Comments: We are one of the property owners that received a certified letter in the mail in regard to the construction of the new wireless communications tower/facility and will be greatly affected by this. We are OPPOSED to the location of this new tower/facility. We are the only house that every day we walk out that will visually see this from bottom to top. It will also affect our property value tremendously. We have health issue concerns as well with this. We were not contacted by the company prior to this. PLEASE CONSIDER MY FAMILY AND OUR SITUATION WE WOULD GREATLY APPRECIATE IT. PLEASE HELP! THANK YOU!!!

Comments: I am a property owner on weatherwood road and received the he certified notice. I am opposed to the proposed location of the new tower. The tower should be located in the back near the middle of the proposed property as far away from neighbors as possible. Also the cell service in that area is already bad and locations close to homes will make service worse. The entire community is opposed from what I understand. We have a tower on our other farm and it's location is away from neighbors as to not decrease their property value, service and keep everyone safe and happy. It is an eye sore and can be noisy at time.

Comments: I am adamantly opposed to a cell tower being located on Weatherwood Road due to the proven health risks to humans and animals from the radiofrequency radiation living in close proximity. There is ample scientific evidence proving the adverse health risks associated with radiofrequency radiation from cell towers. A 2017 study entitled the "Impact of radiofrequency radiation on DNA damage and antioxidants in peripheral blood lymphocytes of humans residing in the vicinity of mobile phone base stations" published in Electromagnetic Biology and Medicine found higher RFR exposures in people living near mobile phone base stations was linked to changes in the blood that are considered biomarkers predictive of cancer. A 2018 study Mobile Phone Base Station Tower Settings Adjacent to School Buildings: Impact on Students' Cognitive Health published in the American Journal of Men's Health found school-aged adolescents exposed to higher levels of RFR exposure had delayed fine and gross motor skills, spatial working memory, and attention in comparison to those exposed to lower RFR levels. A 2015 study Association of Exposure to Radio-Frequency Electromagnetic Field Radiation (RF-EMFR) Generated by Mobile Phone Base Stations with Glycated Hemoglobin (HbA1c) and Risk of Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health on elementary students found higher Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus in students exposed to higher levels of RFR. A 2011 review found a year of operation of a powerful cell base station resulted in a dramatic increase in cancer incidence among the population living nearby. A large-scale animal study published in Environmental Research which exposed rats to cell tower levels of RF found increased cancers, the same tumor types as found by the National Toxicology program animal studies (Falcioni 2018). A 2020 study considering liability issues for wireless companies recommends that “although direct causation of negative human health effects from RFR from cellular phone base stations has not been finalized, there is already enough medical and scientific evidence to warrant long-term liability concerns for companies deploying cellular phone towers. In order to protect cell phone tower firms from the ramifications of the failed paths of other industries that have caused unintended human harm (e.g. tobacco)” the author recommends, “voluntarily restrictions can be made on the placement of cellular phone base stations within 500 m of schools and hospitals.” An analysis of studies found ~80% showed biological effects near towers. “Many biological effects have been documented at very low intensities comparable to what the population experiences within 200 to 500 ft (*60–150 m) of a cell tower, including effects that occurred in studies of cell cultures and animals after exposures to low-intensity RFR. Effects re-ported include: genetic, growth, and reproductive; increases in permeability of the blood–brain barrier; behavioral; molecular, cellular, and metabolic; and increases in cancer risk.” A 2021 study published in the International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health Found higher cell tower RFR radiation exposures linked to increased mortality for all cancers including breast, cervix, lung, and esophagus cancers. A study from Germany found that stress hormones adrenaline and noradrenaline significantly increased over the first 6 months after cell tower antenna activation and after 18 month dopamine and PEA levels decreased. A study by a Municipal Health Department and several universities in Brazil found a clearly elevated relative risk of cancer mortality at residential distances of 500 meters or less from cell phone towers. A review published in the International Journal of Occupational and Environmental Health of epidemiological studies found in 80% of the studies, people living <500 m from base stations had an increased adverse neuro-behavioral symptoms and cancer. An analysis by human rights experts published in Environmental Science & Policy argues that cell tower placement near schools is a human rights issue for children because “protection of children is a high threshold norm in Human Right law” and “any widespread or systematic form of environmental pollution that poses a long-term threat to a child’s rights to life, development or health may constitute an international human rights violation.” The authors document numerous studies indicating a myriad of effects and conclude that, “because scientific knowledge is incomplete, a precautionary approach is better suited to State obligations under international human rights law.” A 2014 study entitled “RF radiation from mobile phone towers and their effects on human body” published in the Indian Journal of Radio & Space Physics surveyed residents 6 years after the cell tower was erected. They measured the RF and notably found very high levels when the antennas were closest to homes and also very high levels when the antennas were directly facing the antennas without any obstructions. Residents living within 50 meters had more health complaints (fatigue, nausea, sleep, headache etc.) than those living over 50 meters from the antennas. A 2021 research study with a total of 268 surveys completed by residents of a Madrid neighborhood surrounded by nine telephone antennas, and 105 measurements of electromagnetic radiation both outside and inside the houses found people who are exposed to higher radiation values present more severe headaches, dizziness and nightmares. Moreover, they sleep fewer hours." If the Commission chooses to approve installation of this cell tower on Weatherwood Road and myself or any of my family members who reside here experience any adverse health effects then any and all provider companies responsible for installation and operation of the tower will face legal action for compensation for any health effects and damages caused by the radiofrequency radiation effects.

Comments: I am opposed to the construction of wireless communications facility site name ELVA because it is being proposed directly on my property line. I was never informed prior to the letter I received from Pike legal about the placement. This placement next to my property line will decrease my property value by roughly 20%. Also placement of this tower in the proposed location will prohibit me being able to sell or build on my property located between the tower and the road. If I in the future needed to sell this property for financial security then no one would want to buy it thus this is affecting my ability to have financial security in the future. I have talked to the owner of the property, John Miller and he has agreed to move the tower to the middle of his property thus not affecting my property. I have agreed to reimburse the Cingular Wireless PCS / AT&T Mobility company for any expenses they have incurred by having the proposed site surveyed. John Miller has told the company this in hopes that they will agree to move the tower since it is in the best interest of both parties and we are in mutual agreement. Please do not allow the construction of the ELVA wireless communication Facility on Weatherwood Rd Symsonia KY to be built at the current proposed location.

Comments: I'm concerned that the high frequency radio signals could adversely affect both people & animals. There's a small farm close by which my father works at. Also, the Clark's River Wildlife Refuge is close by as well. Reconsider the location of this tower. Would you want to spend 8-12 hours of your day underneath a cell tower? I think if you had a choice, you would say no.

Comments: Case 2024-00112 My intentions are to retire in the near future in the close vicinity of a dear friend. Yes , I am concerned about a tower causing the devaluation of the property. I am also concerned that with so many medical devices being installed in animals as well as humans that such an electronic device such as this tower could possibly interfere with the function of another electronic device. My further concern would entail placing such a tower that would take away from such serene, untouched areas of this beautiful landscape. I understand there are optional locations this could be erected. PLEASE RELOCATE!!!!

Comments: A cell tower would ruin a beautiful piece of farmland and the lights, etc would be detrimental to the many animals raised on the farm right beside the tower. I'm sure there are vacant areas where no one would be harmed that this tower could go if it is needed. Please reconsider the placement of this tower and move it away from this farm animal inhabited area.

Comments: I am a property owner on weatherwood road and received the he certified notice. I am opposed to the proposed location of the new tower. The tower should be located in the back near the middle of the proposed property as far away from neighbors as possible. Also the cell service in that area is already bad and locations close to homes will make service worse. The entire community is opposed from what I understand. We have a tower on our other farm and it's location is away from neighbors as to not decrease their property value, service and keep everyone safe and happy. It is an eye sore and can be noisy at time.

State the nature of your concern: I object to the location of the cell tower on weatherwood rd as it can be seen from my home . It should be located a little farther north so the trees will mask its appearance on the property where the other homeowners don't have to look at it on a daily basis.

Have you contacted the utility about the problem:
