- 2. For the purposes of making repairs to or changes in the Cooperative's plant, generating equipment, transmission or distribution system, or other property, the Cooperative may without incurring any liability therefore, suspend service for such period as may be required but will not inconvenience the consumer unnecessarily. Whenever possible the Cooperative will give reasonable notice to the Consumer prior to such suspension of service.

The Cooperative shall make a full and prompt investigation of all complaints of service made to the Cooperative and shall keep a record of all written complaints received showing the name and address of the complainant, the date and character of the complaint, and the adjustment or disposal made thereof.

G. METER TESTING AND ACCURACY

- 1. The Cooperative will test and inspect its meters from time to time and maintain their accuracy of registration in accordance with good practice. The Cooperative will without charge make special tests when requested provided that the meter has not been tested within the twelve (12) months period prior to such request and provided the Consumer will accept the results of such test for settlement of differences claimed. When the meter has been tested within the twelve (12) months period prior to such request, the Cooperative may collect a two dollar ($2.00) meter test deposit. If such special test shows the average registration of a meter to be in error by more than two percent (2%) fast or slow, the Cooperative shall refund the Consumer's two dollar ($2.00) deposit. If the amount of error is less than two percent (2%), the deposit shall be retained by the Cooperative as payment of the special test.
- 2. If the result of tests on a Consumer's meter shows an average error greater than two percent (2%) slow or fast, then the Consumer's bill, for the period during which the meter error is known to have existed, shall be recomputed and the account adjusted either upwards or downwards on the basis of the test.

In the event the period during which the error existed is unknown, then the Consumer's bill shall be recomputed and adjusted either upwards or downwards for one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of the elapsed time since the last previous test but in no case to exceed twelve (12) months unless the Public Service Commission rules otherwise in any particular case.

G. PARTIAL BILLING FOLLOWING CONNECTION

Where the connection of a service does not coincide with the meter reading date and a valid reading is received, the following two calculations are made and the higher of (1) or (2) is charged.

1. The actual number of days service was available for the billing month is divided by thirty (30). This quotient is termed the "prorate factor". The number of KWH's used is divided by the prorate factor to put the usage on a monthly basis so that the monthly rate can be applied. When the monthly bill is calculated, this amount is multiplied to arrive at a partial months billing.
2. The monthly minimum amount is divided by thirty (30) to arrive at a daily minimum amount. This is multiplied by the actual number of days service was used for a partial months minimum billing.

If a reading is not received to use for the first billing, the following procedure is used to bill. The actual number of days service was used for the billing month is recorded and divided by thirty (30). This quotient is the prorate factor. The prorate factor is multiplied by the monthly minimum bill. The product is the amount to be billed for that billing period. For each following month, thirty (30) days are added and recorded to the total number of days to be including the month a valid reading is received. Each of these months a minimum bill is used. When a valid reading is received, a prorate factor is calculated by dividing thirty (30) into the total number of days to be prorated. The KWH's used is derived by subtracting the original reading from the valid reading. This difference is divided by the prorate factor and the quotient is used as the number of KWH's to calculate an amount from the rate schedule. This amount is multiplied by the prorate factor. The amount previously billed is subtracted from this product and the difference is the amount to be billed for the KWH's used during the billing month.

H. FINAL BILLING

1. Where the disconnection of a service does not coincide with the meter reading date, the method used under "G", (1) and (2) are used to calculate the final billing.
2. Upon payment of the final bill as prepared and upon the surrender of the membership certificate, the membership fee or fees and deposits (if any) shall be refunded

An affidavit stating that the membership certificate is lost and thereby releasing the Cooperative from any further claims against the membership fee will be accepted in lieu of the Membership Certificate. I. LOST PAYMENTS

The Cooperative shall not be responsible for any payment lost in the mail or for any payment made to any person not an employee of the Cooperative or to anyone who has not been authorized to accept such payments on behalf of the Cooperative. The gross rates shall apply on any such lost payments if not paid by the penalty date.

J. ESTIMATED BILLING AND METER READING

1. If the Cooperative fails to receive a meter reading from the consumer, the Cooperative will estimate the consumer's billing based on the customer's previous three (3) or four (4) months usage. Each month a bill is estimated, thirty (30) days are added and recorded to the total number of days to be prorated including the month a valid reading is received. When a valid reading is received, a prorate factor is calculated by dividing thirty (30) into the total number of days to be prorated. The KWH's used is derived by subtracting the original or last valid reading from the current valid reading. This difference is divided by the prorate factor and the quotient is used as the number of KWH's to calculate an amount from the rate schedule. This amount is multiplied by the prorate factor. The amount previously billed is subtracted from this product and the difference is the amount to be billed for the KWH's used during the billing month.

2. In the event the Cooperative shall have failed to receive meter readings from the consumer for three (3) consecutive months, the Cooperative shall dispatch a meter reader to obtain an accurate meter reading for which the consumer shall have a $2.00 charge added to his account to partially offset the labor and mileage costs of obtaining such meter reading.
