What LG&E is trying to do is an outrage. Another way for a big corporation to shake down the little guy for a few more dollars to line their pockets. I am sure the city has a "no loss" clause in their contract so they will never lose a cent of profit. Why don't we have another electric company here as well to compete for customers. Look what happened to the cable TV, wireless phones, etc. when new providers came to town. It is a shame how the fat cats get fatter on our dime.
