Hello madam, I've watched the full hearing and as a resident of Madisonville Kentucky I would like to take this time to bring to your attention that not all statements are true because I commute that road every morning to go to work and I happen to know the area really well and there is a gas line running through a creek/stream, also I would like to add that when the witnesses stated that there were no plans for future industry is a lie I could tell you guys were questioning the the need for a high demand power plant in this area. I have reason to believe and have some proof to what I'm attesting is that mayor Cotton's campaign donors are the ones that purchased the bonds for this power plant. There are actually too many conflicts of interest to even list. I understand that this isn't a matter of your concern I don't think but nevertheless it's still important. The mayor and his administration are hiding all this stuff to the best of their ability and are prepping for a hyperscale data center nearby in the industrial park. It's not an accident that they rezoned that area for industrial from agriculture also I would like to add they did not have multiple hearings on this matter they released one publication notice of a hearing in the local newspaper ONE TIME which is not a good media outlet in our area. The community is not supportive on a majority level basis. I have lived in Hopkins county my whole life and lived in Madisonville for 20 years we are a kind of everybody knows everybody type of place. The mayor and his administration have tried to hide this from the public as much as possible. As instrumental as he is and it's vocal as he is and as nice as he seems he a very formidable leader which is why not many people are willing to speak out against him but I have knowledge that he is funneling money out of the city funds for his own personal gain. Again I know that this is probably not your area of concern but I just trying to let you know his character. Ive been working on him and his administration since March of last year so I have a lot of knowledge and understanding of their inner workings and they have nothing but personal gains in mind including their bank accounts. The donors of this mayor consists of mostly individuals that live in Florida and the individuals own companies that have correlation with power plants and hyperscale data centers. They lied about their direct plans and the need for this level of power plant at this location. Thank you for your time and consideration on this matter.

Best regards

Very concerned resident of Madisonville.
