I've crafted the following draft brief summary language regarding the planned 2012 ECP filing, and seek your edits/comments/sign-off, today if possible....

Big Rivers plans to file a 2012 environmental compliance plan (ECP) with the Kentucky Public Service Commission (KPSC) in April 2012, seeking their approval. This ECP will consist of $283,490 of capital projects, primarily for a new scrubber at the D.B. Wilson station and selective catalytic reduction (SCR) at the R. D. Green station, and certain operations and maintenance expenses to most cost effectively comply with the new laws and regulations promulgated by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for the Cross-State Air Pollution Rule (CSAPR) and the Mercury and Other Air Toxics Standards (MATS). Among other things, the ECP filing will seek cost recovery via Big Rivers existing Environmental Surcharge tariff rider, an automatic cost pass-through somewhat similar in nature to the Fuel Adjustment Clause (FAC).

Thanks,

Mark
