To Whom It May Concern,
I am writing about the potential increase in our electric bill. I do not agree with the idea that Kentucky Power is proposing for an almost 35 percent rate increase. I live in Ashland, Ky, along with my husband and our three children. He is employed by John W. Clark Oil Inc. and has drive a tanker truck for them for the last 14 years. He has not had an even 1¢ raise in over 4 years because John W. Clark says that they can't afford to give their men a raise. If a millionaire cannot afford a little raise in pay for men driving a bomb around for him making him more money might, how are we supposed to be able to afford to cover the fuel Co's request to help them cover their rise in costs? The simple answer is "WE CAN'T!" well loved surviving man!

Thank you,
James Earl
