To All:

In case you have not already heard, EPA published in today's Federal Register the Mercury and Air Toxics (MATs) rule. This means the compliance time clock begins today and we will need all of the control equipment in place and operating no later than February 16, 2016 (assuming we get the promised 1 year extension). If I find any changes from the pre-published rule I will let the group know. If you have any questions please do not hesitate to ask.
