Dear PSC Commissioners,

Public Comment: Duke Energy Case #2023-00413

It is interesting that you all say you have such a strong commitment to the climate but behind the scenes, like every other corporation, you're just taking steps backwards to line your own pockets and serve your own interests.

Please reconsider. It's not going unnoticed.

Sincerely,
Olivia Tussey

Dear PSC Commissioners,

Public Comment: Duke Energy Case #2023-00413

Duke should not be allowed to undermine the value of rooftop solar by doing away with netting, lowering the compensation rate OR discontinuing its net metering program after they've reached 1% rooftop solar penetration (the minimum requirement under current state law). 1% is a ridiculously low percentage - we need to be working hard towards completely phasing out fossil fuels and transitioning to clean energy if any of us are to survive the climate crisis. Duke (and all power providers) need to be held to HIGHER standards and not be allowed to change the inadequate efforts they are currently making to incentive clean energy.

Sincerely,
Lisa Schoenbachler

Dear PSC Commissioners,

Public Comment: Duke Energy Case #2023-00413

Please do not allow Duke Energy to undermine rooftop solar by changing the rules for "netting" and also underpaying rooftop solar customers for their excess generation. Everyone, including Duke Energy, benefits from rooftop solar generation.

Further, Duke Energy should commit to continuing fair net metering service to customers well beyond the arbitrary 1% solar rooftop "penetration" threshold.

Sincerely,
Elaine Nations

Dear PSC Commissioners,

Public Comment: Duke Energy Case #2023-00413

My family already has rooftop solar. It is very convenient for us and helpful for the utilities, example: during high usage, rooftop solar which cranks out much electricity during hot weather, helps the utilities when it is costly to buy electricity at an expensive cost which also helps utilities by not having to build as much infrastructure for those times.

I am for 'we the people' being able to become independent from utility company's stronghold on renewable energy. For ALL people I hope the utility company's are kept from hurting this kind of American independence.

Sincerely,
Nancy KupperSmith
