Comments: To whom it may concern, I am writing to express my concerns about the proposed solar farm development in our county. While I recognize the potential environmental benefits of renewable energy, I cannot support a project that would destroy more of our local land without ensuring that the residents of this county are fairly compensated. If we are expected to give up the beauty and value of our land, there must be a balance—a true give and take. At the very least, all local residents should receive free electricity for as long as the solar plant remains operational. Without such compensation, I believe it would be unjust to proceed with a project that takes so much from our community without offering tangible benefits in return. Sincerely, Tracy Mollett
