27. BILLING ADJUSTED TO STANDARD PERIODS

In case of the first billing of a new account and the final billing of an account where the period covered by the billing is a fraction of a month, the demand charge and/or the energy used will be prorated for proportional part of the billing period when computing such bill.

28. DEPOSITS

A deposit or suitable guarantee approximately equal to two times the average monthly bill may be required of any member before service is supplied if the Cooperative deems it necessary to insure payment for the service it will render. The Cooperative may at its own option return the deposit after six (6) months. Upon termination of service, deposit may be applied against unpaid bills of the member and if any balance remains after such application is made said balance to be refunded to the member. Above deposits to draw interest at the rate of 6% annually.

G. Underground Services

29. UNDERGROUND SERVICES

Members or consumers desiring underground service lines from Distributor's overhead system must bear the difference between underground and overhead cost. Specifications and terms for such construction will be furnished by Distributor on request.

Lines will not be relocated or converted from overhead to underground, or visa versa, other than at the expense of the consumer or other party requesting it, except in instances where the Manager determines that the relocation or conversion would be to the advantage of the Cooperative.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Underground primary systems to serve new residential subdivisions may be installed by the Cooperative provided that the developer pays the difference between the cost of an overhead system and the cost of the underground primary system.

Underground service to new homes will be furnished by the Cooperative upon request provided the owner, at his expense, opens and closes the trench from the pole to the point of meter location in accordance with the specifications hereinafter set out. Underground services to existing homes will be installed under the provisions of this policy.

Under certain circumstances, Management of the Cooperative reserves the right if it deems necessary, to deviate from the above policy, if underground service cannot feasibly be supplied or in cases where underground might be more feasible than overhead.

H. Classification of Consumers

30. PURPOSE OF CLASSIFICATION

Classification is a means for treating without discrimination. All members having similar characteristics in their use of service. Special classification will be avoided unless surrounding conditions are so unusual that to apply one of the existing rates or rules would result in serious injustice to either the particular member or to all other members.

31. RESIDENTIAL CONSUMER

Electricity supplied to residential consumers generally will fall into one of three (3) categories, namely:
