covered Health Services as required. Before receiving these services from a Network provider, you may want to contact the Claims Administrator to verify that the Hospital, Physician and other providers are Network providers and that they have obtained the required prior authorization. Network facilities and Network providers cannot bill you for services for which they fail to obtain prior authorization as required. You can contact the Claims Administrator by calling the number on your ID card.

To obtain prior authorization, call the number on your ID card. This call starts the utilization review process. Once you have obtained the authorization, please review it carefully so that you understand what services have been authorized and what providers are authorized to deliver the services that are subject to the authorization.

The utilization review process is a set of formal techniques designed to monitor the use of, or evaluate the clinical necessity, appropriateness, efficacy, or efficiency of, health care services, procedures or settings. Such techniques may include ambulatory review, prospective review, second opinion, certification, concurrent review, case management, discharge planning, retrospective review or similar programs.

When you choose to receive certain Covered Health Services from non-Network providers, you are responsible for obtaining prior authorization from the Claims Administrator before you receive these services. In many cases, your Non-Network Benefits will be reduced if the Claims Administrator has not provided prior authorization.

Services for which you are required to obtain prior authorization are identified in Section 5, Additional Coverage Details, within each Covered Health Service Benefit description. Please note that prior authorization timelines apply. Refer to the applicable Benefit description to determine how far in advance you must obtain prior authorization.

Special Note Regarding Medicare

(Applicable only to Medicare enrollees who have Plan coverage under COBRA or due to the receipt of long-term disability benefits under a Company-sponsored long-term disability plan).

If you are enrolled in Medicare on a primary basis, and Medicare pays benefits before the Plan, you are not required to obtain prior authorization before receiving Covered Health Services. Since Medicare pays Benefits first, the Plan will pay Benefits second as described in Section 9, Coordination of Benefits (COB).

SECTION 5 - ADDITIONAL COVERAGE DETAILS

What this section includes:

- Covered Health Services for which the Plan pays Benefits.
- Covered Health Services that require you to obtain prior authorization before you receive them, and any reduction in Benefits that may apply if you do not call to obtain prior authorization.

This section supplements the second table in Section 4, Plan Highlights.

While the table in Section 4, Plan Highlights provides you with Benefit limitations along with Coinsurance and Annual Deductible information for each Covered Health Service, this section includes descriptions of the Benefits. These descriptions include any additional limitations that may apply, as well as Covered Health Services for which you must obtain prior authorization. The Covered Health Services in this section appear in the same order as they do in the table for easy reference. Services that are not covered are described in Section 7, Exclusions and Limitations.

Benefits are provided for services delivered via Telehealth/Telemedicine. Benefits are also provided for Remote Physiologic Monitoring. Benefits for these services are provided to the same extent as an in-person service under any applicable Benefit category in this section unless otherwise specified in the table.

Acupuncture Services

The Plan pays for acupuncture services for pain therapy provided that the service is performed in an office setting by a provider who is one of the following, either practicing within the scope of his/her license (if state license is available) or who is certified by a national accrediting body:

- Doctor of Medicine.
- Doctor of Osteopathy.
- Chiropractor.
- Acupuncturist.

Covered Health Services include treatment of nausea as a result of:

- Chemotherapy.
- Pregnancy.
- Post-operative procedures.

Acupuncture services will be reviewed after 20 visits for medical necessity.

Benefits can be denied or shortened for Covered Persons who are not progressing in goal- directed services or if goals have previously been met.

Did you know…
You generally pay less out-of-pocket when you use a Network provider?

Ambulance Services

The Plan covers Emergency ambulance services and transportation provided by a licensed ambulance service to the nearest Hospital that offers Emergency Health Services. See Section 12, Glossary for the definition of Emergency.

Ambulance service by air is covered in an Emergency if ground transportation is impossible or would put your life or health in serious jeopardy. If special circumstances exist, UnitedHealthcare may pay Benefits for Emergency air transportation to a Hospital that is not the closest facility to provide Emergency Health Services.

The Plan also covers transportation provided by a licensed professional ambulance (either ground or air ambulance, as UnitedHealthcare determines appropriate) between facilities when the transport is:

- From a non-Network Hospital to a Network Hospital.
- To a Hospital that provides a higher level of care that was not available at the original Hospital.
- To a more cost-effective acute care facility.
- From an acute facility to a sub-acute setting.

Prior Authorization Requirement
In most cases, the Claims Administrator will initiate and direct non-Emergency ambulance transportation. For Non-Network Benefits, if you are requesting non-Emergency air ambulance services (including any affiliated non-Emergency ground ambulance transport in conjunction with non-Emergency air ambulance transport), you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as soon as possible prior to the transport. If you fail to obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.

Cellular and Gene Therapy

The Plan covers Cellular Therapy and Gene Therapy received on an inpatient or outpatient basis at a Hospital or on an outpatient basis at an Alternate Facility or in a Physician's office.

Benefits for CAR-T therapy for malignancies are provided as described under Transplantation Services.

Clinical Trials

The Plan pays for routine patient care costs incurred during participation in a qualifying Clinical Trial for the treatment of:

- Cancer or other life-threatening disease or condition. For purposes of this benefit, a life-threatening disease or condition is one from which the likelihood of death is probable unless the course of the disease or condition is interrupted.
- Cardiovascular disease (cardiac/stroke) which is not life threatening, for which, as UnitedHealthcare determines, a Clinical Trial meets the qualifying Clinical Trial criteria stated below.
- Surgical musculoskeletal disorders of the spine, hip and knees, which are not life threatening, for which, as UnitedHealthcare determines, a Clinical Trial meets the qualifying Clinical Trial criteria stated below.
- Other diseases or disorders which are not life threatening for which, as determined by UnitedHealthcare, a Clinical Trial meets the qualifying Clinical Trial criteria stated below.

Benefits include the reasonable and necessary items and services used to prevent, diagnose and treat complications arising from participation in a qualifying Clinical Trial.

Benefits are available only when the Covered Person is clinically eligible for participation in the qualifying Clinical Trial as defined by the researcher.

Routine patient care costs for qualifying Clinical Trials include:

- Covered Health Services for which Benefits are typically provided absent a Clinical Trial.
- Covered Health Services required solely for the provision of the Experimental or Investigational Service(s) or item, the clinically appropriate monitoring of the effects of the service or item, or the prevention of complications.

- Covered Health Services needed for reasonable and necessary care arising from the provision of an Experimental or Investigational Service(s) or item.

Routine costs for Clinical Trials do not include:

- The Experimental or Investigational Service(s) or item. The only exceptions to this are:
  - Certain Category B devices.
  - Certain promising interventions for patients with terminal illnesses.
  - Other items and services that meet specified criteria in accordance with the Claims Administrator's medical and drug policies.
- Items and services provided solely to satisfy data collection and analysis needs and that are not used in the direct clinical management of the patient.
- A service that is clearly inconsistent with widely accepted and established standards of care for a particular diagnosis.
- Items and services provided by the research sponsors free of charge for any person enrolled in the trial.

With respect to cancer or other life-threatening diseases or conditions, a qualifying Clinical Trial is a Phase I, Phase II, Phase III, or Phase IV Clinical Trial that is conducted in relation to the prevention, detection or treatment of cancer or other life-threatening disease or condition and which meets any of the following criteria in the bulleted list below.

With respect to cardiovascular disease or musculoskeletal disorders of the spine, hip and knees and other diseases or disorders which are not life-threatening, a qualifying Clinical Trial is a Phase I, Phase II, or Phase III Clinical Trial that is conducted in relation to the detection or treatment of such non-life-threatening disease or disorder and which meets any of the following criteria in the bulleted list below.

- Federally funded trials. The study or investigation is approved or funded (which may include funding through in-kind contributions) by one or more of the following:
  - National Institutes of Health (NIH). (Includes National Cancer Institute (NCI)).
  - Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).
  - Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ).
  - Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).
  - A cooperative group or center of any of the entities described above or the Department of Defense (DOD) or the Veterans Administration (VA).
  - A qualified non-governmental research entity identified in the guidelines issued by the National Institutes of Health for center support grants.
  - The Department of Veterans Affairs, the Department of Defense or the Department of Energy as long as the study or investigation has been reviewed and approved through a system of peer review that is determined by the Secretary of Health and Human Services to meet both of the following criteria:
    - Comparable to the system of peer review of studies and investigations used by the National Institutes of Health.

  - Ensures unbiased review of the highest scientific standards by qualified individuals who have no interest in the outcome of the review.
- The study or investigation is conducted under an investigational new drug application reviewed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration.
- The study or investigation is a drug trial that is exempt from having such an investigational new drug application.
- The Clinical Trial must have a written protocol that describes a scientifically sound study and have been approved by all relevant institutional review boards (IRBs) before participants are enrolled in the trial. UnitedHealthcare may, at any time, request documentation about the trial.
- The subject or purpose of the trial must be the evaluation of an item or service that meets the definition of a Covered Health Service and is not otherwise excluded under the Plan.

Prior Authorization Requirement
For Non-Network Benefits, you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as soon as the possibility of participation in a Clinical Trial arises. If you fail to obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.

Congenital Heart Disease (CHD) Surgery Services

The Plan pays Benefits for Congenital Heart Disease (CHD) surgeries which are ordered by a Physician. CHD surgical procedures include surgeries to treat conditions such as coarctation of the aorta, aortic stenosis, tetralogy of fallot, transposition of the great vessels and hypoplastic left or right heart syndrome.

UnitedHealthcare has specific guidelines regarding Benefits for CHD surgery services. Contact UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card for information about these guidelines.

The Plan pays Benefits for Congenital Heart Disease (CHD) surgery services ordered by a Physician and received at a facility participating in the CHD Resource Services Program. Benefits include the facility charge and the charge for supplies and equipment. Benefits for Physician services are described under Physician Fees for Surgical and Medical Services. Surgery may be performed as open or closed surgical procedures or may be performed through interventional cardiac catheterization.

Benefits are available for the following CHD surgery services:

- Outpatient diagnostic testing.
- Evaluation.
- Surgical interventions.
- Interventional cardiac catheterizations (insertion of a tubular device in the heart).
- Fetal echocardiograms (examination, measurement and diagnosis of the heart using ultrasound technology).

- Approved fetal interventions.

CHD services other than those listed above are excluded from coverage, unless determined by UnitedHealthcare to be proven procedures for the involved diagnoses. Contact CHD Resource Services at 1-888-936-7246 before receiving care for information about CHD services. More information is also available at www.myoptumhealthcomplexmedical.com.

If you receive Congenital Heart Disease services from a facility that is not a Designated Provider, the Plan pays Benefits as described under:

- Physician's Office Services - Sickness and Injury.
- Physician Fees for Surgical and Medical Services.
- Scopic Procedures - Outpatient Diagnostic and Therapeutic.
- Therapeutic Treatments - Outpatient.
- Hospital - Inpatient Stay.
- Surgery - Outpatient.

To receive Benefits under the CHD Program, you should contact CHD Resource Services at 1-888-936-7246 prior to obtaining Covered Health Services. The Plan will only pay Benefits under the CHD Program if CHD provides the proper notification to the Designated Provider performing the services (even if you self-refer to a provider in that Network).

Note: The services described under the Complex Medical Conditions Travel and Lodging Assistance Program in Section 6, Clinical Programs and Resources are Covered Health Services only in connection with CHD surgery services received at a Congenital Heart Disease Resource Services Program.

Prior Authorization Requirement
For Non-Network Benefits, you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as soon as the possibility of a CHD surgery arises.
If you fail to obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.

It is important that you notify the Claims Administrator regarding your intention to have surgery. Your notification will open the opportunity to become enrolled in programs that are designed to achieve the best outcomes for you.

Dental Services - Accident Only

Accident only dental services are covered by the Plan when all of the following are true:

- Treatment is necessary because of accidental damage.
- Dental services are received from a Doctor of Dental Surgery or a Doctor of Medical Dentistry.

Benefits under this section include allergy injections and hearing exams in case of Injury or Sickness.

Covered Health Services include medical education services that are provided in a Physician's office by appropriately licensed or registered healthcare professionals when both of the following are true:

- Education is required for a disease in which patient self-management is an important component of treatment.
- There exists a knowledge deficit regarding the disease which requires the intervention of a trained health professional.

Covered Health Services include genetic counseling. Benefits are available for Genetic Testing which is determined to be Medically Necessary following genetic counseling when ordered by the Physician and authorized in advance by UnitedHealthcare.

Benefits for preventive services are described under Preventive Care Services in this section.

When a test is performed or a sample is drawn in the Physician's office and then sent outside the Physician's office for analysis or testing, Benefits for lab, radiology/X-rays and other diagnostic services that are performed outside the Physician's office are described in Lab, X-Ray and Diagnostics - Outpatient.

Please Note
Your Physician does not have a copy of your Benefit Booklet and is not responsible for knowing or communicating your Benefits.

Preimplantation Genetic Testing (PGT-M and PGT-SR) and Related Services

Preimplantation Genetic Testing (PGT) performed to identify and to prevent genetic medical conditions from being passed onto offspring. To be eligible for Benefits the following must be met:

- PGT must be ordered by a Physician after Genetic Counseling.
- The genetic medical condition, if passed onto offspring, would result in significant health problems or severe disability and be caused by a single gene (detectable by PGT-M) or structural changes of a parents' chromosome (detectable by PGT-SR).

- Benefits are limited to PGT for the specific genetic disorder and the following related services when provided by or under the supervision of a Physician:
  - Ovulation induction (or controlled ovarian stimulation).
  - Egg retrieval, fertilization and embryo culture.
  - Embryo biopsy.
  - Embryo transfer.
  - Cryo-preservation and short-term embryo storage (less than one year).

Benefits are not available for long-term storage costs (greater than one year).

Benefit limits will be the same as, and combined with, those stated under Fertility Services. This limit does not include Preimplantation Genetic Testing (PGT) for the specific genetic disorder. This Benefit limit also includes services as described under Fertility Preservation for Iatrogenic Infertility.

Benefits for Assisted Reproductive Technology (ART) for related services as described under Fertility Services do not include the Preimplantation genetic testing for the specific genetic disorder.

Pregnancy - Maternity Services

Benefits for Pregnancy will be paid at the same level as Benefits for any other condition, Sickness or Injury. This includes all maternity-related medical services for prenatal care, postnatal care, delivery, and any related complications.

The Plan will pay Benefits for an Inpatient Stay of at least:

- 48 hours for the mother and newborn child following a vaginal delivery.
- 96 hours for the mother and newborn child following a cesarean section delivery.

These are federally mandated requirements under the Newborns' and Mothers' Health Protection Act of 1996 which apply to this Plan. The Hospital or other provider is not required to get authorization for the time periods stated above. Authorizations are required for longer lengths of stay. If the mother agrees, the attending Physician may discharge the mother and/or the newborn child earlier than these minimum timeframes.

Also, under federal law, group health plans and health insurance issuers may not set the level of benefits or out-of-pocket costs so that any later portion of the 48-hour (or 96-hour) stay is treated in a manner less favorable to the mother or newborn than any earlier portion of the stay.

In addition, a plan or issuer may not, under federal law, require that a doctor or other health care provider obtain certification for prescribing a length of stay of up to 48 hours (or 96 hours). However, to use certain providers or facilities, or to reduce your out-of-pocket costs, you may be required to obtain certification.

Both before and during a Pregnancy, Benefits include the services of a genetic counselor when provided or referred by a Physician. These Benefits are available to all Covered Persons in the immediate family. Covered Health Services include related tests and treatment.

The Plan does not provide coverage for:

- Doula (labor aide);
- Parenting, pre-natal or birthing classes;
- Post-delivery – services/treatment for the newborn of a dependent daughter.

Prior Authorization Requirement
For Non-Network Benefits, you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as soon as reasonably possible if the Inpatient Stay for the mother and/or the newborn will be more than 48 hours for the mother and newborn child following a normal vaginal delivery, or more than 96 hours for the mother and newborn child following a cesarean section delivery.

If you fail to obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits for the extended stay will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.

Healthy moms and babies
The Plan provides a special prenatal program to help during Pregnancy. Participation is voluntary and free of charge. See Section 6, Clinical Programs and Resources, for details.

Preventive Care Services

The Plan pays Benefits for preventive care services provided on an outpatient basis at a Physician's office, an Alternate Facility or a Hospital. Preventive care services encompass medical services that have been demonstrated by clinical evidence to be safe and effective in either the early detection of disease or in the prevention of disease, have been proven to have a beneficial effect on health outcomes and include the following as required under applicable law:

- Evidence-based items or services that have in effect a rating of "A" or "B" in the current recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force.
- Immunizations that have in effect a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention;
- With respect to infants, children and adolescents, evidence-informed preventive care and screenings provided for in the comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration.
- With respect to women, such additional preventive care and screenings as provided for in comprehensive guidelines supported by the Health Resources and Services Administration.

Examples of preventive care services include routine physical examinations, well-baby and well-child care, immunizations, screening mammograms and prostate screenings. Preventive care Benefits for women defined under the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) requirement include the cost of renting or purchasing one breast pump per Pregnancy in conjunction with childbirth.

If more than one breast pump can meet your needs, Benefits are available only for the most cost-effective pump. UnitedHealthcare will determine the following:

- Which pump is the most cost-effective.
- Whether the pump should be purchased or rented.
- Duration of a rental.
- Timing of an acquisition.

Benefits are only available if breast pumps are obtained from a DME provider or Physician.

Preventive care Benefits for women defined under the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) requirement also include the following:

- Screening for gestational diabetes in pregnant women between 24 and 28 weeks of gestation and at the first prenatal visit for pregnant women identified to be at high risk for diabetes;
- Human papillomavirus testing in women with normal cytology results beginning at age 30 and no more frequently than once every three years;
- Annual counseling for sexually transmitted infections;
- Annual counseling and screening for human immune-deficiency virus;
- Comprehensive lactation support and counseling in conjunction with each birth, by a trained provider during pregnancy and/or in the postpartum period;
- All Food and Drug Administration approved contraceptive methods, sterilization procedures and patient education and counseling for all women with reproductive capacity, as prescribed by a doctor; and
- Annual screening and counseling for interpersonal and domestic violence.

These additional services are paid under the preventive care benefit when billed by your provider with a wellness diagnosis. Call the number on your ID card for additional information regarding coverage available for specific services.

For questions about your preventive care Benefits under this Plan call the number on your ID card.

Private Duty Nursing - Outpatient

The Plan covers Private Duty Nursing care given on an outpatient basis by a licensed nurse such as a Registered Nurse (R.N.), Licensed Practical Nurse (L.P.N.), or Licensed Vocational Nurse (L.V.N.), as defined in Section 12, Glossary.

Prosthetic Devices

Benefits are paid by the Plan for prosthetic devices and appliances that replace a limb or body part or help an impaired limb or body part work. Examples include, but are not limited to:

- artificial arms, legs, feet and hands;
- artificial face, eyes, ears and nose; and
- breast prosthesis following mastectomy as required by the Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998, including mastectomy bras and lymphedema stockings for the arm.

Benefits under this section are provided only for external prosthetic devices and do not include any device that is fully implanted into the body other than breast prostheses.

If more than one prosthetic device can meet your functional needs, Benefits are available only for the most Cost-Effective prosthetic device. The device must be ordered or provided either by a Physician, or under a Physician's direction. If you purchase a prosthetic device that exceeds these minimum specifications, the Plan may pay only the amount that it would have paid for the prosthetic that meets the minimum specifications, and you may be responsible for paying any difference in cost.

Benefits are available for repairs and replacement, except that:

- There are no Benefits for repairs due to misuse, malicious damage or gross neglect.
- There are no Benefits for replacement due to misuse, malicious damage, gross neglect or for lost or stolen prosthetic devices.

Benefits are provided for the replacement of a type of prosthetic device once every three calendar years.

Note: Prosthetic devices are different from DME - see Durable Medical Equipment (DME) in this section.

Prior Authorization Requirement
For Non-Network Benefits, you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator before obtaining prosthetic devices that exceed $1,000 in cost per device. If you do not obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.

Reconstructive Procedures

Reconstructive Procedures are services performed when the primary purpose of the procedure is either to treat a medical condition or to improve or restore physiologic function for an organ or body part. Reconstructive Procedures include surgery or other procedures which are associated with an Injury, Sickness or Congenital Anomaly. The primary result of the procedure is not a changed or improved physical appearance.

Improving or restoring physiologic function means that the organ or body part is made to work better. An example of a Reconstructive Procedure is surgery on the inside of the nose so that a person's breathing can be improved or restored.

Benefits for Reconstructive Procedures include breast reconstruction following a mastectomy and reconstruction of the non-affected breast to achieve symmetry without regard to the lapse of time between the mastectomy and the reconstructive surgery.

Replacement of an existing breast implant is covered by the Plan if the initial breast implant followed mastectomy. Other services required by the Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998, including breast prostheses and treatment of complications, are provided in the same manner and at the same level as those for any other Covered Health Service. You can contact UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card for more information about Benefits for mastectomy-related services.

There may be times when the primary purpose of a procedure is to make a body part work better. However, in other situations, the purpose of the same procedure is to improve the appearance of a body part. Cosmetic procedures are excluded from coverage. Procedures that correct an anatomical Congenital Anomaly without improving or restoring physiologic function are considered Cosmetic Procedures. A good example is upper eyelid surgery. At times, this procedure will be done to improve vision, which is considered a Reconstructive Procedure. In other cases, improvement in appearance is the primary intended purpose, which is considered a Cosmetic Procedure. This Plan does not provide Benefits for Cosmetic Procedures, as defined in Section 12, Glossary.

The fact that a Covered Person may suffer psychological consequences or socially avoidant behavior as a result of an Injury, Sickness or Congenital Anomaly does not classify surgery (or other procedures done to relieve such consequences or behavior) as a Reconstructive Procedure.

Prior Authorization Requirement
For Non-Network Benefits for:

- A scheduled Reconstructive Procedure, you must obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator five business days before a scheduled Reconstructive Procedure is performed.
- A non-scheduled Reconstructive Procedure, you must provide notification within one business day or as soon as is reasonably possible.

If you do not obtain prior authorization from the Claims Administrator as required, Benefits will be reduced to 50% of Eligible Expenses.
In addition, for Non-Network Benefits, you must contact the Claims Administrator 24 hours before admission for scheduled admissions or as soon as is reasonably possible for non-scheduled admissions.

Rehabilitation Services - Outpatient Therapy and Manipulative/Chiropractic Treatment

The Plan provides short-term outpatient rehabilitation services (including habilitative services) limited to:

- Physical therapy;
- Occupational therapy;
- Manipulative/Chiropractic Treatment;
- Speech therapy;

- Post-cochlear implant aural therapy;
- Cognitive rehabilitation therapy following a post-traumatic brain Injury or stroke;
- Pulmonary rehabilitation; and
- Cardiac rehabilitation.

For all rehabilitation services, a licensed therapy provider, under the direction of a Physician (when required by state law), must perform the services. Benefits under this section include rehabilitation services provided in a Physician's office or on an outpatient basis at a Hospital or Alternate Facility. Rehabilitative services provided in a Covered Person's home by a Home Health Agency are provided as described under Home Health Care. Rehabilitative services provided in a Covered Person's home other than by a Home Health Agency are provided as described under this section.

Benefits can be denied or shortened for Covered Persons who are not progressing in goal-directed rehabilitation services or if rehabilitation goals have previously been met. Benefits can be denied or shortened for Covered Persons who are not progressing in goal-directed Manipulative Treatment or if treatment goals have previously been met. Benefits under this section are not available for maintenance/preventive Manipulative Treatment.

Habilitative Services

For the purpose of this Benefit, "habilitative services" means Medically Necessary skilled health care services that help a person keep, learn or improve skills and functioning for daily living. Habilitative services are skilled when all of the following are true:

- The services are part of a prescribed plan of treatment or maintenance program that is Medically Necessary to maintain a Covered Person's current condition or to prevent or slow further decline.
- The services are ordered by a Physician and provided and administered by a licensed provider.
- The services are not delivered for the purpose of assisting with activities of daily living, including dressing, feeding, bathing or transferring from a bed to a chair.
- The services require clinical training in order to be delivered safely and effectively.
- The services are not Custodial Care.

The Claims Administrator will determine if Benefits are available by reviewing both the skilled nature of the service and the need for Physician-directed medical management. Therapies provided for the purpose of general well-being or conditioning in the absence of a disabling condition are not considered habilitative services. A service will not be determined to be "skilled" simply because there is not an available caregiver.

Benefits are provided for habilitative services provided for Covered Persons with a disabling condition when both of the following conditions are met:

- The treatment is administered by a licensed speech-language pathologist, licensed audiologist, licensed occupational therapist, licensed physical therapist or Physician.

- The initial or continued treatment must be proven and not Experimental or Investigational.

Benefits for habilitative services do not apply to those services that are solely educational in nature or otherwise paid under state or federal law for purely educational services. Custodial Care, respite care, day care, therapeutic recreation, educational/vocational training and Residential Treatment are not habilitative services. A service or treatment plan that does not help the Covered Person to meet functional goals is not a habilitative service. When the Covered Person reaches his/her maximum level of improvement or does not demonstrate continued progress under a treatment plan, a service that was previously habilitative is no longer habilitative.

The Plan may require the following be provided:

- medical records
- other necessary data to allow the Plan to prove medical treatment is needed.

When the treating provider expects that continued treatment is or will be required to allow the Covered Person to achieve progress, the Claims Administrator may request additional medical records.

Benefits for Durable Medical Equipment and prosthetic devices, when used as a component of habilitative services, are described under Durable Medical Equipment and Prosthetic Devices in this section.

Other than as described under Habilitative Services above, please note that the Plan will pay Benefits for speech therapy for the treatment of disorders of speech, language, voice, communication and auditory processing only when the disorder results from Injury, stroke, cancer, or Congenital Anomaly. Rehabilitation services will be reviewed after 40 visits for medical necessity.

Also, other than as described under Habilitative Services above, Physical therapy, Occupational therapy and Post-cochlear implant aural therapy will be reviewed after 40 visits for medical necessity.

Manipulative/Chiropractic Treatment will be reviewed after 20 visits for medical necessity.

Scopic Procedures - Outpatient Diagnostic and Therapeutic

The Plan pays for diagnostic and therapeutic scopic procedures and related services received on an outpatient basis at a Hospital or Alternate Facility or in a Physician's office.

Benefits under this section include:

- The facility charge and the charge for supplies and equipment.

- Physician services for radiologists, anesthesiologists and pathologists.

Benefits for other Physician services are described in this section under Physician Fees for Surgical and Medical Services.

Please note that Benefits under this section do not include surgical scopic procedures, which are for the purpose of performing surgery. Benefits for surgical scopic procedures are described under Surgery - Outpatient. Examples of surgical scopic procedures include arthroscopy, laparoscopy, bronchoscopy, hysteroscopy.

When these services are performed for preventive screening purposes, Benefits are described in this section under Preventive Care Services.

Facility services for an Inpatient Stay in a Skilled Nursing Facility or Inpatient Rehabilitation Facility are covered by the Plan. Benefits include:

- Supplies and non-Physician services received during the Inpatient Stay.
- Room and board in a Semi-private Room (a room with two or more beds).
- Physician services for radiologists, anesthesiologists and pathologists.

Benefits are available when skilled nursing and/or Inpatient Rehabilitation Facility services are needed on a daily basis. Benefits are also available in a Skilled Nursing Facility or Inpatient Rehabilitation Facility for treatment of a Sickness or Injury that would have otherwise required an Inpatient Stay in a Hospital.

Benefits for other Physician services are described in this section under Physician Fees for Surgical and Medical Services.

UnitedHealthcare will determine if Benefits are available by reviewing both the skilled nature of the service and the need for Physician-directed medical management. A service will not be determined to be "skilled" simply because there is not an available caregiver.

Benefits are available only if both of the following are true:

- The initial confinement in a Skilled Nursing Facility or Inpatient Rehabilitation Facility was or will be a Cost-Effective alternative to an Inpatient Stay in a Hospital.
- You will receive skilled care services that are not primarily Custodial Care.

Skilled care is skilled nursing, skilled teaching, and skilled rehabilitation services when all of the following are true:

- It must be delivered or supervised by licensed technical or professional medical personnel in order to obtain the specified medical outcome and provide for the safety of the patient.
- It is ordered by a Physician.
- It is not delivered for the purpose of assisting with activities of daily living, including dressing, feeding, bathing or transferring from a bed to a chair.

- It requires clinical training in order to be delivered safely and effectively.

You are expected to improve to a predictable level of recovery. Benefits can be denied or shortened for Covered Persons who are not progressing in goal-directed rehabilitation services or if discharge rehabilitation goals have previously been met.

Note: The Plan does not pay Benefits for Custodial Care or Domiciliary Care, even if ordered by a Physician, as defined in Section 12, Glossary.

SECTION 8 - CLAIMS PROCEDURES

What this section includes:

- How Network and non-Network claims work.
- What to do if your claim is denied, in whole or in part.

Network Benefits

In general, if you receive Covered Health Services from a Network provider, UnitedHealthcare will pay the Physician or facility directly. If a Network provider bills you for any Covered Health Service other than your Deductible or Coinsurance, please contact the provider or call UnitedHealthcare at the phone number on your ID card for assistance.

Keep in mind, you are responsible for meeting the Annual Deductible and paying any Coinsurance owed to a Network provider at the time of service, or when you receive a bill from the provider.

Non-Network Benefits

If you receive a bill for Covered Health Services from a non-Network provider, you (or the provider if they prefer) must send the bill to UnitedHealthcare for processing. To make sure the claim is processed promptly and accurately, a completed claim form must be attached and mailed to UnitedHealthcare at the address on your ID card.

If Your Provider Does Not File Your Claim

You can obtain a claim form by visiting www.myuhc.com, calling the number on your ID card or by visiting the Duke Energy Portal. If you do not have a claim form, simply attach a brief letter of explanation to the bill and verify that the bill contains the information listed below. If any of these items are missing from the bill, you can include them in your letter:

- Your name and address.
- The patient's name, age and relationship to the Employee.
- The number as shown on your ID card.
- The name, address and tax identification number of the provider of the service(s).
- A diagnosis from the Physician.
- The date of service.
- An itemized bill from the provider that includes:
  - The Current Procedural Terminology (CPT) codes.
  - A description of, and the charge for, each service.
  - The date the Sickness or Injury began.
  - A statement indicating either that you are, or you are not, enrolled for coverage under any other health insurance plan or program. If you are enrolled for other coverage you must include the name and address of the other carrier(s).

Failure to provide all the information listed above may delay any reimbursement that may be due you.

For medical claims, the above information should be filed with UnitedHealthcare at the address on your ID card.

After UnitedHealthcare has processed your claim, you will receive payment for Benefits that the Plan allows. It is your responsibility to pay the non-Network provider the charges you incurred, including any difference between what you were billed and what the Plan paid.

Payment of Benefits

You may not assign, transfer, or in any way convey your Benefits under the Plan or any cause of action related to your Benefits under the Plan to a provider or to any other third party. Nothing in this Plan shall be construed to make the Plan, Plan Sponsor, or Claims Administrator or its affiliates liable for payments to a provider or to a third party to whom you may be liable for payments for Benefits.

The Plan will not recognize claims for Benefits brought by a third party. Also, any such third party shall not have standing to bring any such claim independently, as a Covered Person or beneficiary, or derivatively, as an assignee of a Covered Person or beneficiary.

References herein to "third parties" include references to providers as well as any collection agencies or third parties that have purchased accounts receivable from providers or to whom accounts receivables have been assigned.

As a matter of convenience to a Covered Person, and where practicable for the Claims Administrator (as determined in its sole discretion), the Claims Administrator may make payment of Benefits directly to a provider.

Any such payment to a provider:

- is NOT an assignment of your Benefits under the Plan or of any legal or equitable right to institute any proceeding relating to your Benefits; and
- is NOT a waiver of the prohibition on assignment of Benefits under the Plan; and
- shall NOT estop the Plan, Plan Sponsor, or Claims Administrator from asserting that any purported assignment of Benefits under the Plan is invalid and prohibited.

If this direct payment for your convenience is made, the Plan's obligation to you with respect to such Benefits is extinguished by such payment. If any payment of your Benefits is made to a provider as a convenience to you, the Claims Administrator will treat you, rather than the provider, as the beneficiary of your claim for Benefits, and the Plan reserves the right to offset any Benefits to be paid to a provider by any amounts that the provider owes the Plan (including amounts owed as a result of the assignment of other plans' overpayment recovery rights to the Plan), pursuant to Refund of Overpayments in Section 9: Coordination of Benefit.

Eligible Expenses due to a non-Network provider for Covered Health Services that are subject to the No Surprises Act of the Consolidated Appropriations Act (P.L. 116-260) are paid directly to the provider.

Form of Payment of Benefits

Payment of Benefits under the Plan shall be in cash or cash equivalents, or in the form of other consideration that UnitedHealthcare in its discretion determines to be adequate. Where Benefits are payable directly to a provider, such adequate consideration includes the forgiveness in whole or in part of amounts the provider owes to other plans for which UnitedHealthcare makes payments, where the Plan has taken an assignment of the other plans' recovery rights for value.

Health Statements

Each month in which UnitedHealthcare processes at least one claim for you or a covered Dependent, you will receive a Health Statement in the mail. Health Statements make it easy for you to manage your family's medical costs by providing claims information in easy-to-understand terms.

If you would rather track claims for yourself and your covered Dependents online, you may do so at www.myuhc.com. You may also elect to discontinue receipt of paper Health Statements by making the appropriate selection on this site.

Explanation of Benefits (EOB)

You may request that UnitedHealthcare send you a paper copy of an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) after processing the claim. The EOB will let you know if there is any portion of the claim you need to pay. If any claims are denied in whole or in part, the EOB will include the following:

- information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
- the specific reason or reasons for the denial;
- notification of the opportunity to request diagnosis codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
- reference to the specific Plan provisions on which the denial is based;
- a description of any additional material or information necessary for you to perfect your claim and an explanation of why such material or information is necessary;
- a description of the Plan's internal review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an appeal, including a statement of your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following any final internal adverse benefit determination and any time limits for filing such a civil action;
- a description of the Plan's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an external appeal;

- if an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied on in making the denial, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that such a rule, guideline, protocol or similar criterion was relied upon in making the denial and that a copy of such rule, guideline, protocol or criterion will be provided free of charge upon request;
- if the denial is based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the denial, applying the terms of the Plan to your medical circumstances, or a statement that such explanation will be provided free of charge upon request;
- in the case of a denial concerning an Urgent Care claim, a description of the expedited review process applicable to such claims; and
- contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals process.

If you would like paper copies of the EOBs, you may call the number on your ID card to request them. You can also view and print all of your EOBs online at www.myuhc.com. See Section 12, Glossary for the definition of Explanation of Benefits.

Important - Timely Filing of Non-Network Claims
All claim forms for non-Network services must be submitted within 18 months after the date of service. Otherwise, the Plan will not pay any Benefits for that Eligible Expense, or Benefits will be reduced, as determined by UnitedHealthcare. This 18 month requirement does not apply if you are legally incapacitated. If your claim relates to an Inpatient Stay, the date of service is the date your Inpatient Stay ends.

Claim Denials and Appeals

This section describes what happens if a claim for Benefits is denied, how you can appeal a denied claim and the first and second level internal appeals processes. At the end of this section is a table which describes the time frames that you and UnitedHealthcare are required to follow in connection with the internal claims and appeals processes.

If Your Claim is Denied

If a claim for Benefits is denied in part or in whole, you may call UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card before requesting a formal appeal. If UnitedHealthcare cannot resolve the issue to your satisfaction over the phone, you have the right to file a formal appeal as described below.

How to Appeal a Denied Claim

If you wish to appeal a denied pre-service request for Benefits, post-service claim or a concurrent claim determination, including a rescission of coverage, as described below, you or your authorized representative must submit your appeal in writing within 180 days of receiving the denial. This written communication should include:

- The patient's name and ID number as shown on the ID card.
- The provider's name.

- The date of medical service.
- The reason you disagree with the denial.
- Any documentation or other written information to support your request.

You or your authorized representative may send a written request for an appeal to:

UnitedHealthcare - Appeals
P.O. Box 740809
Atlanta, Georgia 30374

For Urgent Care requests for Benefits that have been denied, you or your provider can call UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card to request an appeal.

Types of claims
The timing of the claims appeal process is based on the type of claim you are appealing. If you wish to appeal a claim, it helps to understand whether it is an:

- Urgent Care request for Benefits.
- Pre-service request for Benefits.
- Post-service claim.
- Concurrent claim.

Urgent Appeals that Require Immediate Action

Your appeal may require immediate action if a delay in treatment could significantly increase the risk to your health, or the ability to regain maximum function, or cause severe pain. If your situation is urgent, your review will be conducted as quickly as possible. If you believe your situation is urgent, you may request an expedited review, and, if applicable, file an external review at the same time. For help call the Claims Administrator at the number listed on your ID card. Generally, an urgent situation is when your life or health may be in serious jeopardy, or when, in the opinion of your doctor, you may be experiencing severe pain that cannot be adequately controlled while you wait for a decision on your claim or appeal.

Review of an Appeal

UnitedHealthcare will conduct a full and fair review of your appeal, and will take into account all comments, documents, records and other information you submit relating to your claim for Benefits, without regard to whether such information was submitted or considered in the initial denial. The appeal may be reviewed by:

- An appropriate individual(s) who did not make the initial benefit determination.
- A health care professional with appropriate expertise who was not consulted during the initial benefit determination process.

To the extent required by applicable law, UnitedHealthcare will provide you, free of charge, with any new or additional evidence considered, relied upon or generated by the Plan (or at the direction of the Plan) in connection with your appeal as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date. In addition, to the extent required by applicable law, if the denial of your appeal is based on a new or additional rationale, UnitedHealthcare will provide you, free of charge, with the new or additional rationale as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date.

Once the review is complete, if UnitedHealthcare upholds the denial, you will receive a written explanation of the reasons and facts relating to the denial. The written explanation will include the following:

- information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
- the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination of your appeal;
- notification of the opportunity to request diagnosis codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
- reference to the specific Plan provisions on which the determination of your appeal is based;
- a statement regarding your right, upon request and free of charge, to access and receive copies of documents, records and other information relevant to the claim;
- a description of the Plan's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate the external appeal process;
- a statement regarding your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following any final internal adverse benefit determination and any time limits for filing such a civil action, and about any available voluntary alternative dispute resolution options;
- if an internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion was relied on in making the adverse determination, either the specific rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion or a statement that such a rule, guideline, protocol or similar criterion was relied upon in making the determination and that a copy of such rule, guideline, protocol, or criterion will be provided free of charge upon request;
- if the adverse determination is based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the determination, applying the terms of the Plan to your medical circumstances, or a statement that such explanation will be provided free of charge upon request; and
- contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Filing a Second Appeal

Your Plan offers two levels of appeal. If you are not satisfied with the first level appeal decision, you have the right to request a second level appeal from UnitedHealthcare within 60 days from receipt of the first level appeal determination.

Note: Upon written request and free of charge, any Covered Persons may examine their claim and/or appeals file(s). Covered Persons may also submit evidence, opinions and comments as part of the internal claims review process. UnitedHealthcare will review all claims in accordance with the rules established by the U.S. Department of Labor. Any Covered Person will be automatically provided, free of charge, and sufficiently in advance of the date on which the notice of final internal adverse benefit determination is required, with: (i) any new or additional evidence considered, relied upon or generated by the Plan in connection with the claim; and, (ii) a reasonable opportunity for any Covered Person to respond to such new evidence or rationale.

Timing of Appeals Determinations

Separate schedules apply to the timing of claims and appeals, depending on the type of claim or appeal. There are three types of claims and appeals:

- Urgent Care request for Benefits - a request for Benefits provided in connection with Urgent Care services;
- Pre-Service request for Benefits - a request for Benefits which the Plan must approve or in which you must notify UnitedHealthcare before non-Urgent Care is provided; and
- Post-Service claim- a claim for reimbursement of the cost of non-Urgent Care that has already been provided.

Please note that the Claims Administrator's decision is based only on whether or not Benefits are available under the Plan for the proposed treatment or procedure. The determination as to whether the pending health service is necessary or appropriate is between you and your Physician.

You may have the right to external review through an Independent Review Organization (IRO) upon the completion of the internal appeal process. Instructions regarding any such rights, and how to access those rights, will be provided in the Claims Administrator's decision letter to you.

Concurrent Care Claims

UnitedHealthcare will make a determination on your request for the extended treatment within 24 hours from receipt of your request.

If your request for extended treatment is not made at least 24 hours prior to the end of the approved treatment, the request will be treated as an Urgent Care request for Benefits and decided according to the timeframes described above. If an on-going course of treatment was previously approved for a specific period of time or number of treatments, and you request to extend treatment in a non-urgent circumstance, your request will be considered a new request and decided according to post-service or pre-service timeframes, whichever applies.

External Review Program

If, after exhausting your internal appeals, you are not satisfied with the determination made by UnitedHealthcare, or if UnitedHealthcare fails to respond to your appeal in accordance with applicable regulations regarding timing, you may be entitled to request an external review of UnitedHealthcare's determination. The process is available at no charge to you.

If one of the above conditions is met, you may request an external review of adverse benefit determinations based upon any of the following:

- Clinical reasons.
- The exclusions for Experimental or Investigational Service(s) or Unproven Service(s).
- Rescission of coverage (coverage that was cancelled or discontinued retroactively).
- As otherwise required by applicable law.

You or your representative may request a standard external review by sending a written request to the address set out in the determination letter. You or your representative may request an expedited external review, in urgent situations as detailed below, by calling the number on your ID card or by sending a written request to the address set out in the determination letter. A request must be made within four months after the date you received UnitedHealthcare's decision. If you do not submit a request for standard external review within four months after the date you received UnitedHealthcare's decision, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it under these procedures.

An external review request should include all of the following:

- A specific request for an external review.
- The Covered Person's name, address, and insurance ID number.
- Your designated representative's name and address, when applicable.
- The service that was denied.
- Any new, relevant information that was not provided during the internal appeal.

An external review will be performed by an Independent Review Organization (IRO). UnitedHealthcare has entered into agreements with three or more IROs that have agreed to perform such reviews. There are two types of external reviews available:

- A standard external review.
- An expedited external review.

Standard External Review

A standard external review is comprised of all of the following:

- A preliminary review by UnitedHealthcare of the request.
- A referral of the request by UnitedHealthcare to the IRO.
- A decision by the IRO.

Within the applicable timeframe after receipt of the request, UnitedHealthcare will complete a preliminary review to determine whether the individual for whom the request was submitted meets all of the following:

- Is or was covered under the Plan at the time the health care service or procedure that is at issue in the request was requested or provided.
- Did not have the claim denied due to a failure to meet the Plan's eligibility requirements.
- Has exhausted the applicable internal appeals process.
- Has provided all the information and forms required so that UnitedHealthcare may process the request.

After UnitedHealthcare completes the preliminary review, UnitedHealthcare will issue a notification in writing to you. If the request is complete but is not eligible for external review, the notice will include the reason or reasons for the denial and contact information for the Department of Labor's Employee Benefits Security Administration. If the request is not complete, the notice will describe the information or materials necessary to make the request complete. You must provide the required information to UnitedHealthcare within the original four-month filing period or within the 48-hour period following receipt of the notification, whichever is later.

If you do not provide the required information by the applicable deadline, the claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned and you will be precluded from reasserting it under these procedures.

If the request is eligible for external review, UnitedHealthcare will assign an IRO to conduct such review. UnitedHealthcare will assign requests by either rotating claims assignments among the IROs or by using a random selection process.

The IRO will notify you in writing of the request's eligibility and acceptance for external review and if necessary, for any additional information needed to conduct the external review. You will generally have to submit the additional information in writing to the IRO within ten business days following the date you receive the IRO's request for the additional information. The IRO is not required to, but may, accept and consider additional information submitted by you after ten business days.

UnitedHealthcare will provide to the assigned IRO the documents and information considered in making UnitedHealthcare's determination. The documents include:

- All relevant medical records.
- All other documents relied upon by UnitedHealthcare.
- All other information or evidence that you or your Physician submitted. If there is any information or evidence you or your Physician wish to submit that was not previously provided, you may include this information with your external review request and UnitedHealthcare will include it with the documents forwarded to the IRO.

In reaching a decision, the IRO will review the claim anew and not be bound by any decisions or conclusions reached by UnitedHealthcare. The IRO will provide written notice of its determination (the "Final External Review Decision") within 45 days after it receives the request for the external review (unless they request additional time and you agree). The

IRO will deliver the notice of Final External Review Decision to you and UnitedHealthcare, and it will include the following:

- a general description of the reason for the request for external review, including information sufficient to identify the claim;
- the date the IRO received the assignment to conduct the external review and the date of the IRO decision;
- references to the evidence or documentation, including the specific coverage provisions and evidence-based standards, the IRO considered in reaching its decision;
- a discussion of the principal reason or reasons for the IRO's decision, including the rationale for its decision and any evidence-based standards that were relied on in making the decision;
- a statement that the determination is binding except to the extent that other remedies may be available under State or Federal law to you or the Plan;
- a statement that judicial review may be available to you; and
- current contact information, including phone number, for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman.

Upon receipt of a Final External Review Decision reversing UnitedHealthcare's determination, the Plan will immediately provide coverage or payment for the benefit claim at issue in accordance with the terms and conditions of the Plan, and any applicable law regarding plan remedies. If the Final External Review Decision agrees with UnitedHealthcare's determination, the Plan will not be obligated to provide Benefits for the health care service or procedure.

Expedited External Review

An expedited external review is similar to a standard external review. The most significant difference between the two is that the time periods for completing certain portions of the review process are much shorter, and in some instances, you may file an expedited external review before completing the internal appeals process.

You may make a written or verbal request for an expedited external review if you receive either of the following:

- An adverse benefit determination of a claim or appeal if the adverse benefit determination involves a medical condition for which the time frame for completion of an expedited internal appeal would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the individual or would jeopardize the individual's ability to regain maximum function and you have filed a request for an expedited internal appeal.
- A final appeal decision, if the determination involves a medical condition where the timeframe for completion of a standard external review would seriously jeopardize the life or health of the individual or would jeopardize the individual's ability to regain maximum function, or if the final appeal decision concerns an admission, availability of care, continued stay, or health care service, procedure or product for which the individual received emergency services, but has not been discharged from a facility.

Immediately upon receipt of the request, UnitedHealthcare will determine whether the individual meets both of the following:

- Is or was covered under the Plan at the time the health care service or procedure that is at issue in the request was provided.
- Has provided all the information and forms required so that UnitedHealthcare may process the request.

After UnitedHealthcare completes the review, UnitedHealthcare will immediately send a notice in writing to you as described above with respect to the Standard External Review Process. Upon a determination that a request is eligible for expedited external review, UnitedHealthcare will assign an IRO in the same manner UnitedHealthcare utilizes to assign standard external reviews to IROs. UnitedHealthcare will provide all necessary documents and information considered in making the adverse benefit determination or final adverse benefit determination to the assigned IRO electronically or by telephone or facsimile or any other available expeditious method. The IRO, to the extent the information or documents are available and the IRO considers them appropriate, must consider the same type of information and documents considered in a standard external review.

In reaching a decision, the IRO will review the claim anew and not be bound by any decisions or conclusions reached by UnitedHealthcare. The IRO will provide notice of the final external review decision for an expedited external review as expeditiously as the claimant's medical condition or circumstances require, but in no event more than 72 hours after the IRO receives the request. If the initial notice is not in writing, within 48 hours after the date of providing the initial notice, the assigned IRO will provide written confirmation of the decision to you and to UnitedHealthcare.

You may contact UnitedHealthcare at the number on your ID card for more information regarding external review rights, or if making a verbal request for an expedited external review.

Limitation of Action

You cannot bring any legal action against the Company, the Plan, the Plan Administrator or the Claims Administrator to recover reimbursement until 90 days after you have properly submitted a request for reimbursement as described in this section and all required reviews of your claim have been completed. You cannot bring any legal action against the Company, the Plan, the Plan Administrator or the Claims Administrator unless you first complete all the steps in the internal appeal processes described in this section. After completing this process, if you want to bring a legal action against the Company, the Plan, the Plan Administrator or the Claims Administrator, you must do so within one year following a final decision on the claim under the internal appeal processes or you lose any rights to bring such an action against the Company, the Plan, the Plan Administrator or the Claims Administrator.

SECTION 9 - COORDINATION OF BENEFITS (COB)

Benefits When You Have Coverage under More than One Plan

This section describes how Benefits under this Plan will be coordinated with those of any other plan that provides benefits to you.

When Does Coordination of Benefits Apply?

This Coordination of Benefits (COB) provision applies to you if you are covered by more than one health benefits plan, including any one of the following:

- Another employer sponsored health benefits plan.
- A medical component of a group long-term care plan, such as skilled nursing care.
- No-fault or traditional "fault" type medical payment benefits or personal injury protection benefits under an auto insurance policy.
- Medical payment benefits under any premises liability or other types of liability coverage.
- Medicare or other governmental health benefit.

If coverage is provided under two or more plans, COB determines which plan is primary and which plan is secondary. The plan considered primary pays its benefits first, without regard to the possibility that another plan may cover some expenses. Any remaining expenses may be paid under the other plan, which is considered secondary. The Secondary plan may determine its benefits based on the benefits paid by the Primary plan. How much this Plan will reimburse you, if anything, will also depend in part on the Allowable Expense. The term, "Allowable Expense," is further explained below.

What Are the Rules for Determining the Order of Benefit Payments?

Order of Benefit Determination Rules

The order of benefit determination rules determine whether this Plan is a Primary plan or Secondary plan when the person has health care coverage under more than one plan. When this Plan is primary, it determines payment for its benefits first before those of any other plan without considering any other plan's benefits. When this Plan is secondary, it determines its benefits after those of another plan and may reduce the benefits it pays so that all plan benefits do not exceed 100% of the total Allowable Expense.

The order of benefit determination rules below govern the order in which each plan will pay a claim for benefits.

- Primary Plan. The plan that pays first is called the Primary plan. The Primary plan must pay benefits in accordance with its policy terms without regard to the possibility that another Plan may cover some expenses.
- Secondary Plan. The plan that pays after the Primary plan is the Secondary plan. The Secondary plan may reduce the benefits it pays so that payments from all Plans do not exceed 100% of the total Allowable Expense. Allowable Expense is defined below.

When a person is covered by two or more plans, the rules for determining the order of benefit payments are as follows:

A. This Plan will always be secondary to medical payment coverage or personal injury protection coverage under any auto liability or no-fault insurance policy.

B. When you have coverage under two or more medical plans and only one has COB provisions, the plan without COB provisions will pay benefits first.

C. Each plan determines its order of benefits using the first of the following rules that apply:

1. Non-Dependent or Dependent. The plan that covers the person other than as a dependent, for example as an employee, former employee under COBRA, policyholder, subscriber or retiree is the Primary plan and the plan that covers the person as a dependent is the Secondary plan. However, if the person is a Medicare beneficiary and, as a result of federal law, Medicare is secondary to the Plan covering the person as a dependent; and primary to the plan covering the person as other than a dependent (e.g., a retired employee); then the order of benefits between the two plans is reversed so that the plan covering the person as an employee, policyholder, subscriber or retiree is the Secondary plan and the other plan is the Primary plan.

2. Dependent Child Covered Under More Than One Coverage Plan. Unless there is a court decree stating otherwise, plans covering a dependent child shall determine the order of benefits as follows:

a) For a dependent child whose parents are married or are living together, whether or not they have ever been married:

(1) The plan of the parent whose birthday falls earlier in the calendar year is the Primary plan; or

(2) If both parents have the same birthday, the plan that covered the parent longest is the Primary plan.

b) For a dependent child whose parents are divorced or separated or are not living together, whether or not they have ever been married:

(1) If a court decree states that one of the parents is responsible for the dependent child's health care expenses or health care coverage and the plan of that parent has actual knowledge of those terms, that plan is primary. If the parent with responsibility has no health care coverage for the dependent child's health care expenses, but that parent's spouse does, that parent's spouse's plan is the Primary plan. This shall not apply with respect to any plan year during which benefits are paid or provided before the entity has actual knowledge of the court decree provision.

(2) If a court decree states that both parents are responsible for the dependent child's health care expenses or health care coverage, the provisions of subparagraph a) above shall determine the order of benefits.

(3) If a court decree states that the parents have joint custody without specifying that one parent has responsibility for the health care expenses or health care coverage of the dependent child, the provisions of subparagraph a) above shall determine the order of benefits.

(4) If there is no court decree allocating responsibility for the child's health care expenses or health care coverage, the order of benefits for the child are as follows:

a) The plan covering the Custodial Parent.

b) The plan covering the Custodial Parent's spouse.

c) The plan covering the non-Custodial Parent.

d) The plan covering the non-Custodial Parent's spouse.

For purpose of this section, Custodial Parent is the parent awarded custody by a court decree or, in the absence of a court decree, is the parent with whom the child resides more than one half of the calendar year excluding any temporary visitation.

c) For a dependent child covered under more than one plan of individuals who are not the parents of the child, the order of benefits shall be determined, as applicable, under subparagraph a) or b) above as if those individuals were parents of the child.

d) (i) For a dependent child who has coverage under either or both parents' plans and also has his or her own coverage as a dependent under a spouse's plan, the rule in paragraph (5) applies.

(ii) In the event the dependent child's coverage under the spouse's plan began on the same date as the dependent child's coverage under either or both parents' plans, the order of benefits shall be determined by applying the birthday rule in subparagraph (a) to the dependent child's parent(s) and the dependent's spouse.

3. Active Employee or Retired or Laid-off Employee. The plan that covers a person as an active employee, that is, an employee who is neither laid off nor retired, is the Primary plan. The same would hold true if a person is a dependent of an active employee and that same person is a dependent of a retired or laid-off employee. If the other plan does not have this rule, and, as a result, the plans do not agree on the order of benefits, this rule is ignored. This rule does not apply if the rule labeled C.1. can determine the order of benefits.

4. COBRA or State Continuation Coverage. If a person whose coverage is provided pursuant to COBRA or under a right of continuation provided by state or other federal law is covered under another plan, the plan covering the person as an employee, member, subscriber or retiree or covering the person as a dependent of an employee, member, subscriber or retiree is the Primary plan, and the COBRA or state or other federal continuation coverage is the Secondary plan. If the other plan does not have this rule, and as a result, the plans do not agree on the order of benefits, this rule is ignored. This rule does not apply if the rule labeled C.1. can determine the order of benefits.

5. Longer or Shorter Length of Coverage. The plan that covered the person the longer period of time is the Primary plan and the Plan that covered the person the shorter period of time is the Secondary plan.
6. If the preceding rules do not determine the order of benefits, the Allowable Expenses shall be shared equally between the plans meeting the definition of Plan. In addition, this Plan will not pay more than it would have paid had it been the Primary plan.

How Are Benefits Paid When This Plan is Secondary?

If this Plan is secondary to any plan other than Medicare, it determines the amount it will pay for a Covered Health Services by following the steps below.

- The Plan determines the amount it would have paid based on the Allowable Expense.
- If this Plan would have paid the same amount or less than the Primary plan paid, this Plan pays no Benefits.
- If this Plan would have paid more than the Primary plan paid, the Plan will pay the difference.

You will be responsible for any applicable Coinsurance or Annual Deductible payments as part of the COB payment. The maximum combined payment you can receive from all plans may be less than 100% of the Allowable Expense.

How is the Allowable Expense Determined when this Plan is Secondary?

Determining the Allowable Expense If this Plan is Secondary

What is an Allowable Expense? For purposes of COB, an Allowable Expense is a health care expense that meets the definition of a Covered Health Services under this Plan.

When the provider is a Network provider for both the Primary plan and this Plan, the Allowable Expense is the Primary plan's network rate. When the provider is a network provider for the Primary plan and a non-Network provider for this Plan, the Allowable Expense is the Primary plan's network rate. When the provider is a non-Network provider for the Primary plan and a Network provider for this Plan, the Allowable Expense is the reasonable and customary charges allowed by the Primary plan. When the provider is a non-Network provider for both the Primary plan and this Plan, the Allowable Expense is the greater of the two plans' reasonable and customary charges. If this Plan is secondary to Medicare, please also refer to the discussion in the section below, titled "Determining the Allowable Expense When this Plan is Secondary to Medicare".

What is Different When You Qualify for Medicare?

Determining Which Plan is Primary When You Qualify for Medicare

As permitted by law, this Plan will pay Benefits second to Medicare when you become eligible for Medicare, even if you don't elect it. There are, however, Medicare-eligible individuals for whom the Plan pays Benefits first and Medicare pays benefits second:

- Employees with active current employment status age 65 or older and their Spouses or Domestic Partners age 65 or older.

- Individuals with end-stage renal disease, for a limited period of time.

After a Participant who is not actively working has received long-term disability benefits for six months, the Plan will pay Benefits second to Medicare.

Determining the Allowable Expense When this Plan is Secondary to Medicare

If this Plan is secondary to Medicare, the Medicare approved amount is the Allowable Expense, as long as the provider accepts reimbursement directly from Medicare. If the provider accepts reimbursement directly from Medicare, the Medicare approved amount is the charge that Medicare has determined that it will recognize and which it reports on an "explanation of Medicare benefits" issued by Medicare (the "EOMB") for a given service. Medicare typically reimburses such providers a percentage of its approved charge – often 80%.

If the provider does not accept assignment of your Medicare benefits, the Medicare limiting charge (the most a provider can charge you if they don't accept Medicare – typically 115% of the Medicare approved amount) will be the Allowable Expense. Medicare payments, combined with plan Benefits, will not exceed 100% of the Allowable Expense.

If you are eligible for, but not enrolled in, Medicare, and this Plan is secondary to Medicare, or if you have enrolled in Medicare but choose to obtain services from an opt-out provider or one that does not participate in the Medicare program or a provider who does not accept assignment of Medicare benefits, Benefits will be paid on a secondary basis under this Plan and will be determined as if you timely enrolled in Medicare and obtained services from a Medicare participating provider.

When calculating the Plan's Benefits in these situations, and when Medicare does not issue an EOMB, for administrative convenience the Claims Administrator will use Medicare's Allowable Expense or Medicare's limiting charge for covered services as the Allowable Expense for both the Plan and Medicare.

Medicare Crossover Program

The Plan offers a Medicare Crossover program for Medicare Part A and Part B and Durable Medical Equipment (DME) claims. Under this program, you no longer have to file a separate claim with the Plan to receive secondary benefits for these expenses. Your Dependent will also have this automated crossover, as long as he or she is eligible for Medicare and this Plan is your only secondary medical coverage.

Once the Medicare Part A and Part B and DME carriers have reimbursed your health care provider, the Medicare carrier will electronically submit the necessary information to the Claims Administrator to process the balance of your claim under the provisions of this Plan.

You can verify that the automated crossover took place when your copy of the explanation of Medicare benefits (EOMB) states your claim has been forwarded to your secondary carrier.

This crossover process does not apply to expenses that Medicare does not cover. You must continue to file claims for these expenses.

For information about enrollment or if you have questions about the program, call the telephone number listed on your ID card.

Right to Receive and Release Needed Information?

Certain facts about health care coverage and services are needed to apply these COB rules and to determine benefits payable under this Plan and other plans. The Claims Administrator may get the facts needed from, or give them to, other organizations or persons for the purpose of applying these rules and determining benefits payable under this Plan and other plans covering the person claiming benefits.

The Claims Administrator does not need to tell, or get the consent of, any person to do this. Each person claiming benefits under this Plan must give the Claims Administrator any facts needed to apply those rules and determine benefits payable. If you do not provide the Claims Administrator the information needed to apply these rules and determine the Benefits payable, your claim for Benefits will be denied.

Does This Plan Have the Right of Recovery?

Overpayment and Underpayment of Benefits

If you are covered under more than one medical plan, there is a possibility that the other plan will pay a benefit that the Plan should have paid. If this occurs, the Plan may pay the other plan the amount owed.

If the Plan pays you more than it owes under this COB provision, you should pay the excess back promptly. Otherwise, the Plan Sponsor may recover the amount in the form of salary, wages, or benefits payable under any Plan Sponsor-funded benefit plans, including this Plan. The Plan Sponsor also reserves the right to recover any overpayment by legal action or offset payments on future Eligible Expenses.

If the Plan overpays a health care provider, the Claims Administrator reserves the right to recover the excess amount from the provider pursuant to Refund of Overpayments, below.

Refund of Overpayments

If the Plan pays for Benefits for expenses incurred on account of a Covered Person, that Covered Person or any other person or organization that was paid, must make a refund to the Plan if:

- The Plan's obligation to pay Benefits was contingent on the expenses incurred being legally owed and paid by you, but all or some of the expenses were not paid by you or did not legally have to be paid by you.
- All or some of the payment the Plan made exceeded the Benefits under the Plan.
- All or some of the payment was made in error.

The amount that must be refunded equals the amount the Plan paid in excess of the amount that should have been paid under the Plan. If the refund is due from another person or organization, you agree to help the Plan get the refund when requested.

If the refund is due from you and you do not promptly refund the full amount owed, the Plan may recover the overpayment by reallocating the overpaid amount to pay, in whole or in part, future Benefits for you that are payable under the Plan. If the refund is due from a person or organization other than you, the Plan may recover the overpayment by reallocating the overpaid amount to pay, in whole or in part, (i) future Benefits that are payable in connection with services provided to other Covered Persons under the Plan; or (ii) future Benefits that are payment in connection with services provided to persons under other plans for which the Claims Administrator processes payments, pursuant to a transaction in which the Plan's overpayment recovery rights are assigned to such other plans in exchange for such plans' remittance of the amount of the reallocated payment. The reallocated payment amount will either:

- equal the amount of the required refund, or
- if less than the full amount of the required refund, will be deducted from the amount of refund owed to the Plan.

The Plan may have other rights in addition to the right to reallocate overpaid amounts and other enumerated rights, including the right to commence a legal action.

SECTION 10 - SUBROGATION AND REIMBURSEMENT

The Plan has a right to subrogation and reimbursement. References to "you" or "your" in this Subrogation and Reimbursement section shall include you, your estate and your heirs and beneficiaries unless otherwise stated.

Subrogation applies when the Plan has paid Benefits on your behalf for a Sickness or Injury for which any third party is allegedly responsible. The right to subrogation means that the Plan is substituted to and shall succeed to any and all legal claims that you may be entitled to pursue against any third party for the Benefits that the Plan has paid that are related to the Sickness or Injury for which any third party is considered responsible.

Subrogation - Example
Suppose you are injured in a car accident that is not your fault, and you receive Benefits under the Plan to treat your injuries. Under subrogation, the Plan has the right to take legal action in your name against the driver who caused the accident and that driver's insurance carrier to recover the cost of those Benefits.

The right to reimbursement means that if it is alleged that any third party caused or is responsible for a Sickness or Injury for which you receive a settlement, judgment, or other recovery from any third party, you must use those proceeds to fully return to the Plan 100% of any Benefits you received for that Sickness or Injury. The right of reimbursement shall apply to any Benefits received at any time until the rights are extinguished, resolved or waived in writing.

Reimbursement - Example
Suppose you are injured in a boating accident that is not your fault, and you receive Benefits under the Plan as a result of your injuries. In addition, you receive a settlement in a court proceeding from the individual who caused the accident. You must use the settlement funds to return to the Plan 100% of any Benefits you received to treat your injuries.

The following persons and entities are considered third parties:

- A person or entity alleged to have caused you to suffer a Sickness, Injury or damages, or who is legally responsible for the Sickness, Injury or damages.
- Any insurer or other indemnifier of any person or entity alleged to have caused or who caused the Sickness, Injury or damages.
- The Plan Sponsor in a workers' compensation case or other matter alleging liability.
- Any person or entity who is or may be obligated to provide benefits or payments to you, including benefits or payments for underinsured or uninsured motorist protection, no-fault or traditional auto insurance, medical payment coverage (auto, homeowners or otherwise), workers' compensation coverage, other insurance carriers or third party administrators.

- Any person or entity against whom you may have any claim for professional and/or legal malpractice arising out of or connected to a Sickness or Injury you allege or could have alleged were the responsibility of any third party.
- Any person or entity that is liable for payment to you on any equitable or legal liability theory.

You agree as follows:

- You will cooperate with the Plan in protecting its legal and equitable rights to subrogation and reimbursement in a timely manner, including, but not limited to:
  - Notifying the Plan, in writing, of any potential legal claim(s) you may have against any third party for acts which caused Benefits to be paid or become payable.
  - Providing any relevant information requested by the Plan.
  - Signing and/or delivering such documents as the Plan or its agents reasonably request to secure the subrogation and reimbursement claim.
  - Responding to requests for information about any accident or injuries.
  - Making court appearances.
  - Obtaining the Plan's consent or its agents' consent before releasing any party from liability or payment of medical expenses.
  - Complying with the terms of this section.

  Your failure to cooperate with the Plan is considered a breach of contract. As such, the Plan has the right to terminate your Benefits, deny future Benefits, take legal action against you, and/or set off from any future Benefits the value of Benefits the Plan has paid relating to any Sickness or Injury alleged to have been caused or caused by any third party to the extent not recovered by the Plan due to you or your representative not cooperating with the Plan. If the Plan incurs attorneys' fees and costs in order to collect third party settlement funds held by you or your representative, the Plan has the right to recover those fees and costs from you. You will also be required to pay interest on any amounts you hold which should have been returned to the Plan.
- The Plan has a first priority right to receive payment on any claim against a third party before you receive payment from that third party. Further, the Plan's first priority right to payment is superior to any and all claims, debts or liens asserted by any medical providers, including but not limited to hospitals or emergency treatment facilities, that assert a right to payment from funds payable from or recovered from an allegedly responsible third party and/or insurance carrier.
- The Plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights apply to full and partial settlements, judgments, or other recoveries paid or payable to you or your representative, your estate, your heirs and beneficiaries, no matter how those proceeds are captioned or characterized. Payments include, but are not limited to, economic, non-economic, pecuniary, consortium and punitive damages. The Plan is not required to help you to pursue your claim for damages or personal injuries and no amount of associated costs, including attorneys' fees, shall be deducted from the Plan's recovery without the Plan's express written consent. No so-called "Fund Doctrine" or "Common Fund Doctrine" or "Attorney's Fund Doctrine" shall defeat this right.

- Regardless of whether you have been fully compensated or made whole, the Plan may collect from you the proceeds of any full or partial recovery that you or your legal representative obtain, whether in the form of a settlement (either before or after any determination of liability) or judgment, no matter how those proceeds are captioned or characterized. Proceeds from which the Plan may collect include, but are not limited to, economic, non-economic, and punitive damages. No "collateral source" rule, any "Made-Whole Doctrine" or "Make-Whole Doctrine," claim of unjust enrichment, nor any other equitable limitation shall limit the Plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights.
- Benefits paid by the Plan may also be considered to be Benefits advanced.
- If you receive any payment from any party as a result of Sickness or Injury, and the Plan alleges some or all of those funds are due and owed to the Plan, you and/or your representative shall hold those funds in trust, either in a separate bank account in your name or in your representative's trust account.
- By participating in and accepting Benefits from the Plan, you agree that (i) any amounts recovered by you from any third party shall constitute Plan assets to the extent of the amount of Plan Benefits provided on behalf of the Covered Person, (ii) you and your representative shall be fiduciaries of the Plan (within the meaning of ERISA) with respect to such amounts, and (iii) you shall be liable for and agree to pay any costs and fees (including reasonable attorney fees) incurred by the Plan to enforce its reimbursement rights.
- The Plan's rights to recovery will not be reduced due to your own negligence.
- By participating in and accepting Benefits from the Plan, you agree to assign to the Plan any benefits, claims or rights of recovery you have under any automobile policy - including no-fault benefits, PIP benefits and/or medical payment benefits - other coverage or against any third party, to the full extent of the Benefits the Plan has paid for the Sickness or Injury. By agreeing to provide this assignment in exchange for participating in and accepting Benefits, you acknowledge and recognize the Plan’s right to assert, pursue and recover on any such claim, whether or not you choose to pursue the claim, and you agree to this assignment voluntarily.
- The Plan may, at its option, take necessary and appropriate action to preserve its rights under these provisions, including but not limited to, providing or exchanging medical payment information with an insurer, the insurer's legal representative or other third party, filing an ERISA reimbursement lawsuit to recover the full amount of medical Benefits you receive for the Sickness or Injury out of any settlement, judgment or other recovery from any third party considered responsible and filing suit in your name or your estate’s name, which does not obligate the Plan in any way to pay you part of any recovery the Plan might obtain. Any ERISA reimbursement lawsuit stemming from a refusal to refund Benefits as required under the terms of the Plan is governed by a six-year statute of limitations.
- You may not accept any settlement that does not fully reimburse the Plan, without its written approval.
- The Plan has the authority and discretion to resolve all disputes regarding the interpretation of the language stated herein.

- In the case of your death, giving rise to any wrongful death or survival claim, the provisions of this section apply to your estate, the personal representative of your estate, and your heirs or beneficiaries. In the case of your death the Plan's right of reimbursement and right of subrogation shall apply if a claim can be brought on behalf of you or your estate that can include a claim for past medical expenses or damages. The obligation to reimburse the Plan is not extinguished by a release of claims or settlement agreement of any kind.
- No allocation of damages, settlement funds or any other recovery, by you, your estate, the personal representative of your estate, your heirs, your beneficiaries or any other person or party, shall be valid if it does not reimburse the Plan for 100% of its interest unless the Plan provides written consent to the allocation.
- The provisions of this section apply to the parents, guardian, or other representative of a Dependent child who incurs a Sickness or Injury caused by a third party. If a parent or guardian may bring a claim for damages arising out of a minor's Sickness or Injury, the terms of this subrogation and reimbursement clause shall apply to that claim.
- If a third party causes or is alleged to have caused you to suffer a Sickness or Injury while you are covered under this Plan, the provisions of this section continue to apply, even after you are no longer covered.
- In the event that you do not abide by the terms of the Plan pertaining to reimbursement, the Plan may terminate Benefits to you or your dependents, deny future Benefits, take legal action against you, and/or set off from any future Benefits the value of Benefits the Plan has paid relating to any Sickness or Injury alleged to have been contributed to or caused by any third party to the extent not recovered by the Plan due to your failure to abide by the terms of the Plan. If the Plan incurs attorneys' fees and costs in order to collect third party settlement funds held by you or your representative, the Plan has the right to recover those fees and costs from you. You will also be required to pay interest on any amounts you hold which should have been returned to the Plan.

The Plan and all Administrators administering the terms and conditions of the Plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights have such powers and duties as are necessary to discharge its duties and functions, including the exercise of its discretionary authority to (1) construe and enforce the terms of the Plan's subrogation and reimbursement rights and (2) make determinations with respect to the subrogation amounts and reimbursements owed to the Plan.

Right of Recovery

The Plan also has the right to recover Benefits it has paid on you or your Dependent's behalf that were:

- Made in error.
- Due to a mistake in fact.
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the calendar year Deductible.
- Advanced during the time period of meeting the Out-of-Pocket Maximum for the calendar year.

Benefits paid because you or your Dependent misrepresented facts are also subject to recovery.

If the Plan provides a Benefit for you or your Dependent that exceeds the amount that should have been paid, the Plan will:

- Require that the overpayment be returned when requested.
- Reduce a future Benefit payment for you or your Dependent by the amount of the overpayment.

If the Plan provides an advancement of Benefits to you or your Dependent during the time period of meeting the Deductible and/or meeting the Out-of-Pocket Maximum for the calendar year, the Plan will send you or your Dependent a monthly statement identifying the amount you owe with payment instructions. The Plan has the right to recover Benefits it has advanced by:

- Submitting a reminder letter to you or a covered Dependent that details any outstanding balance owed to the Plan.
- Conducting courtesy calls to you or a covered Dependent to discuss any outstanding balance owed to the Plan.

- Incentives to providers and you.

Your Relationship with UnitedHealthcare and the Company

In order to make choices about your health care coverage and treatment, the Company believes that it is important for you to understand how UnitedHealthcare interacts with the Plan and how it may affect you. UnitedHealthcare helps administer the Plan in which you are enrolled. UnitedHealthcare does not provide medical services or make treatment decisions. This means:

- The Company and UnitedHealthcare do not decide what care you need or will receive. You and your Physician make those decisions.
- UnitedHealthcare communicates to you decisions about whether the Plan will cover or pay for the health care that you may receive (the Plan pays for Covered Health Services, which are more fully described in this Benefit Booklet).
- The Plan may not pay for all treatments you or your Physician may believe are necessary. If the Plan does not pay, you will be responsible for the cost.

The Company and UnitedHealthcare may use individually identifiable information about you to identify for you (and you alone) procedures, products or services that you may find valuable. The Company and UnitedHealthcare will use individually identifiable information about you as permitted or required by law, including in operations and in research. UnitedHealthcare will use de-identified data for commercial purposes including research.

Relationship with Providers

UnitedHealthcare has agreements in place that govern the relationships between it, the Company and Network providers, some of which are affiliated providers. Network providers enter into agreements with UnitedHealthcare to provide Covered Health Services to Covered Persons.

The Company and UnitedHealthcare do not provide health care services or supplies, nor do they practice medicine. Instead, the Company and UnitedHealthcare arrange for health care providers to participate in a Network and administer payment of Benefits. Network providers are independent practitioners who run their own offices and facilities. UnitedHealthcare's credentialing process confirms public information about the providers' licenses and other credentials but does not assure the quality of the services provided. They are not the Company's employees nor are they employees of UnitedHealthcare. The Company and UnitedHealthcare are not responsible for any act or omission of any provider.

UnitedHealthcare is not considered to be an employee of the Company for any purpose with respect to the administration or provision of Benefits under this Plan.

The Company and the Plan Administrator are solely responsible for:

- Enrollment and classification changes (including classification changes resulting in your enrollment or the termination of your coverage).
- The timely payment of the service fee to UnitedHealthcare.
- The funding of Benefits on a timely basis.
- Notifying you of the termination of or modifications to the Plan.

The Claims Administrator is not the Plan Administrator of the Plan, as that term is used in ERISA. The Claims Administrator is a named fiduciary of the Plan, as that term is used in ERISA, solely with respect to the Claims Administrator's authority to decide claims for Benefits under the Plan and appeals of denied claims for Benefits under the Plan. If you have questions about the Plan, you should contact the Plan Administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, contact the nearest area office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U. S. Department of Labor.

Your Relationship with Providers

The relationship between you and any provider is that of provider and patient. Your provider is solely responsible for the quality of the services provided to you. You:

- Are responsible for choosing your own provider.
- Are responsible for paying, directly to your provider, any amount identified as a participant responsibility, including Coinsurance, any Annual Deductible and any amount that exceeds Eligible Expenses.
- Are responsible for paying, directly to your provider, the cost of any non-Covered Health Service.
- Must decide if any provider treating you is right for you (this includes Network providers you choose and providers to whom you have been referred).
- Must decide with your provider what care you should receive.

Interpretation of Benefits

Duke Energy and UnitedHealthcare have the sole and exclusive discretion to do all of the following:

- Interpret Benefits under the Plan.
- Interpret the other terms, conditions, limitations and exclusions of the Plan, including this SPD, the Schedule of Benefits and any Addendums, SMMs and/or Amendments.
- Make factual determinations related to the Plan and its Benefits.

Duke Energy and UnitedHealthcare may delegate this discretionary authority to other persons or entities including Claims Administrator's affiliates that may provide services in regard to the administration of the Plan. The identity of the service providers and the nature of their services may be changed from time to time in Plan Sponsor's and the Claims Administrator's discretion. In order to receive Benefits, you must cooperate with those service providers.

In certain circumstances, for purposes of overall cost savings or efficiency, Duke Energy may, in its discretion, offer Benefits for services that would otherwise not be Covered Health Services. The fact that Duke Energy does so in any particular case shall not in any way be deemed to require Duke Energy to do so in other similar cases.

Information and Records

UnitedHealthcare may use your individually identifiable health information to administer the Plan and pay claims, to identify procedures, products, or services that you may find valuable, and as otherwise permitted or required by law. UnitedHealthcare may request additional information from you to decide your claim for Benefits. UnitedHealthcare will keep this information confidential.

By accepting Benefits under the Plan, you authorize and direct any person or institution that has provided services to you to furnish the Plan Administrator and UnitedHealthcare with all information or copies of records relating to the services provided to you, including provider billing and provider payment records. The Plan Administrator and UnitedHealthcare have the right to request this information at any reasonable time. This applies to all Covered Persons, including enrolled Dependents. The Plan Administrator and UnitedHealthcare agree that such information and records will be considered confidential.

The Plan Administrator and UnitedHealthcare have the right to release any and all records concerning health care services which are necessary to implement and administer the terms of the Plan, for appropriate medical review or quality assessment, or as the Plan Administrator is required to do by law or regulation. During and after the term of the Plan, the Plan Administrator and UnitedHealthcare and its related entities may use and transfer the information gathered under the Plan in a de-identified format for commercial purposes, including research and analytic purposes.

For complete listings of your medical records or billing statements you should contact your health care provider. Providers may charge you reasonable fees to cover their costs for providing records or completing requested forms.

If you request medical forms or records from UnitedHealthcare, they also may charge you reasonable fees to cover costs for completing the forms or providing the records.

In some cases, UnitedHealthcare will designate other persons or entities to request records or information from or related to you, and to release those records as necessary.

UnitedHealthcare’s designees have the same rights to this information as does the Plan Administrator.

Incentives to Providers

Network providers may be provided financial incentives by UnitedHealthcare to promote the delivery of health care in a cost efficient and effective manner. These financial incentives are not intended to affect your access to health care.

Examples of financial incentives for Network providers are:

- Bonuses for performance based on factors that may include quality, member satisfaction, and/or cost-effectiveness.
- A practice called capitation which is when a group of Network providers receives a monthly payment from UnitedHealthcare for each Covered Person who selects a Network provider within the group to perform or coordinate certain health services. The Network providers receive this monthly payment regardless of whether the cost of providing or arranging to provide the Covered Person's health care is less than or more than the payment.
- Bundled payments - certain Network providers receive a bundled payment for a group of Covered Health Services for a particular procedure or medical condition. The applicable Coinsurance will be calculated based on the provider type that received the bundled payment. The Network providers receive these bundled payments regardless of whether the cost of providing or arranging to provide the Covered Person's health care is less than or more than the payment. If you receive follow-up services related to a procedure where a bundled payment is made, an additional Coinsurance may not be required if such follow-up services are included in the bundled payment. You may receive some Covered Health Services that are not considered part of the inclusive bundled payment and those Covered Health Services would be subject to the applicable Coinsurance as described in Section 4, Plan Highlights.

The Claims Administrator uses various payment methods to pay specific Network providers. From time to time, the payment method may change. If you have questions about whether your Network provider's contract with the Claims Administrator includes any financial incentives, the Claims Administrator encourages you to discuss those questions with your provider. You may also call the Claims Administrator at the telephone number on your ID card. The Claims Administrator can advise whether your Network provider is paid by any financial incentive, including those listed above.

Incentives to You

Sometimes you may be offered coupons or other incentives to encourage you to participate in various wellness programs or certain disease management programs, surveys, discount programs, administrative programs, and/or programs to seek care in a more cost effective setting and/or from Designated Providers. In some instances, these programs may be offered in combination with a non-UnitedHealthcare entity. The decision about whether or not to participate is yours alone but you should discuss participating in such programs with your Physician. These incentives are not Benefits and do not alter or affect your Benefits. You may call the number on your ID card if you have any questions. Additional information may be found in Section 6, Clinical Programs and Resources.

Rebates and Other Payments

The Company and UnitedHealthcare may receive rebates for certain drugs that are administered to you in a Physician's office, or at a Hospital or Alternate Facility. This includes rebates for those drugs that are administered to you before you meet your Annual Deductible. The Company and UnitedHealthcare do not pass these rebates on to you, nor are they applied to your Annual Deductible or taken into account in determining your Coinsurance.

Workers' Compensation Not Affected

Benefits provided under the Plan do not substitute for and do not affect any requirements for coverage by workers' compensation insurance.

Review and Determine Benefits in Accordance with UnitedHealthcare Reimbursement Policies

UnitedHealthcare adjudicates claims consistent with industry standards. UnitedHealthcare develops its reimbursement policy guidelines, in its sole discretion, generally in accordance with one or more of the following methodologies:

- As indicated in the most recent edition of the Current Procedural Terminology (CPT), a publication of the American Medical Association, and/or the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS).
- As reported by generally recognized professionals or publications.
- As used for Medicare.
- As determined by medical staff and outside medical consultants pursuant to other appropriate sources or determinations that UnitedHealthcare accepts.

Following evaluation and validation of certain provider billings (e.g., error, abuse and fraud reviews), UnitedHealthcare's reimbursement policies are applied to provider billings. UnitedHealthcare shares its reimbursement policies with Physicians and other providers in UnitedHealthcare's Network through UnitedHealthcare's provider website. Network Physicians and providers may not bill you for the difference between their contract rate (as may be modified by UnitedHealthcare's reimbursement policies) and the billed charge. However, non-Network providers are not subject to this prohibition, and may bill you for any amounts the Plan does not pay, including amounts that are denied because one of UnitedHealthcare's reimbursement policies does not reimburse (in whole or in part) for the service billed. You may obtain copies of UnitedHealthcare's reimbursement policies for yourself or to share with your non-Network Physician or provider by going to www.myuhc.com or by calling the telephone number on your ID card.

UnitedHealthcare may apply a reimbursement methodology established by OptumInsight and/or a third party vendor, which is based on CMS coding principles, to determine appropriate reimbursement levels for Emergency Health Services. The methodology is usually based on elements reflecting the patient complexity, direct costs, and indirect costs of an Emergency Health Service. If the methodology(ies) currently in use become no longer available, UnitedHealthcare will use a comparable methodology(ies). UnitedHealthcare and OptumInsight are related companies through common ownership by UnitedHealth Group. Refer to UnitedHealthcare's website at www.myuhc.com for information regarding the vendor that provides the applicable methodology.

Medicare Eligibility

Benefits under the Plan are not intended to supplement any coverage provided by Medicare. Nevertheless, in some circumstances Covered Persons who are eligible for or enrolled in Medicare may also be enrolled under the Plan.

If you are eligible for or enrolled in Medicare, please read the following information carefully.

If you are eligible for Medicare on a primary basis (Medicare pays before Benefits under the Plan), you should enroll in and maintain coverage under both Medicare Part A and Part B. If you don't enroll and maintain that coverage, and if the Plan is the secondary payer as described in Section 9, Coordination of Benefits, the Plan will pay Benefits under the Plan as if you were covered under both Medicare Part A and Part B. As a result, you will be responsible for the costs that Medicare would have paid and you will incur a larger out-of-pocket cost.

If you are enrolled in a Medicare Advantage (Medicare Part C) plan on a primary basis (Medicare pays before Benefits under the Plan), you should follow all rules of that plan that require you to seek services from that plan's participating providers. When the Plan is the secondary payer, the Plan will pay any Benefits available to you under the Plan as if you had followed all rules of the Medicare Advantage plan. You will be responsible for any additional costs or reduced Benefits that result from your failure to follow these rules, and you will incur a larger out-of-pocket cost.

If no credible scientific evidence is available, then standards that are based on Physician specialty society recommendations or professional standards of care may be considered. The Claims Administrator reserves the right to consult expert opinion in determining whether health care services are Medically Necessary. The decision to apply Physician specialty society recommendations, the choice of expert and the determination of when to use any such expert opinion, shall be within the Claims Administrator's sole discretion.

The Claims Administrator develops and maintains clinical policies that describe the Generally Accepted Standards of Medical Practice scientific evidence, prevailing medical standards and clinical guidelines supporting its determinations regarding specific services. These clinical policies (as developed by the Claims Administrator and revised from time to time), are available to Covered Persons on www.myuhc.com or by calling the number on your ID card, and to Physicians and other health care professionals on www. UHCprovider.com.

Mental Health Services - services for the diagnosis and treatment of those mental health or psychiatric categories that are listed in the current edition of the International Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association. The fact that a condition is listed in the current edition of the International Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association does not mean that treatment for the condition is a Covered Health Service.

Mental Health/Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services Administrator- the organization or individual designated by the Plan Administrator who provides or arranges Mental Health and Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services under the Plan.

Mental Illness – those mental health or psychiatric diagnostic categories listed in the current edition of the International Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association. The fact that a Neonatal Resource Services (NRS) - a Program administered by UnitedHealthcare or its affiliates made available to you by the Company. The NRS Program provides guided access to a network of credentialed NICU providers and specialized nurse consulting services to help manage NICU admissions.

Network – when used to describe a provider of health care services, this means a provider that has a participation agreement in effect (either directly or indirectly) with UnitedHealthcare or with its affiliate to participate in the Network; however, this does not include those providers who have agreed to discount their charges for Covered Health Services. UnitedHealthcare's affiliates are those entities affiliated with UnitedHealthcare through common ownership or control with UnitedHealthcare or with UnitedHealthcare's ultimate corporate parent, including direct and indirect subsidiaries.

A provider may enter into an agreement to provide only certain Covered Health Services, but not all Covered Health Services, or to be a Network provider for only some products. In this case, the provider will be a Network provider for the Covered Health Services and products included in the participation agreement, and a non-Network provider for other Covered Health Services and products. The participation status of providers will change from time to time.

Partial Hospitalization/Day Treatment/High Intensity Outpatient - a structured ambulatory program that may be a freestanding or Hospital-based program and that provides services for at least 20 hours per week.

Personal Health Support - Programs provided by the Claims Administrator that focus on prevention, education, and closing the gaps in care designed to encourage an efficient system of care for you and your covered Dependents.

Physician - any Doctor of Medicine or Doctor of Osteopathy who is properly licensed and qualified by law.

Please note: Any podiatrist, dentist, psychologist, chiropractor, optometrist or other provider who acts within the scope of his or her license will be considered on the same basis as a Physician. The fact that a provider is described as a Physician does not mean that Benefits for services from that provider are available to you under the Plan.

Plan – The Health Savings Plan 1 Option under the Duke Energy Active Medical Plan and/or the Duke Energy Active Medical Plan, as appropriate depending on context, each as amended from time to time.

Plan Administrator – The Duke Energy Benefits Committee or its designee.

- The service is provided to a Covered Person by an independent nurse who is hired directly by the Covered Person or his/her family. This includes nursing services provided on a home-care basis, whether the service is skilled or non-skilled independent nursing.
- Skilled nursing resources are available in the facility.

- The Skilled Care can be provided by a Home Health Agency on a per visit basis for a specific purpose.

Recognized Amount – the amount which Coinsurance and applicable Annual Deductible, is based on for the below Covered Health Services when provided by non-Network providers.

- Non-Network Emergency Health Services.
- Non-Emergency Covered Health Services received at certain Network facilities by non-Network Physicians, when such services are either Ancillary Services, or non-Ancillary Services that have not satisfied the notice and consent criteria of section 2799B-2(d) of the Public Health Service Act. For the purpose of this provision, "certain Network facilities" are limited to a hospital (as defined in Section 1861(e) of the Social Security Act), a hospital outpatient department, a critical access hospital (as defined in Section 1861(mm)(1) of the Social Security Act), an ambulatory surgical center as described in section 1833(i)(1)(A) of the Social Security Act, and any other facility specified by the Secretary.

The amount is based on either:

1) An All Payer Model Agreement if adopted,
2) State law, or
3) The lesser of the qualifying payment amount as determined under applicable law or the amount billed by the provider or facility.

The Recognized Amount for Air Ambulance services provided by a non-Network provider will be calculated based on the lesser of the qualifying payment amount as determined under applicable law or the amount billed by the Air Ambulance service provider.

Note: Covered Health Services that use the Recognized Amount to determine your cost sharing may be higher or lower than if cost sharing for these Covered Health Services were determined based upon an Eligible Expense.

Reconstructive Procedure - a procedure performed to address a physical impairment where the expected outcome is restored or improved function. The primary purpose of a Reconstructive Procedure is either to treat a medical condition or to improve or restore physiologic function. Reconstructive Procedures include surgery or other procedures which are associated with an Injury, Sickness or Congenital Anomaly. The primary result of the procedure is not changed or improved physical appearance. The fact that a person may suffer psychologically as a result of the impairment does not classify surgery or any other procedure done to relieve the impairment as a Reconstructive Procedure.

Remote Physiologic Monitoring - the automatic collection and electronic transmission of patient physiologic data that are analyzed and used by a licensed Physician or other qualified health care professional to develop and manage a plan of treatment related to a chronic and/or acute health illness or condition. The plan of treatment will provide milestones for which progress will be tracked by one or more Remote Physiologic Monitoring devices. Remote Physiologic Monitoring must be ordered by a licensed Physician or other qualified health professional who has examined the patient and with whom the patient has an established, documented, and ongoing relationship. Remote Physiologic Monitoring may not be used while the patient is inpatient at a Hospital or other facility. Use of multiple devices must be coordinated by one Physician.

Residential Treatment – treatment in a facility which provides Mental Health Services or Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services treatment. The facility meets all of the following requirements:

- It is established and operated in accordance with applicable state law for Residential Treatment programs.
- It provides a program of treatment under the active participation and direction of a Physician.
- It offers organized treatment services that feature a planned and structured regimen of care in a 24-hour setting and provides at least the following basic services;
  - Room and board.
  - Evaluation and diagnosis.
  - Counseling.
  - Referral and orientation to specialized community resources.

A Residential Treatment facility that qualifies as a Hospital is considered a Hospital.

Secretary – as that term is applied in the No Surprises Act of the Consolidated Appropriations Act (P.L. 116-260).

Semi-private Room - a room with two or more beds. When an Inpatient Stay in a Semi-private Room is a Covered Health Service, the difference in cost between a Semi-private Room and a private room is a benefit only when a private room is necessary in terms of generally accepted medical practice, or when a Semi-private Room is not available.

Sickness - physical illness, disease or Pregnancy. The term Sickness as used in this Benefit Booklet includes Mental Illness or substance-related and addictive disorders, regardless of the cause or origin of the Mental Illness or substance-related and addictive disorder.

Skilled Care - skilled nursing, teaching, and rehabilitation services when:

- They are delivered or supervised by licensed technical or professional medical personnel in order to obtain the specified medical outcome and provide for the safety of the patient.
- A Physician orders them.
- They are not delivered for the purpose of assisting with activities of daily living, including dressing, feeding, bathing or transferring from a bed to a chair.
- They require clinical training in order to be delivered safely and effectively.
- They are not Custodial Care, as defined in this section.

Skilled Nursing Facility - a Hospital or nursing facility that is licensed and operated as required by law. A Skilled Nursing Facility that is part of a Hospital is considered a Skilled Nursing Facility for purposes of the Plan.

Specialty Pharmaceutical Product - Pharmaceutical Products that are generally high cost biotechnology drugs used to treat patients with certain illnesses.

Spouse – your spouse or domestic partner as defined in the General Information Booklet.

Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services - services for the diagnosis and treatment of alcoholism and substance-related and addictive disorders that are listed in the current edition of the International Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association. The fact that a disorder is listed in the edition of the International Classification of Diseases section on Mental and Behavioral Disorders or Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of the American Psychiatric Association does not mean that treatment of the disorder is a Covered Health Service.

Surrogate - a female who becomes pregnant usually by artificial insemination or transfer of a fertilized egg (embryo) for the purpose of carrying the fetus for another person. When the surrogate provides the egg the surrogate is biologically (genetically) related to the child.

Telehealth/Telemedicine - live, interactive audio with visual transmissions of a Physician-patient encounter from one site to another using telecommunications technology. The site may be a CMS defined originating facility or another location such as a Covered Person's home or place of work. Telehealth/Telemedicine does not include virtual care services provided by a Designated Virtual Network Provider.

Therapeutic Donor Insemination (TDI) - Insemination with a donor sperm sample for the purpose of conceiving a child.

Transitional Living - Mental Health Services and Substance-Related and Addictive Disorders Services that are provided through facilities, group homes and supervised apartments that provide 24-hour supervision, including those defined in American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM) criteria, that are either:

- Sober living arrangements such as drug-free housing or alcohol/drug halfway houses. These are transitional, supervised living arrangements that provide stable and safe housing, an alcohol/drug-free environment and support for recovery. A sober living arrangement may be utilized as an adjunct to ambulatory treatment when treatment doesn't offer the intensity and structure needed to assist the Covered Person with recovery.
- Supervised living arrangements which are residences such as facilities, group homes and supervised apartments that provide stable and safe housing and the opportunity to learn how to manage activities of daily living. Supervised living arrangements may be utilized as an adjunct to treatment when treatment doesn't offer the intensity and structure needed to assist the Covered Person with recovery.

UnitedHealth Premium Program – a Program that identifies network Physicians or facilities that have been designated as a UnitedHealth Premium Program Physician or facility for certain medical conditions.

To be designated as a UnitedHealth Premium provider, Physicians and facilities must meet program criteria. The fact that a Physician or facility is a Network Physician or facility does not mean that it is a UnitedHealth Premium Program Physician or facility.

Unproven Services – health services, including medications and devices, regardless of U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approval, that are not determined to be effective for treatment of the medical condition or not determined to have a beneficial effect on health outcomes due to insufficient and inadequate clinical evidence from well-conducted randomized controlled trials or cohort studies in the prevailing published peer-reviewed medical literature.

- Well-conducted randomized controlled trials. (Two or more treatments are compared to each other, and the patient is not allowed to choose which treatment is received.)
- Well-conducted cohort studies from more than one institution. (Patients who receive study treatment are compared to a group of patients who receive standard therapy. The comparison group must be nearly identical to the study treatment group.)
- UnitedHealthcare has a process by which it compiles and reviews clinical evidence with respect to certain health services. From time to time, UnitedHealthcare issues medical and drug policies that describe the clinical evidence available with respect to specific health care services. These medical and drug policies are subject to change without prior notice. You can view these policies at www.myuhc.com.

Please note:

- If you have a life-threatening Sickness or condition (one that is likely to cause death within one year of the request for treatment) the Claims Administrator may, at its discretion, consider an otherwise Unproven Service to be a Covered Health Care Service for that Sickness or condition. Prior to such a consideration, the Claims Administrator must first establish that there is sufficient evidence to conclude that, even though unproven, the service has significant potential as an effective treatment for that Sickness or condition.

Urgent Care – care that requires prompt attention to avoid adverse consequences but does not pose an immediate threat to a person's life. Urgent care is usually delivered in a walk-in setting and without an appointment. Urgent care facilities are a location, distinct from a hospital emergency department, an office or a clinic. The purpose is to diagnose and treat illness or injury for unscheduled, ambulatory patients seeking immediate medical attention.

Urgent Care Center – a facility that provides Covered Health Services that are required to prevent serious deterioration of your health, and that are required as a result of an unforeseen Sickness, Injury, or the onset of acute or severe symptoms.

Patient Protection Notices

The Claims Administrator generally allows the designation of a primary care provider. You have the right to designate any primary care provider who participates in the Claims Administrator's network and who is available to accept you or your family members. For information on how to select a primary care provider, and for a list of the participating primary care providers, contact the Claims Administrator at the number on your ID card.

For children, you may designate a pediatrician as the primary care provider.

You do not need prior authorization from the Claims Administrator or from any other person (including a primary care provider) in order to obtain access to obstetrical or gynecological care from a health care professional in the Claims Administrator's network who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology. The health care professional, however, may be required to comply with certain procedures, including obtaining prior authorization for certain services, following a pre-approved treatment plan, or procedures for making referrals. For a list of participating health care professionals who specialize in obstetrics or gynecology, contact the Claims Administrator at the number on your ID card.

ATTACHMENT II - NOTICES

Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998

As required by the Women's Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998, the Plan provides Benefits under the Plan for mastectomy, including reconstruction and surgery to achieve symmetry between the breasts, prostheses, and complications resulting from a mastectomy (including lymphedema).

If you are receiving Benefits in connection with a mastectomy, Benefits are also provided for the following Covered Health Services, as you determine appropriate with your attending Physician:

- All stages of reconstruction of the breast on which the mastectomy was performed.
- Surgery and reconstruction of the other breast to produce a symmetrical appearance.
- Prostheses and treatment of physical complications of the mastectomy, including lymphedema.

The amount you must pay for such Covered Health Services (including Coinsurance and any Annual Deductible) are the same as are required for any other Covered Health Service. Limitations on Benefits are the same as for any other Covered Health Service.

Statement of Rights under the Newborns' and Mothers' Health Protection Act

Under Federal law, group health Plans and health insurance issuers offering group health insurance coverage generally may not restrict Benefits for any Hospital length of stay in connection with childbirth for the mother or newborn child to less than 48 hours following a vaginal delivery, or less than 96 hours following a delivery by cesarean section. However, the Plan or issuer may pay for a shorter stay if the attending provider (e.g., your Physician, nurse midwife, or physician assistant), after consultation with the mother, discharges the mother or newborn earlier.

Also, under Federal law, plans and issuers may not set the level of Benefits or out-of-pocket costs so that any later portion of the 48-hour (or 96-hour) stay is treated in a manner less favorable to the mother or newborn than any earlier portion of the stay.

In addition, a plan or issuer may not, under Federal law, require that a Physician or other health care provider obtain authorization for prescribing a length of stay of up to 48 hours (or 96 hours). However, to use certain providers or facilities, or to reduce your out-of-pocket costs, you may be required to obtain prior authorization or notify the Claims Administrator. For information on notification or prior authorization, contact your Claims Administrator.

SECTION 1 – WELCOME

The Duke Energy Active Medical Plan ("Medical Plan") options include outpatient prescription drug coverage currently administered by CVS Caremark. CVS Caremark works with Duke Energy Corporation ("Duke Energy") (individually or collectively referred to with its affiliated companies as the "Company," as appropriate) to help you improve your health and make informed health care decisions, as well as save money on your prescription drugs.

Your prescription drug program benefits through CVS Caremark include the following features:

- The CVS Caremark retail network consists of more than 65,000 participating retail pharmacies.
- Your long-term (maintenance) prescriptions can be delivered directly to you through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy or picked up at a CVS retail pharmacy. Maintenance medications also can now be filled at Costco® and Kroger® affiliated pharmacies.
- Online resources are available at www.Caremark.com to order medications, check the status of your order(s), locate a participating pharmacy near you, and access useful health information.
- You can reach CVS Caremark Customer Service representatives, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week at 888-797-8912. Pharmacists are also available around the clock for medication consultations.

CVS Caremark will help protect your privacy as follows:

- CVS Caremark employees follow detailed ethical standards and a comprehensive Code of Conduct regarding your personal health information.
- CVS Caremark pharmacists follow a professional Code of Ethics.

SECTION 2 – HOW THE PROGRAM WORKS

Prescription Drug Coverage under the Health Savings Plan (HSP) Options

Because you are enrolled in a Health Savings Plan (HSP) option under the Medical Plan, you pay 100% of CVS Caremark's negotiated price for your prescription drug purchases (other than preventive medications, as described below) at retail pharmacies and through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy until you meet the applicable Medical Plan annual deductible under your HSP option[1].

If you use a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, once you meet your applicable annual deductible, the HSP option pays eligible prescription drug expenses at 80% coinsurance and you pay 20% until you reach the applicable Medical Plan annual out-of-pocket maximum under the HSP option. If you use a pharmacy that is not participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, once you meet your applicable annual deductible, the HSP option pays eligible prescription drug expenses at 60% coinsurance and you pay 40% until you reach the applicable Medical Plan annual out-of-network, out-of-pocket maximum under the HSP option. The applicable annual out-of-pocket maximum under the HSP option is a combined out-of-pocket maximum that applies to both medical and prescription drug expenses under the Medical Plan. After you reach the applicable annual out-of-pocket maximum, the HSP option pays 100% of your eligible prescription drug purchases for the remainder of the calendar year.

If you use any medications on a long-term basis, ordering your medications through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy may still help you maximize savings.

Remember: Under the HSP option, your eligible medical expenses and your eligible prescription drug purchase amounts apply to the HSP option's annual deductible and you pay 100% of your eligible expenses (excluding certain preventive care services and preventive medications) until you reach the deductible.

As you make prescription drug purchases for each covered individual, the receipts you receive can help you track your progress toward meeting the annual deductible. You may also call CVS Caremark Customer Service to determine the portion of the deductible that has been satisfied to date.

[1] For in-network benefits under the HSP option, you must satisfy an annual individual deductible if only you are covered or an annual family deductible if one or more of your eligible dependents also is covered.

Filling Your Prescription at a Pharmacy Participating in the CVS Caremark Retail Network

You can fill a prescription for up to a 30-day supply at any of over 65,000 retail pharmacies participating in the CVS Caremark retail network. You will simply show your CVS Caremark prescription ID card at the time of your purchase. You will pay 100% of your non-preventive prescription drug purchases until you meet the applicable Medical Plan annual deductible under your HSP option, after which you pay a coinsurance amount. Once you meet the applicable Medical Plan annual out-of-pocket maximum under your HSP option, the Medical Plan pays for your eligible prescription drug purchases at 100%.

- If you don't identify yourself to the pharmacist as a CVS Caremark participant, or if you go to a pharmacy that is not participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, you will have to pay the full price for non-preventive prescription drug purchases, even if you have already met the applicable Medical Plan annual deductible or annual out-of-pocket maximum under your HSP option, when you pick up the prescription and then submit a paper claim to CVS Caremark for reimbursement. You will be reimbursed based on the CVS Caremark negotiated price for the medication, less any required deductible and coinsurance. Retail pharmacies that participate in the CVS Caremark retail network fill prescriptions at an agreed upon discounted price. When you fill prescriptions at a non-participating retail pharmacy, or do not identify yourself as a CVS Caremark participant, you may be charged a price higher than the negotiated price and the result is a higher cost prescription to you.
- If you make a non-preventive prescription drug purchase at a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, do not identify yourself as a CVS Caremark participant by presenting your CVS Caremark prescription ID card and are required to pay full price for the non-preventive prescription drug purchase, generally, you have up to 14 days from the time your prescription was purchased to return to the pharmacy, present your CVS Caremark prescription ID card and ask the pharmacist to submit the order using the original dispensing date. Please confirm at the time you make your purchase that you can return to have your purchase re-processed. You may be entitled to a refund for the difference between the full price and your applicable deductible and coinsurance. This process will eliminate your need to submit a paper claim to CVS Caremark for reimbursement.

Using the CVS Caremark Maintenance Choice™ Program

Generally, a long-term (maintenance) medication is one that you take on a long-term basis such as those used for diabetes, asthma, high blood pressure, high cholesterol or birth control. Under CVS Caremark's Maintenance Choice program, if you are taking a long-term medication, you must choose to receive 90-day supplies through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy or at a CVS retail pharmacy or Costco or Kroger affiliated pharmacy near you. Whether you choose delivery or pick-up, you will pay the same applicable coinsurance amount.

Fill limit for long-term medications

The Medical Plan allows three 30-day fills of long-term medications at any pharmacy that participates in the CVS Caremark retail network. After that, the Medical Plan will cover long-term medications only if you have 90-day supplies filled through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy or at a CVS retail pharmacy or Costco or Kroger affiliated pharmacy at the applicable 90-day supply coinsurance amount. If you do not use the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, a CVS retail pharmacy or a Costco or Kroger affiliated pharmacy after the third fill, you will pay 100% of the retail price of the long-term medication.

If you will be obtaining your own prescription, ask your doctor for a prescription for up to a 90-day supply of medication, plus refills as appropriate (three refills maximum).

The list of long-term medications that are part of the Maintenance Choice program is subject to change at any time. Visit www.Caremark.com to find out whether your medication is considered a long-term medication and whether it is affected by any Medical Plan limits, or you may call CVS Caremark directly for more information.

Process for Mail Order Medications
There are several methods you may use to fill your newly prescribed long-term medications through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy.

- Option 1: Ask your doctor to select the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy using their provider ePrescribing tools or by calling 800-378-5697.

- Option 2: Use the CVS Caremark mobile app on your smart phone to photograph and submit your prescription.

- Option 3: Alternatively, you can complete the mail order form, which is available at www.Caremark.com, and send it with your new prescription order and payment method for any applicable prescription drug annual deductible and coinsurance amounts to the address on the form. If you have any questions about completing the form, contact Customer Service at 888-797-8912.

Once you fill a prescription through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy for the first time, you then have the option to use the automated refill service for future refills by CVS Caremark. Visit www.Caremark.com for more information on the automated refill service.

Please note: When a prescription is ordered using the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, CVS Caremark will automatically dispense the generic equivalent if one is available and permissible by law, unless your physician has indicated that substitution is not allowed.

Using Mail Order if you have an Immediate Medication Need
If you will be using the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy, but need to begin taking a long-term medication immediately, have your doctor write two prescriptions:

- The first for up to a 30-day supply to be filled right away at any pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network – your doctor can call/fax this prescription to the pharmacy or provide it to you so you may take it to the pharmacy.
- The second for up to a 90-day supply to be filled through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy using one of the methods described above.

SECTION 3 – COVERAGE DETAILS

CVS Caremark Primary/Preferred Drug List

Your cost for prescription purchases will vary depending on whether your physician prescribes a generic, preferred brand or non-preferred brand medication. By asking your physician to prescribe generic or preferred brand medications, you can help control rising health care costs.

Your prescription drug program incorporates a Primary/Preferred Drug List which lists the Medical Plan's preferred brand medications. The medications included on the list, which change from time to time, are commonly prescribed medications that have been selected based on their clinical effectiveness and opportunities for savings for the participant and the Medical Plan. For the most recent listing and to find out whether a medication is included in the Primary/Preferred Drug List, visit CVS Caremark online at www.Caremark.com or call CVS Caremark Customer Service at 888-797-8912. This listing is also available for viewing by employees on the Duke Energy Portal.

Refer to the prescription drug benefit summary on page 21 for more information about applicable coinsurance amounts for generic, preferred brand and non-preferred brand medications.

Preventive Medications

CVS Caremark maintains a list of certain medications prescribed to prevent the occurrence/re-occurrence of chronic illnesses. This list is referred to as the Preventive Therapy Drug List. Under your HSP option, preventive medications included on the Preventive Therapy Drug List are covered at 100% and are not subject to your HSP option's coinsurance or deductible when you use either a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network or the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy to fill those prescriptions. This means that the Medical Plan will cover 100% of the cost and you will pay nothing, even if you have not met the applicable Medical Plan annual deductible. Note: the Preventive Therapy Drug List excludes brand medications except in circumstances where there is no generic equivalent available.

Preventive medications are those items used to address risk factors for a disease that has not yet manifested itself, or to prevent the reoccurrence of a disease. Preventive medications do not include drugs for treatment of an existing illness or condition. A copy of the current Preventive Therapy Drug List is available on www.Caremark.com. CVS Caremark develops the Preventive Therapy Drug List in accordance with FDA and IRS guidelines regarding the types of medications that are considered "preventive" and therefore may be covered under your HSP option before the required deductible is satisfied. The Preventive Therapy Drug List is periodically updated to reflect new guidance issued and/or new drugs on the market.

Certain Contraceptive Medications Covered at 100%

The following contraceptive medications are covered at 100% (i.e., you do not pay anything when you purchase these items) when received from a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network or the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy:

- Generic contraceptive medications; and

- Brand contraceptive medications where there is no generic available.

Note: If a generic version of a brand contraceptive medication becomes available, then only the generic contraceptive medication will be covered at 100%.

Certain Routine Vaccines Covered at 100%

The Medical Plan provides coverage for certain commonly administered vaccines at 100% when you present your CVS Caremark prescription ID card at a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network. This is an alternative to getting certain immunizations from your doctor. Commonly administered vaccines available at a participating pharmacy through the Medical Plan include the following, where applicable:

- COVID-19
- Dengue Fever
- Hepatitis A (Adult)
- Hepatitis A (Child)
- Hepatitis B (Adult)
- Hepatitis B (Child)
- Human Papillomavirus (Gardasil)
- Influenza (Fluzone)
- Meningitis
- MMR (Measles, Mumps, Rubella)
- Pneumonia (Pneumovax)
- Polio (IPV)
- RSV (Adult)
- Shingles vaccine (Zostavax)
- TD (Tetanus, Diphtheria)
- Tdap (Tetanus, Diphtheria, Pertussis)

Please Note: Not all local pharmacies are staffed to provide immunizations and some may require a prescription to administer the vaccine based on requirements of particular states. Check with your local pharmacy for vaccine availability before you go.

CVS Caremark Specialty Medications and Specialty Guideline Management

Duke Energy participates in the CVS Caremark Specialty Guideline Management Program. This program supports safe, clinically appropriate and cost-effective use of specialty medications. Under your prescription drug program, some specialty medications may only be covered when ordered through CVS Caremark's specialty care pharmacy. CVS Caremark is dedicated to helping you meet the particular needs and challenges of using specialty medications, many of which require injection or special handling.

Certain specialty medications such as treatments for Growth Hormone and related disorders, Hepatitis C, Multiple Sclerosis and Anemia will have additional management that ensures that the specialty medication continues to have appropriate lab testing and data reviewed to help ensure utilization of these specialty medications to be:

- clinically appropriate;
- safe; and
- effective for the patient throughout the duration of therapy.

For continued treatment with one of these specialty drugs, a periodic clinical review is required. CVS Caremark will obtain the necessary clinical information from your doctor's office and conduct the review.

The CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy provides not only your specialty medicines, but also personalized pharmacy care management services:

- Access to an on-call pharmacist 24 hours a day, seven days a week
- Coordination of care with you and your doctor
- Convenient delivery directly to you or to your doctor's office
- Medicine- and disease-specific education and counseling
- Online support through www.Caremark.com/specialty, including disease-specific information and interactive areas to submit questions to pharmacists and nurses

If a covered participant uses medications that are classified by CVS Caremark as specialty medications and wishes to use the prescription drug benefit, the participant should obtain these medications from CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy Services. Most of these same drugs also require prior authorization from CVS Caremark, as described below. These drugs are typically only available in up to a 30-day supply, even if taken on a long-term basis.

All specialty medications undergo external review of the program guidelines by clinical experts to ensure the program is unbiased and consistent with current standards of care and practice.

To answer any questions you may have about specialty medications or to find out what medications are considered to be specialty medications for purposes of the Medical Plan, you may contact CVS Caremark Specialty Pharmacy Services directly at 800-237-2767.

Caremark Cost Saver® & GoodRx®

Your prescription drug program coordinates with GoodRx. This means that when the GoodRx price for a generic, non-specialty drug is lower than the amount you would pay under the Medical Plan's prescription drug coverage, you will automatically pay the lower GoodRx price when you check out at your pharmacy, and 100% of the GoodRx price will apply to your applicable Medical Plan annual deductible. If you have any questions about GoodRx, contact CVS Caremark Customer Service at 888-797-8912.

SECTION 4 – SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Step Therapy Program

In order to have coverage for prescription medications in certain drug classes, you must try a generic medication first to treat your condition. If you try (or have tried) a generic medication and it does not work for you, then you may receive coverage for a preferred brand medication that your doctor prescribes. If you try (or have tried) a preferred brand medication and it does not work for you, then you may receive coverage for a non-preferred brand medication that your doctor prescribes.

The amount you pay for your prescription will be lowest when you choose a generic medication. If no generic is available – or if it is not right for you – your Medical Plan provides coverage for preferred brand medications, which may also save you money.

However, if you choose to use a preferred brand medication without trying a generic first or without getting prior approval via the prior authorization process, coverage may be denied and you may have to pay the full cost of the preferred brand medication. If you choose to use a non-preferred brand medication without trying a generic and preferred brand first or without getting prior approval via the prior authorization process, coverage may be denied and you may have to pay the full cost of the non-preferred brand medication.

For information regarding the drug classes subject to the Step Therapy Program, call CVS Caremark at 888-797-8912.

Maximum Drug Limitation Program

The Medical Plan prescription drug benefits include quantity limits on certain medications, which are applied to address the problem of overuse of medications that can be unsafe for the patient. By following these guidelines, participants are assured of receiving the appropriate safe dosage recommended by the FDA. This means that:

- The Medical Plan will pay only for up to a specified quantity per 30- or 90-day periods.
- In addition, some medications have limitations on the day's supply of medication that may be dispensed to a patient at any one time.
- In certain drug classes, if the medical condition warrants a greater quantity than the established quantity limit, CVS Caremark will discuss the patient's needs with the patient's physician to determine if a greater quantity is medically necessary to treat the condition.

For information regarding the medications subject to the Maximum Drug Limitation Program, call CVS Caremark at 888-797-8912.

Prior Authorization

To ensure that drugs covered by the Medical Plan are used safely and appropriately, certain medications require that physicians obtain prior authorization from CVS Caremark before they are covered. Other classes may be added based upon safety, efficiency and FDA approved therapies. Call CVS Caremark at 888-797-8912 to determine if a medication requires prior authorization. Prior authorization does not guarantee coverage or payment under the Medical Plan.

Prior authorization also is required for a preferred brand medication to be covered prior to trying a generic medication, and for a non-preferred brand medication to be covered prior to trying a generic and preferred brand medication, as described above.

In order for medications which require prior authorization to be covered under the Medical Plan, your physician must obtain authorization from CVS Caremark at 800-294-5979 in advance of treatment with these medications.

Drug Utilization Reviews

Drug utilization reviews may help you guard against drug interaction problems that can occur, for example, when medications are prescribed by more than one physician. When your prescriptions are filled through the CVS Caremark Mail Service Pharmacy or at a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network (using your CVS Caremark prescription ID card), they are reviewed for any potential drug interactions. This review is especially important if you or your covered family members take several medications or see more than one physician. If there is a question about your prescription, a registered pharmacist may contact your physician before dispensing the medication to discuss any alternatives and recommendations. You will be notified of any change in your prescribed medication. Your doctor makes the final decision on all of your prescription medications.

SECTION 5 – COORDINATION OF BENEFITS

Under the prescription drug program, CVS Caremark will not coordinate benefits for prescription drug expenses with other coverage you may have. That is, if you and/or your covered family members have prescription drug coverage under another plan, you may submit your prescription drug claims to whichever plan you choose. For example, if your spouse/domestic partner's medical plan does not cover prescription drugs or requires a higher deductible and coinsurance amount, you may want to use your CVS Caremark prescription ID card, instead of your spouse/domestic partner's plan, to obtain your prescriptions. Alternatively, if your spouse/domestic partner's medical plan requires co-pays to purchase prescription medications in lieu of deductibles and coinsurance, you may want to use your spouse/domestic partner's plan, instead of your CVS Caremark prescription ID card, to obtain your prescriptions.

SECTION 6 – CLAIMS PROCEDURES

How to File a Prescription Drug Program Claim

When you fill your prescription at a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network and identify yourself as a CVS Caremark participant, you will not have to file a claim form. At the time your prescription is filled, you will have to pay the applicable deductible or coinsurance amount.

If you do not identify yourself to the pharmacist as a CVS Caremark participant, or if you do not use a pharmacy that is participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, you will need to file a claim for reimbursement of your prescription drug expenses through CVS Caremark. When you submit your claim, attach your original receipts and mail your claim to the address shown on the form. An original receipt should show the date of purchase, the name, cost, strength, quantity and days' supply of the medication, the prescription number and the NDC number. When you submit an original receipt, keep a copy for your records. Claim reimbursement is limited to CVS Caremark's discounted price less any required deductible and coinsurance.

CVS Caremark will consider claims for payment, provided your prescription claim is filed within 15 months from the date of service. Claims filed after 15 months from the date of service will not be considered for payment. For example, if you purchase a covered prescription medication on January 15, 2025, from a pharmacy that is not participating in the CVS Caremark retail network, you must file your claim by April 15, 2026 to receive reimbursement for your expenses.

If you are newly eligible, you have a 45-day grace period for prescription drug claims for purchases at full cost in situations where the prescription ID card was not used. The grace period allows participants to be reimbursed at 100%, less the applicable deductible and coinsurance, for paper claims submitted within 45 days from a participant's initial eligibility effective date with CVS Caremark. For example, a participant whose initial effective date with CVS Caremark is January 1, 2025 would have 45 days (until February 14, 2025) to submit a paper claim for medications purchased at full cost (no prescription ID card used) regardless of whether or not the pharmacy was participating in the CVS Caremark retail network.

To obtain a claim form, call CVS Caremark Customer Service at 1-888-797-8912, or go online to www.Caremark.com.

Reviews & Appeals

The timing for review of your claim depends on the type of claim you submit, as described below. You may designate an authorized representative to assist you with the claims and appeals process described below.

Review Timing for Post-Service Claims
In the case of a post-service claim, CVS Caremark will notify you of the determination within 15 days after receiving the request. However, if more time is needed to make a determination due to matters beyond CVS Caremark's control, it will notify you within 15 days after receiving the request. The extension notice will include a description of the circumstances requiring the extension and the date a determination can be expected, which will be no more than 45 days after receipt of the request.

If more time is needed because necessary information is missing from the request, the notice will also specify what information is needed. The determination period will be suspended on the date CVS Caremark sends such a notice of missing information, and the determination period will resume on the date you respond to the notice. You will have at least 45 days to respond to the request for information.

For these purposes, a post-service claim is any claim that is not a pre-service claim or an urgent care claim, each as defined below.

Review Timing for Pre-Service Claims (Claims Relating to Prior Authorization)
In the case of a pre-service claim, CVS Caremark will inform you of its decision (whether adverse or not) within a reasonable period of time appropriate to the medical condition, but not later than 15 days after it receives the claim. Under special circumstances, CVS Caremark may take up to an additional 15 days to review the claim if it determines that such an extension is necessary due to matters beyond its control. If an extension of time is required, you will be notified before the end of the initial 15-day period of the circumstances requiring the extension and the date by which CVS Caremark expects to render a decision.

If additional information is needed because necessary information is missing from the request, the notice will specify what information is needed. You must provide the specified information to CVS Caremark within 45 days after receiving the notice. The determination period will be suspended on the date CVS Caremark sends a notice of missing information and the determination period will resume on the date you respond to the notice.

If you have not followed the proper procedures for filing your pre-service claim, you will be notified of the failure and the proper procedures to be followed in filing pre-service claims. This notice will be provided to you as soon as possible, but not later than 5 days, following the failure. This notification may be oral, unless you request written notification.

For these purposes, a pre-service claim means any claim for a benefit with respect to which the terms of the prescription drug program condition receipt of the benefit, in whole or in part, on approval of the benefit in advance of obtaining medical care.

Review Timing for Urgent Care Claims
If your claim is an urgent care claim, CVS Caremark will notify you of its decision on your claim (whether adverse or not) as soon as possible, but no later than 72 hours after it receives the claim. If you fail to provide sufficient information to determine whether, or to what extent, benefits are covered or payable, CVS Caremark will inform you as soon as possible, but no later than 24 hours after it receives the claim, of the specific information necessary to complete the claim. You will have a reasonable amount of time, taking into account the circumstances, but no less than 48 hours, to provide the specified information. CVS Caremark will notify you of its determination on your claim as soon as possible, and no later than 48 hours after the earlier of (1) CVS Caremark's receipt of the specified information and (2) the end of the period provided to you to provide the specified additional information.

If you have not followed the proper procedures for filing your urgent care claim, you will be notified of the failure and the proper procedures to be followed in filing urgent care claims. This notice will be provided to you as soon as possible, but not later than 24 hours, following the failure. This notification may be oral, unless you request written notification.

For these purposes, an urgent care claim is any claim for medical care or treatment with respect to which the application of time periods for making non-urgent care determinations could seriously jeopardize your life or health or your ability to regain maximum function or, in the opinion of a physician with knowledge of your medical condition, would subject you to severe pain that could not be adequately managed without the care or treatment that is the subject of the claim.

Notice of Adverse Determination
In the event of an adverse benefit determination, in whole or in part, you will be notified of the adverse determination in writing.

An adverse benefit determination is a denial, reduction or termination of, or failure to provide or make payment (in whole or in part) for, a Medical Plan benefit. An adverse benefit determination notification for any prescription drug program claim will contain:

- information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
- the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination;
- reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;
- a description of any additional material or information necessary to perfect the claim and an explanation of why such material or information is necessary;
- a description of the prescription drug program's internal review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an appeal, including a statement of your rights to bring a civil action under section 502(a) of ERISA following any final internal adverse benefit determination on appeal and any time limits for filing such a civil action;
- a description of the prescription drug program's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate an external appeal;
- a statement that a copy of any internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion that was relied upon in making the adverse determination regarding your claim is available free of charge upon request;
- in the case of an urgent care claim, a description of the expedited review process applicable to such claims;

- notification of the opportunity to request the diagnosis and treatment codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
- a statement that if the adverse determination is based on medical necessity or experimental treatment, or a similar exclusion or limit, you will be provided, upon request and free of charge, an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment, applying the terms of the prescription drug program to your medical circumstances; and
- contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals process.

If the adverse benefit determination relates to an urgent care claim, the information described above may be provided to you orally within the required time frame, provided that a written or electronic notification is provided no later than 3 days after the oral notification.

When You Have a Complaint or an Appeal
If your claim is denied, you may request a full review by CVS Caremark within 180 days of the date of the adverse benefit determination. Your written letter of appeal should include the following:

- your name and participant ID number;
- your doctor's name and telephone number;
- the name of the medication; and
- any additional information from your pharmacy or medical provider that will assist CVS Caremark in completing its review of your appeal, such as documents, records, questions or comments.

Documents, records, written comments, and other information in support of your appeal should accompany your request. This information will be considered by CVS Caremark in reviewing your claim. You may request reasonable access to copies of all documents, records, and other information relevant to your claim. CVS Caremark will review your claim without granting any deference to the initial decision regarding your claim. Also, no reviewer may be a person that was involved in making the initial decision regarding your claim, or a subordinate to that person. If the claim was based, in whole or in part, on a medical judgment in reviewing the claim, CVS Caremark will consult with a health care professional who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment in reviewing the claim. This person will not be a person (or a subordinate of a person) consulted by CVS Caremark in deciding the initial claim. Your appeal should be mailed to:

Caremark, Inc.
Department of Appeals, MC109
P.O. Box 52084
Phoenix, AZ 85072-2084

CVS Caremark can also be reached by fax at 866-689-3092. In the case of an appeal relating to an urgent care claim, you may request an expedited appeal orally by contacting CVS Caremark at 888-797-8912 or in writing. All necessary information will be transmitted by telephone, fax or other available similarly expeditious manner.

To the extent required by applicable law:

- you will be allowed to review your claim file and to present evidence and testimony as part of the internal claims and appeals process;
- CVS Caremark will provide you, free of charge, with any new or additional evidence considered, relied upon or generated by the prescription drug program (or at the direction of the prescription drug program) in connection with your appeal as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date; and
- if the denial of your appeal is based on a new or additional rationale, CVS Caremark will provide you, free of charge, with the new or additional rationale as soon as possible and sufficiently in advance of the date on which it provides you with notice of its determination on appeal, so that you will have a reasonable opportunity to respond prior to that date.

Timing of Appeal Notification for Post-Service Claims
In the case of a post-service claim, CVS Caremark will notify you of its decision on your appeal within 30 days of its receipt of your request for review.

Timing of Appeal Notification for Pre-Service Claims (Claims Requiring Preauthorization)
In the case of a pre-service claim, CVS Caremark will provide notification of its determination on appeal within a reasonable amount of time appropriate to the medical circumstances, but not later than 15 days after receipt of the request for review.

Timing of Appeal Notification for Urgent Care Claims
In the case of an urgent care claim, CVS Caremark will provide notification of its determination on appeal as soon as possible, taking into account the medical exigencies, but not later than 72 hours after receipt of the request for review.

Notice of Benefit Determination on Appeal
Every notice of a determination on appeal will be provided in writing or electronically and, if an adverse determination, will include:

- information sufficient to identify the claim involved;
- the specific reason or reasons for the adverse determination;
- reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination is based;
- a statement that you are entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to and copies of all documents, records, and other relevant information;
- a description of the prescription drug program's external review procedures, the time limits applicable to such procedures and how to initiate the external appeals process;
- a statement describing any voluntary appeal procedures offered by the prescription drug program and your right to bring an action under ERISA section 502(a) following any final internal adverse benefit determination and any applicable time limits for bringing such an action;

- a statement that copies of any internal rule, guideline, protocol or other similar criterion that was relied upon in making the adverse determination regarding your appeal are available upon request and free of charge;
- notification of the opportunity to request the diagnosis and treatment codes associated with the claim involved, including their respective meanings, and to have such information provided upon request;
- a statement that if the adverse determination is based on medical necessity or experimental treatment, or a similar exclusion or limit, you will be provided, upon request and free of charge, an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment, applying the terms of the prescription drug program to your medical circumstances; and
- contact information for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Second Level Appeal Process for Post-Service Claims
If your post-service claim is denied on appeal, you have a right to bring a second appeal within 30 days of the adverse benefit determination on the first level appeal. A second appeal should contain the information and should be submitted to the address described in "When You Have a Complaint or Appeal" above. CVS Caremark will notify you of its decision on your appeal within 30 days of your request for a second review. Every notice of a determination on appeal will be provided in writing or electronically and, if an adverse determination, will include the information listed in "Notice of Benefit Determination on Appeal" above, as well as the following statement: "You and your plan may have other voluntary dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local U.S. Department of Labor Office and your state insurance regulatory agency."

Second Level Appeal Process for Pre-Service Claims
If your pre-service claim is denied on appeal, you have a right to bring a second appeal within 15 days of the adverse benefit determination on the first level appeal. A second appeal should contain the information and should be submitted to the address described in "When You Have a Complaint or Appeal" above. CVS Caremark will notify you of its decision on your appeal within 15 days of your request for a second review. Every notice of a determination on appeal will be provided in writing or electronically and, if an adverse determination, will include the information listed in "Notice of Benefit Determination on Appeal" above, as well as the following statement: "You and your plan may have other voluntary dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local U.S. Department of Labor Office and your state insurance regulatory agency."

Voluntary External Review Program
Once you have exhausted the internal claims and appeals process described above, you may be able to file an appeal with an independent review organization (IRO) that is accredited to conduct external review. External review is available only after internal appeals are exhausted and is available only for certain types of adverse benefit determinations, as defined by federal regulations.

If you wish to file a request for external review, you must submit your request within 4 months of the date of your receipt of CVS Caremark's final internal adverse determination on your appeal. Contact CVS Caremark at the telephone number shown on your CVS Caremark prescription ID card for more information on how to file a request for external review of your appeal.

CVS Caremark will determine if your appeal is eligible for the voluntary external review program and will provide you with a written notice of its determination. If your request is complete but not eligible for external review, the notice will include the reason or reasons for the denial and contact information for the Employee Benefits Security Administration. If your request is not complete, the notice will describe the information or materials needed to make the request complete, and, in order to pursue an external review, you must provide the required information within the 4-month filing period or within the 48-hour period following receipt of the notification, whichever is later.

If your claim is eligible for external review, CVS Caremark will assign your claim to an IRO. The IRO will notify you of the acceptance of your claim for external review, and this notice will include a statement that you may submit to the IRO in writing within 10 business days following receipt of the notice any additional information the IRO should consider in conducting the external review.

The IRO will review all of the information and documents it receives in a timely manner. You will receive written notice of the final external review decision within 45 days after the IRO receives the request for external review. The notice will include the following:

- a general description of the reason for the request for external review, including information sufficient to identify the claim;
- the date the IRO received the assignment to conduct the external review and the date of the IRO decision;
- references to the evidence or documentation, including the specific coverage provisions and evidence-based standards, considered in reaching its decision;
- a discussion of the principal reason or reasons for its decision, including the rationale for its decision and any evidence-based standards that were relied on in making its decision;
- a statement that the determination is binding except to the extent that other remedies may be available under State or Federal law to you or the prescription drug program;
- a statement that judicial review may be available to you; and
- current contact information, including phone number, for any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman.

If your request for external review relates to an urgent care claim, CVS Caremark will determine if the appeal is eligible for the voluntary external review program and will provide you with written notice of its determination immediately. If the urgent care claim is eligible for external review, CVS Caremark will assign the urgent care claim to an IRO as described above. The IRO will review all of the information and documents relevant to the appeal, to the extent the information and documents are available and the IRO considers them appropriate. The IRO will provide notice to you and the Medical Plan of the final external review decision as soon as possible, but no more than 72 hours after the IRO receives the request for an expedited external review. If the notice is not provided in writing, the IRO will provide you and the Medical Plan with a written confirmation of its decision within 48 hours after the date of providing the notice.

Legal Action
You have the right to bring a civil action under section 502(a) of ERISA if you are not satisfied with the outcome of the internal claims and appeals procedure. You may not initiate a legal action until you have completed the first and second level internal appeal processes. No legal action may be brought more than one year following a final decision on the claim under the internal appeal processes. If a civil action is not filed within this period, your claim will be deemed permanently waived and abandoned, and you will be precluded from reasserting it.

Discretionary Authority
The authority to decide initial claims for prescription drug program benefits under the prescription drug program and denied claims for prescription drug benefits on review under the prescription drug program includes the full power and discretion to interpret prescription drug program provisions and to make factual determinations, with CVS Caremark's decisions, interpretations and factual determinations controlling, unless overturned through the voluntary external review program described above. Requests for information regarding individual claims, or a review of a denied claim, are to be directed in writing and properly addressed to CVS Caremark at the address listed above. Call CVS Caremark Customer Service for additional information regarding the appeals process.

Medical Coverage Availability

Duke Energy Corporation (Duke Energy) offers you and your eligible dependents a comprehensive Medical Plan with coverage administered by the claims administrators identified in your Medical Plan benefits booklets (Claims Administrators). The Medical Plan includes medical, surgical, hospitalization, prescription drug, wellness and disease management benefits, as well as expert medical opinions and certain onsite health care services.

There are various Medical Plan coverage options available, such as high-deductible health plan (HDHP) and preferred provider organization (PPO) options. If you do not have adequate access to network providers, you may qualify for an out-of-area (OOA) option. All of the Medical Plan options are designed to help you pay for health care expenses.

Eligibility

Eligible Employees

Generally, you are eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan on your first day of active work as an eligible employee (provided you enroll within 31 calendar days of the date you become an eligible employee).

To be an eligible employee, you must satisfy each of the following requirements:

- you are identified in and paid through Duke Energy's payroll system as an employee of Duke Energy or an affiliated Duke Energy company that is participating in the Medical Plan (individually or collectively referred to with Duke Energy as the Company, as appropriate); and

- you are classified by your Company as either a regular employee or a fixed-term employee.

Generally, you are a regular employee if you fill a regular position that is typically longer than 180 days in duration, and you are a fixed-term employee if you are hired for a position for a specifically defined time frame, duration of a project (usually one year or less), until services are no longer needed, or until the work goes away.

You are not eligible to participate in the Medical Plan if you are:

- a non-resident alien with no U.S. source income;
- not on a U.S. payroll of the Company;
- covered by a collective bargaining agreement, unless the collective bargaining agreement in effect expressly provides for participation in the Medical Plan (a copy of your applicable collective bargaining agreement can be obtained from your union steward, union hall, Duke Energy Labor Relations contact or immediate supervisor);

- an individual who has waived eligibility through any means, including an individual whose employment is governed by a written agreement (including an offer letter setting forth terms and conditions of employment) that provides the individual is not eligible for benefits (a general statement in the agreement, offer letter or other communication stating that the individual is not eligible for benefits is construed to mean that the individual is not eligible to participate in the Medical Plan); or
- a temporary employee, a seasonal employee or any other employee who is not a regular employee or fixed-term employee.

In some circumstances, an individual who provides services to the Company under an agreement that identifies the individual as an independent contractor or through a third party (such as a contracting services firm, temporary agency or leasing organization) may be considered a Company "employee" for certain purposes under the law, such as tax withholding. Such an individual is not paid through the Company's payroll system and is not eligible for the Medical Plan.

Eligible Dependents

When you enroll for certain coverage, you may elect to cover your eligible dependents, which may include:

- your eligible spouse
- your eligible domestic partner
- your eligible child(ren)

Spouse Eligibility

Your spouse, eligible for coverage as a dependent, is a person to whom you are legally married under applicable law, which may include "common law marriage" and "same-sex marriage."

Generally, for health coverage of a taxpayer's spouse to be tax-free to the taxpayer, the spouse must be recognized as such under applicable state law and any related federal guidance, which may include "common law marriage" and "same-sex marriage."

By enrolling your spouse in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your spouse is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your spouse from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your spouse's eligibility.

You must immediately report any spouse who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your spouse's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible spouse, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your spouse after your spouse ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your spouse's eligibility.

Domestic Partner Eligibility

If you are enrolled in Medical Plan coverage, you can elect coverage for your eligible same- or opposite-sex domestic partner. You and your domestic partner must continuously:

- be each other's sole domestic partner, and intend to remain so indefinitely;
- be at least 18 years of age and mentally competent to enter into a legal contract;
- have lived together in a common household for the immediately preceding 6 consecutive months;
- share financial obligations of, and be jointly responsible for, the common household;
- not be legally married to or legally separated from anyone else, nor in a domestic partnership with anyone else; and
- not be related by blood or marriage to a degree of closeness that would prohibit marriage to one another in your current state of residence.

Generally, for medical coverage of a taxpayer's domestic partner to be tax-free to the taxpayer, the domestic partner must qualify as the taxpayer's tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, as defined by Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code. See Cost of Coverage below for additional information regarding the tax treatment of your domestic partner's medical coverage.

By enrolling your domestic partner in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your domestic partner is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your domestic partner from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your domestic partner's eligibility.

You must immediately report any domestic partner who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your domestic partner's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible domestic partner, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your domestic partner after your domestic partner ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your domestic partner's eligibility.

Child Eligibility

Your child is:

- your biological child, up to age 26; or
- your legally adopted child, including a child placed in your home for legal adoption by you as long as the child remains in your home and the adoption procedure has not been terminated, and whether or not the adoption has become final, up to age 26; or
- your stepchild, up to age 26; or
- your foster child, up to age 26; or
- your domestic partner's biological child, legally adopted child (including a child placed in your home for legal adoption by your domestic partner as long as the child remains in your home and the adoption procedure has not been terminated, whether or not the adoption has become final), stepchild or foster child, who is primarily dependent on you for support,

whom you claim as a dependent for federal income tax purposes and with whom you have a regular parent-child relationship, up to age 26; or

- any other child for whom you, your spouse or your domestic partner has legal guardianship, full or joint legal custody or managing conservatorship under a valid court decree, who is primarily dependent on you for support, whom you claim as a dependent for federal income tax purposes and with whom you have a regular parent-child relationship, up to age 26.

In addition, your child may be covered at any age if:

- he or she became physically or mentally incapable of self-support while enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan and before reaching the applicable limiting age of 26 and continuously remains incapacitated and enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan; or
- he or she was physically or mentally incapable of self-support on your date of employment with the Company, was enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan as of your employment date and continuously remains incapacitated and enrolled in a Company-sponsored medical plan.

By enrolling a dependent child in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that the child is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. Failure to drop your child from coverage constitutes a continuous affirmation of your child's eligibility.

You must immediately report any dependent child who should be dropped from your coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your dependent child's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for an ineligible dependent child, you should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for your child after your child ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of your child's eligibility.

An eligible child only can be covered by one Company employee or retiree.

Surviving Spouse, Domestic Partner and Child Eligibility

If you die while you and your spouse/domestic partner are covered under the Medical Plan, your surviving spouse/domestic partner may continue Medical Plan coverage by making contribution payment arrangements with the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. This coverage can be continued until the earliest of your spouse's remarriage, your domestic partner's establishment of a new domestic partner relationship, the death of your spouse/domestic partner and the date that your spouse/domestic partner becomes eligible for other coverage (e.g., through an employer's plan or Medicare).

If you are survived by dependent children, their medical coverage may continue for as long as they:

- continue to meet the definition of eligible dependents; and
- make required payments for coverage. Payment arrangements should be coordinated with the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

This provision applies even if your spouse/domestic partner dies or loses coverage after you.

Your surviving spouse/domestic partner and/or dependent children will be charged for their component of the contribution for coverage.

If your spouse/domestic partner and/or dependent children elect survivor coverage, they may drop their survivor coverage at any time during the calendar year, regardless of whether they experience a work/life event for which mid-year changes are allowed. See Mid-Year Changes for additional information about work/life events for which mid-year changes are allowed.

If coverage under the Medical Plan is declined or ends, your covered dependents may be eligible for continued coverage under COBRA for up to 36 months in certain situations.

Your spouse/domestic partner must immediately report any dependents who should be dropped from survivor coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. See If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible for a description of what happens if your dependent's loss of eligibility is not reported within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. To drop coverage for ineligible dependents, your spouse/domestic partner should contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. Any failure to drop coverage for a dependent after the dependent ceases to be eligible will be considered a misrepresentation of the dependent's eligibility.

See Termination of Coverage for Non-Payment for a description of what happens when required payments for coverage are not made.

If you are covered under the Medical Plan and your spouse/domestic partner is an eligible retiree who is covered as your dependent, your spouse/domestic partner may continue coverage under the Medical Plan following your death as the survivor of an active employee.

Please note: Under the enrollment requirements for Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree health coverage, if you are an eligible retiree and you do not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage within 31 days of your retirement date (or within 31 days after your COBRA continuation coverage under the Medical Plan ends), or if you decline or drop Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage at any point thereafter, you cannot enroll yourself or your eligible dependents in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical, dental or vision coverage at any future date. This means that if your spouse/domestic partner who is an eligible retiree continues Medical Plan coverage as the survivor of an active employee, and does not enroll in Duke Energy-sponsored pre-65 retiree medical coverage within 31 days of retiring, your spouse/domestic partner will not be able to enroll in pre-65 retiree medical, dental or vision coverage at any future date.

Please refer to the Summary Plan Descriptions for the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan, the Duke Energy Retiree Dental Plan and the Duke Energy Retiree Vision Plan for additional information.

Employee and Retiree Couples

No one may be considered as a dependent of more than one employee or more than one retiree.

Verification of Dependent Status

By enrolling your dependent in the Medical Plan, you are affirmatively representing that your dependent is eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan. You will be required to provide evidence of dependent eligibility, such as, but not limited to, tax returns, marriage license, birth certificate, court order, adoption papers or proof of joint residency within 30 calendar days following the date of enrollment. If you fail to provide proper evidence of dependent eligibility in a timely manner, coverage for your dependent generally will end 45 calendar days following the date of enrollment. See Claims Determination Procedures for a description of how to file an eligibility or enrollment claim if your dependent's Medical Plan coverage ends due to a failure to timely provide evidence of dependent eligibility. If your claim or appeal is granted, coverage for your dependent may be reinstated retroactively to the date coverage for your dependent was dropped.

To continue coverage beyond age 26 for a child who is physically or mentally incapable of self-support, you must provide evidence of your child's incapacity to the Medical Plan Claims Administrator. The application can be obtained by contacting the Duke Energy myHR Service Center. You may be required periodically to provide evidence of the child's continuing incapacity.

If a Dependent Becomes Ineligible

If a covered spouse, domestic partner or dependent child becomes ineligible for coverage during the year (for example, if your child reaches age 26), the individual(s) who become(s) ineligible for coverage will be dropped from your coverage.

You must immediately report any dependents who should be dropped from coverage due to a loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility. When you report a dependent's loss of eligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility:

- the dependent's coverage ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage; and

- changes to your contribution amounts will be made as soon as administratively practicable after the date on which you notify the Duke Energy myHR Service Center that your dependent is no longer eligible.

If you do not inform the Duke Energy myHR Service Center of a covered dependent's ineligibility within 31 calendar days of the loss of eligibility:

- the dependent's coverage ends at midnight on the last day of the month in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage;

- no changes to your coverage level, if applicable, may be made until the next annual enrollment period or, if earlier, the date you experience another work/life event which allows you to change your Medical Plan election (this means that you must continue to pay for the dependent's coverage through the end of the year in which the dependent loses eligibility for coverage even though he or she is no longer covered, unless you experience another work/life event which allows you to change your Medical Plan election);

- the coverage provided while your dependent is ineligible will be considered as part of the individual's COBRA coverage period (this period begins on the first day of the month following the month in which eligibility is lost); and

- COBRA contributions (102% of the total cost) will be required to pay for the coverage received since the end of the month in which eligibility was lost if the individual elects continuation of coverage under COBRA.

To drop coverage for ineligible dependents, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

The Company reserves the right to seek recovery of any benefits paid under the Medical Plan to your ineligible dependents.

Enrolling in the Medical Plan

When You Are First Eligible

When you are eligible to enroll, you will make your Medical Plan election using an online enrollment tool. You will receive additional information about the online enrollment tool when you become eligible.

If you have questions or need assistance in making your Medical Plan election, contact the Duke Energy myHR Service Center.

When you enroll in the Medical Plan as an eligible employee, based on the dependent(s) that you elect to cover, if any, your coverage level will be one of the following:

- Individual Only
- Individual + Spouse/Domestic Partner
- Individual + Child(ren)
- Individual + Family (Spouse/Domestic Partner and Child(ren))

You must make your election within 31 calendar days of becoming eligible for coverage in order for coverage to begin on the date you become an eligible employee. If you do not make your election within 31 calendar days of becoming eligible, your next opportunity to enroll will be during a subsequent annual enrollment period or within 31 calendar days of a work/life event for which mid-year changes are allowed.

By accessing the enrollment tool or calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center and making your coverage election when you are first eligible, you are affirmatively representing that all information provided during enrollment including, but not limited to, the eligibility of any dependents for coverage and/or your non-tobacco user status (and that of your spouse/domestic partner, as applicable) is true and correct. If Duke Energy discovers that any information you provide during enrollment is incorrect or inaccurate, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to recover Medical Plan benefits paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of Medical Plan coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

You also may decline coverage altogether.

During Annual Enrollment

Each fall you will have the opportunity to change your Medical Plan election for the following plan year, including changing your coverage option or electing to drop or add eligible dependents. This process is referred to as “annual enrollment.” You will receive information and instructions each fall about annual enrollment.

By accessing the enrollment tool or calling the Duke Energy myHR Service Center and making (or not changing, as applicable) your coverage election during annual enrollment, you are affirmatively representing that all information provided during annual enrollment including, but not limited to, the eligibility of any dependents for coverage, your completion of any wellness program initiatives and/or your non-tobacco user status (and that of your spouse/domestic partner, as applicable) is true and correct. If Duke Energy discovers that any information you provide during annual enrollment is incorrect or inaccurate, Duke Energy reserves the right to recover any contribution amounts you should have paid, to recover Medical Plan benefits paid, to take appropriate disciplinary action for falsification of documents, up to and including termination of Medical Plan coverage and/or discharge, and to take other appropriate action.

Other Opportunities to Enroll

Under the provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), you can enroll yourself and your eligible dependents for coverage under the Medical Plan during the year if:

- you or your dependent had other coverage under another health plan or health insurance at the time the Medical Plan was previously offered to you; and
- you did not enroll in the Medical Plan; and
- you or your dependents lose such other coverage and are otherwise eligible for coverage under the Medical Plan.

To enroll for Medical Plan coverage in such a circumstance, the following conditions must be satisfied:

- The other coverage was:
  - Under a federal continuation provision (COBRA) and the continuation period for the other coverage was exhausted. (COBRA coverage is considered exhausted when it ceases for any reason other than either failure of the individuals to pay contributions on a timely basis or for cause (fraudulent or intentional misrepresentation).)
  - Not under COBRA and the other coverage terminated as a result of (1) loss of eligibility (such as loss of eligibility due to legal separation, divorce, death, termination of employment or reduction in the number of hours of employment), or (2) employer contributions toward the other coverage end.

In any case, the other coverage must not have terminated because you failed to pay timely contributions, or for cause (such as filing fraudulent claims).

HIPAA also allows you to enroll yourself, your eligible spouse and/or your newly eligible child if you acquire an eligible dependent through marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption.

If you need to enroll for coverage under the Medical Plan as a result of one of these events (such as loss of other coverage, or because you acquire an eligible dependent through marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption) you must enroll within 31 calendar days of the event. Otherwise, unless a subsequent work/life event giving rise to a mid-year change occurs (see Mid-Year Changes), you must wait until the next annual enrollment.

HIPAA also allows you to enroll yourself and your eligible dependents for coverage under the Medical Plan during the year if:

- you or your eligible dependents lose Medicaid or Children's Health Insurance Program (CHIP) coverage because you or your eligible dependents, as applicable, are no longer eligible; or
- you or your eligible dependents become eligible for premium assistance under a Medical Plan option through a state's premium assistance program under Medicaid or CHIP.

If you need to enroll for coverage under the Medical Plan as a result of one of these two events, you must enroll within 60 calendar days of the event. Otherwise, unless a subsequent work/life event giving rise to a mid-year change occurs (see Mid-Year Changes), you must wait until the next annual enrollment.

If You Are Rehired

If your Medical Plan coverage ends due to your termination of employment with the Company or layoff and you are reemployed by the Company as an active employee within 31 calendar days and within the same plan year, you will be automatically reenrolled in the Medical Plan (in the previous coverage option and at the previous coverage level). If you have experienced a work/life event for which you can make a change in your Medical Plan election (such as marriage, divorce or birth), you can add and/or drop coverage for your eligible dependent(s), as applicable, within 31 calendar days of the date you again become an eligible employee. If you are reemployed more than 31 calendar days after your termination or in a subsequent plan year, you must reenroll as a new employee.

If you retire from the Company as an eligible retiree and are later rehired as an eligible active employee, you will be eligible for coverage as an active employee. When your employment subsequently terminates, you may be able to reelect retiree coverage under the Duke Energy Retiree Medical Plan or individual coverage through an insurance exchange if you are not yet age 65 at that time, or you may be able to elect individual coverage through a Medicare exchange if you are age 65 or older at that time.

Cost of Coverage

You and the Company share in the cost of medical coverage for yourself and your covered dependents. Your contribution amount is based on the Medical Plan coverage option that you elect and the eligible dependent(s) you choose to cover. Information about contribution amounts is available through the myHR website.

Your contributions for medical coverage while an employee are deducted from your pay on a pre-tax basis each pay period. Because your contributions are taken as deductions on a pre-tax basis, they are not subject to federal income, Social Security and most states' income taxes.

Even though you reduce your income for tax purposes through pre-tax contributions for medical coverage, you are not reducing the value of your other Company pay-related benefits, such as life insurance, disability insurance and retirement benefits. These benefits are based on your pay before contributions for medical coverage are deducted.

If you elect coverage for a domestic partner, you will need to confirm whether your covered domestic partner is your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, as defined by Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code. If your covered domestic partner is your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, contributions for your domestic partner's coverage will be deducted from your pay on a pre-tax basis each pay period. If your covered domestic partner is not your tax dependent for federal income tax purposes, the portion of your contribution required to cover the domestic partner under the Medical Plan is deducted on a pre-tax basis and the value of the coverage associated with the benefits you elected under the Medical Plan for your domestic partner will appear as imputed income on your pay advice statements and is subject to applicable taxes. As a result, please make sure to indicate your domestic partner's tax dependent status when you enroll to ensure proper tax treatment for your coverage. Please note that the Company does not provide tax advice, and you should consult with your tax advisor for information about the tax consequences of electing coverage for a domestic partner.

Duke Energy WellPower Rewards

Under Duke Energy WellPower Rewards (WellPower Rewards), you and your spouse/domestic partner may be eligible to earn rewards that will be applied to reduce your contributions for coverage under the Medical Plan during the following calendar year. For example, if you complete the WellPower Rewards biometric screening during an applicable year's program cycle, or if your spouse/domestic partner completes a WellPower Rewards Health Assessment during an applicable year's program cycle, the rewards you and your spouse/domestic partner earn for completing these activities may be applied to reduce your contributions for medical coverage each pay period throughout the following year on a pro-rated basis (i.e., applied evenly to reduce the contribution you make toward the cost of medical coverage each payroll period during the following year).

Eligibility and Redeeming Rewards

Information about the eligibility requirements for participating in WellPower Rewards and redeeming any rewards you earn is included in the WellPower Rewards materials sent to you throughout the year. This information also is available on the Duke Energy Portal.

Duke Energy WellPower Rewards Activities

The activities that you and/or your spouse/domestic partner must complete to receive rewards may vary with each program cycle. Review the WellPower Rewards materials sent to you throughout the year for additional information on the program cycle's activities and requirements.

The Medical Plan is committed to helping you achieve your best health. Rewards for participating in WellPower Rewards are generally available to all eligible employees. If you think you might be unable to meet a standard for a reward under WellPower Rewards, you might qualify for an opportunity to earn the same reward by different means. Contact a Vitality Customer Service Specialist at 866-567-0705 and a representative will work with you (and, if you wish, your doctor) to find activities with the same reward that are right for you in light of your health status.
