ORDER

On June 23, 2016 the Commission issued an Order establishing a procedural schedule in this case. On July 7, 2016 BellSouth Telecommunications, LLC d/b/a AT&T Kentucky ("AT&T Kentucky") filed a motion with the Commission to modify the procedural schedule to provide for briefs and possible request for oral argument.

In its motion, AT&T Kentucky argues that the issues presented in the proceeding are predominantly legal, and, because of this, the parties should be permitted to file legal briefs in order present their arguments to the Commission. AT&T Kentucky also argues that it may be appropriate for the Commission to conduct oral arguments. AT&T Kentucky proposes to modify the existing procedural schedule to allow for two rounds of briefs followed by a date by which the parties may request oral argument. MCI Communications Services, Inc. d/b/a Verizon Business Services, in response to AT&T Kentucky's motion, states that it joins in AT&T Kentucky's motion.

On July 13, 2016, Competitive Carriers of the South, Inc. ("CompSouth") filed its opposition to AT&T Kentucky's motion. CompSouth argues that AT&T Kentucky's motion is premature and unnecessary because the Commission regularly addresses the question of whether or not briefing is necessary at the conclusion of an evidentiary hearing. CompSouth states that AT&T Kentucky would have the opportunity to request the right to file briefs at the conclusion of the existing procedural schedule. CompSouth also asserts that the Commission is capable of understanding the legal issues without two rounds of briefs and that it is likely that the Commission will only find that one rounds of briefs would be necessary.

On July 13, 2016, AT&T Kentucky replied to CompSouth's response. In its reply AT&T Kentucky argues that because the issues are predominantly legal, it will need to present its legal arguments at some time, but, under the current schedule, will not know when that opportunity may be. AT&T Kentucky asserts that it needs to know before the filing of testimony is due whether it will later be allowed to file briefs because that will determine how AT&T Kentucky presents its case. AT&T Kentucky argues that if legal briefs are allowed, it can focus its testimony on factual matters and leave legal arguments to the briefs. If there is not an opportunity for briefs, AT&T Kentucky claims that it will have to attempt to address its legal arguments in its testimony. AT&T Kentucky also argues that, as a matter of due process, it has a right to present its legal arguments.

The Commission finds that AT&T Kentucky's motion should be granted in part and denied in part. The motion should be granted to allow for an initial filing of briefs as well as to allow for the opportunity to request oral arguments. The Commission, however, will not currently schedule a second round of briefs. The Commission will also schedule a hearing in this case, and, depending upon the result of discovery and briefing, reserve the option of amending the hearing to include oral arguments. Additionally, the Commission may allow for a second round of briefs after the hearing.

The Commission, upon its own motion, HEREBY ORDERS that:
