SECTION IV - COMPANY'S INSTALLATION

1. Installation and Maintenance.

Except as otherwise provided in these Service Regulations, in Service Agreements or Rate Schedules, Company will install and maintain its lines and equipment on its side of the point of delivery, but shall not be required to install or maintain any lines or equipment, except meters and service regulators on Customer's side of the point of delivery without cost to Customer. Only Company's agents are authorized to connect Company's service to Customer's service piping.

2. Gas Service Piping.

The gas service pipe shall be installed by the Company from the Company's main in the street to the curb line at its own expense and from the curb line to the meter, including curb box and valve, at the Customer's expense, subject to the Company's rules, regulations and existing prices, upon execution of an application and provided that an adequate distribution main exists in front of the Customer's building. The service piping from the curb to the meter, including street box and valve, installed at the expense of the Customer, shall be maintained at the expense of the Customer. No connections or work of any kind shall be done on a gas main or service piping up to the outlet of the meter by anyone who is not an authorized employee of the Company. However, if gas is leaking from any part of the gas supply system, a fitter not in the employ of the Company may make necessary temporary repairs and notify the Company of the condition.

Only one gas service will be installed in any building, or individual dwelling, regardless of the number of customers.

The service pipe will be laid on a direct straight line, whenever possible, from the street main to the meter location approved by the Company. Should the distance between the curb and the Customer's building be in excess of 150 feet or involve other special conditions, a suitable meter location, approved by the Company, will be selected.

Service pipe will not be laid in ditches that are occupied by other utilities. A minimum of three feet will be allowed between gas service pipe and other utilities.

Service piping will end at the inlet connection of the meter which will be set at the point and entry of the service. If it is necessary to extend the service pipe beyond the point of entry, such exposed service piping in the building under flooring, through walls, coal bins, etc., shall be properly protected and the expense thereof borne by the customer.

Branch services will not be run. In case of more than one building on a lot, a separate service will be run direct from the main to each building except in cases where the building nearest the Company's main extends the full width of the lot. In such cases the meter will be placed on the service in the nearest building and the customer must make his own extension to the other building.

3. Company's Property and Protection Thereof.

All meters and and equipment furnished by and at the expense of Company, which may at any time be in said premises, shall, unless otherwise expressly provided herein, be and remain the property of Company, and Customer shall protect such property from loss or damage, and no one who is not an agent of Company shall be permitted to remove or handle same.

Issued pursuant to Commission Regulation 807 KAR 5:006, which became effective February 26, 1992.

Dear Mr. Kaninberg:

We have completed our annual review of costs associated with the Underground Residential Distribution Policy as required by the Order in Administrative Case No. 146. Though we have experienced an increase in the cost difference per front foot, ULH&P is anticipating cost savings as a result of its "joint trench" activities. The joint trench process involves CATV, electric and gas services, and telephone facilities. ULH&P concludes that it is appropriate that its current charge of $1.65 per front foot, as specified on ULH&P's electric tariff Sheet No. 96, for service to new sub-division developments remain in effect.

Please consider this a request to continue our current charge. I would appreciate your review and approval of our recommendation. If you have any questions regarding this matter, please contact me.

Very truly yours,

Donald I. Marshall
