Comments: My family has relocated to lexington so my husband can serve the children of Central and Eastern KY as a pediatrician with UK Healthcare. Between this, and the fact that we've decided to raise our own two children here, you can imagine that we're pretty invested in the future of this planet. Part of that means that we have to invest in renewable energy sources, including solar. Raising horses is an important part of Kentucky's culture, but it can't be so important that we can't carve out a small amount of horse farms to ensure we can raise our kids and our grandkids here too.
