PUBLIC SERVICE

Dear PCS

I am a resident of eastern Ky. near Hazard I have lived here all my life and coal has been a staple of life here for a long time. I know that change is a good thing and must come, but people here are poor and on a fixed income and money cost a good much, and there are a few that do not have any ambition and live on what the government gives them. But as for me I work 3 jobs to make a living and when I see the Federal Government making stupid decisions that is going to take more money out of my pocket it disgusts me. I have already installed a wood burner into my home this past winter and am encouraging my neighbors to do the same to save on winter heating bills and now I am looking into solar panels to keep my electric in check due to the federal government. So if you let them close the plants they are wanting to close go ahead but sooner or later you will have more people living without electricity in the future than there was in the 50's + 40's Here in eastern Ky.

Thank you
Willie Stillman
