It is true that the property in question is commercial real estate as is every other apartment building in Anderson County. Atmos does not charge commercial rate for those properties. Keeping in mind that there is only one apartment in this building that has a gas appliance. (that being a furnace to heat a 900 sq. foot apartment.

When I paid for the gas service I told Atmos that this would not be a motel any longer and only one unit had any gas and that it would be residential. They told me that it had to be rated as commercial with a commercial rate. That was incorrect then and is still incorrect now otherwise they would not have changed it.

My question is if what Atmos contends is true why was it recently changed to residential? Are there any apartments in Lawrenceburg that are classified as commercial?
