Comments:

I live in rural Menifee County where many people are struggling Daily just to survive. How many people will freeze to death for fear of using electricity and being saddled with bills / late fees they cannot afford to pay. Most of rural Kentucky has varying levels of abject poverty and people who barely get by are now being forced to turn off power and turning to propane/kerosene and wood making heating dangerous, many cannot afford and do not have homeowners insurance and live on the brink of losing everything on a daily basis. We do realize DATA centers are partly to blame because of the massive amounts of power they use and that we as customers are being used to finance the upgrades for these centers. These heavy increases never stop once they start just as taxes, they abuse their consumer base. This needs to stop. NOT FAIR. Micheal Johnson.
