Public Service Comm.
Frankfort, Ky.

Enclosed is clipping from local paper.
Duke pays 44 million to a one day CEO and then expects to pass this on to its customers. Who does the customer pass this on to. If Duke wants to pay a new CEO 44 million for one days work let them make the payment-not the customer.
I am 93, spent 3 yrs in WW1 on SS and small pension- who can I pass this on to.
I trust there is someone in the PSC who acts on behalf of the people.

Respectfully

Edward Kuhn

Oppose Duke Energy rate increase

I urge all local residents to write the Public Service Commission and oppose the 17.4 percent rate increase requested by Duke Energy.

This includes the almost tripling of the base charge!

The company has paid out over $170 million in settlements of shareholder lawsuits regarding the ouster of its CEO after just one day on the job. That CEO received $44 million on top of that. For working one day!

The company has claimed customers will not be paying those settlements, yet after a little time has passed for us to forget, they are now asking for enormous increases. Several projects of questionable benefit are being touted as justification for the increase. Most all of those benefit only the company and not customers.
