I don't understand how they think ~~that~~ during these hard times, where there are still so many unemployed, or those that may have found jobs but making less money, or people like me who didn't lose their jobs, but no increase in pay... how are we to keep our homes? How are we to pay the increases they want to impose on us? I also have health issues, where I'm paying $65 for 5 diff prescriptions and a lower price for 3 other prescriptions. ^{monthly} Most companies are barely making it, but they are doing the most of what they have to keep going. Maybe IGE needs to focus on finding new avenues to cut back at this time until life picks back up. We are all suffering from losses and have cut Thank You back in a lot of ways

Also, I'm still paying on a mortgage. And I have other utility bills and other bills just like most people. I also had to buy a generator because I didn't have electricity during the ice storm. Nobody paid me for it. Please tell them NO!
