Commissioners;

It is my desire to vehemently object to the proposed rate increase announced by LG&E, effective on March 1, 2010.

Several years ago LG&E announced, in a previous rate increase proposal, that it was necessary to charge customers an additional cost "to cover acts of God and disruptions beyond their control".

What happened? Was not the wind storm of 2008 and ice storm of 2009 covered under this increase? Do we ever get a DECREASE in the years we DO NOT have severe weather? I believe you know the answer to that question!

It apparently follows the same path of "fuel adjustments".

For too long the public has been at the mercy of utility companies, who has little regard for their customers and seem to be totally unregulated.

I believe it is time that you take a stand and make e-on/LG&E justify, without a doubt, the need for this increase!

Thank you,

Sincerely,

William Lawrence
