Mr. Richard D. Heman, Jr.
Secretary
Energy Regulatory Commission
P. O. Box 615
Frankfort, Kentucky 40602

Dear Mr. Heman:

On July 29, 1980, the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission issued its final rule in Docket RM79-48, Order No. 96, exempting new small boilers from the incremental pricing provisions of the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978. A small boiler is defined as a boiler using less than 300 mcf per day. This rule becomes effective unless either House of Congress adopts a resolution of disapproval within thirty calendar days of continuous session. There appears to be no congressional opposition to the rule and we estimate the effective date of the rule will be September 18, 1980.

As a result of this more lenient treatment of small boilers, the Company, on the effective date of the rule issued in Docket No. RM79-48, will accept under the terms of its Controlled Attachment Program, new industrial boilers of less than 300 mcf per day as defined in FERC Order No. 96. These customers will be served under the Seller's Option Tariff approved by the ERC on April 1, 1980, in Case No. 7742.

Very truly yours,

T. E. Brady
Vice President - Engineering

1. Applicable to:

Gas Tariffs in effect for the entire Service Area of the Company as designated in the particular tariff.

2. Gas Cost Adjustment (GCA):

(a) The Company shall file a Quarterly Report with the Commission which shall contain an updated Gas Cost Adjustment (GCA) at least thirty (30) days prior to the beginning of each quarter. The GCA shall become effective for meter readings on and after the first day of each Quarter.

(b) "Quarter" means each of the four (4) three-month periods of (1) August, September and October; (2) November, December and January; (3) February, March and April; and (4) May, June and July.

3. Determination of GCA

BY: J. Deoghean

The monthly amount computed under each of the rate schedules to which this GCA is applicable shall be increased or decreased at a rate per Mcf calculated for each three-month period in accordance with the following formula as applicable to each rate class:

$$GCA = (EGC - BCOG) + GCAA + GCBA + RF$$

where:

EGC is the Expected Average Cost per Mcf of gas supply which results from the application of supplier rates currently in effect, or reasonably expected to be in effect during the quarter, based on purchased volumes for the most recent actual 12-month period, normalized for weather, transported volumes, or any other volume adjustments. Such adjustments are necessary in order for the GCA to track as accurately as possible the actual gas costs incurred during the effective Quarter.

CLASSIFICATION OF SERVICE
GAS COST ADJUSTMENT CLAUSE
GCBA is the Gas Cost Balance Adjustment per Mcf which compensates for any under- or over-collection which has occurred as a result of prior adjustments. This GCBA will be a 'true-up' account for all Gas Cost Actual Adjustments (GCAA) after the GCAA has been in effect for four quarters. The balance in this account will be divided by an estimate of sales for the succeeding three-month period in each quarterly filing. RF is the sum of any Refund Factors filed in the current and three preceding quarterly filings. The current Refund Factor reflects refunds received from suppliers during the reporting period. The refund factor will be determined by dividing the refunds received, by the annual sales used in the Quarterly Filing less transported volumes. After a refund factor has remained in effect for four quarters, the difference in the amount received and the amount refunded will be rolled into the next refund calculation. The refund account will be operated independently of the GCBA and only added as a component to the GCA in order to obtain a net GCA. In the event of any large or unusual refunds, the Company may apply to the Commission for the right to depart from the refund procedure herein set forth.

However, a residential customer may elect to enter the plan at any time during the year. On the last month of the budget payment period (April), appropriate adjustments shall be made relative to any difference in the customer's total payments and actual usage billing amounts. Any resultant overpayment shall be refunded on the April bill. Any resultant underpayment shall appear on the April bill and be due with the payment of such bill. The customer's account will be reviewed periodically and the monthly payment amount may be adjusted during the budget period.

To be accepted as a budget customer, the account balance must be paid in total before the customer is put on budget billing. It is understood that this budget billing plan will continue until the customer notifies the Company in writing or by telephone to discontinue the plan or the customer defaults in payment of such plan.
