As the complaints in Case Nos. 2009-00070, 2009-00085, and 2009-00086 generally pertain to the same provider of the landline and cell service in question, AT&T, Inc., and pertain to interruptions in service in the far western counties of the state during and immediately after the occurrence of the 2009 Ice Storm, the Commission finds that the complaints are sufficiently similar in nature and should be administratively consolidated under Case No. 2009-00070.

Typically, when utility customers file complaints with the Commission, the complaints are reviewed to determine if a prima facie case exists which would compel the utility either to provide a written response or to satisfy the issues complained of.¹ However, before compelling AT&T, Inc. to address these particular complaints, the Commission finds that each of the complainants should be given the opportunity to provide additional information for the record. After reviewing the additional information from each complainant, the Commission will then determine if the individual complaints meet the standard for a prima facie case.

The Commission finds that each of the named complainants shall provide a written response to the questions contained in the Appendix to this Order. The responses shall be submitted to the Commission within 20 days of the date of this Order. Each person shall provide five copies of the response to the Commission. Each person shall refer to Case No. 2009-00070 in the response submitted to the Commission.
