Dear Ms. Bridwell,

I am in receipt of the June 13, 2025 missive and attachments from L. Allyson Honaker with Honaker Law Office, regarding my case number 2024-00123. This letter will detail my response.

I think finally the esteemed counsel for my opponent has delivered on what I have asked for continually, which is a full recitation of all charges, for gas and electric, taxes, fees, and any other amounts, at the residential rate and comparatively at the commercial rate. It appears now that Duke has done the accounting and owes me more than $750 for the erroneous billing rate.

As such, there are two things remaining which must be done by the PSC. One is an order for Duke to pay me the difference, assuming the commission agrees with my position that my residence is just that, a residence. Therefore, I would now respectfully request a hearing before the Public Service Commission to affirm my reasonable position that my domicile is a home and not commercial property and thus should be billed at the proper residential rate and not the onerous commercial rate. Please schedule this hearing at your earliest possible convenience. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Sam Droganes
